UNION RIOTS IN ARIZONA

State Militia Ready to Take Field.

Gov. Hunt Prepares to Rush an Expeditionary Force to Clifton.

Mine Officials Seized by Mob are Afterwards Rescued by the Sheriff.

"Fight Before We'll Starve," Cry of Thousands in the Streets.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 2.—The demonstration of striking miners at Clifton, who made captives of several mine officials today, caused Gov. George W. P. Hunt to issue waiting orders to National Guardsmen, pending developments in the situation. Adjt.-Gen. Charles W. Harris was summoned from Huachuca, and instructions were issued to Maj. H. H. Donkensley of Yuma, to prepare to command an "expeditionary force." Reports from Clifton tonight, however, stated that the situation there was quiet, and that Sheriff J. J. Cash of Greenlee county had complete control.

THREAT OF MINERS.

CLIFTON (Ariz.) Oct. 2.—The first trouble in the strike of miners employed by the copper-producing companies of the Clifton district occurred here today when a throng of men, bearing banners inscribed, "We will fight before we starve," paraded the streets and later seized Edward Dawson and several other mine officials, who later were rescued by Sheriff J. J. Cash and lodged in the County Courthouse for safety during the day. Quiet was restored late today, and tonight General Managers Carmichael, Bennie and McLean of the Arizona Copper Company, the Detroit Copper Company and the Shannon Copper Company, left on a special locomotive for Lordsburg, N. M. Their purpose was unknown.

The strikers' procession stopped first in front of the office of Mr. Carmichael, cheering for the miners' union, and for the Mexicans, who form the majority of the workmen in this district. There was a crowd estimated at more than 2000 men. Excitement became intense, and when Dawson, who is master mechanic of the Arizona Copper Company, appeared, he was seized and roughly handled. Sheriff Cash rode into the crowd and took Dawson, with Supt. Flynn and others, to the Courthouse for protection. The strikers had announced their intention of chasing Flynn and all the others out of town.

Gov. Hunt, who was here recent-

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

Bulgaria is merely awaiting the word to throw her forces against the allies. The Entente powers continue to manifest deep concern about the course of Bulgaria and they have no evidence to show what the Greeks will do. Fighting continues in the eastern and western war zones, but with no appreciable result. The allies are maintaining their new positions in France. The Russians appear to be feeling a little better, but nowhere have the military geniuses of today done any better without war correspondents at their heels than did their sires at Waterloo, which was reported to the London stock exchange by a Rothschild, or the Federals at Gettysburg, which was ably reported by a number of correspondents.

Relief from the Mexican incubus is expected soon. The Pan-American peace-makers are to meet again next week and the Wilson administration is bestirring itself for "data" on which to base recognition of some Mexican faction.

TAX-EATERS MULTIPLY; STATE "COMMISSION MAD"

Gov. Johnson's Hungry Office-holding Octopus—Its Cost Doubled.

In Two Terms of "Progressive" Rule in California Twenty-six Bureaus Have been Created with Immense Salary List and Extravagant Expense Rolls—Telltale Figures from the Official Records.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CALIFORNIA'S "Progressive" administration created twenty-six new bureaus, departments and commissions in the last four years. For the maintenance of these the Legislature appropriated $2,175,000 this year and they will receive at least $500,000 extra in licenses and fees. Despite death taxes, corporation taxes, license taxes and a score of other lesser tax and license scourges, the State Board of Equalization was instructed by the Legislature this year to levy a tax on the property reserved for State taxation, which would produce $15,995,000 more than the general revenue bill passed by the Republican Legislature in 1909. Under the guise of driving business out of politics the State administration has injected politics into almost every profitable line of business in California. In twenty-eight departments and institutions that were in existence in 1909 there has been an increase in pay rolls alone during the last four years of $1,338,870.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 1.—California's "progressive" State government has captured another world's record. Its actual disbursements for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1915, were $36,529,593.04. This is an increase of $7,884,570.48 over the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, and $18,529,037.65 over the fiscal year of 1910-11, the last in California under Republican rule.

Based on an estimated population of 3,000,000, which is 300,000 more than the United States Census Bureau allows us, the rate per capita is a little more than $12. This is a higher per capita rate than that of any other State in the Union and is about four times the average rate for State government in the United States. The cost per capita has almost doubled in five years.

Apologists for the extravagances of the State machine make an occasional attempt to still the clamor about increased expenses by asserting that the corporations pay all the State taxes and that it matters not to the common people how high they run. But they do not reveal that, in addition to paying $1,000,000 a year in death taxes, and another $500,000 in licenses and fees of different forms, Los Angeles county has surrendered property valued on its assessment rolls at $158,000,000 to the State to be taxed solely for the support of the State administration. If this property were taxed at an average combined city-and-county rate of $3 on each $100 of assessed valuation it would bring to the county and its cities a revenue of $4,720,000 a year. This is just a part of the tribute that Los Angeles county and its cities pay to the "progressive" Caesar.

Tax experts estimated six years ago that the expense of the State government of California under economical management would not exceed $5 per capita, and it was on this basis that the present division of State and county property was made. That was before the "progressive" joy riders were at the steering wheel. The average this year, exclusive of all bond projects, is about $9 per capita.

Cutting out all bond issues and bas-partmental and institutional expense alone, there has been an increase of $8,000,000 a year in the last four years. Of this sum $3,150,000 a year increase is traceable directly to the commission, departmental and institutional pay rolls.

California has a greater per capita number of employees than any other State in the Union. California pays higher salaries than any other State. California has three times as many officials receiving more than $2000 a year as any other State of like population.

GONE "COMMISSION-MAD."

During four years of "progressive" rule California—to use the words of an eastern expert—"has gone commission-mad." Twenty-six new commissions and departments have been added to the number existing in 1909. The appropriation for these made by this year's Legislature totals $2,175,000. This does not include more than $500,000 which they will collect in fees outside their regular appropriations.

This year's Legislature also passed appropriation bills increasing the pay rolls alone of twenty existing departments and institutions a total of $1,288,870 over the pay rolls of the same institutions as fixed by the 1909 Legislature. This covers a two-year period.

California now carries on its pay roll about 6300 regular employees. This includes the San Francisco State Harbor Department, but does not include another crowd of 1500 who are employed occasionally on work provided for under special appropriations, nor those who are paid out of State bond funds.

One-third of the "Progressive" majority in the last Legislature are now on the State pay roll drawing from $3000 to $5000 a year in addition to the salary paid them by the State as members of the State Legislature. This record of putting "good dogs" in the Legislature on a State pay roll has never before been equaled in California or elsewhere.

THE PET "TAX-EATERS."

Here are four pet political commissions of the administration that lead the raid on the State treasury. The amounts given are the appropriations by the Legislature this year:

Railroad Commission	$ 670,000
Board of Control	238,720
Industrial Accident Commission	376,000
Motor Vehicle Department .	300,000
Total legislative appropriation	$1,584,720

To provide for the enormously-increased cost of California's bureaus and institutions the State Legislature

GERMANS ATTACK SERVIANS INDEPENDENTLY OF AUSTRIA.

An Attempt to Cross the Danube River Near Semendria is Reported to Have Been a Failure.

Severe Fighting Continues in the East and West — French and English Maintaining Their New Positions — Russians Stiffening Their Opposition to the Invaders from the Baltic Sea to the Caucasus.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD, Oct. 2, 5:30 p.m. (via London, Oct. 3, 12:35 a.m.)—Sergius Sazonoff, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, declared to the Associated Press correspondent today that if the Bulgarians "persist in their present traitorous course they must answer to Russia."

"An ultimatum has not yet been presented," added the Minister, "but I presume one will be within a short time."

As a preface to this statement, M. Sazonoff said:

"The situation in the Balkans is very grave. The whole Russian nation is roused by the unthinkable treachery of Ferdinand and his government to the Slavic cause. Bulgaria owes her independence to Russia and yet seems willing now to become a vassal of Russia's enemies. In her attitude toward Servia, when Servia is fighting for her very existence, Bulgaria puts herself in a class with Turkey. We do not believe that the Bulgarian people sympathize with the action of their ruler. Therefore the allies are disposed to give them time for reflection."

It is explained in diplomatic circles that Bulgaria has received no ultimatum hitherto, but a solemn warning of the consequences of her course, and no doubt is left that an aggression against Servia will confront Bulgaria with the bayonets of the Entente allies. The intimation also is made that Bulgaria will not be allowed to prolong the tension and impose upon Greece the cost of remaining mobilized. Bulgaria must demobilize or declare herself a friend of the Entente allies, it is asserted.

LONDON, Oct. 2, 9:30 p.m.—Germany has undertaken the offensive against Servia independently of Austria, and a Bucharest report says the Germans have attempted, without success, to cross the Danube near Semendria. It is at this point that the main Servian railway most nearly approaches the frontier.

While many writers discredit the statements that the Germans are sending a large force against Servia, others believe she is doing so to influence Bulgaria, which almost everybody here is now satisfied has decided to join the central powers and is awaiting an opportune moment to throw the weight of her army in the scale against the allies.

The moment she does so the allied forces, which have been promised for the support of Servia and which the Paris papers are confident are already near or on the way to Macedonia, will take a hand in co-operation, it is hoped, in the allied countries, with Greece, which is already mobilizing, and Rumania, which, it is reported, has again been threatened by Austria-Hungary with reprisals unless she permits the passage through her territory of munitions to Turkey.

Interests strategically in the Balkans will be concerned mostly with the railway by which Servia can be supplied with men and munitions. This runs from Saloniki to Uskupa, parallel with and west of the Vardar River, and thence to Mitrovitza. About sixty miles from Saloniki it passes within a few miles of the Bulgarian border near Strumbitza, the scene of the raid by Bulgarian irregulars a few months ago.

EAST AND WEST.

On both eastern and western fronts heavy fighting is continued, but it lacks the dramatic features afforded by the early stages of the allies' big offensive which started a week ago today and resulted in a considerable gain of ground in Champagne and Artois, still held by the allies, or the great drives which the Austro-Germans successfully engineered against the Russians for fully five months and that carried them from Western Galicia to the western border of old Russia.

In the west the allies, in face of furious German counter-attacks, are holding their new positions and are themselves making local attacks, which the Germans claim to have repulsed. Official reports do not agree exactly as to what is going on in Champagne and Artois, but apparently both sides are taking part in attacks which naturally follow when one army is attempting to consolidate the ground won.

In their reports the French say they have made further progress in the heights of La Folie, in the Souchez area, as well as in Champagne. Compared with the allies' capture of nearly 30,000 prisoners, 140 guns and innumerable machine guns, is the German claim to have taken 15,000 and sixty-one machine guns.

Temporarily the great offensive may be considered at an end and the question is being asked as to where the next attempt will be made to pierce the German line. That one will be made, nobody here doubts, and the expectation is that it will not be long delayed.

IN RUSSIA.

Russia has been relieved, to some extent, by the withdrawal of German troops to meet the offensive in the west and to supply a contingent for the enterprise against Servia. Russia appears to be holding her own along virtually all her front. At any rate, the Germans make no claim to advances except by Gen. Von Linsingen, and he is moving forward very slowly. It may be that the Germans are making preparations for some new stroke, having failed to capture Dvinsk by a direct attack and having been countered in their effort to reach Minsk.

In Galicia and at several other points the Russians have now taken the initiative and are delivering heavy blows at the invaders, many of which, according to the German accounts, have been repulsed.

TURKS RELEASE THE ARMENIANS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Turkey has consented to the emigration of all Armenians who actually will become naturalized American citizens on their arrival in this country. Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople has arranged with the Turkish government for the free departure of all Armenians for whose intention to become naturalized Americans he can vouch.

An appeal will be made to the foreign missions for money to make possible the transportation and change of allegiance of such Armenians. It is understood that Turkey will permit the Armenians to come to the United States, although it will not allow them to take up their residence in Europe. A number of former Turkish citizens are now under arms in the strip of Armenian Turkey near Van, now held by the Russians, and the Turks fear that if other Armenians are allowed to go to adjacent territory they will also enlist with Turkey's enemies.

GLORY OF WAR AS CERTIFIED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Oct. 2, 4:25 a.m.—The creation of a "certificate of glory" to perpetuate in families the memory of members who died for their country in the war now in progress, suggested by Deputy Carre-Bonvalet, is being considered by the Cabinet. It is proposed to have the certificate a parchment on which the name of the hero would be inscribed with an expression of the nation's gratitude, signed by the President of the republic.

MANY GERMANS HELD IN SIBERIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—A statement that 200,000 German prisoners of war are in Siberia was contained in a cablegram asking relief, received here today by George F. Volkmann, member of a grocery jobbing firm. The message was from the Relief Committee of Tien Tsin. It read:

"Publish widely German press 200,000 war prisoners Siberia absolutely no blankets, no coats. Urgent need. Shipment direct American Consul Vladivostok for special representative Department State."

COIN PLENTY IN GERMANY; RUB COMING AFTER WAR.

Berlin Business Men, However, Expect Britain will Foot the Bill.

Despite Cost of Fighting, People Scramble to Subscribe for Loans, as Country is Unable to Expend its Money on Outside—Fear Prolonging Struggle will Lessen the Allies' Ability to Pay Felt in Berlin.

BY HARRY CARR.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Aug. 24. — Every time one of the big German howitzer shells lands in the middle of a fort, Europe accumulates another interesting historical ruin. Nothing is left but brick dust. But every time a howitzer disgorges one of those shells, it costs Germany about $6000. The one hope that seems to be left to the allies is that the supply of forts will last longer than the supply of dollars.

During the past month I have made two long trips under the auspices of the German government. One was to see what the shells did to the forts; the other was to see how the dollars are holding out. In spite of my interest in the army, the commercial trip was really the more significant.

Blisters afflict both of my heels. I have a fine specimen of every known variety of indigestion. I have foundered on banquets. I have listened to after-dinner oratory until I execrate the memory of Daniel Webster and spit at the mention of Chauncey Depew. But I have seen a good deal behind the scenery in Germany. I have met men of big affairs who talked over Germany's business with the utmost candor. At a dinner in Cassel I met a German scientist who told me what German physicians fear will be the result upon the future of all Europe of the frightful nerve strain of the trenches. The most interesting person I met on the entire trip was a young German woman, the daughter of a long line of army officers. Her husband, her father, two brothers and brother-in-law are all officers. She told me with a sob in her voice that she would rather see every one of them brought home to her dead than to have Germany stop the war until the world is willing to yield her every foot of land over which German troops have fought. She said, above the blessings of wealth, social position, domestic happiness, and good health, she is most grateful to God that her two babies are boys who will be ready to fight for Germany when their time comes.

PLENTY OF MONEY.

After hearing all the testimony, these are conclusions that seem to me obvious:

There is plenty of money in Germany. In fact Germany is glutted with money. Germany is in exactly the position of a soldier stationed at a distant garrison. She can't get into the foreign markets to spend her money. The moneyed people fairly scramble to subscribe for the war loans because they have no other way to invest.

The rub is coming after the war. If Germany can force some other country to pay enormous indemnities, she will probably enter a period of unexampled prosperity. If she fails to collect indemnity and has to pay the freight herself the German people can look forward to paying enormous taxes during the life of the present generation. This is the real reason why the German people are frankly anxious to finish this war before winter. The business men realize that another year of fighting will materially lessen the ability of her foes to pay indemnity. Russia hasn't any money and France has a poor creditor in Russia. Italy never had any. Germany looks to England to foot the bills.

There is also another reason why Germany wants to get through with this war as soon as possible. Much of her prosperity is due to certain exclusive trade specialities—such as dyestuffs. At present, no other nation—cut off from German chemicals tion can compete with Germany in this regard, but if the war lasts too long some other na- by the English blockade—will be forced to learn how to make dyes of its own. One of the greatest chemical manufacturers in the world told me he thought if the war lasted more than two years and a half, the German dye trade would be in very serious danger.

AMERICANS SNUBBED.

Not the least interesting feature of this trip was what I learned about Americans. There were eighteen newspaper writers in this party and four were Americans. The others were from neutral European countries and they left no doubt whatever in our minds as to what they thought of us. It wasn't flattering. One of the party was Dr. Annie Lehr de Waal, who is a celebrity in Holland, the first woman to practice law in that country. Dr. De Waal was very tall and very crushing. She regarded us as specimens of an outlandish race and not very interesting specimens either. One day I asked her very meekly if she spoke English. "Yes," she said, "I can speak English, but I do not choose to do so." At which I fainted. Another member of the party was a pretty little Swedish girl from a Stockholm paper. She took notes enough to fill a new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica and wore pink sashes. She considered the Americans to be a most undesirable element of the party. Nevertheless to be endured with Christian fortitude, like the weather and taxes.

Only once in Wiesbaden, when they handed us out the inevitable bundle of pamphlets and we deposited the same tenderly upon a window sill for future generations to find and cherish, the lovely Fraulein af Sillin walked up and said to us severely, "Now you have offended them again," and walked away, leaving us in tears of mortification. There was a Maj. Sa from Brazil, who had the most bristling mustache that ever adorned a human countenance. He endangered the neutrality of South America by putting lumps of sugar in the wonderful wine of the Rhine country. When he put two lumps in the famous vintage of 1911, the Saxons almost wept aloud. After the third glass of wine, the major was always moved to make speeches. One day we organized a conspiracy against the major. At a German banquet, the signal that you are about to make a speech is to tinkle your wine glass with a spoon. Upon this occasion every time the major tinkled his glass we had some one else ready to bob up and make a speech. The next morning the major left the party in a rage and returned to Berlin.

TURK OUR LOVE FRIEND.

The only one who cared for us was Saadi Bey, a Turk of the Young Turks. His reason for liking us was his revolutionary tendencies. He wishes to be contrary to the general stream of human opinion. One of the members of our party was a Boston doctor of divinity, and he was like a red rag to a bull to Saadi Bey. The doctor of divinity wore silk funeral gloves and was fond of looking out of the car window and giving birth to noble thoughts suggested by the passing landscape. "Ah," said the Turk one day upon hearing one of these Bergsonian thoughts, "I see you not Christian after all. You are Buddhist. Brother, I welcome you. You are vary wise Buddhist, vary clever Buddhist. You pretend to be Christian and make much money. I admire Christian clergymen vary much. They know how to get so much free food. Next to waiters I admire them most of anybody."

At the German banquets, the doctor of divinity used to get up and make violently pro-German speeches. "Vary clever," said the Turk. "You are, indeed, a vary clever man—vary clever and vary practical. You come to Germany and eat free food and hoch for Germany. By and by you can go to England and eat free food and hoch for King George. I think maybe you will soon go to Warsaw and eat kosher and hoch for the Ghetto. I congratulate you."

THE TURK'S THREAT.

The Turk himself never hoched for anybody except Turkey. "Vary good," he said. "You shall see. The world thinks we are just fighting to please Germany. Presently you shall see 300,000,000 Moslems rise and sweep the world. If Germany likes to come along, vary well, she can come. If not, poof for Germany. She is an incident."

Saadi told us, by the way, that he talked to many of the British Indian troops at the German prison camps. He said they told him they had no idea they were being sent to a war. They thought they were on the way to maneuvers. When the true reason for their embarkation on the transports was discovered, Saadi said they rebelled. The English then anchored the transports under the guns of the forts of Singapore and threatened to sink them. The Indians told him, so he says, that they took the very first opportunity of surrendering themselves to the Germans.

A BOOM CITY.

The first city we visited was Leipzig. It impresses me as being different from any other city I have seen in Germany. It is full of boom spirit and men who have made sudden fortunes. In ancient times it was an old fur-trading post, and has always maintained a big fur business.

I think there was really more doing there than in any other city we saw. They are completing an enormous railroad depot, which is to cost 135,000,000 marks, and will be the second largest in the world. Of this sum 17,000,000 marks is to be paid from the city treasury. The balance will come from the Kingdom of Saxony. Leipzig, in spite of the war, is also building a public library to cost 2,225,000 marks, a municipal bath-house to cost 1,500,000, three public schools to cost respectively 750,000, 750,000 and 1,000,000 marks. In addition to this the city is spending 8,000,000 marks to alter the course of a river whose sluggish flow is endangering public health. Something over 1,700,000 marks a month is paid to the families of soldiers who are in the war.

They showed us all these things, and I think I was quite as much interested in the men who were doing the showing as the institutions they were exhibiting. There is nothing more dangerous than to start looking for national characteristics, but I find in the little diary I kept this entry, "These people seem to have no instinct for selection. In the municipal bath-house there are twenty rooms just alike. Did they show us one and tell us about the other nineteen? Nay, they dragged us through all twenty." On thinking it over afterward, however, I am not sure but that a committee in an American city would have done the same. What I saw during those days in Leipzig and in the days following in other cities, however, did convince me of this fact: That the German army is the life-saver of German commercial life. I noticed that whenever we got into the hands of army men they grabbed out the point and waived the rest. The further we got from the army, the more were our guides inclined to drone through long immaterial details. Certainly the army quickens Germany's profound and thorough thought into concrete action.

CHARACTERISTICS.

One feature of our instruction that interested me very much was the shower of pamphlets. We found pamphlets in our hotel rooms; they handed them out at the stations. We got more every time we entered a public building.

After accumulating about a bushel of these pamphlets, a great light dawned for me. I understand now why Germany has failed to win the sympathy of America away from England. It is no use for anyone to say that Germany does not want the sympathy of America, for it does. And tries to win it with pamphlets.

One of our national characteristics is a love for butting into other people's rows. When Dr. Cook and Peary both came back from the North Pole, no one in the United States had the slightest idea which one was right; but Dr. Cook was just as easy to jump on as anyone, so we leaped on Dr. Cook. After the Titanic sank, they needed a goat so we jumped onto the neck of hapless Bruce Ismay. When this war broke out, my beloved countrymen, greatly enjoying excitement, wished to break in somewhere. They hadn't an idea of the merits of either side, but England offered them stories of babies' hands cut off; burned-down villages and ships sinking with frightened women and innocent little children. It was dramatic, sensational and easy to understand. Germany presented her side in profound argumentative pamphlets, not realizing that, in America, all pamphlets have a direct ticket from the postman to the waste basket without any stopovers allowed. So our people gaily threw away the pamphlets and had the time of their lives exploding with virtuous rage over the burned villages. The fact that most

REPULSE OF THE ALLIES REPORTED BY BERLIN.

Attempt of the British to Retake Lost Ground North of Loos Defeated with a Heavy Loss to the Attackers. Several French Onslaughts Elsewhere Also End in Failure and Loss of Prisoners.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Oct. 2 (via London, 6 p.m.)—An attempt by the British to retake ground north of Loos was defeated with a heavy loss, the War Office announced today.

Several French attacks elsewhere also were repulsed and a number of prisoners were taken.

The text of the statement follows:

"Western theater: By a counter attack the English last night endeavored to retake the land north of Loos which we wrested from them during the fighting in the last few days but the attempt failed with sanguinary losses.

"French attacks southwest of Angres, east of Souchez and also north of Neuville were repulsed.

"The number of prisoners taken by our troops in the sector covered by the English-French attack now has been increased to 106 officers and 5642 men. We captured also 26 machine guns.

"In the Champagne the French attacked during the afternoon east of Auberive over a wide front. The attack failed. Only at one point did the enemy penetrate our position. Our troops went forward in a counter attack and took one officer and 70 men prisoners. The remainder of the soldiers who penetrated the position were killed.

"French attacks north of Le Mesnil, northwest of Ville-Sur-Tourbe were repulsed. In repulsing the attacks of the last few days northeast of Le Mesnil the twenty-ninth reserve regiment especially distinguished itself.

"The total number of prisoners and booty taken in the fighting north of Arras and in the Champagne was increased to 211 officers, 10,731 men and 36 machine guns.

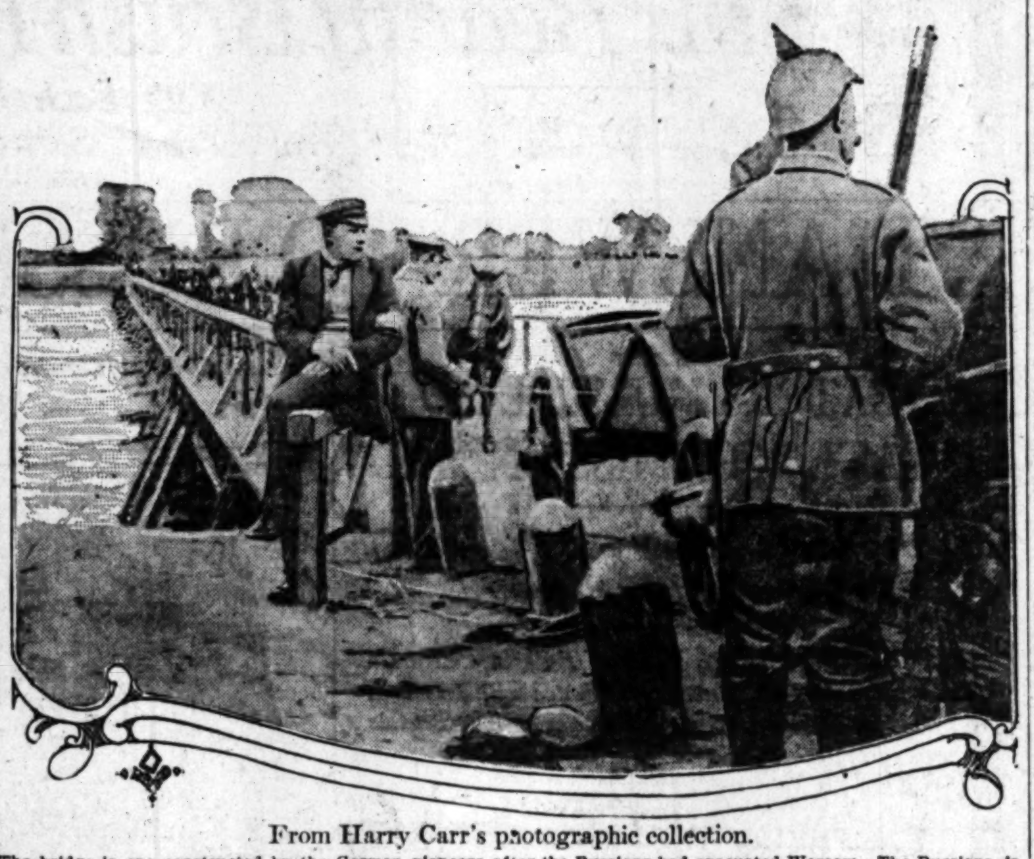
"A bomb attack made by an aerial squadron from Paris upon Laon resulted in the death of one woman and one child, while one civilian was injured. Our anti-aircraft guns shot down an aeroplane south of Laon and made the occupants prisoners. Another enemy aeroplane fell in a burning condition when over Soissons.

"Eastern theater: Army of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg: North of Postawi, cavalry fighting is taking place. South of Narocz lake, near Spiagli and east of Wischnew, Russian attacks were repulsed. The enemy has not made any strong attacks since his failure on many sides on September 30. Our troops yesterday took prisoner three officers and 1100 men and captured three machine guns near Smorgen.

"Army of Gen. Von Linsingen: Enemy positions near Czernysz and Korwin were stormed and the enemy driven in a northerly direction. He left 13 prisoners in our hands. On other parts of the front 1100 prisoners were taken.

"On the front of the army under Gen. Bothner the Russians during the night of the 29th and on the 30th attempted to break through the west of Tarnopol. The attempt failed completely, the enemy suffering severe losses. Between 400 and 500 men from one division alone which previously had numbered 1168 men lay before our front. Numerous rifles also were taken."

Where German Soldiers Act as Traffic "Cops" in Warsaw.



From Harry Carr's photographic collection.

The bridge is one constructed by the German pioneers after the Russians had evacuated Warsaw. The Russians, in their flight, destroyed all the fine bridges leading out of Warsaw and it was necessary for the Germans to construct new ones to take up the pursuit. Since then normal traffic conditions have been re-established and as Mr. Carr has stated in one of his Warsaw letters, the German troops keep traffic moving across this bridge much after the fashion of the traffic officers of the Broadway squad in Los Angeles.

PREDICTS A REVOLUTION IF BULGARIA JOINS WAR.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Sir Edwin Pears, one of the greatest living authorities on Balkan politics, discussing the Bulgarian situation yesterday, with a representative of the Daily News, said:

"The position of the Bulgarian people is this: Russia is spoken of as her deliverer, and in nearly every cottage you will see a portrait of Czar Alexander. In hundreds of thousands of them you will see another of Gladstone or Salisbury.

"The present King is an Orleanist and his family connections are with Austria rather than with Russia; still, he has made great sacrifices in order to obtain the throne and maintain himself there. The people have come to the belief that he has identified his interests with those of the country, but they mistrust him as on the side of Austria.

"However, I am convinced that if he were to attempt to bring in Bulgaria to fight on the side of Austria and Germany there would be a revolution, and it would probably end in the nation getting rid of the royal family."

Casualty List.

SIXTY-THREE THOUSAND KILLED, WOUNDED, MISSING

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 2 (via London, 9:50 p.m.)—The Prussian casualty lists Nos. 330 to 339, covering the period from September 17 to September 28, give the names of 63,468 men killed, wounded and missing, according to the Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant of Rotterdam. The Courant says that these figures increase the total Prussian casualties to 1,916,148.

How the severity of the fighting recently has increased, continues the paper, is indicated by the following figures:

"The lists from Nos. 300 to 309 announced 44,705 casualties; the lists from Nos. 310 to 319 contained 53,396 names; the lists from Nos. 320 to 329 gave 58,445 names, and the remaining lists as above."

Besides the Prussian lists there have been published 224 Bavarian, 199 Saxon, 274 Wurttemberg, forty-nine naval and four lists of Prussian officers and non-commissioned officers in the Turkish army.

BULGARS MOVING TOWARD SERVIA.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Oct. 2, 9:45 a.m.—It is reported from Athens that Bulgarian troops from Sofia are moving in the direction of the Servian frontier, and that other forces are being despatched toward the Greek border.

This information was forwarded today by the Athens correspondent of the Havas News Agency, who asserted it was obtained from a reliable source. It is believed the principal point of concentration will be along the upper Stouma river, southwest of Sofia, near the Servian border.

FRENCH AIRMEN ACTIVE AGAIN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Oct. 2 (10:30 p.m.))—A squadron of sixty-five French aeroplanes today bombarded the railway station at Vouziers and the aviation grounds near Challerange, according to the official statement issued tonight by the French War Office.

No additional progress is reported for the allies.

DIVORCES LOS ANGELES DOCTOR.

Mrs. Ruby Norton, Heiress to $200.000, Freed in Kansas City on Ground of Desertion.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Oct. 2.—Mrs. Ruby V. Norton, a niece of the late William H. Dixon, owner of the Sexton Hotel and heiress to $200,000, obtained a divorce today in Judge Burney's division of the Circuit Court from Dr. Charles W. Norton of Los Angeles.

She testified that her husband deserted her last January without cause. He is house physician in a Los Angeles hotel. The Nortons were married in October, 1912. Mrs. Norton lives at the Sexton Hotel.

LASSEN PEAK ACTIVE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

REDDING, Oct. 2.—Eruption No. 114 took place today at sunrise from the main crater of Lassen Peak. White smoke rose in great puffs, each lasting several minutes, and was driven to the east by a high wind which made a wide ribbon of smoke stretching from the crater high in the sky, illuminated by the sunlight.

WALNUT THIEVES QUICKLY CAUGHT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, Oct. 2.—That a crop of walnuts may also develop a crop of thieves was demonsrtated here today when local officers apprehended Felix Sotello at work early this morning. Justice was swift and this afternoon Sotello began a fifty-day sentence in the county bastile for the offense. Sotello and his family had been gathering nuts on the ranch of Mrs. Jack Bell near Pico. Early after midnight he started citywards with two sacks of nuts. Officers here were notified, overtook him, and brought him before Judge A. B. Taylor. On the plea of guilty he was immediately sentenced.

A little later today officers were notified of the theft of a dozen bags of nuts from the walnut house of F. H. Purdy southwest of town. The trail of a light wagon was easily followed and led them towards Los Angeles. Near Laguna station on the Pacific Electric the wagon was overtaken, the missing nuts apparently found, and three men, Jose Nocegeos, Cruze Leon, and Jose Rocho were taken to the County Jail to await arraignment Monday morning.

It is said that Purdy positively identified the sacks of nuts as his own on account of a private mark. Officers are urging the growers to mark their sacks so as to be able to make positive identification in case of theft.

BRITISH CAPTURE TWO TRENCHES.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 3 (12:03 a.m.)—The British delivered a counter-attack Friday night on the Teutonic forces southwest of Fosse, France, and achieved their "objective, which was two German trenches," according to a report received from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British army in the field.

The field marshal's communication, received under date of 10 p.m., October 2, was given out by the British War Office as follows:

"We delivered a counter-attack last night and achieved our objective, which was two German trenches southwest of Fosse, which the enemy had recovered in his counter-attack of the 26th."

REPORT REPULSE OF THE ENGLISH.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2 (via London, 12:19 p.m.)—Announcement was made by the War Office today that the British forces in Mesopotamia were repulsed in the recent fighting. The report follows:

"On September 27 the British resumed the offensive. The battle was very violent and lasted until evening, but the attack finally failed, notwithstanding the fact that the British forces were four times stronger than ours.

"On the Irak front our advanced detachments on September 27 surprised a hostile force which landed on the bank of the Tigris north of Korna, under the protection of gunboats. We inflicted heavy losses on them."

Announcement was made in the House of Commons Wednesday that the British had defeated the Turks, who were said to be in full retreat toward Bagdad.

MAY OVERRIDE PRIZE COURTS.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Globe says it is rumored that Baron Reading, head of the Anglo-French commission, "has been empowered to agree at New York to some new international tribunal to override the existing system of prize courts."

This statement is made in the Globe's comment on the question Sir Arthur Markham has given notice he will put in the House of Commons—whether Foreign Secretary Grey will adhere to the statement recently made that "freedom of the seas may be a reasonable subject of discussion after the war."

The Globe vigorously attacks all such proposals as calculated to limit Great Britain's sea power.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—No report has been received of the Canadian Pacific's freight steamer Montreal from London to Montreal, now several days overdue. Officials of the line said today it is probable the steamer has been delayed by fog or gales and no anxiety is felt. The officers and crew numbered seventy-one.

AGED BULGARS ARE MOBILIZING.

MILAN (Italy) Oct. 1 (via Paris, Oct. 2, 4:40 a.m.)—Bulgaria is mobilizing all men up to the age of 58 years, according to the Corriere della Sera Bucharest correspondent. No citizen under 45 is permitted to leave the country, and martial law has been proclaimed. Pro-German manifestations are reported in Bulgarian cities along the Danube.

Bulgarian artillery, the correspondent asserts, is being massed along the frontier of Debrudja, a part of Rumania bounded by the Black Sea and the Danube, which was taken from Bulgaria in 1878 and given to Rumania. This section has a cosmopolitan population.

Rejoinder.

GAFFNEY'S REPLY TO HIS CRITICS.

Denies He has Circulated Anti-British Reports.

Insists He is on Good Terms with American Colony.

Can't Understand the Request for His Resignation.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—A statement to the press in reply to recent criticism of his conduct was made today by T. St. John Gaffney, American Consul-General at Munich, who has been requested by the State Department at Washington to resign.

"I know of these accusations only through the newspapers," said Mr. Gaffney. "Neither by the American Ambassador at Berlin nor by the Washington government has the question ever been raised.

"My relations with the local American colony and with approximately 100 British subjects who are still here are excellent. When, where and how I am supposed to have carried on anti-British propaganda is inexplicable to me.

"The contention that I, with or without assistance of my position, smuggled German or Austrian letters or documents is simply laughable. I do not consider it commensurate with the dignity of my office to go into the matter.

"Equally untrue is the claim that I have criticised the policies of President Wilson."

Respecting statements published in the United States that he had entertained Sir Roger Casement, who has been in Germany for several months devoting himself to the cause of Irish freedom, Mr. Gaffney said:

"The story of the celebration I am supposed to have held in honor of Sir Roger Casement is a malicious perversion of facts. A few weeks ago George B. McClellan, former Mayor of New York, was in Munich. A dinner was given in his honor, which was attended by several Ambassadors and dignitaries. Sir Roger was then in Munich and was invited at the express wish of Mr. McClellan.

"The efforts of the British press to involve me are due entirely to the fact that I am an Irishman," Mr. Gaffney continued. "This fact is enough to convict me of having little enthusiasm for British politics."

Mr. Gaffney also commented on assertions that American citizens with whom he had come in contact at the Munich Consulate had been [illegible] treated.

MUNICH EPISODE.

"An additional complaint against me," he said in this connection, "consists in the fact that I, as Consul-General at Munich, should have denied absolutely a few weeks ago reports from London concerning statements said to have been made by American citizens who had been in Munich, which had been printed in American newspapers and that I should have said that these stories were pure foolishness. I felt it my duty to make such a denial because the American newspapers indicated plainly that anxiety was felt for American men and women in Munich. My report showed up the British reports as falsehoods—which they were—deliberate falsehoods and inventions.

"I regret extremely, for the sake of Americans in Munich, as well as the British under my protection, that unrest is being fomented systematically. I am, however, absolutely powerless against this ungentlemanly intrigue. It gives me pleasure to say that as a result of this attack I have won a great deal of sympathy and confidence. Thus far the maneuvers of newspapers with the intention of stirring up trouble between the American colony, my British wards and myself, can be said to have been wholly defeated."

ALLIES TO MAKE ANOTHER TOUCH.

Present Half-billion Issue to be Cleared First.

Small Investors Favored in Disposing of Bonds.

Anglo-French Commission to Sail Home Shortly.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 2.—The allies shortly will begin negotiations in the United States for the flotation of a second great loan. This loan will either take the form of bonds or of notes to merchants that can be rediscounted by the banks in Federal Reserve institutions.

This statement is made upon authority of a man who has been most active in negotiating the $500,000,000 loan. The present half-billion dollar bond flotation will be cleared up before the new plan is whipped into shape and the public informed.

It is reported semi-officially that the first half-billion dollar loan has been over subscribed, and that considerable pruning of large individual subscriptions will be made to let the "little fellows" in on the flotation.

"Small" investors wil be favored because they will not resell the bonds as quicky as some large investors.

If this over-subscription is sufficient to warrant such action, it is believed that immediate steps toward shaping the public mind in favor of further advances to the allies will be made.

J. P. MORGAN IN CHARGE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—J. P. Morgan and Company have been placed in entire charge, subject to the wishes of the syndicate managers, of the flotation of the $500,000,000 credit loan to Great Britain and France in the United States. Announcement to this effect was made today.

The Morgan firm was requested to act as agents, it was said, at a meeting between the sixty syndicate managers in this city and the members of the Anglo-French commission which was held last night. The syndicate managers are in charge of the loan in the entire country, other local syndicates reporting to them.

The idea of appointing the Morgan firm as agents, it was said, was to centralize the work. Interest payments on the bonds will be disbursed through the firm. Probably interest will be paid in other cities than New York.

READING TO LEAVE SOON.

Lord Reading and his associates on the Anglo-French commission have virtually completed their mission here and expect to depart for Europe within the next few days. They have yet to sign the contract for the loan and this probably will be done early next week.

Lord Reading will sign for England. He has full authority to do so without further enabling act of Parliament, it is said. One or both of the French commissioners will sign the document on behalf of France.

Subscriptions to the loan were said today to be exceeding the expectations of the syndicate managers. The exact amount spoken for thus far is known to the syndicate but was not disclosed. It was generally believed, however, that the loan had not been oversubscribed and that while the entire amount would be taken within a short time, it had not been all spoken for as yet.

Support of this theory was found in the announcement today that some of the largest banking institutions in the country were still taking all comers with them in the negotiations on the underwriters' basis, which provides for a cash payment at the rate of 98 and a rebate later of 1 3-4.

MAXIMUM AMOUNTS.

It also became known today that some of the largest underwriters had given maximum and minimum amounts for which they wished their names entered. This would provide considerable latitude in allotting bonds to the small investors.

No figure whatever has been set as the mark at which it is desired to stabilize exchange and there is reason to believe that the commission and the syndicate will both be satisfied if the rate on sterling does not fall below its present level, which ranged today from $4.72 to $4.73.

The largest single subscription so far received is for $35,000,000 of the bonds. It could not be learned whether an individual or a bank or a commercial corporation was the subscriber. Other large financial institutions will not subscribe. Among them is the New York Life Insurance Company, in whose behalf announcement to this effect was made today.

LIST TO CLOSE EARLY.

The underwriters' lists will be closed early in the week, probably on Tuesday or Wednesday. This was taken as an indication that there had been no over-subscription. On the other hand, many persons thought it manifested a desire to give a section of the country, even to the smaller cities, time to make known their wishes. The latter assumption was said at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. to be correct.

Henry Weismann, president of the German-American Alliance of the State of New York, made public today a letter of protest addressed to President Wilson against the loan. Mr. Weismann stated in his letter that his organization represented 600 societies of Americans of German stock, with more than 60,000 members. In the letter he recalled the previously-expressed feeling of the alliance that the shipment of arms and ammunitions was an unneutral act and a factor in prolonging the war and added:

"But this act of partisanship and inhumanity is accentuated by our furnishing the money with which to pay these orders, the attempt to use the national banks . . . is a violation of the spirit if not the purpose of their inception and we ask the government to interfere with the proposed outrage."

ACTION OF CHICAGO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Telegrams were received from J. P. Morgan & Co. today by the local managers of the Anglo-French loan syndicate directing that no further subscriptions be accepted, except subject to confirmation by the syndicate heads in New York.

Chicago and the Middle West will take not less than $50,000,000 of the bonds, according to reports from local bond houses. A meeting of the big investment houses of the city was held today for the organization of the local syndicate and reports of the extent of subscriptions in this territory were made.

One Chicago capitalist, it was reported, had placed an order for $1,000,000 of the bonds and it was said many subscriptions for $250,000 had been received.

OLD "DOC" COOK HELD AS A SPY.

EXPLORER GETS IN TROUBLE WITH RANGOON BRITONS.

On His Way with Moving Picture Outfit to Climb Mt. Everest, He is Clapped in Jail and Experiences Considerable Difficulty in Obtaining His Release.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, explorer, was arrested as a German spy by authorities at Rangoon, Burma, India, and his motion-picture outfit confiscated, according to Curtis W. Allen, an American, who told today of his own imprisonment as a spy seven times during eleven months in India. Allen said he went there last year to buy timber for the India, Burma and Malay Peninsula Timber Company of New Westminster, B. C. He said he was born at Anacortes, Wash., where his parents live. Allen returned here Wednesday on the steamer China from Hongkong after being released from a concentration camp, his seventh period of imprisonment.

Dr. Cook, he said, was arrested about August 1, kept in the same prison with him and kept under guard for some time after his release. A deputy commissioner at Rangoon, Allen said, sought to connect him with Dr. Cook. When Allen acknowledged he knew of the explorer, the authorities confiscated Dr. Cook's outfit. Later they developed the films taken by the explorer in the search for evidence against him. Dr. Cook ultimately left Rangoon for the interior. It was reported he was awaiting a change of mind by the British authorities, who refused him permission to attempt the ascent of Mt. Everest, in the Himalayas, the highest mountain in the world. Dr. Cook left San Francisco last June, accompanied by E. S. Brook, a motion-picture operator, and Dr. F. P. Thompson, a naturalist.

ALLEN'S EXPERIENCE.

Allen said he was first arrested at Rangoon upon his arrival there.

He carried a passport signed by former Secretary of State Bryan and credentials from his Canadian employers. These were regarded as forged, he said.

"They would give me no explanation of why I was arrested," Allen said, "other than that I 'looked like a German,' and 'your very clothes are of German cut.'

They tried everything short of physical violence to prove their first mistake. They denied me a trial, manufactured incriminating evidence and permitted me to see the American Consul only once, after I had been in prison two months."

Allen said he fell ill with typhoid fever, but that a guard was placed over him, even in the hospital. He went from Rangoon to Calcutta and back, several times, he said, and each time he was arrested and held. When finally he presented his case to American Consul Morehead at Rangoon he said, the authorities had so prejudiced the Consul that he had difficulty in convincing Mr. Morehead of his innocence.

READY TO HANG HIM.

Once preparations were made to hang him. When finally he was deported to Hongkong, he said, he was taken from the vessel at Singapore and Penang and imprisoned while his vessel remained in port. At Hongkong he said, he was held in a concentration camp for three weeks.

A cablegram which he tried to send to his employers, Allen said, was held up because "there was no reason why it should go."

EXPLAINS RIOTS IN PORTUGAL.

INSPIRED BY THE PEOPLE WHO SEEK CONSERVATISM.

Warships Kept in the Harbor of Lisbon to Prevent Disorder Reaching an Acute Stage—Plans to Land Marines to Guard Foreign Legations and Consulates.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LISBON, Sept. 1.—The risings in Northern Portugal, which have been suppressed for the time being at least, were brought about by adherents of the republic, who desire a more conservative form of government than the present extreme radical one in power, and not by monarchists, as appears to be supposed outside Portugal.

Great reserve is observed in official quarters, but the indications are that the government does not yet consider the danger as past. Troops are kept in constant readiness day and night for service. Searchlights from warships in the harbor play nightly upon the waters surrounding vessels, with the object, presumably, of preventing attacks from insurgents who might attempt to board them from boats or barges. Among distinguished Republicans arrested are Miguel de Obren, a deputy and son of a revered Republican leader, Dr. Eduardo de Obren. Two Republican provincial civil Governors have also been arrested and forty other persons more obscure.

Many of the prisoners were stoned and attacked in the streets by Carbonarios, members of the secret political society which upholds the present government.

Senhor Tonto Mayor, a great landed proprietor of Oporto and a known Royalist, was arrested and taken to a police station for examination. His body was brought out half an hour later. The authorities say he committed suicide, but there is considerable incredulity and Mayor's death has caused a great sensation in that part of the country.

When the revolt broke out, two Spanish destroyers entered the Tagus, ostensibly for coaling, but the public took their entrance as a reminder that Spain is now watching constantly. It is generally believed that the Spanish warships in the Tagus during the uprisings in last May would have disembarked marines to guard legations, consulates and foreigners had such disorders continued twenty-four hours longer.

PIECES OF METAL FROM HESPERIAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Fragments of metal said to have been picked up on the deck of the steamer Hesperian before she sank off the Irish coast after an explosion, were received today by the State Department from the American Embassy at London. They have been turned over to the Navy Department. Experts will attempt to determine whether the metal pieces are part of a mine or a submarine torpedo.

A large package of documents, including affidavits of the Hesperian's officers and crew, came with the metal fragments.

CZAR EXTENDS THE MORATORIUM.

RUSSIA, WHILE DUMA IS NOT IN SESSION, INCREASES CENSORSHIP.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Oct. 2 (via Tuckerton, N. J.)—Among the items given out today by the Overseas News Agency were the following:

"By a decree of the Russian Emperor the moratorium in that country is extended for another year.

"A committee appointed to ascertain damages inflicted by foreign governments on German subjects has made a provisional estimate, fixing the total at least 1,000,000,000 marks ($250,000,000.)

"According to the Lokal Anzeiger the Russian government, taking advantage of the constitutional provision authorizing it to issue decrees during periods when the Duma is not in session, has put into effect a more rigid censorship, requiring that not only news of the war, but the entire contents of newspapers, be submitted to the censor."

Union Riots in Arizona.

ly trying to bring about a settlement, sought information tonight, saying he intended to send in National Guardsmen if the Sheriff could not handle the situation. But tension had relaxed and order was restored.

LABOR TROUBLES OF FORMER DAYS.

CLIFTON (Ariz.) Oct. 2.—There has been labor trouble before at Morenci, in the Clifton district. In 1903, at the behest of the Western Federation of Miners, the Arizona Legislature fixed the period of underground employment at eight hours a day. This was severe upon such districts as that embracing Clifton, Morenci, Metcalf and Coronado, where mine work was done almost exclusively by Mexicans, employed either on a ten-hour basis or on contract work. These Mexicans had had nothing to do with the law, which was passed in the hope of putting union men into their jobs. But the law had very close application when the Arizona, Detroit and Shannon companies announced that thereafter nine hours' wage, or $1.80, for eight-hours' work would prevail, instead of the former $2 for ten hours.

There were union emissaries in the district and so early in June there was a strike, enforced by marching bands of miners that cleared out each mine as they came to it. More than 3000 men were thrown out of employment. About half were organized in semi-military bodies under a Rumanian, W. H. Laustenneau, better known as "Three-fingered Jack," a wonderful liar who told his followers he had telegrams from President Roosevelt and Diaz assuring him of support. Peace officers were disarmed and Laustenneau set up a little kingdom of disorder.

Conditions were so serious that the National Guard of Arizona and the Arizona Rangers were thrown hurriedly into Morenci, followed the next day by six troops of regular cavalry from Forts Grant and Huachuca. The soldiery came just in time to save the camp from pillage. Laustenneau and a dozen of the apprehended leaders were sentenced to penitentiary terms at the following term of the Graham county District Court. Even there "Jack" proved an outlaw and participated in an attack upon Supt. Griffith. Given an additional ten-year sentence for this outbreak, he died in prison in 1906.

It should be explained that the ores of the Clifton section run so low in copper that the mines could hardly be operated on the same wage basis as at Bisbee. It is a case of either Mexican laborers or none. As it is, the cost of production per pound of copper is above the average in Arizona, the Shannon having the highest in the Southwest. The Detroit company at Morenci is an offshoot of the Phelps-Dodge Company, which owns the Copper Queen at Bisbee and a large part of the Old Dominion at Globe, as well as the great Douglas smelting plant. The Shannon mines are at Metcalf, on Chase Creek Canyon, twelve miles above the company's smelter and concentrator, which are on the San Francisco River, a short distance below Clifton. In the latter locality also is the fine modern reverberatory smelting plant of the Arizona Copper Company, a Scotch corporation, the largest employer of the district, with mines at Morenci, Metcalf and Coronado.

PACIFIC NOTE FROM GERMANY.

Danger of Immediate Break Over Arabic Averted.

Berlin Now Believes Sinking Due to a Mistake.

Bernstorff Much Pleased at Talk with Lansing.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Danger of an immediate break between the United States and Germany over the torpedoing of the Arabic, with a loss of two American lives, has been averted by the assurances contained in a note received here today by Secretary Lansing, from Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador. Neither the Secretary of State nor the German Ambassador would make any statement.

There was nothing to indicate that the new German note met entirely the viewpoint of the United States, but the general inference was that the Berlin Foreign Office had taken the view that the German submarine commander must have erred in assuming that the Arabic was intent on a hostile act when going to the rescue of the British steamer Dunsley.

It was pointed out as significant in German quarters that when the German government sent its first note on the Arabic, offering to arbitrate the questions of fact in the case, the evidence collected by the American government was not before it. Since that time the data carefully obtained by the United States and held by the Washington government to be absolutely conclusive that the Arabic was not attempting to ram the German submarine has been placed before the Berlin Foreign Office.

The prevalent view tonight was that Germany had admitted the error of her submarine commander, but wished to arbitrate the extent to which Germany was liable under the circumstances for a mistake.

Count von Bernstorff, at his hotel, appeared very much pleased with the contents of the new note, which probably will be published in a day or two. He announced that he expected to return to Washington with his embassy staff at the end of the present month.

Although it had been reported that Secretary Lansing would discuss with the German Ambassador the case of Capt. Von Papen, the German military attache, it was learned authoritatively that the subject was not mentioned. Secretary Lansing has not yet had an opportunity to examine the documents carried by James F. J. Archibald, in which were letters from Capt. Von Papen.

PACKERS DEMAND ACTION.

Request State Department to Make Representation to Great Britain for Seized Meat Cargoes.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Representatives of Chicago meat packers today formally requested Acting Secretary Polk of the State Department to make representations to Great Britain regarding disposition of twenty-nine seized ships carrying $12,500,000 of American cargoes. The representatives said their efforts were designed to prevent the cases from reaching the British prize court, where recently the cargoes of four other ships, valued at $15,000,000, were forfeited on the ground that while consigned to the Scandinavian countries, they were really for the German military forces.

Mr. Polk did not indicate what action, if any, the State Department would take.

Corless of Salt Lake that the sender of that telegram saying William Brown committed the murders had not been found and is believed to have been a stranger.

HAWSER BREAKS, SHIP LOSES TOW.

STEAMER HILONIAN WILL TRY TO BRING SCHOONER INTO PORT TODAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 2.—The steamer Hilonian, which picked up the crew of the abandoned steamer Graywood off Umatilla reef early today, took the Graywood in tow and was returning with her to Seattle when the hawser broke and the Hilonian lost her tow.

The Hilonian, which was outward bound from Seattle for Honolulu via San Francisco, had picked up the Graywood's crew this morning and was proceeding when orders were received by radio to tow the abandoned vessel to this port.

The Hilonian remained outside the cape tonight and will endeavor to pick up the Graywood again in the morning.

The Graywood was bound from San Francisco for Vancouver, B. C., with freight. She was a wooden vessel of 607 net tons, built at Fairhaven, Cal., in 1904. She was owned by Beadle Bros., Inc., of San Francisco, and carried a crew of twenty-one.

WILSON LEADS IN PRAYER.

Cabinet Joins Him at a Recent Meeting Held in Washington When Big Crisis Was Impending.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—How President Wilson led his Cabinet in prayer at a recent meeting was told here yesterday by Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati, at a session of Indiana Methodist Episcopal conference. A United States Senator told the bishop of the incident, he said. The Senator had heard it from one of the Cabinet members who prayed with the President.

"When the President arrived at the Cabinet meeting," said the bishop, "his face wore a solemn look. It was evident that the serious affairs of the nation were on his mind. He said to the Cabinet members. 'I don't know whether you men believe in prayer or not. I do. Let us pray and ask the help of God.'

"And right there the President of the United States fell upon his knees and the rest of the members of the Cabinet did the same, and the President offered a prayer to God. While the war rages in Europe, we in this country should thank God that in this crisis of the world we have a Chief Executive who is a servant of God and who stands with his hand in the hand of God. Every minister in the land should, every time he offers a prayer, take Woodrow Wilson by the hand and lead him into the presence of God and ask that he be given strength to continue to be the great apostle of peace among men."

Later a telegram expressing the confidence of the delegates in him was sent to the President.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 2.—An operation performed today on Mrs. Blanche Vales of San Diego revealed three vermiform appendixes. The main organ at the end of the caecum was ten inches long instead of the usual three or four inches.

The other two were attached to the large intestine two inches apart. All three were successfully removed.

FURTHER SLIDES IN PANAMA CANAL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Further slides in the Panama Canal which occurred yesterday will delay the reopening of the waterway beyond October 10, the time set when the recent fall of earth occurred. This was announced in a message received by the Panama Railroad Company today.

SHORT BALLOT IS FAVORITE.

Republicans of Massachusetts Adopt Resolutions.

Prohibition and Anti-loan Planks are Rejected.

Mexican Policy of the Democrats Criticised.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—In ratifying the nominees of the recent primaries, the Republican State convention today adopted a declaration of principles, several of which had been suggested by Progressives who desired to support the party ticket. Resolutions favoring national prohibition and condemning loans to foreign belligerent nations were rejected.

The platform contained planks indorsing neutrality, criticising the Mexican policy of the administration and favoring a constitutional convention, biennial elections, a short ballot and an executive budget. Woman suffrage was not mentioned either in the resolutions or by any speaker.

The proposed plank opposing a foreign loan was disposed of without extended debate. Some discussion was occasioned by the prohibition resolution offered by former Gov. Eugene N. Foss, who made it his issue in his effort to obtain the party nomination for Governor at the primaries. It was rejected by a vote of 1042 to 291.

Former Congressman Samuel W. McCall, who is the party nominee for Governor for a second time, was greeted warmly when he was presented to the convention by Lieut.-Gov. Grafton D. Cushing, his opponent in the primaries. Mr. McCall devoted most of his speech of acceptance to criticism of the administration of Gov. Walsh, Democratic candidate for re-election.

A new ovation record for this State was set by the delegates to the Democratic State convention today in their greeting to Gov. Walsh. For forty minutes the seven hundred delegates assisted by 300 spectators in the gallery and a vigorous and untiring band, shouted, cheered and sang in praise of the victor in the last two gubernatorial campaigns and third-term candidate.

The platform indorses the administration of President Wilson; advocates preparedness and neutrality and otherwise deals wholly with State issues. Like the platform of the Republican convention, it urges the calling of a constitutional convention, the establishment of an executive budget, biennial elections and old-age pensions.

An effort to introduce a woman suffrage plank was suppressed and a proposed resolution opposing loans to belligerents in the European war met a similar fate.

WILLIS DEMANDS A NEW POLICY.

TIME RIPE FOR AMERICANISM, SAYS OHIO GOVERNOR.

Give Business a Chance to Breathe and Digest Heavy Legislative Meal it has been Forced to Swallow, He Declares in an Interview at San Francisco.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Frank B. Willis, Governor of Ohio, declared today that the "time is ripe for a renewal of a real American policy with reference to our important industrial and business conditions," in an address before the Commonwealth Club. Gov. Willis and Mrs. Willis arrived here today after a trip through the northern States to be present at celebration of "Ohio day" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition next Wednesday.

"One cannot give an unprejudiced review to our present conditions without reaching the belief that there is justification for the cry, now going out in volume, to give business a chance to breathe and digest the heavy legislative meal it has been forced to swallow," he said.

"The majority of business men want to be honest and do right, but when forty-eight Legislatures, Congress and the courts of our States and the nation keep constantly busy laying down new rules for business it has become almost impossible for business men to know what is the law.

"The time is here for the establishment of a genuine American policy involving fair treatment of our industries, laws that will encourage the business man rather than repress him, and that will encourage him in a legitimate way to even greater achievements than those we have made thus far."

COUNT PRESIDENT AS A SUFFRAGIST.

EXPECTATIONS THAT HE WILL SANCTION JERSEY'S VOTES FOR WOMEN AMENDMENT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—President Wilson is expected shortly to announce his intention of voting for the New Jersey State constitutional amendment granting suffrage to women. A special election on the amendment will be held October 19 and the President will go to Princeton to vote. Secretary Tumulty, whose home is in Jersey City, said today he expected to vote for the woman suffrage amendment. It was reported that Secretary Garrison, who is also from New Jersey, had authorized the statement that he would vote for woman suffrage.

The President on several occasions has refused to support an amendment to the Federal Constitution to give nation-wide woman suffrage. He has said he believed the question to be a State issue. Recently he said he would make known his position on woman suffrage before the amendment to the New Jersey Constitution was voted on.

Lansing Wants All Factions to Submit Data.

Americans in Cananea are Exposed to Bandits.

Each will Send Delegates to Coming Conference.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. — Secretary Lansing announced today that on his return to Washington on Monday he would receive representatives of all factions originally a part of the revolution that overthrew Huerta in Mexico.

The Secretary will invite Elise Arredondo, the authorized representative in Washington of Gen. Carranza, to submit data to him concerning the "material and moral capacity" of the Carranza government, and similarly Enrique C. Llorente, the Washington agent of Gen. Villa, will be given an opportunity to set forth the views of the party he represents.

Each will be permitted to bring other delegates to present facts, all of which the American government is anxious to get before deciding upon the faction to which to accord recognition.

As a preliminary to the conferences next week, Roberto Pesquiera, Carranza adviser, and Charles A. Douglas, Washington attorney for Gen. Carranza, called on Secretary Lansing separately today to pay their respects. It is understood they were asked to submit memoranda of their respective views next week.

FOREIGNERS IN DANGER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Americans and other foreigners in Cananea are exposed to the depredations of bandits, as the district is without authority, according to consular dispatches today to the State Department.

The American consular agent at Cananea had made representations asking that an adequate garrison be stationed in the town to protect foreigners.

The general situation in Mexico City is improved, it is said.

Alleged forgeries of Carranza paper money resulted in a panic and the closing of Mexico City banks on September 28. Later dispatches indicate that public confidence has been to some degree established by the treasury officials.

MAYTORENA RETIRES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 2.—Denying that Gov. Maytorena had abandoned his post as head of the Sonora State government, as announced yesterday in dispatches from Nogales, Ariz., Villa government officials here stated today that Gov. Maytorena's term of office expired August 31 and that he had consented to hold over for one month pending the appointment of his successor. Carlos Randall, former Governor of Sonora, was appointed a few days ago. Officials say Maytorena retired to private life and Randall was sworn in yesterday.

State Department officials here have been asked to find Van Leigh Collins, son of Mrs. J. O. Collins of San Antonio, who arrived at Juarez two weeks ago from Morelia, State of Morelos. The last heard from him was a letter received by his mather, dated Juarez, asking for money. Consul Edwards has been unable to locate him in Juarez.

NAFARRATE TRANSFERRED.

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) Oct. 2.—The transfer of Gen. E. P. Nafarrate, the Carranza commander at Matamoros, from this border, a change which American officers here consider highly important in helping to restore peace on the international boundary was announced by Gen. Nafarrate himself today. He said that Gen. Eugenio Lopez, now with the Carranza army near Torreon, is expected to succeed him at Matamoros.

Gen. Nafarrate said he expected to go to Vera Cruz. He said the date of his departure was not fixed, depending probably on when Gen. Lopez arrives. The latter, who is a young man, recently was promoted to a generalship for distinguished services in the campaign against the Villa forces about Paredon.

Report that Luis de la Rosa, known as the "brains of the Texas revolution," was ambushed and killed yesterday by deputy sheriffs, was discredited flatly by army officers at Mission, Tex. De la Rosa wsa still on the Mexican side today, alive and plotting, according to report from Gen. Nafarrate, who said he had taken steps to capture or kill De la Rosa and his band.

It is known that American peace officers had arranged a trap to lure De la Rosa across the river somewhere between here and Mission and then ambush him. The plan was to take him prisoner.

REFUGEES FLEE TO AGUA PRIETA.

PEOPLE WHO FEAR YAQUIS VIOLENCE THRONG CITY IN CHIHUAHUA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Oct. 2.—Agua Prieta, the Mexican town opposite here, which ordinarily has a population of about 1500 civilians, was crowded tonight with approximately 11,000 refugees, who are said to have fled from Southern Sonora in fear of Yaqui outbreaks and an invasion of the state by Villa troops from Chihuahua.

Applications for admittance at the United States immigration station here number from 300 to 400 daily. Only about a third are approved. Every house in the town is crowded, and many men and women and children are living in box cars, tents and rude huts made of any available lumber material.

Gen. Elias Calles, Carranza commander in Sonora, is sending detachments of troops to Eastern Sonora to meet the expected Villa invasion.

FOUR PRIVATES BACK IN CAMP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FABENS (Tex.) Oct. 2.—Four privates of the Thirteenth Cavalry, members of a patrol and who were captured yesterday by Villa soldiers, were brought to the border near here late today and turned over to Lieut. McKane. The soldiers wandered across the line at a place where the boundary is unmarked and fell into the hands of the Mexican border patrol. They were disarmed and taken to Guadalupe, where they spent the night and where they said they were well treated. Their rifles and pistols were sent to Juarez, where the Mexican officer said they would be turned over to the American authorities.

CONSUL POWERS DIES AT PARRAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 2.—American Consul Thomas D. Edwards of Juarez was notified today by Consul Marion Letcher of Chihuahua of the death of Edward A. Powers, American consular agent at Parral, Chihuahua. No details were given. Powers was a native of New Haven, Ct., and was appointed to the agency at Parral two years ago after thirty years' residence in Mexico.

BRITISH PRISONERS' FATE IS MYSTERY.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—There is much mystery and a good deal of anxiety about the fate of the British prisoners taken by the Turks in the Dardanelles. According to the British official casualty lists, about 7000 officers and men are missing, but the Turks in their communiques rarely claim to have taken prisoners.

Legality.

STATUS OF CARRANZA BEFORE NEW YORK COURT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Supreme Court of this State will be called upon to decide whether the de facto government of Gen. Carranza is the legal government of the State of Yucatan, in connection with a suit filed today on behalf of the Carranza government of Yucatan and a previous suit filed by Manuel Yriboyen Lara, former Secretary-General of the State. Both suits seek to recover 900,000 pesos which it is alleged Abel Ortiz Argumedo, former Governor of Yucatan, took with him when he left his State last March.

Lara contends in his suit that he represents the lawful authorities of Yucatan and that the Carranza government is not the constitutional government of the State. The suit filed today alleges the Carranza government is the legal government of the State; asks that Argumedo give an accounting and petitions for injunctions, restraining a bank and a safety deposit company from turning over to Argumedo any funds or securities they may be holding for him.

Coin Plenty in Germany.

of the outrages did not occur was an immaterial detail. I know all these things because I rather enjoy kicking the goat myself. I was horribly outraged over the conduct of Dr. Cook. For a change I would really enjoy now taking Dr. Cook's side and persecuting Peary for a while. If Germany understood us better, they wouldn't write so many pamphlets.

HOW EUROPE REGARDS US.

And, even from this remark, the Germans could draw a moral were they ever to read it. What Americans say and what they do are different. We are reckless with words, but cautious with deeds. We like to bullyrag Germany and talk about war. But when it comes to actually taking sides! Listening to our talk, Europe regards us as flighty children. When it comes to doing things, she will find us shrewd, cold and mighty calculating. There are plenty of words lying around; why not have a few fireworks with them? But following the words with action. Ah, now wait a minute!

As to Leipzig, some of the things bored me and some interested me. Up to the third story I was interested in the municipal pawnshop. To keep the needy out of the hands of vultures, the city advances 60 per cent. of the value of articles offered as security. Interest is 10 per cent. After six months the pledged articles are sold but the owner gets all above the amount of the loan. Among the things in hock we saw 1500 feather beds.

On one hook were hanging the best shoes of a whole family, from the baby's to father's big brogans. They told us at the pawnshop fewer articles have been pawned since the war began than before. The absence of so many men at the front and the plenitude of public buildings in process of construction has made work easy to get. Furthermore, the city has organized big bureaus for the assistance of the poor, helping some with their house rent and giving free food and money to others. All through Germany we found that savings bank accounts have increased rapidly during the period of the war.

Leipzig is one of the great book publishing centers in the world, so one afternoon we were taken to the Reclam publishing house. Nearly all the Reclam books are paper bound classics selling for about 5 cents. I was astonished to see how poor a plant they had. All the presses were slow, flat-bed affairs and the type was all set by hand. I asked Herr Reclam why he didn't ipstall modern machinery. He replied that authors made so many corrections in the proof that it was better to have the type set by hand where it could easily be taken apart.

WEIRD EXPERIENCE.

Our first day at Leipzig closed with a weird experience. They had taken us to the famous memorial monument erected on the battlefield of Leipzig, where Napoleon got his first real licking. A choir in one of the galleries had sung beautifully and we were headed for home in a pleasureable daze when another committee pounced upon us and, to our frozen horror, dragged us into the Leipzig crematory where they had a mock funeral arranged in our honor!

Now I am going to quote from my diary:

One night at a banquet in Leipzig, I sat next Frederik Gontard, one of the richest men in Saxony. He is a manufacturer of soap and dry goods. He told me that he made a little over eight times as much money during this year of battles as during any other year of his business life. He said that the dry goods business had been helped by the British blockade. Not being able to get any imported goods, the women had to wear all home goods. He said that the dry goods merchants had been able to sell the old stocks that had been lying on the shelves for years: unpopular patterns and out-of-date fashions. The war year has been in the nature of a grand clean-up sale. He said, however, that four lines of business in Leipzig had been hit hard: the business of those who deal in exporting and importing goods manufactured by others; those having anything to do with the renting of houses either as owner or agent; those dealing in luxuries and the book-publishing business.

Before we left Leipzig, they took us to the art gallery to see some of the work of Max Klinger. The first Klinger picture they showed us was an enormous canvas of Christ on the Cross. Saadi Bey, the Turk, was highly indignant because the artist had made Jesus Christ to look like a German. He said that Christ was a Syrian Jew and ought to look like one. He said it wes an outrage and left the party in offended dignity. At Dresden, they escorted us through another gallery and Saadi was again outraged because they showed us a wonderful picture of a white camel. He said there wasn't any such thing as a white camel. So he left the party again to its fate.

One little incident at Leipzig sticks in my mind. It made, in fact, a great impression on me. We were in a big beer cafe when a boy came in leading by the hand one of the few beggars I have seen in Germany. He was a blind soldier. One of the correspondents handed the boy a mark.

This evening I had dinner with Herr Paul Gulden, to whom I had a letter of introduction. He was charming. He had been everywhere and seen everything and looked upon the world with the broad eyes of culture. We talked quite frankly of what is in store for Germany after the war. He said:

"Will I hurt you if I tell you the real feeling of Germany toward the United States? No? Then it is this: We have simply thrown up our hands as one does when a spoiled child misbehaves. I perhaps understand you better than most Germans, for I have lived in the United States. But to most of us you present a spectacle of pettish contrariness. We read a lot of notes from Mr. Wilson or Mr. Bryan, we are not sure which; then Mr. Bryan and Mr. Wilson seem to start writing notes to one another. A military threat from a country that obviously does not care to undertake the task of fighting Mexico does not seem to us serious. We feel that the policy of the United States government is that of a petulant child.

"Commercially, the United States is regarded differently. It would be a serious thing for Germany to lose America as a customer. We do not feel, however, that this is a possibility. After all, the relation between business firms is largely personal and practical. We look forward to a great rush of trade after the war. Particularly in dyestuffs. This ought to tide Germany over a dangerous financial period.

"At present money is a glut on the market. There is so much money that the banks have a hard time lending any. The best you can get for a first-mortgage loan on real estate is 4½ per cent. For second mortgages the rate is about 5 per cent. As the war bonds draw 5 per cent., the first issues brought a premium. The explanation of the eagerness with which the German loans are taken up is not only patriotism, but the difficulty of loaning money. Many of our big business firms have millions on hand that they don't know what to do with."

As this condition is obviously due to the fact that German money is kept at home, I asked Herr Gulden what will result when the German money goes abroad with a rush after the war.

"We trust that this rush of money to the United States and other countries will be more than equalled by a rush of American money to Germany to buy the goods that have been stopped by the blockade. You will be sorely in need of our dyestuffs by the time the war is ended."

I suggested that America might, in the meantime, learn to manufacture its own dyestuffs. "Not time enough," replied Gulden. "If the war lasted eight or ten years, you might do so. But you will not have time. It has taken us forty years to learn how to make dye. Your chemists can't do forty years' work in one or two years. You could not build up a trade to compete with us in so short a time."

I asked him how long the war would last. From this man of great insight, himself a former army officer and with two sons now officers at the front, came this remarkable reply, "I do not know, because I do not know why England went to war. I can honestly say that I am unable to get the slightest clew to the real reason. Not knowing why she is fighting, I cannot say when she will be ready to quit.

"Germany now stands in a position where she can literally capture any position. . . . Warsaw, Calais, or even England if we want to pay the price in the lives of our soldiers. Naturally we want to make as small a sacrifice as possible. Also it is no part of Germany's plan to wreak any more destruction upon her foes than necessary. Unless Germany is able to collect large indemnities after the war, we will all face the certainty of paying very large taxes all the rest of our lives to meet these enormous war debts. The tax is now about 11 per cent. of the average income of a man of property. This is as high as it can go without hardship and if we do not collect big indemnities, it must be far higher. We do not want the war to go on so long that none of our foes will be able to pay us indemnities. France is now without money; Russia never had any. England won't have any if the war is carried too far. On the one hand, Germany faces the problem of saving its men from too huge a sacrifice of life; on the other hand, it faces financial danger by letting the war go too long."

RESUME OF GULF FLOOD.

Total Number of Dead is Placed at 198 and Amount of the Damage Stands at $12,000,000.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Oct. 2.—Tonight's reports from the sections of Louisiana and the Mississippi gulf coast swept by Wednesday night's storm brought the number of known dead to 198 and the missing to 310. Estimates of the property damage stood at approximately $12,000,000.

With the exception of a few isolated points, reports have been received from the entire district, and general indications were the total death toll would not exceed 350. A number of refugees have been brought to New Orleans from the lower Mississippi River.

Gov. Hall arrived here today to assist in the relief work.

The Wolvin liner City of Tampico, from Vera Cruz, arrived here today. Two Mexican sailors were swept overboard during the storm. The vessel shipped many seas and was handled roughly by the wind.

Five women and eleven children perished at Island de la Croix, according to the story told by a relative of one of the survivors arriving here. The husbands of the women were on the roof of a house near by, unable to assist.

The women and children had been placed in a skiff by the men. The skiff was swept under the roof of a house and capsized.

ART SCHOOL FOR CHARITY.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Charitable women have organized an art school in the Boulevard Suchet for daughters of officers killed in the war. Daughters of officers decorated with the Legion of Honor are entitled to free education at Saint Benis, Ecouen and Loges, to the number of 400. There are places for 400 more paying pupils at the rate of 1000 francs yearly. These institutions not only have inadequte space, but cannot furnish the needed facilities for art students. A considerable number of daughters of officers studying art before the war have been deprived of all means of continuing their studies.

JOFFRE NICKNAME CAUSES DISPUTE.

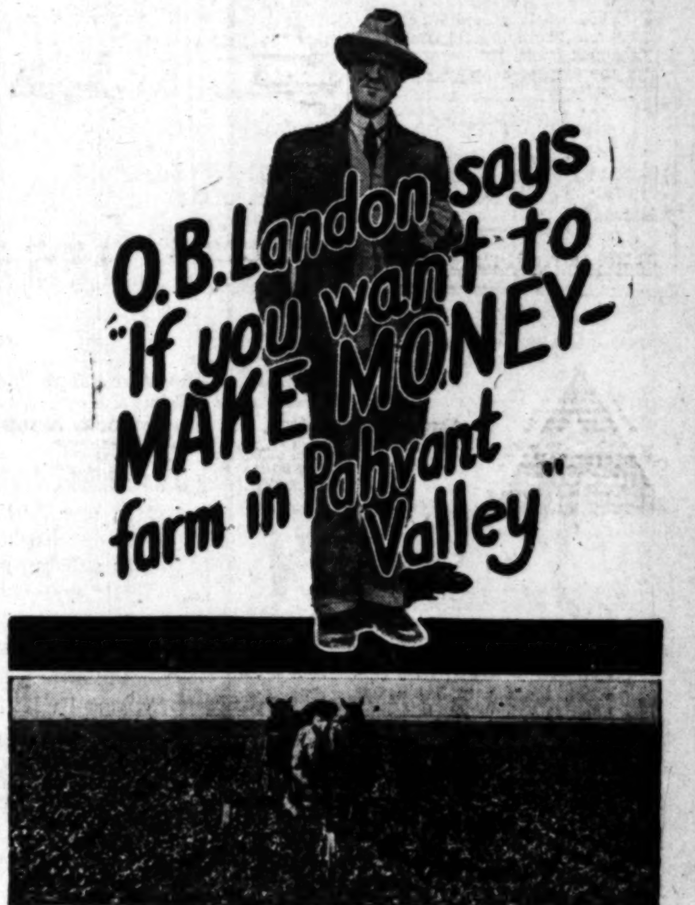
[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

PARIS, Aug. 31.—The newspapers are trying to discover the first soldier in the French army, to whom was applied the name of "Poilu" (hirsute.) Le Matin claims that it was the General-in-Chief Joffre to whom this name was first applied when he was a captain in Indo-China. At that time he wore a splendid blonde beard that profoundly impressed the Annamites, who have a strong habit of referring to distinguished people by nick-names. They referred to Joffre as "Loum-Loum," which in Annamite signified "hairy," and in French "poilu."

BOMB GUARDS AT ST. PAUL.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, Sept. 15.—An association of architects and art craftsmen now does duty in protecting St. Paul's Cathedral, presumably in case of incendiary bombs being dropped upon it by Zeppelins. These men, who include many well-known architects, serve in addition to the regular watchman. Sand boxes and shovels for putting out fires are placed in convenient corners, just as they are in the museums and art galleries of London. So far, the Zeppelins have destroyed nothing of importance in the way of art or architecture in England.



O.B. Landon says
"If you want to MAKE MONEY-farm in Pahvant Valley"

Western Securities Company,
711 Hollingsworth Building,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Gentlemen:

I lived in California for over 20 years, and farmed in the west central part of the State in Shasta and Yuba Counties. I traveled 16,000 miles in an automobile looking for the best farming opportunity that could be secured for the least money. I toured through Oregon, Nevada, California and Arizona, but couldn't find exactly what I wanted. While in Los Angeles I heard of the Pahvant Valley lands, in Millard County, Utah, and went up to study the situation, the water conditions, soil, crop, yields, etc. After investigating everything thoroughly, I decided that Pahvant Valley was the place for me.

I bought 80 acres in February, 1914. I have 20 acres planted to alfalfa and it has made a splendid growth. I intend to plant sugar beets because I have found that the beets that grow here equal the best crops I have ever seen. I have seen land here that cost $70 an acre pay 70 per cent. net profit per annum on grain alone. I believe 100 per cent. profit can be made yearly in alfalfa seed and sugar beets here on land at the present prices. I believe land values will double here in three years.

(Signed) O. B. LANDON.

State of Utah,
County of Millard.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 19th day of December, 1914.
A. M. McPHERSON, Notary Public.

Pahvant Valley is on the main line of the Salt Lake Railroad in Southwestern Utah—under $1,000,000 irrigation system. Estimated annual cost of maintenance from forty to fifty cents per acre.

$70 Per Acre for Land and Perpetual (Gravity) Water Right. $25 An Acre Down and the Balance in Ten Years.

Why pay $150 to $200 an acre for farmland with high-priced water supply, when Pahvant Valley lands under a great gravity irrigation system are obtainable at $70 an acre — LAND AND PERPETUAL water rights? The price at which these water rights can be sold has been limited by the government and the State of Utah. Pahvant Valley is a proven settled farming country. A sugar beet crop alone will more than pay for the cost of your land and water right in one season. Twenty tons and over of sugar beets is an EVERY YEAR crop in Pahvant Valley.

Go to Pahvant Valley now and get the facts from the men who live there and have succeeded. Pahvant Valley is the last word in richness and depth of soil, cheap water supply, main-line transportation facilities, ready markets, health-giving climate, pure, soft, lithia drinking water, money-making crops, stock-raising advantages and happy, contented farmers. Our booklet will be mailed upon request. Special excursions at low homeseekers' rates from Los Angeles.

One of the two engines, the mail car and dynamo car left the track and tumbled down an embankment. No passengers were injured, according to reports received by the Southern Pacific here.

The injured:

C. G. Elder, engineer; not seriously hurt.

Two unidentified tramps, one with legs broken, another with rib fractured.

G. Hooper, express messenger, severely bruised.

Melville was caught between the cab of his engine and the car following it and crushed.

Railways May Resort to Talk Wires to Operate Trains in Cases of Absolute Necessity, Commisssion Rules.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2. — Railroads were given permission today to use telephones in transmission of train orders in cases of accidents and when a delay continued fifteen minutes, in an order issued by the State Railroad Commission. Electric lines were exempted from the law prohibiting the use of telephones in transmitting orders. The law, passed at the 1915 session of the Legislature, gave the commission discretion to modify it.

The railroads contended there had been no accidents in California chargeable to use of telephone systems.

ARBITRATION REJECTED.

San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways Company Holds It Would Violate Present Contract with Union.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 2.—On the grounds that any agreement to arbitrate the demands of the carmen's union would be virtually to grant a new contract and nullify the present one, officials of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways Company in a letter to the carmen today refused arbitration.

Recognition of ferry boat deck hands as members of the carmen's union, the letter said, would mean that track laborers, clerks, stenographers and other employees would be included. The company holds that the present contract is specific and that the union's grievance is groundless.

The statement was delivered to the carmen today and brings the strike situation to a crisis.

STATE RAILWAY BUREAU DODGES JITNEY ISSUE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—The State Railroad Commission disclaimed jurisdiction over jitneys and motor buses in a decision dismissing two suits brought by the United Railroads of San Francisco and the Western Association of Short Line Railroads against the competing motor bus lines. The commission held, however, that motor bus lines are common carriers.

The commission stated that the California constitution declared common carriers to be public utilities but that it also provided that public utilities should be subject only to such regulation as provided by the Legislature. The Legislature had not given the commission jurisdiction over jitneys and motor bus lines, the commission said, and therefore, the two suits were dismissed.

The suit of the United Railroads was against the Peninsula Rapid Transit Company, which operates a competing line between San Fran and San Mateo, twenty miles of here.

The case brought by the West Association of Short Line Railr was against the Wichita Transp tion Company, operating out of Diego.

AS SUBSTITUTE FOR THE UNION

Rockefeller's Industrial Pla Submitted to Employees.

Collective Bargaining to b Insured by a Contract.

Answer to the Demands of th United Mine Workers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PUEBLO (Colo.) Oct. 2.—Collective bargaining, insured by a contract signed and sealed for a term of years, was promised today by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to the employees of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. The contract was embodied in the industrial plan submitted by Mr. Rockefeller at a meeting of officers of the company and grievance representatives from the various coal camps. The plan carries a guarantee against discrimination against members of any union, but does not provide for recognition of the United Mine Workers of America.

The industrial system outlined at the conference is looked upon as the Rockefeller answer to the demands of the United Mine Workers—demands which in 1913 led to one of the most bitter industrial conflicts in the history of the country. Mr. Rockefeller himself has steadfastly maintained that his plan is not an attack upon unionism, but that it is "broader and more democratic" than the system advocated by the miners' organization.

FATE HANGS ON VOTE.

The fate of the plan hangs upon the action of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company directors and the miners employed by the company. At a meeting today, attended by delegates from the various Colorado coal camps, operating offices and mine superintendents, the plan unanimously was approved. The meeting voted to submit the proposal to the directors at a meeting in Denver on Monday, and to the miners for a referendum vote. The miners will vote at each camp by secret ballot.

If a majority of the directors and a majority of the miners elect to accept the plan it will become effective at once. The industrial system which was devised by Mr. Rockefeller and W. McKenzie King, with the assistance of Colorado Fuel officers, as a solution of the problem in Colorado embodies direct mediation between capital and labor. Mr. Rockefeller himself declared it "more democratic than unionistic" because it included all employees, whether organized or not.

Mr. Rockefeller outlined the plan in a speech to the men who then discussed it. The sprinkling of members of the United Mine Workers among the delegates made no opposition, and the vote on the approval of the Rockefeller proposal was unanimous.

The expenses of the miners' delegates in attending the meeting were paid by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, which also reimbursed them for the time they lost in leaving the mines and coming to Pueblo.

THE PLAN.

The Rockefeller plan—formulated by Mr. Rockefeller and W. L. Mackenzie King in collaboration with operating officials of the company—is based upon the mediation system already in operation. The outline of the plan submitted to the conference is divided into four general sections:

(1.) Representatives of employees and the manner of their selection.

(2.) District conferences, joint committees and joint meetings.

(3.) The prevention and adjustment of industrial disputes.

(4.) Social and industrial betterment.

MEMORANDUM.

The proposal also contains a memorandum of agreement between the company and its employees. The miners at each camp are to elect representatives on a basis of one for every 150 wage-earners. Each camp is entitled to at least two representatives.

For mediation purposes the company's camps are divided into five districts—the Trinidad district, the Walsenburg district, the Canon district (comprising all the mines in Fremont county,) the Western district (comprising all the mines on the western slope in Colorado) and the Sunrise (Wyo.) district.

For the settlement of disputes and the discussion of any problems in the relations of the company with its employees, district conferences shall be held, attended by the grievance representatives from all the camps in the district and company officers, not exceeding in number the representatives of the miners.

The delegates representing the miners and the company eligible to sit in each district conference are to select from their number joint committees, composed of six members each, as follows:

Joint committee on industrial cooperation and conciliation.

Joint committee on safety and accidents.

Joint committee on sanitation, health and housing.

Joint committee on recreation and education.

The plan makes elaborate provisions for the settlement of industrial disputes. After pledging the corporation and its employees to observe Federal and State mining laws the manifesto states:

"There shall be no discrimination by the company or by any of its employees on account of membership or non-membership in any society, fraternity or union."

Another clause says: "The right to hire and discharge, the management of the properties and the direction of the working forces shall be vested exclusively in the company, and, as expressly restricted, this right shall not be abridged by anything contained therein."

The plan provides, however, that the company must post a list of offenses for which dismissal may be made without notice; for all other offenses employees shall not be discharged without notification that a repetition will cause dismissal. The company reserves the privilege of relieving employees from duty on account of lack of work.

Employees are guaranteed the right to hold meetings, to purchase supplies where they please and to employ check weighmen.

A miner or group of miners with a grievance against the company shall take the matter to the camp's elected representative.

A miner or group of miners with a grievance against the company shall take the matter to the camp's elected representative. The representative must first seek adjustment from the foreman or superintendent. Failing to receive satisfaction, he then is at liberty to appeal to the President's industrial representatives—at present, Labor.

A miner or group of miners with a grievance against the company shall take the matter to the camp's elected representative. The representative must first seek adjustment from the foreman or superintendent. Failing to receive satisfaction, he then is at liberty to appeal to the President's industrial representatives—at present, David Griffiths—or to the higher officers of the company or up to President J. F. Welborn.

Another method of settlement open to the miners, after the initial appeal to the foreman or superintendent, is a hearing before the district joint committee on conciliation. If the committee fails to agree, it may select an umpire, whose decision shall be binding on all parties.

IN CASE OF FAILURE.

If the joint committee fails to adjust a dispute, it is provided that it shall be settled by arbitration or the reference to the Colorado State Industrial Commission.

The company guarantees the grievance representatives of the men against unjust discharge or discrimination, and provides that a representative who thinks he has been the victim of discrimination, may appeal to the State Industrial Commission.

The contract or "memorandum of agreement" appended to the statement is as follows:

"It is mutually understood and agreed that in addition to the rights and privileges guaranteed the employees and the company, in the industrial representation plan herewith, the following stipulations respecting employment, living and working conditions, shall govern the parties hereto from the date of their signatures hereon until January 1, 1918, and shall continue thereafter subject to revision upon ninety days' notice by either of the parties.

"The charge to employees for dwellings without bath shall not exceed $2 per room per month.

"The present uniform charge of 40 cents per electric light per month, with free light on porches, shall not be increased.

"There shall be no charge for domestic water, except in cases where the company is obliged to purchase the same; in such cases the charges shall be substantially what they cost to the company.

"The rates to be charged employees for powder and domestic coal shall be substantially their cost to the company.

"To encourage employees to cultivate flowers and vegetable gardens, the company agrees to fence, free of charge, each house lot owned by it.

"The company will continue its practice of removing garbage free of charge.

"As the need becomes manifest the company will continue its present policy of providing, as rapidly as possible, suitable bath-houses and social centers in the nature of clubhouses, for its employees at the several mining camps.

"Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all underground employees. This shall mean eight hours exclusive of the noon hour, and that time required to go and come from the mine opening to the place of employment.

"Nine hours shall constitute a day's work for all outside labor, except foremen and engineers.

"All employees shall be paid semimonthly by check.

"No deductions shall be made from earnings, except where authorized by employees.

"No change affecting conditions of employment with respect to wages or hours shall be made without giving thirty days' notice as provided by statute.

"The schedule of wages and the working conditions now in force in the several districts shall continue without reduction, but if prior to January 1, 1918, a general increase shall be granted in competitive districts in which the company does not conduct operations, a proportionate increase shall be made. For this purpose a joint meeting of the miners' representatives and proper officers of the company shall be called within thirty days after the increase in competitive districts is effective to discuss and determine an equable method for fixing the new scale in the districts affected."

The contract is to be signed by the president and secretary of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and in behalf of its employees by the representatives of each camp.

Catarrh of Head

I Feel It a Duty to Mankind to Let Them Know of Pe-ru-na

Mr. W. H. Chaney, R.F.D. No. 2, Sutherlin, Pittsylvania Co., Virginia, writes: "For the past twelve months I have been a sufferer from catarrh of the head. Since taking four bottles of your Peruna I feel a different person altogether. The severe pains in my head have disappeared, and my entire system has been greatly strengthened. This is my first testimonial to the curative qualities of any patent medicine, but I feel it a duty to mankind to let them know of the greatest medicine on earth, Peruna—in my estimation — for the above trouble."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if cross, bilious or feverish.

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

TO OPEN CANAL OCTOBER TENTH.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Panama Canal, closed because of earth slides, will be reopened October 10. A new earth movement Tuesday delayed the opening. It was thought the channel would be cleared by October 1.

CHINESE THEORY OF OKUMA CRISIS.

BELIEVE RESIGNATION INDICATED DISAPPROVAL OF POLICY.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

PEKING, Aug 15.—Chinese officials and Chinese newspapers regard the announcement of the resignation of the Okuma Cabinet in Japan as an indication that the Japanese public disapproved of the attitude of Japan toward China.

The Peking Daly News, discussing the Japanese Cabinet flurry, says: "The Tokio authorities may choose to announce that the resignation of the cabinet was due to a disapproval of corrupt practices in electioneering, but those who have followed the trend of events in that country, especially since the presentation of the Japanese demands to China, will suspect that the causes are to be found in the public dissatisfaction regarding the outcome of the negotiations between the two countries and the public dissatisfaction regarding domestic politics."

The Peking Daily Gazette says, under the caption "The End of a Sinister Government:" "A single sentence is enough to express our view of the passing of Count Okuma's Cabinet. It is proper that a government which shall be remembered by Chinese as deriving its infamous power from the exercise of duplicity and tergiversation should end on the vulgar note of bribery and corruption."

THEIR LIVES THE STAKES.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

GENEVA (Switzerland) Aug. 31.—How an Alpine chasseur gambled for his life with a captured German is told in a letter to his sister in Geneva.

"I won," he says, "but had not the heart to kill my German adversary. He spoke French well, having been at Marseilles two years, and knew the game of manille well, but the cards favored me. My corporal and myself were sent out at night to reconnoiter and we captured this German sentinel quietly smoking, out of reach of his rifle, standing against a tree near by. He surrendered, but made sarcastic remarks in French about the way we make prisoners, so I challenged him to stake his life against mine at cards. The German is now a satisfied prisoner in France."

BRITISH BANKERS' BUSINESS GROWS.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The business of the Bankers' Clearinghouse, which is tucked away in a court just off Lombard street, has grown to such an extent that larger premises have to be found to carry on the work. Forty years ago about fifty men got through the work daily; now there are 500 busy from morning until night, and the din created by 200 mechanical reckoners working at high pressure is terrific.

In 1868 the total amount dealt with was 3,425,000,000 sterling; in 1914 it was 16,436,000,000, and the latest figures available indicate that the work is still increasing, showing how universal the check has become for payment.

Others present were Mildred Lewis, Margaret Jordan, Dorothy Bresee, Ruth Newman, Lorayn and Hollis Krug, Marjorie Tribit, Marian and Alice Pitcher, Dorothy Schmidt, Margaret Hardin, Morse Craig, Gloria Montgomery, Arthur Maisch, Norvel Krug, Edward Hart and Allen Engheart.

MRS. OTIS HUNLEY WILL TALK ON INCUBATION—"FROM EGG TO CHICK"

Mrs. Otis Hunley, well-known poultry expert and authority on incubation, has consented to give a free talk on the above subjects next Tuesday evening, October 5th, in the large lecture hall of the Angeles Mesa Land Company at 433 South Hill street. In her talk Mrs. Hunley will use the famous educational moving picture film on incubation now used in the public schools. This intensely interesting film shows the incubation from egg to chick. Mrs. Hunley will present new and interesting features in connection with incubation and poultry raising that will be of interest to the man or woman who operates a small chicken plant, as well as the ones operating plants of several thousand chickens. She treats the subject from a practical as well as a scientific standpoint, and tells you how you can start in the poultry business and make a success of it on a small capital. The lecture is absolutely free and you are invited to come and bring your friends.

Johnson Impoverishes State for Self-aggrandizement.

Tax-Eaters Multiply.

has resorted to almost every known form of direct and indirect taxation. There are State corporation licenses, hunting and fishing licenses, motor-vehicle licenses, death taxes, licenses for issuing stock certificates, licenses for forming corporations and piccadilly licenses and fees almost without number.

In addition to these there are other departments where the State tries to make money on its own hook. The State is now in the farming business in competition with its own taxpayers, in the manufacturing business, in the dairy business; it runs produce markets, fish markets, insurance companies, railroads, and seeks constantly other avenues where it may make profit as a private corporation.

But despite all these licenses and attempts at business profit the Board of Equalization was directed by the Legislature this year to assess the property withdrawn by the State from the city and county assessment rolls and reserved for State taxation, only at a sufficient rate to raise $35,700,000 for the support of the State government for the two years beginning July 1, 1915. This is an increase of $6,110,000 over the revenue bill of 1913. It is $15,595,000 greater than the general revenue bill passed by the Republican Legislature of 1909.

It requires almost as much ingenuity to find employment for that army of 6300 State employees as to devise ways and means to meet the swollen pay rolls. In order to keep them occupied the State is reaching its tentacles, like a giant octopus, into almost every line of private business and enterprise. Under the guise of driving business out of politics the State machine has forced politics into private business. Each of its commissions is a valve that is drawing the life blood from some line of private enterprise.

LOOK AT THIS LIST.

Inspection of the following list of new departments and commissions created since 1909 will give some idea of the new departures of the present "Progressive" administration and what they cost the taxpayer:

Immigration and Housing Commission—
Appropriation	$70,000
Industrial Welfare Commission—
Appropriation	$30,000
Industrial Accident Commission—
Salaries	$ 30,000

Motor Vehicle Department—
Appropriation (not segregated)	$300,000
Corporations Commission— (supported by fees)
May spend	$100,000
Grand total	$2,277,750

These are the new departures. But they form only a small portion of the increased State expense. Most of the old departments have been overhauled and the State machine has been able to find a way by which two men and even three can perform the work that was done by one before.

INCREASE IN CRIME.

Second only to the increase in the number of State employees has been that in the number of inmates in our prisons and insane asylums. While the increase in the number of State employees has been 150 per cent. greater than that of our population, the increase in the number of enforced guests in our State institutions has been about 80 per cent. It was the surprising increase in the number of these two classes that caused an amateur statistician to prepare an estimate which shows that, if the present proportion of increase is maintained, at the end of the second generation one-half the population of California will be on the State pay roll and the other half will be either in the penitentiary or the insane asylum.

One striking exception to the general increase in the cost of State departments has been the decrease in that presided over by the Secretary of State. This is the only State office under the direction of a straight Republican, and this office shows a decrease in cost of operation between 1909 and 1915 of $95,590. Of course, there is a reason. When the "progressives" could not beat Secretary Jordan at the polls they proceeded to raid his office by forming separate departments to do the work which properly belongs to the office of Secretary of State. They formed the motor vehicle department to take that work out of Secretary Jordan's office. The appropriation for that department is $300,000 this year. Then they made another new department to care for the State Capitol. That department received an appropriation this year of $162,735. The total cost of the office of Secretary of State, including these departments, was $252,350. By taking these two departments away from the Secretary of State the "progressive" machine is able to name the employees; this privilege costs the taxpayers of the State at least $154,000 every two years.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.

How shrewdly the State machine works to make every department carry all that the traffic will bear is illustrated in a number of bureaus. Take the Railroad Commission. The total cost of this in 1910 was $23,9 The administration made a headline feature of extending the powers and perquisites of this commission. It found apparent favor with the people, so it was promptly made a clearing-house for paying political debts. Its expense was jumped from $23,000 to $670,000 for a two-year term. The salary of the commissioners alone was placed at $40,000 a year.

Note the deadly parallel. Wisconsin has a population about equal to that of California. It has a railroad commission with powers similar to those of the California commission. Wisconsin pays $15,000 a year in salaries to its commissioners, and its total expenses are less than $150,000 a year.

Another striking example is afforded by the inheritance tax department. Under Gillett the extra cost of the department was but $4800 for two years. Under "progressive" rule the rates were doubled; in some instances they were quadrupled. Note the effect on the department pay roll: In the legislative appropriation for the State Controller's office this year there is included $112,500 to care for the inheritance tax department for the next two years.

Wisconsin has a State board of control with duties similar to those originally planned for our Board of Control. The yearly expense of the Wisconsin board is less than half that of the California board, and Wisconsin itself has never taken any medals for economy in State administration.

MEALS WILL FIT! NO INDIGESTION, GAS OR ACIDITY

Eat without fear of sourness, heartburn, belching or dyspepsia.

The moment "Pape's Diapepsin" reaches the stomach all distress goes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lays like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness, constipation, griping, etc. Your case is no different — you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost 50 cents at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that fermentation and sour stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble catarrh of the stomach, nervousness or gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that instant relief is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out of order stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.

CAR HITS GIRL AS SHE STOOPS.

ACCIDENT MAY PROVE FATAL FOR ANGELENO AT THE BEACH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Oct. 2. — Miss Helen Inglesby of No. 1203 Arapahoe street, Los Angeles, lies unconscious in St. Catherine's Hospital, Santa Monica, as the result of having been struck by a Playa del Rey car of the Pacific Electric. It is thought she has sustained concussion of the brain and internal injuries.

Miss Inglesby, Mrs. E. L. Mix and Miss Leona Mix, all of the same address, came to Playa del Rey for a visit of a few days with the family of J. L. Hummel. Tonight they were waiting for a car near Hazelton avenue when Miss Inglesby dropped her purse. Stooping to pick it up she was struck by an oncoming car, which she evidently had not observed approaching or whose motorman had apparently not seen her.

Miss Inglesby was hurled a considerable distance, her body in its flight striking and knocking down Mrs. Mix and her daughter, both of whom were painfully although not seriously injured. All received first-aid treatment at the emergency hospital.

After trying the rest, try the best; Hotel del Coronado.—[Advertisement.

A romance that originated while the couple attended Polytechnic High School culminated yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Evans, No. 1931 Barnard Park, when Miss Grace A. Evans became the bride of Edwin T. Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Franklin of this city. The ceremony was witnessed by friends and relatives. BELGIAN CHOICE GIVEN BULGARIA

"Will Go Through Anyway," Ultimatum of Germany.

Consternation at the Outlook Feeling of Macedonia.

Greece-Rumania Expected to Aid Allies' Cause.

BY EDWARD PRICE BELL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Belgium's choice was given Bulgaria by Germany, according to the best-informed opinion in London. There is reason to believe that Germany put its case and its ultimatum to Bulgaria substantially in these words:

"The Dardanelles and Constantinople are absolutely vital to the Germanic powers. If the allies win and hold the strait, which is the gateway to the East, we have lost the war. Necessity knows no law and Bulgaria must shape its policy with full knowledge of the fact that the central powers intend to break through to Constantinople."

Confronted with this final proposition, which is backed up by the gathering of an Austro-German army of probably half a million men, it is feared that Bulgaria has capitulated. The question is "what is the nature of the capitulation?"

WHAT WILL BULGARIA DO?

Has Bulgaria said to Germany, "We will fight alongside your armies"? or merely, "We will stand in a state of mobilization ready to defend ourselves against hostile invaders while you pass through"?

Needless to say, should Bulgaria follow the first course its act instantly would be construed by the allies as a casus belli. Should it follow the second course presumably the allies would demand the same rights on its soil as those granted to the enemy.

Great interest attaches to the possible effect on the Bulgarian people of the apparent decision of the monarch and the government that the plans of the Germanic coalition must be facilitated. Consternation at the outlook is hardly too strong a phrase to describe the feeling of the Bulgarians and Macedonians in London. All their sympathies are with the allies. They are grateful to Russia for their freedom and grateful to England for its valuable friendship to them in the past.

Even yet they are hoping against hope that the sinister look of things at Sofia will prove to have been misleading. They favor the allies not only because of sentiment, but because they regard Germany as having challenged the world and thereby insured its final defeat.

EFFECT ON ALLIES.

Should Bulgaria commit its fate in one form or another to the Austro-Germans it is not expected here that the effect on the military interests of the allies will be in the least disastrous. Of course, if Rumania and Greece also should yield to the menace of the Teutonic mailed fist and use their armies as Berlin and Vienna direct, the situation for the allies in the east would be grave, indeed. But it is believed not only that Greece will fulfill its treaty obligations to aid Servia, but that Rumania will co-operate with Greece and Servia to prevent a Germanic conquest of the Balkans. One feels pretty certain that the allies would prefer that Bulgaria should join the Austro-Germans rather than continue neutral.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 2.—The largest registration in the history of San Diego county has been reached, according to figures in the County Clerk's office, where the registered voters number 48,000. More than $1000 was appropriated recently for pre-election purposes expenses at the disposal of the County Clerk for the coming election, October 26, on the State constitutional amendments. Of this an even $1000 was spent for postage to mail the bulky pamphlets which the law requires be sent to voters.

HERRICK LAUDED AS LIKELY PARTY LEADER.

Noted Ohioan Sounds Warning Against Adoption of Anti-party Laws, at Realty Board Luncheon—Talks Rural Credits at Chamber of Commerce Smoker — Ex-Senator Young Urges Patriotism.

FLASHING before a distinguished audience of Californians as not only a "Presidential possibility, but a great and acceptable Presidential probability," Col. Myron T. Herrick, ex-Governor of Ohio and former Ambassador to France, delivered an address at the Alexandria yesterday at a luncheon given by the Los Angeles Realty Board.

In the evening, Col. Herrick made a second speech, this time talking on "Rural Credits," a question upon which he is profound authority. It was delivered at a smoker at the Chamber of Commerce, to which came men prominent in California public and business affairs.

The formal introduction of Col. Herrick by J. F. Sartori, chairman of the day at the luncheon, at which reference was made to his probable candidacy for President on the Republican ticket, drew a storm of applause. It was an audience chiefly of business men and the suggestion that the banker-statesman is "acceptable," as Mr. Sartori put it, won instant approval from business men who see the need of removing a theorist and putting some one in the White House with business sense.

Col. Herrick's noon address was upon the economic side of the tariff and his only political allusion in the occasion was by way of showing the failure of the Democratic policy of moderating it. His solution of the tariff problem is to remove it from politics and place it entirely in the hands of a commission of business men.

AGAINST ANTI-PARTY LAWS.

The distinguished Buckeye turned from an economic discussion long enough to sound a warning to the people of California against the enactment of the proposed anti-party laws.

"I am just old-fashioned enough," he said, "to believe that the life, the spirit, the hope of the nation lie in the fact that it has had and still has great parties to govern it.

"I do not assume to come here to California for the purpose of interfering with your private affairs, but I will watch the result of the coming election with great interest and some apprehension."

Seldom has the Realty Board given a luncheon at which so many notable men were gathered about the speakers' table. President W. W. Mines, who presided, had surrounded the distinguished guests, Col. Herrick, and Ex-Senator Lafayette Young of Iowa with the following: Mayor Sebastian, J. M. Elliott, R. B. Armstrong, M. F. Ihmsen, Harry Chandler, John G. Mott, Capt. John D. Fredericks, H. L. Cornish, Lorin A. Handley, Stoddard Jess, W. M. Humphreys, J. F. Sartori, R. N. Bulla, W. S. Wright, Lee C. Gates, J. B. Lankershim, P. A. Stanton, R. M. Bishop, F. W. Braun, George N. Black, S. M. Cooper, Lee V. Youngworth, Ex-Judge Walter Bordwell, John B. Miller, W. Jarvis Barlow and Phillip D. Wilson, while at the other tables were scores of the leading men of the community.

Chairman Sartori paid a happy tribute to the work and purpose of the Realty Board. He drew applause when he said:

"Ohio has today some Presidential possibilities and one great and acceptable Presidential possibility—Myron T. Herrick."

The speaker pointed to the long career of Col. Herrick in public life, to his high standing as a banker, and to his tremendous banking business in Cleveland.

"He is a man of wide, practical experience, of great business judgment, and one who is destined for greater honors," he said.

S. M. Cooper, president of the Ohio Society in Los Angeles, paid a short tribute to the relationship of the two States—California and Ohio. Col. Young, the veteran Iowa editor, spoke briefly of the war and patriotism.

"In California you are spreading things over everybody, so that if anything goes wrong you can trace it to nobody," he added by way of taking a fling at the proposed anti-party laws.

Col. Herrick was voted an honorary member of the Realty Board upon motion of Lee C. Gates.

In beginning his address, Col. Herrick called attention to the awakening of patriotism in America and spoke of the need of men in the nation. He said in part:

COL. HERRICK'S ADDRESS.

"I appreciate that in the discussion of political questions this board and others of its kind can properly take no partisan part, but the tariff problem on which I wish to speak briefly is not in any correct sense a political subject, but an economic one, which perforce has too long been made a political football. In fact, it is so long since I have had any part in politics, on account of my absence from the country, that I would hardly know how to make a political speech were I to attempt it. So I would make this preface — that I speak not as a Republican, but simply as a citizen interested in the welfare of my country and desirous of doing what I can for her advancement, though I am a Republican, firm in my belief in the efficiency of the protective tariff as a business necessity for the United States under conditions as they now are and seem likely to be for an indefinite time. After all, we are Americans before we are anything else; we are all striving for a common end, the stability and welfare of the nation, and in this we shall succeed just in the measure that we subordinate personal ambitions and selfishness—a sacrifice which we should be particularly ready to make in these troublous times.

"In the solution of all problems, which are vital to the country, the commercial bodies can and should take a part, and the tariff is such a problem whether or not any or all of the political parties bring it into the field of politics.

"The Republican party, and the great mass of the people of whatever political faith, have felt and contended for many years that the tariff is too important an issue, too vital to the welfare of the country, to be made the sport of party politics. It is an economic, not a political question, and should be treated as such. It is of the same nature as the currency, which has been, we hope forever, removed from partisan politics. Experience has shown conclusively that the tariff is a subject to be handled by a carefully-selected board of scientific experts, rather than something discussed from party platforms or be made the subject of exchange and compromise, and hasty legislation in Congress. The matter of rural credits, now before the people, and indorsed by Presidents Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson, so vital to the country's advancement and well being, is another question of the same sort, which should be settled out of politics.

"No party can hope to remain in power that maintains a greedy tariff; and no party can expect to retain control that lowers the tariff to a point where our industries are left defenseless against foreign cheap labor and other unequal conditions. It must also be remembered that this is the least burdensome means for raising revenue. The Democrats have long since abandoned their belief in unrestricted free trade; they have even given up their faith in a 'tariff for revenue only' and have come to accept as a necessity the principle that some industries, in order to survive, must be protected. To the extent that they have gone, they have harmonized their party creeds with the great body of tariff opinion in this country. It is a great misfortune that the tariff commission law enacted in the last administration should have been repealed; it ought rather to have been strengthened.

"It is the Democratic party which will have a majority in the next Congress when it meets in December; will it refuse to adopt a sound economic principle and insure the prosperity of the country, simply because that doctrine happens to be a Republican one? The creation of a tariff commission and the restoration of adequate tariff protection is a step which in wise statesmanship ought to be taken. The Democratic party has now admitted by its acts the principle of the protective tariff, and between it and the Republicans there seems to be only a question of degree on the question; the Democrats can better afford to adopt the entire Republican platform declaration on the tariff rather than come to the end of the war and see our industries disrupted and millions of men thrown out of employment through lack of the proper protection for industry."

At the conclusion of the luncheon Col. Herrick and Col. Young were taken for an auto ride under the guidance of President Mines of the Realty Board and President Bulla of the Chamber of Commerce. Later a private dinner was given for them at the Alexandria by Mr. Bulla.

"RURAL CREDITS."

At the Chamber of Commerce in the evening, as at the meeting earlier in the day, there was a distinguished gathering. President Bulla presided. In addressing himself to the subject, Col. Herrick, who is the chairman of a new national organization formed to promote the cause of rural credits, said in part:

"The rural credit movement will not blow over. It has come to stay until all of its problems are settled. Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson, and their parties in convention, pledged it their support. A joint Congressional committee is now at work, and must by January 1, 1916, submit a new bill to Congress. Next summer comes a Presidential campaign, which will bring more urgent demands for the fulfillment of the promises that have been made to farmers.

"The movement, however, has gone adrift. There were some eighty-odd bills presented in the last Congress, fortunately none of which were enacted into law, for practically all of them advocated State aid and contemplated taking money out of the treasury.

"Unless the country awakens soon to the danger of letting this movement run wild, laws are liable to be passed that will upset existing financial systems and involve the credit of the governments of State and nation in farm mortgaging during years of bad crops and financial depressions. The business men of the country personally, and through their various organizations, are showing a keen interest and taking a positive stand, such as has not heretofore obtained, on every important public question. Why not do the same with rural credits, which is now one of the most vital questions before the country.

"Commerce and industry are interwoven with agriculture. Few are the cities whose existence does not rest on the prosperity of the farmers. The modernization of agriculture as an art and science, and its organization as an industry, are vital interior necessities of the United States. The application of scientific methods to the production of crops is making splendid headway. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the agricultural departments and colleges and upon their able managers, students and investigators. But, on the other hand, agriculture from the industrial and commercial viewpoint is backward in this country as compared, for instance, with the advancement made in France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Denmark.

"The shortcomings of American agriculture in respect to preparing farm products for market and getting them, at a fair price, to the consumer with good profit to the producer result in a large measure from the fact that the farmers are not organized. They now buy at retail and sell at wholesale. There are remarkably successful exceptions in the fruit and dairy regions; but, generally speaking, American farmers do not use their credit and resources collectively in large groups as do business men and financiers in the cities. They do not systematically help one another.

"The main purpose of this movement is to enable or assist the farmers to become organized. Those who have narrowed it to the mere matter of lowest interest rates for loans are mistaken and are belittling its aim. Its true objects are so grand and the solution of its problems is so simple that the movement should no longer be left in the hands of persons crying for cheap money and government aid. American farmers have forty-five billion dollars of property and fifteen billion dollars of annual income. If this stupendous wealth were made available for their own uses, the farmers would be self-sufficient and the clamor for cheap money and State aid would cease. The greatest need of American farmers is organized self-help, or co-operation.

"It would be well for business and financial men now to join the thinkers and theorists and with practical advice assist the farmers in the consummation of this great object."

EX-SENATOR SPEAKS.

Col. Herrick's address at the smoker was followed by an impromptu speech by his friend, ex-Senator Young. After referring to California, the noted journalist, politician and humorist, gave in a brilliant, forceful and patriotic speech his impressions of conditions in the warring countries of Europe, followed by an appeal for loyalty to the government by all persons in the United States, including the Germans and former subjects of the other nations engaged in the great conflict.

"You have a wonderful climate in California, but there are some brands of politics that would kill the influence of the best climate in the world. That seems to be the situation in California. You are putting it off, but you might as well get down to business and clean up now."

After giving an interesting review of his recent travels abroad, the speaker took up the subject of American patriotism. He said that his "front name"—"Lafayette"— caused his arrest and imprisonment in Austria, but that it won a passport and other courtesies in France. He continued:

"I am not concerned with what the Germans do in Germany, but I am concerned with what they do in this country. Strange as it may seem, foreigners insist on importing to this country the evils in the home land from which they fled to this country. The United States cannot live without the loyalty of its citizens.

"I believe that no one should be allowed to vote who cannot speak the English language. I am in favor of one language, one constitution, one flag and one God. And I would like to keep a gun handy for anyone who might try to invade this country.

"Race prejudices and differences of languages brought on the present war. America should profit by this terrible situation and all of its citizens unite in promoting a unified spirit of patriotism."

COUP WITH BOGUS CHECKS STOPPED.

OFFICERS SAY PRISONER TOLD OF PLAN TO GET BIG SUM AND FLEE.

Detectives King and Oaks declared yesterday that their capture Friday evening of Paul R. Cooke, an expert accountant and bookkeeper, probably saved someone a big financial loss. He is alleged to have admitted to the officers that he had written many large checks which he expected to cash within the next few days and then flee the country.

A large number of blank checks were found in his possession and he said he secured them from the office of the Pacific Light and Power Corporation when he was employed as an extra accountant there. He gave the detectives one check for $2600 which he prepared the day he was arrested and which he had arranged to have cashed yesterday.

The detectives searched the prisoner's room yesterday and found a bundle of blank checks. Cooke will be arraigned tomorrow. He declares he will plead guilty and ask for the leniency of the court.

AGED WOMAN STRUCK DOWN.

Hurled to Pavement by Express Car and Seriously Hurt after Attending Old Folks' Picnic.

Nearly deaf and unable to see clearly, Mrs. Sallie Johnson, 82 years old, who had been attending the Old Folks' Picnic at Sycamore Grove, was run down by a Pacific Electric express car late yesterday afternoon and seriously injured. She was removed to the Receiving Hospital.

Spectators say the motorman sounded his bell and blew the whistle but that Mrs. Johnson, who lives at No. 646 Towne avenue, did not appear to notice the approach of the car. She was struck on the shoulder and hurled to the pavement.

The injuries, according to the physicians, are not necessarily fatal, but owing to the woman's advanced age, she may be a long time recovering.

FOUR CHILDREN IN TOUGH LUCK.

MAKE LONG JOURNEY TO MEET MOTHER; SHE'S GONE.

Youngsters Tell of Plight When Found in Depot—Police Start Wide Search for Missing Parent, Who Moved a Month Ago—Juvenile Hall Gives Aid.

Four fatherless children, who arrived here yesterday afternoon from Roosevelt, a little town near Salt Lake City, were crying bitterly at the Salt Lake depot yesterday afternoon when a patrolman approached them.

"Where is mama?" they asked in chorus. "We were to meet her here. We have no money and do not know where to go." The officer searched in vain for the mother and finally turned the tots over to the juvenile department. The children, Laura and Eddie Riddle, twins, 12 years old; Lilian Riddle, 10, and Dorothy Riddle, 8, had been living in Roosevelt with John Goodale, a cousin of their mother since the death of their father, they say. The mother came to Los Angeles to get employment and a few weeks ago sent sufficient money to pay the fares of the children to this city. She wrote she had a good position and was well able to provide for them.

Friday morning the youngsters boarded a train at Roosevelt, entrusted to the care of the trainmen. At Salt Lake City they discovered that the food which had been packed for them was lost. They were well fed on the train, however, passengers looking after their wants.

The mother is Mrs. Laura Riddle, whose address was given as No. 605 Grafton street. Inquiry at that address disclosed the fact that she moved a month ago. The police are searching for the woman. Meantime the children will be taken care of at Juvenile Hall.

TOBACCO SALVE ENDANGERS EYE.

CHINESE TREATMENT FOR GASH IN OPTIC COMES NEAR DIRE RESULT.

It is an old Chinese custom to apply a cud of tobacco to any laceration of the body. Adherence to the fallacious method came near costing a Celestial his left eye yesterday afternoon.

Lee Kay, 31 years old, works on a ranch at the end of West Jefferson street with Jong Jan. They quarreled about which should dress up and come to town for some provisions and during the argument, Jong is alleged to have struck Lee in the eye with a china bowl.

The dish cut a terrible gash over and under the eye and the injured man was unconscious when he was rushed to Chinatown for treatment. There a doctor after failing to find a man with a chaw of tobacco, got a bag of smoking tobacco and sprinkled it into the wound.

At the Receiving Hospital Dr. Johnson sewed the lacerations and said the tobacco came near blinding the man.

WEYMOUTH MUSICALES.

The first of a series of musicales to be given monthly at the Weymouth Apartments on Alvarado street occurred Friday night. The programme was rendered by Constance Balfour, soprano; Edith Lillian Clarke, pianist; Katherine Fiske, violinist, and Mrs. May Orcutt Brooke accompanist. Mrs. Balfour's numbers included selections from the Puccini operas, the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" and a group of English songs. Mrs. Clarke played the Chopin Scherzo in C sharp minor and the Liszt transcription of the "Lucia" sextette. Compositions of Friml and Theodore Gordohn were among Miss Fiske's offerings.

Under the Guns.

ACCUSED DYNAMITER TO FACE COURT TOMORROW.

All Ready for Trial of M. A. Schmidt, Charged with Murder of One of Twenty Innocent Workers Killed When "Times" Building was Destroyed — More of Monstrous Conspiracy Expected to be Proved.

TOMORROW morning at 10 o'clock the trial of M. A Schmidt, charged with the murder of Charles Haggerty, who met his death in the dynamiting and destruction of the original Times Building October 1, 1910, will begin before Judge Willis of the Superior Court.

The case of Charles Haggerty has been selected out of the twenty murdered victims of dynamite because of the thorough and complete identification of his body.

The trial will be held on the eighth floor of the Hall of Records, in the same courtroom in which the McNamaras went to their trial and in which they made their famous confession—and in the very same building that dynamiters tried to destroy.

It is expected that more details of a gigantic and monstrous conspiracy of officials and tools of labor-union organizations for masked warfare against society will be presented during this trial. The extent of this conspiracy, as already disclosed, is almost incredible.

All the evidence that was gathered for the McNamara trial, and which was not made public because of the plea of guilty entered by J. B. McNamara, will apply to the trial of the Schmidt case. And much new evidence has been accumulated, to be presented at this time.

There will be presented in court vast quantities of exhibits, including labor-union records, correspondence, infernal machines, etc., all alleged to have been connected with the monster plot to create a reign of terror and give union bosses and organizations unchallenged domination over industries throughout the United States.

MANY TO TESTIFY.

More than 200 witnesses will be called for the State in the course of this trial. Many of these have been prominent figures in the trials of dynamiters in eastern courts. Two of the principal witnesses will be Ortie E. McManigal, who has been in Los Angeles several weeks, having come from the heart of Honduras to testify in this case; and George E. Davis, alias George O'Connell, convicted in Indianapolis of dynamiting, but whose sentence was suspended. Davis turned State's evidence and was of much value in proving other dynamite cases in the East.

The defense is expected to have only twenty-five or thirty witnesses.

Dist.-Atty. Woolwine will have full charge of the case, and he will have the assistance of Special Counsel James W. Noel of Indianapolis, who was assistant to United States Attorney Miller in the prosecuting of dynamite cases at Indianapolis. Mr. Noel is thoroughly familiar with all the details of evidence that will be presented, and Dist.-Atty. Woolwine and his corps of assistants have spent weeks in preparation for this trial.

Assisting Messrs. Woolwine and Noel will be Asa Keyes, for sixteen years in the office of the District Attorney, and A. H. Van Cott. E. J. Brannen of St. Louis, an investigator for the Department of Justice, will be an important figure in the trial that begins tomorrow.

The chief counsel for the defense will be former Judge Fairall of San Francisco. He will be assisted by Job Harriman and Fred Moores, Socialists of this city.

Among other witneses will be some nationally-famous hand-writing experts. The call of witnesses has covered a territory almost as wide as the United States and includes both men and women.

It is probable at least two weeks will be required to secure a jury. A regular venire of fifty-one men has been drawn, from which the selection will begin. It is likely that several special venires will be needed.

In the McNamara cases about six weeks was consumed in securing a jury.

It is expected that the first move on the part of the defense when the case is called tomorrow will be a plea for a change of trial judge. Efforts have heretofore been made to secure a change from having the trial before Judge Willis, who has made the statement that he purposes to give a fair and impartial trial.

Many of the State's witnesses will not arrive in Los Angeles until it becomes apparent that the jury is about to be completed, as there is no desire to hold them here during the uncertain length of this procedure. Several of the more important witnesses for the State have been here a week or more, and have been in retirement, where they will remain until required on the stand.

The indictment of the grand jury names "M. A. Schmidt, J. B. McNamara, J. J. McNamara, William Caplan, John Doe, Richard Roe, John Styles and Jane Doe" as defendants. The McNamaras are now safely behind prison bars. Both prosecution and defense preferred to have the trial of Schmidt separate from that of Caplan.

THE MONSTROUS CRIME.

The original Times Building was dynamited and destroyed at 1:10 a.m., October 1, 1910, and twenty innocent men, loyal to The Times, bravely met a horrible death.

The investigations that followed led straight to the offices and lodgerooms of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers. This resulted eventually in the tracing of the McNamara brothers, J. B. and J. J., through various States and into Canada and back; their final arrest and trip to Los Angeles to stand trial; the long and strenuous period within which a jury to try these men was finally secured, and the confessions of both the McNamaras to their parts in dynamite plots, before a single witness had been placed upon the stand.

The confessions of the McNamaras were made in Judge Bordwell's court on December 1, 1911. James B. McNamara pleaded guilty to the murder of Charles Haggerty, one of the men killed in the destruction of the Times Building; and a moment thereafter John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of dynamiting the Llewellyn Iron Works. Thus, cornered and desperate, they snatched for the little crumb of mercy that comes to the confessor.

On December 5, Judge Bordwell sentenced J. B. McNamara to life imprisonment in San Quentin, and J. J. McNamara to fifteen years in the same prison.

In the investigations of the Burns National Detective Agency, carried on through many channels, reaching from the Atlantic Coast to the Pacific, very early in the search indications pointed to M. A. Schmidt and David Caplan as participants in the crime of dynamiting that had stirred up the entire country, and the trial of some of these cases resulted in the conviction of thirty-nine labor-union chiefs of the structural ironworkers.

Constantly the clews regarding Schmidt and Caplan were worked out, and then followed the long search, which resulted in the arrest of Schmidt in New York and Caplan on Bainbridge Island, Puget Sound.

UNION HEADS' STAND.

Notwithstanding the confessions of the McNamaras and the damning evidence that has been unearthed against M. A. Schmidt and David Caplan, the attitude of officials of the National Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers has remained unchanged. As a striking evidence of this there is the action of the association on September 22, in San Francisco, when messages of greetings and support were sent to former officials and members now serving prison terms.

These messages were authorized in executive session, and followed a discussion of the prosecution of the Schmidt and Caplan cases to take place in Los Angeles. Both Schmidt and Caplan, as well as the McNamaras, received these messages of greetings and support from the association.

ARE WE SOON TO BECOME A RACE OF BALD-HEADED MEN?

PROF. JOHN H. AUSTIN

Hair Specialist of Chicago, Who Is Now at Hamburger's, Talks Most Interestingly About the Hair.

He says that baldness is increasing rapidly among men and points out some of the reasons. Prof. Austin is probably right in saying that about one man in every hundred ever thinks about his hair at all, except to comb it two or three times a day. If it falls out, he looks anxiously at the falling hair, and then promptly forgets it until the next time he uses the comb.

A man will give the utmost attention to his teeth, because he knows that when trouble arises he will have more trouble and probably lose his teeth if he doesn't go to a dentist promptly. But his hair doesn't ache, it just gradually dies, and when it is nearly gone, and the roots are dead, he anxiously tries a dozen different remedies at once and then resigns himself to baldness.

According to Prof. Austin, there are something like 60 different conditions of the scalp and hair. Some are contagious. Others develop from neglect. Practically all of them are curable in the early stages.

Prof. Austin examines the roots of your hair with a powerful microscope. He finds out just what is the trouble with YOUR HAIR, and then he tells you what to do for that trouble.

It doesn't cost a penny for the examination, and it puts you under no obligation to follow his advice if you don't want to do so.

Prof. Austin has devoted thirty-five years to studying the hair and scalp. Surely it will be worth the few minutes it takes to let him turn the microscope on your hair.

During the past nine months Prof. Austin has made thousands of free microscopic examinations of the hair and scalp of our patrons — they enthusiastically appreciate this free service.

He will make FREE MICROSCOPIC EXAMINATIONS of the hair and scalp all this week, in his private office on the second floor, Hamburger's. Hours, 10 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m.

To Celebrate Tuesday.

TWENTY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY OF CITIZENS' NATIONAL.

COMPLETING a quarter-century of remarkable growth and progress, the Citizens' National Bank of Los Angeles will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary next Tuesday. Founded October 6, 1890, with a capital of $100,000 the institution was known as the Citizens' Bank. In 1901 it was nationalized and thereafter bore the title of the Citizens' National Bank.

Today this bank ranks as one of the strongest financial institutions on the Pacific Coast with a capital and surplus of $2,000,000 and total resources of over $14,000,000. It is not many months since the Citizens' National moved into its commodious banking room on the ground floor of the building which bears its name, at the corner of Spring and Fifth streets, one of the finest structures in the city.

The stockholders of the Citizens' National Bank own all of the stock of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, an institution organized under the banking laws of California. This subsidiary institution has a capital and surplus of over $650,000 and its total resources aggregate more than $4,000,000. The Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank carries on a generous commercial and savings banking business besides having a department for the transaction of all matters wherein a trustee is desired.

The following bankers and business men of Los Angeles constitute the officers and board of directors of the Citizens' National Bank: A. J. Waters, president; J. Ross Clark, vice-president; M. J. Monnette, vice-president; W. W. Wood, vice-president; E. T. Pettigrew, cashier; M. J. Connell, F. X. Pfaffinger, L. J. Christopher, Albert Crutcher, J. M. Danziger, E. L. Doheny, John J. Fay, Jr., J. M. Hale, Robert Hale, W. J. Hole, Orra E. Monnette, and George W. Walker.

CAUGHT IN ROBBERY.

Two Men Run into Arms of Policemen After Beating Lawyer and Taking His Valuables.

Caught in the act of robbing Attorney Otto Sanaker, No. 238 North Grand avenue, after they had beaten him to the pavement in an alley near Winston and Main streets early last night, W. E. Cox and John F. Addison, a negro, were captured by Patrolman Langevin.

After luring the attorney up the alley, the two men, according to Mr. Sanaker's story, attacked him and beat him about the head and face with clubs. As he fell they robbed him of $12 and his watch, and then turned to flee.

Attracted by Mr. Sanaker's cries, Patrolman Langevin drew his revolver and rushed into the alley. He encountered the bandits and seized both. The money and watch were found in their pockets.

At Central Police Station, where the prisoners were taken, they refused to answer any questions, but were later identified as the bandits by Mr. Sanaker, who was being treated in the Receiving Hospital. He was not seriously hurt

RUN OVER BY WAGON.

Driver Thrown to Street and Seriously Hurt When Team Becomes Frightened and Bolts.

Crushed about the legs and believed to be internally injured, John Stanch, 47 years old, No. 617 San Julian street, may die as the result of a runaway accident that occurred shortly after noon yesterday. The man is in the Receiving Hospital, where surgeons said he has only a small chance to recover.

Mr. Stanch is a teamster employed by John Tudor, a contractor, and was driving a two-horse team along Berkeley street when the animals became frightened and started on a mad dash. At Mohawk street the wagon was upset and the driver thrown into the street. Before he could get out of the way the wagon was pulled over him and he was left unconscious.

TO WORLD'S SERIES.

Elevator Operator is True Fan; Resigns Job and Goes East when Home Team Wins.

Thomas Bryant, an elevator operator in a downtown office building, is possibly the greatest dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan of all time. Mr. Bryant is unmarried, which he considers fortunate in this instance, and hails from Philadelphia, for which he also rejoices.

For many years he has lived in California but he still retains great interest in the Athletics and Phillies. When in midseason it became apparent the Phillies would be very much in the race, Mr. Bryant started to save his money. Each week he would lay aside a major portion of his stipend.

The day the Phillies clinched the pennant by defeating Boston, Mr. Bryant resigned his job and started East.

"I can always get a job somewhere," he reasoned, "but the Phillies may not be in another world's series for thirty-two years more."

DISTRICT FAIR TO BE MAGNET.

Attraction Starts Tuesday with Big Hurrah.

Fancy Stock, Chickens and Diving Girls, Too.

Horses will Race at Night Under Electric Beams.

The management of the Riverside District Fair, which is to open Tuesday, has more than one string to its bow, but one of them is $10,000 in cash as premiums for various exhibits and racing events.

The slogan of "an old-fashioned county fair" is being realized in the agricultural department, which will feature everything that can be produced in Southern California—animal and vegetable. The racing programme in which more than 100 of the fastest steppers in the State have been entered, is anticipated as a chief feature. The reasons for this are plausible and may explain why the owner of White Sox, which carried off the $20,000 capital prize in the big meet at the San Francisco exposition, has entered the mare in the 2:09 pace, a feature of Wednesday's card; also why the best drivers in the West have been sought out by the horse owners for the week of racing events.

The construction of what was demonstrated last year to be the fastest half-mile track in the South, is the principal drawing card; another is the generous size of the purses. When the track was completed at the new ground last year the fast time made by some of the horses entered made the owners skeptical regarding the measurement of the oval. It was not until it was proved to them that the track was actually a fraction more than a half-mile in circumference that they realized the possibilities for hanging up new records. Since then the Riverside fair ground stables have been in almost constant use by horse owners from various parts of the State, who have availed themselves of the track for training purposes.

RACES AT NIGHT.

Night races staged under strong electric lights placed at intervals along the track, will be a unique attraction of the racing events. This has been a dream of Riverside horsemen for years, but its realization has been reserved for the new track.

The fair gates will open Tuesday at 10 o'clock, which hour will usher in "Children's Day." The Riverside schools will be closed for the day, which last year's fair proved to be a valuable educational feature.

Wednesday will be one of the red-letter days of the fair for the reason that the judges will then announce their awards and tag the successful entries in the various departments. A big racing card will be an additional drawing card. White Sox and other crack entries will be seen in action in the 2:09 pace during the matinee events, and some of California's best-known horses will be pitted against each other in the 2:14 trot.

INDIAN DAY.

Thursday, Indian Day, will have a special appeal for visitors from Los Angeles and other points, although "Neighboring County Day" is scheduled for Friday. The government's wards from Sherman Institute will be out in force and the Indian band will add to the musical attractions. The day's sports will be featured by a football game between Sherman Institute and the San Diego Marines.

Some of the biggest racing events on the programme for the week will be held Friday. Much interest is shown in the 2:20 trot and 2:18 pace for each of which there are a dozen entries. Races will also feature the events of Saturday, the closing day. Then some of the finest racing stock in California will be seen in action in the 2:14 pace and the 2:10 trot.

LIBRARIES IN DEMAND.

County Service Establishes Several Community Branches and Expects Additional Applications Shortly.

The popularity of the county library service is constantly extending, according to reports that are received at headquarters by Miss Celia Gleason, county librarian. New branches have just been opened and others will be started during the week.

Miss Gleason, Miss Josephine Jedofski, superintendent of branch libraries, and John Dougherty, library page, recently returned from a four-days' trip through the Antelope Valley, inspecting branches and establishing new ones.

They visited branches at Saugus, Mint Canyon, the Sterling Borax Mine, Palmdale, Lancaster, Elizabeth Lake, Little Rock and Llano. At the borax mine the books are placed in powder boxes arranged on the style of sectional book-cases. This library was formerly maintained in a tent but it is now housed.

New libraries were established at Rigers school district in a private residence, Waterdale school district and in a new school district just beyond Roosevelt district, adjoining the San Bernardino county line. This district is to be known as Wilson in honor of the President. A new branch library will be opened Tuesday in Laurel Canyon and on Thursday one will be opened at Pacoima, now within the city limits, but as the county tax for library purposes has been paid, the county branch library will be established for the present.

The county library now contains more than 75,000 voluumes, most of which are in constant circulation. During the past year about 36,000 volumes were added to the library. Any locality outside incorporated cities that makes application is entitled to a branch county library, provided it pays the expense of maintenance during the first year. Several additional branches are in prospect within the ensuing few months.

MUST HURRY UP PAPERS.

Release from custody on the charge of being implicated in a "black hand" plot appeared to be near at hand yesterday for Erasino Rubino, wanted by New York officials. Three times fugitive complaints have been issued in order to hold Rubino until the arrival of the New York officers. Yesterday, on a technical error, Attorney Torchia, for the defendant, urged a dismissal. However, Asst. Dist.-Atty. Stafford filed a new complaint, charging Rubino with attempt at extortion. Justice Palmer placed the bail at $5000 and refused to accede to the plea of Attorney Torchia for a reduction when he learned that Rubino, according to the statement of the deputy District Attorney, had jumped his bail in New York. Rubino is now held in the County Jail. The justice directed the officers to have the extradition papers here within six days.

CALLED SPY AND SOUNDLY BEATEN.

COUSIN OF CARRANZA OFFICER ATTACKED WITH CLUBS ON HIS DOORSTEP.

Jose Navarette of No. 516 Aliso street, cousin of Gen. Jose Navarette, a Carranza officer, was beaten nearly to death on the doorstep of his home early yesterday morning. His assailants are unknown to the police, who are working on the theory that the victim was considered an enemy of the Villa forces in Mexico.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Mr. Navarette answered a telephone call and an unknown person asked to meet him at a designated spot. The man would not give his name, and Mr. Navarette went back to bed. A little later he heard violent rapping on his door and, going to investigate, was felled with a terrific blow on the head.

At the Receiving Hospital the victim said there were at least three men in the attacking party and they beat him with clubs. He said they mentioned something about his being a spy and, before he had a chance to answer, struck him down.

Mr. Navarette has a basal fracture of the skull and nearly a score of cuts and wounds about the body. Physicians say there is little hope for his recovery.

Uncurbable.

HITS SCHEME TO REGULATE BUSES

COMMISSION DECIDES THEY ARE NOT UTILITIES.

Eleven States Interested in Case of Short-line Railroads Against Automobile-stage Company—Decision has Air of Finality on the Subject.

"Jitney" buses, automobile stage or trucking lines, and the coach-and-four, when operated for profit, are not public utilities, according to a decision of the State Railroad Commission in the case of the Western Association of Short Line Railroads vs. the Wichita Transportation Company, a copy of which was received here yesterday by Minor Moore, the attorney for the defendant.

"I am driven irresistibly to the conclusion," says President Thelen of the commission in the decision, "that jurisdiction over such means of transportation is not conferred on the State Railroad Commission by the existing Public Utilities Act."

Filed by the associated short line railroads of eleven western States as a test of the rights of automobile or stage competitors to operate undeterred by rate-making bodies, other than city or county, the hearing of the complaint attracted much attention.

The Wichita Transportation Company is a San Diego concern, operating automobile stage service between that place and the Imperial Valley. The Western Association of Short Line Railroads includes so-called local steam and electric lines of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

"Had the decision been adverse to the Wichita Transportation Company," said Mr. Moore "the blow would have been a particularly hard one to persons operating one or two stages or buses. The assumption of jurisdiction over them by the State Railroad Commission would have meant that rates and schedules would have had to be filed with the commission, and deviations from them would have been punishable by law.

"In the case of the larger trucking or staging concerns, the maintenance of fixed schedules would not be a hardship. But in the case of the private operator of a jitney bus or one freight truck, the necessity of adopting a fixed schedule, and sometimes leaving a terminal unloaded, merely to comply with the law, would be an apparent hardship."

As the Western Association of Short Line Railroads has no representative here, it was impossible yesterday to get an expression of the railroad side of the case.

PREPARE FEATURE PICTURE.

The incorporation papers of the Planet Motion Picture Company have been issued and the company has opened offices at No. 628 Title Insurance Building. The scenario for a feature picture dealing with the Boer war is being given finishing touches by the producer and writer, Albert Kiralfy and Miss Maud White, respectively. Special music is being written to supplement Boer songs which will be used. The story is of the Boer general's' book, "Under the Vierkleur,'" and will be published serially in The Times so the public may more easily follow the action.

GIRLS' CLASSES DRAW STUDENTS FROM AFAR

THE advantages offered by the educational department of the Y.W.C.A., which is under the direction of Mrs. C. Q. Stanton, are attracting students from a distance. Young women from the Imperial Valley, Fresno and the nearer towns of Whittier and Del Monte have enrolled in classes for vocational training as milliners, dressmakers or other business women.

Previously the instruction in this department was offered in courses of fifteen lessons. The increased demand for instruction caused the terms to be lengthened four to six weeks. Many of the students are combining features of the various courses. Young women are taking costume designing or dressmaking, display advertising with millinery, or making a combination of expression and English. Young women may obtain advice as to their

PASADENA, Oct. 3.—On a bright June day more than two years ago Grosvenor A. Morse, son of Dr. Wellslake D. Morse of No. 744 South Orange Grove avenue, and his fair-haired sweetheart, Helen Taylor, of Altadena evaded the watchfulness of her parents and sped away in his high-powered automobile and were married in Los Angeles. Mr. Morse filed suit yesterday for divorce, charging desertion.

The run-away marriage, made necessary because of the bitter opposition of the girl's wealthy parents, was the culmination of a romance extending over three years.

When they were married they looked out on a rosy hued world, but little by little the clouds began to darken until finally Mrs. Morse left her young husband after living with him two months more than a year. This was just a year ago on August 28.

Mr. Morse, a young banker scarcely 23 years old and prominent in exclusive social circles here, was just 18 when he met and proceeded to fall in love with the pretty Miss Taylor, who was 15.

Her parents, who made their winter home in Altadena, did not approve of the match and in an endeavor to break up the romance sent their self-willed only daughter away from her California home three times, twice to fashionable boarding schools in New York and then, as a last resort, she was sent to Europe, where she was kept in school a year and a half.

But even this did not make her forget her sweetheart in sunny California. Both were more determined than ever to marry and it was with much surprise that friends learned soon afterwards that they were not as happy as they should be.

When questioned last night in regard to the divorce suit, Mr. Morse said that he had cared too much for his wife to make any charges against either her or her parents other than that of desertion which was the cause given in the divorce papers.

He said that he was not sure where she was, but thought she was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Taylor, in Radnor, Pa.

Mr. Taylor is said to be a wealthy fiber manufacturer with large interests in Pennsylvania.

WEDDING IN PARK.

Mrs. Harriet R. J. Collingwood of No. 358 Kensington drive belongs to so many patriotic organizations that in order to have the members of them all at her wedding, next Tuesday afternoon, to Charles Richard Gray, a prominent attorney of Riverside and San Bernardino, she had to engage a whole park.

The service, which is scheduled for 3 o'clock, will be held in Library Park and the altar will be at the foot of the magnificent Grand Army monument, over which will float a huge American flag.

The Drum Corps of the Pasadena G.A.R., seated under the flag staff, will furnish the music, and six color-bearers of the various orders to which the bride-to-be belongs, all dressed in white flannels, will march to the altar on either side of the bride and groom, who will be preceded by the minister, Rev. W. C. Clatworthy of Los Angeles, and the little flower girl, Helen Karger of St. Paul, who will be frocked in white and sashed in red, white and blue.

This will make the fourth marriage for the bride-to-be, who is nearly 58 ytars old, and the second for Mr. Gray, who is 65. On next Saturday the couple will be honored guests at a picnic given at Long Beach for the Grand Army Veterans.

The bride-to-be will wear a wedding gown of lavender silk, and in place of her hat or veil will wear diamonds and pearls in her hair.

Not only are the fifteen organizations to which Mrs. Collingwood belongs invited, but everybody in Pasadena, including the ministers and several orders from Long Beach, Riverside and San Bernardino.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 2.—A romance that had its beginning in the breakers at Venice met with a set-back here today when Deputy Sheriff A. K. Cravath halted the issuance of a marriage license to Thomas B. Moreno, 25, a life guard at Venice, and Miss Onita Boling, 17, of Tulsa, Okla., said by her father to be of half Indian blood and with an income of $600 a month.

From 9:30 o'clock this morning until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the couple, thwarted in their plan to marry, sat in the office of Sheriff C. E. Jackson, and in his custody on orders from the Sheriff of Los Angeles county. After hours of waiting, wondering what was going to be done with them, they were separated when B. F. Boling, the girl's father, arrived in an automobile and carried his daughter away. After the machine was safely out of sight, the Sheriff allowed Moreno to go. He returned home by electric car.

Three months ago Boling and his daughter, a tall, good-looking blonde, arrived at the Edmund Hotel, Ocean Park. Miss Boling, an excellent swimmer, became acquainted with Moreno and frequently they were in the breakers together. Friendship ripened into love and love thrived under the violent opposition of the girl's father.

On one occasion Boling found the two at a dance together. He walked in, struck Moreno in the face and precipitated a call for the police.

PETER THE IMPOSTOR.

Peter the Impostor, alias Peter Morrison, has changed his field of operations from Los Angeles to Pasadena, but when he returns to the Gibson Religious Home he will have to do some tall explaining before he is allowed to mooch off that institution further.

Peter the Impostor, who poses as being 102 years old, a veteran of the Mexican War and too old to enlist when the Civil War broke out, but through his patriotism served in the quartermaster's department, arrived in Pasadena Friday, and yesterday left to keep some mythical engagement. It was only last night that his new benefactors learned that they were the victims of a game which the fake centenarian evidently learned to perfection many years ago.

The old man goes about the country telling a plausible romance. He says that he was born on the Atlantic Ocean and is the head of six living generations, and that there has never been a death in the family of any of his descendants. He was sent away from the Soldiers' Home in the summer of 1913 after the authorities were convinced that he had no record in either war.

According to investigation, the old impostor is nearer 72 than 102 years old.

DIVIDE PRIZES AT EXPOSITION.

EXHIBITORS MAKE VISITORS TO SAN DIEGO FAIR HAPPY WITH GIFTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 2. — Exhibitors and concessionaires distributed 10,000 prizes to exposition visitors today, ranging in value from $25 in gold to a 5-cent box of crackers or a stein of beer. The excitement of locating the prize in the Exhibit Building, where it was given, created much spirit among the visitors and kept things buzzing.

The first 10,000 persons entering the exposition grounds received prizes, though not always what the visitors most wanted. Staid bachelors lugged sacks of flour, and one sweet-faced old lady had a box of cigarettes. At an Isthmus concession 500 steins of beer were given away, and among the prizes were Victrolas and other valuable articles.

The attendance at the fair was one of the largest of the season, as about 25,000 persons passed through the gates. In addition to the prize-seeking crowd were the members of the various Protestant churches of the city, who held a great picnic, headed by the visiting Methodists who were attending the annual conference.

A great picnic dinner was served in the picnic grounds and afterward a programme was held in the afternoon and evening at the organ by the church people. Dr. James A. Francis of Los Angeles delivered an address this afternoon and Dr. Matt S. Hughes of Pasadena lectured tonight. The church people paraded to the exposition this morning.

STOP EARLY ELOPEMENT, VENICE TO SANTA ANA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 2.—A romance that had its beginning in the breakers at Venice met with a set-back here today when Deputy Sheriff A. K. Cravath halted the issuance of a marriage license to Thomas B. Moreno, 25, a life guard at Venice, and Miss Onita Boling, 17, of Tulsa, Okla., said by her father to be of half Indian blood and with an income of $600 a month.

From 9:30 o'clock this morning until 3:30 o'clock this afternoon the couple, thwarted in their plan to marry, sat in the office of Sheriff C. E. Jackson, and in his custody on orders from the Sheriff of Los Angeles county. After hours of waiting, wondering what was going to be done with them, they were separated when T. F. Boling, the girl's father, arrived in an automobile and carried his daughter away. After the machine was safely out of sight, the Sheriff allowed Moreno to go. He returned home by electric car.

Three months ago Boling and his daughter, a tall, good-looking blonde, were at the Edmund Hotel, Ocean Park. Miss Boling, an excellent swimmer, became acquainted with Moreno and frequently they were in the breakers together. Friendship ripened into love and love thrived under the violent opposition of the girl's father.

On one occasion Boling found the pair at a dance together. He walked up, struck Moreno in the face and sent in a call for the police.

"I've been climbing over back fences and making a race horse out of myself in order to meet the girl and avoid her father," said the life guard as he and Miss Boling sat in the Sheriff's office.

"We decided to be married today," said the girl. "My father and I had been planning to start back to Oklahoma on Monday so that I could enter school again. Instead of sleeping in our apartments at the Edmund Hotel last night, I slept with a girl chum in the hotel, and at 6:30 this morning went down the hall on tiptoe."

When Boling awakened he soon suspected an elopement. He notified the Venice police and the Sheriff. That is how Deputy Sheriff Cravath, father of Gavvy Cravath, the Phillie baseball player, came to be at the office of County Clerk W. B. Williams when Moreno swore that the girl was 18 years of age.

"We'll be married," declared the girl. "I'll be 18 in December." This view of the ultimate outcome of their love affair kept good cheer in the hearts of the runaways, though they were in the hands of a Sheriff. They laughed over their plight. Moreno seemed to get a lot of pleasure out of the anger of the girl's father.

"I'll bet he is having spasms," said Moreno.

The girl's father said that his daughter was educated at Loretto Convent, Kansas City. He stated at Venice that the girl has an income of $600 a month from oil lands on the Indian reservation at Tulsa.

TIGER ABROAD IN THE HILLS.

Escapes from Cage and Runs Wild Through Night.

Hundreds Hunt Beast with Nets and Prods.

Sailors Frightened Out of Senses in Bunk.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Oct. 2.—Amateur sportsmen, deputy sheriffs, police officers, cowboys, animal trainers and motion-picture actors, numbering more than 100 persons, are tonight searching the canyons in the hills back of the harbor for a real royal Bengal tiger. The animal is the property of the Universal Film Company and escaped before daylight this morning from the power schooner Vaquero, which is under charter to the film company.

News of the escape spread rapidly and visions of a real tiger hunt within an hour's ride from the heart of the city, over a good boulevard, arose in the minds of amateur sportsmen, who have long dreamed of the hardships and pleasures and the dangers in the wilds of India, and there was a grand rush for the harbor.

The crowd continued to increase and with the shades of nightfall and the arrival of the entire cavalry from Universal City, police officers estimated that between 100 and 150 men had joined in the chase for the 4-year-old Princess, which is valued at $1000.

MOTHERS ALARMED.

News also spread quickly to the outlying ranches and farmers began gathering in their stock and mothers began to keep a closer watch on their children. The only trace found of the big animal during the day were footprints in the tidelands of the west basin, half way between San Pedro and Wilmington.

F. Schliemann, a sailor on the Vaquero, was the first man to discover that the tiger had escaped. He was sleeping with his mates in the forecastle and was awakened by the hot breath of the animal. He awoke, and in the dim light looked squarely into the face of the tiger, which was standing on her hind legs with her fore-paws on the edge of his bunk.

The sailor gave a yell that awoke the rest of the crew. He drew his revolver from under his pillow and fired three shots at the frightened animal, which beat a hasty retreat.

Blood was found in the forecastle, but whether this came from a gun-shot wound or from cuts from a glass broken by the beast in getting out of the cage is a matter of speculation and dispute amon gthe members of the company.

WATCHMAN SCARED.

The next man to receive a scare, from which he has hardly recovered, was J. B. Srack, night watchman on the wharf of the San Pedro Lumber Company. When the tiger was frightened out of the forecastle she went bounding over the rail of the schooner onto the wharf, and the frightened watchman unconsciously did the thing that accomplished a desired result. He flashed his electric spotlight in the face of the tiger, which jumped back on the schooner as quickly as she came off, and the watchman lost no time in getting out of the way after giving an alarm.

In the meantime, the crew and five members of the film company in charge of the animal were up around and the tiger, again scenting danger, jumped off the vessel and disappeared in the darkness. She was seen no more during the entire day. The keepers and trainers were the least excited about the escaped tiger and all day long expressed their confidence that Princess would return before sunrise, seeking her mate on the wharf.

Princess was brought to the harbor yesterday from Universal City, along with a truckload of other wild animals, including three leopards and a number of lions and tigers. They were used in staging a film to be called "The Tiger," in which Mme. Bourgeis is playing a star part as the tiger lady. The work not having been completed, the animals were left on board the schooner in their cages. Princess became uneasy during the night and gnawed off two wooden bars, two by six inches, and escaped from her cage.

MATE AS BAIT.

Today the cage of the mate of Princess was set out on the wharf by the keepers and nets arranged to capture the escaped tiger should she return after nightfall. The gravest fear of the management of the company is that the tiger might, through hunger, attack some child in her path. For the sportsmen who are out for real sport, the trainers express contempt. The only weapons they expect to use for themselves are long iron prods, nets and ropes.

The advance guard from Universal City arrived this afternoon after a fast run of fifty minutes, with a bloodhound, which was immediately put on the scent from the wharf. The trainers hope to find the tiger before any hunters or officers get in their work with firearms.

REDONDO BEACH, Oct. 2.—The contract for the new triangular-shaped pier, originally let to the Leyden-Orseift Company of Chicago, has been turned over to the McArthur Brothers Company of New York by the Board of Trustees following the cancellation of the original agreement with the first-named firm.

The failure of the Leyden-Orseift company to start work as required by the terms of their contract brought forth a lengthy resolution from Trustee Brolaski wherein the Commonwealth Bonding Company, acting as sureties for the contractors, were instructed immediately to take charge of the work and rush the pier to completion.

Permission was given the bonding company to engage the McArthur Bros. company to complete the work. A representative of the McArthur company has assured the city officials that actual work would be begun within three days.

In addition to the Owensmouth High School, the Marian and Chatsworth grammar schools new under course of construction and the Owensmouth cannery, some twenty residences and barns are being built.

The value of the buildings now under way totals fully a quarter of a million dollars. All the residences are being built by people who plan to occupy them as homes, thus adding materially to the permanent population of the valley.

Long Beach to Enter Market with Equal Attraction—Qualified Electors Decrease Since May—Horse Rescued in Mountains After Falling Over Steep Grade.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Oct. 2.—Water, which is an excellent thing to put under bridges and to lave automobiles with, is consumed in greater quantities here than in any other city of tis size in California. Therefore it is of great value. So high is it held in the esteem of the city fathers that the naval officials, in a huff at the charges made by the city for the fluid for submarines, have decided to berth at Los Angeles harbor hereafter.

The city put on its best bib and tucker yesterday to receive back into the local harbor the H group of submarines which came south from Mare Island. The submarines gave this city the cold shoulder and berthed at Los Angeles Harbor. When the reason for this humiliating snub was made known a hasty consultation was held among city officials and civic advisers in an effort to get them back into the fold.

It seems that the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce, knowing of the propensity of this city to place such a high value on water, sent a telegraphic message to the Navy Department offering free water to the submarine flotilla if they would dock at that port. The Washington officials promptly ordered the commanders of the flotilla to dock in Los Angeles harbor.

The item of water amounts to about $15 per day for each submarine. The City Water Department waxed fat off the profits of the aqua pura piped to the undersea boats from the municipal wharf. Now it is proposed to duplicate the offer of Los Angeles if the consent of the Water Department officials can be gained.

QUALIFIED ELECTORS.

There are 16,370 qualified electors in Long Beach, according to returns from the County Registrar's office. This is a decrease of 180 from the figures of last May. It is believed the difference is caused by the apathy of the women voters because of the lack of an issue in the immediate future. The figures include Cerritos and Naples, where there are 1097 electors.

"OUT OF THE PIT."

P. E. Hatch, president of the largest bank in Long Beach, his son, Ellsworth Hatch, and E. L. Day, while on a trip on the "Rim of the World" highway near San Bernardino, spent an entire day in rescuing a horse from a precarious position after it had fallen over the edge of the highway.

The men were following a truck which was drawn by a team of horses.

The outside horse was pushed over the edge of the road when the inside animal slipped and toppled toward it. The horse fell thirty feet over the edge of the roadway. Mr. Hatch, his son and Mr. Day by easy easy stages succeeded in dragging he horse up by miniature switchbacks. The driver of the truck was so unnerved by the experience that he was useless in the emergency.

Artesian Water Supply Question of Debate Between Cities—Judge Criticises Jury for Reducing Charge to Reach Agreement. Blames Woman for Trouble.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 2. — In preparation for an arbitration and possible settlement out of court of the question of the rights of San Bernardino and Riverside to the artesian water in the San Bernardino Valley basin, Mayors of the two cities have appointed the committees which will meet about the middle of this month to effect a compromise if possible.

Mayor George H. Wixom today announced that he had named E. D. Roberts, H. M. Barton, A. M. Ham and R. F. Garner on the committee, there being one yet to be named owing to the declination of M. D. Katz to serve. Mayor Oscar Ford of Riverside has selected W. E. Dauchy, Francis Cuttle, J. Harrison Wright and himself to act for Riverside.

In the expectation that the two cities would compromise, the suit, which was fought in the court here for several weeks at an expense of about $50,000, was continued over until next April.

JUDGE SCORES JURY.

Judge F. J. Finlayson of Los Angeles, in pronouncing sentence today upon Jesus Marcus to three months in the County Jail after his conviction of simple assault for thrice shooting Policeman Claude Fletcher at Needles, scored the jury for returning a verdict of that character when the original charge was assault with intent to commit murder.

He said that that was one of the vagaries of the present-day jury system allowing a jury to reduce the charge in order to reach an agreement. A jury which heard the first case against Marcus disagreed. Marcus had claimed that he fired in self-defense, not knowing that Fletcher was an officer.

MRS. MASSON,

the noted palmist, of London, England, may be consulted at 322 SOUTH SPRING STREET, by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS, FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY HONESTLY PRACTICED WILL NOT tell your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry, WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

TO LET—FURNISHED.
INDIVIDUALITY—That's what we all strive for, isn't it? You can't have such individuality in your home if you live in an apartment-house. You may admire your rich, harmonious, golden-brown color scheme, but when you think that Mrs. Smith next door and Mrs. Brown on the floor below have the very same effect at the very same price, it rather takes the joy out of it, doesn't it? And yet, you say, you don't want the care of a big house—that an apartment just suits you. Why not have an apartment just as you wish with every conceivable space utilized to minimize your labor and still have something a bit distinctive? We have just that combination ready for occupancy now, a clever little three-room apartment-flat and we'll furnish it up for you along the lines you've always wanted. It is the upper flat in an up-to-the-minute four-flat building, you have your own private hall and stairway, front and back porch, cozy living-room, dining-room, all finished in mahogany and white enamel, two oscillating beds, built-in buffet and dressers, self-lighting gas range, automatic water heater, individual steam radiator, artistic lighting effects and handsome wall decorations. We'll furnish it to please you. Doesn't that sound appealing? Located in the best district of the city, overlooking Westlake Park, half block from West Sixth street. No. 437 Grand View street. Rental $50 a month; garage if desired. Of course if you want it unfurnished, we'll make the price less. Open today, Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; afterwards phone for appointment.

STUDEBAKER.

You have heard the phrase: "A car good enough for Studebaker to sell is good enough for you to own."

A car to be good enough for Studebaker to sell must be in good serviceable condition, must look good and must be underpriced.

We spend thousands of dollars each month to put cars in mechanical condition—good enough to satisfy us—and you.

We spend hundreds of dollars each month to refinish cars so that we will be proud to show them to you—and you will be proud to own them.

Then we underprice every car, because we can force a big volume only by giving exceptional value.

THUS

A car good enough for Studebaker to sell is good enough for you to own.

DO YOU KNOW THAT ONE OF THE LARGEST AUTOMOBILE PART AND ACCESSORY HOUSES in the UNITED STATES is right here in your vicinity?

Do you know that they buy every and anything for the automobile?

Do you know that they buy BANKRUPT and OTHER STOCKS by the WHOLESALE?

Do you know that beginning with the year 1915 they had branches in San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland?

Do you know that they are unable to catalogue their stock because of its moving so fast?

Do you know what this means to you, Mr. Motorist or Garageman?

They buy cheap, and sell to you direct, that's why they do such an enormous business and it's the same reason that saves you money.

NOW INVESTIGATE, ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR OR GARAGEMAN.

We guarantee satisfaction on both outside and local orders.

This is enough in itself.

GOOD CARS, NOT CHEAP CARS.

Cars that are economical in cost and the same in operation. Cars that we would not sell unless in proper mechanical working order.

This policy has made our second-hand department a permanent institution.

We have all prices and makes and cater to all classes of buyers. Pleasure cars that are light and medium weight are our best propositions. Splendid terms on the following.

"AMERICAN FACTORY REBUILT" means a class of typewriters such as no other concern does or can rebuild as we do. It is an identifying term used to distinguish our machines from the great mass of typewriters which are offered under the name "REBUILT." It means that when you purchase an "AMERICAN REBUILT TYPEWRITER" you get a "FACTORY" constructed machine with new parts where necessary—a machine equal to NEW in mechanical quality. Take these points into consideration when you compare prices.

NO GOOD IN A GROUCH.

Times May Seem to all go Wrong but it is Then that Events are Establishing One's Character.

[St. Joseph News Press:] There's nothing in being gloomy, nothing in sulking, nothing but meanness in taking a frown into the home. Give us the fellow that can smile in spite of a troublesome liver or an unmanageable sweetheart. Grouches do not pay. When a cheerful disposition is backed by a resolute purpose, success likes to meet it at least half-way. Smiles make friends where frowns incite antagonisms.

To be sure, there are times when everything seems to go wrong. Wishes fail of realization, hopes are disappointed, plans miscarry, efforts are defeated. It's natural then for depression to take hold; but the man worth while keeps his head up and his face a-smiling.

Someone has said that there are links in the chain of every life that must be forged of sheer nerve. We all know it to be true. In forging these links, however, we are forging that most priceless of possessions—character. Are not the sweetest of our memories those that recall the smiling fights we made when nobody knew or even guessed? There's nothing but meanness and misery in a grouch.

NEW HOMES STARTED.

Emil Firth reports that three new residences have just been started in the Crestmont tract, near Hollywood, there being a two-story residence for R. H. Husbands, a home for Mrs. Mildred E. Martin and a bungalow for W. J. Bennett. In Arlington Square, Mr. Firth announces a bungalow for T. F. Russell, and a new house is nearing completion for Francis C. Hammett. At Orange Cove, another Firth tract, several citrus groves have been planted.

If Animals Could Speak.

[Stray Stories:] It is a startling fact that if some animals could tell their life history they would be able to recall events which happened hundreds of years ago.

A Russian eagle, for instance, would be able to remember watching with greedy eyes as one by one the French soldiers under Napoleon fell exhausted out of the ranks in their awful retreat from Moscow in 1812.

There are crocodiles alive in India today which saw the first English traveler set foot there, while there are whales in the sea which might have skirted the coast of France when the English invaded it in 1415.

A great many elephants could recall historical events of 100 years ago, while there are ravens still living whose memory could go back twice that period.

Talking of birds, the parrot, the crow and the swan often live 100 years—that is, of course, if they do not meet with misfortune—while the heron will live sixty years. Geese and pelicans will survive half a century and the sparrow forty years.

Pigeons, linnets, canaries, cranes and peacocks will live to well over twenty years, while the goldfinch, partridge, pheasant, lark and nightingale will live from fifteen to eighteen years, the robin twelve years and the thrush and hen ten years.

St. Augustine Resurrected.

[London Chronicle:] At Canterbury they have just dug up the bones of St. Augustine, who brought Christianity to England when it had been forgotten. But Canterbury is a very reminiscent corner of England, though rather neglectful of buried bones. It boasts the hilltop church that contains the font from which our first Christian king was christened, and you may still stop at the corner of the lane leading to the cathedral and see the stonework that Chaucer's pilgrims saw.

Following Their Rules.

[Chicago News:] The timid man was about to pay for his luncheon of ham and when the following conversation took place:

"Pardon me, sir, but our rules forbid us to receive bent or battered coins from customers."

"But I received that very coin here yesterday by way of change."

"Very likely, sir. We have no rule against giving bent or battered coins to customers."

TOKIO HOSPITAL NEW DEPARTURE

Institution International in Scope is Planned.

Dr. Teusler, Once of Virginia, is a Leading Spirit.

Pays Spontaneous Tribute to Japanese Physicians.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

TOKIO, Sept. 1.—The establishment of an international hospital at Tokio is practically assured, beginning next year. Dr. Rudolf B. Teusler, formerly of Virginia, leaves for the United States soon to complete plans for the foundation of the institution, which will be an enlargement of the present St. Luke's Hospital, of which he is the director. Dr. Teusler is a medical missionary of the American Episcopal Church, by which St. Luke's was founded.

Today he was honored by Premier Count Okuma, assisted by several members of his Cabinet, at a farewell luncheon at the Peer's Club. The function developed into a striking demonstration of Japanese-American friendship through the presence also of the members of the Rockefeller Medical Mission, who are on their way to China—Dr. William H. Welch, Dr. Simon Flexner, Dr. Wallace Buttrick and Dr. F. L. Gates. The American physicians had been previously introduced or had renewed old acquaintances with the leading Japanese medical men at a dinner given by Dr. Teusler.

COUNT OKUMA'S HOPE.

Count Okuma voiced the hope that Dr. Teusler would obtain the active co-operation of the American public in his plan to establish St. Luke's international hospital. He pointed out that the Japanese people had shown their sympathy in a practical manner and that the Emperor himself had testified to his earnest interest. The Premier felt certain that the hospital would strengthen the friendship between Japan and the United States. He wished to welcome also the Rockefeller Medical delegates, with whose mission to China the Japanese nation was profoundly sympathetic. Japan, the Premier pointed out, had received her medical science from the United States—indeed, its advent marked the inauguration of occidental civilization here—and now China was to benefit by the same generous international fellowship and helpfulness.

Dr. Teusler explained just what the hospital was to be. The purpose of his visit to the United States was to awaken further interest and complete the hospital fund, so work on the buildings might be begun next year. He paid a tribute to the brilliancy of Japanese physicians, but explained that a modern hospital was needed for foreigners in order that the services of these men might be secured. The new St. Luke's would be an important link in the chain of hospitals now being forged round the world. It should run from Cairo to San Francisco with units at Peking, Shanghai and Tokio—all contributing to the betterment of the conditions of mankind and to furthering the progress of the human race.

TOKIO A GOOD SITE.

As for the hospital at Tokio, Dr. Teusler declared it would be the great meeting ground of the physicians of the East and West. It would have about 150 beds and as complete an equipment as is found anywhere in the world. Tokio as a site was, in his opinion, admirable on account of the large number of expert physicians, surgeons and laboratory men available, and also because of the climate and the hot-spring and mountain resorts within easy reach. In addition to the regular foreign staff, it was planned to have several young American physicians. Every three years one of these would be allowed to return home and a new man would take his place. In this way the hospital would offer exceptional advantages for post-graduate study to young American doctors.

"I am glad to announce," concluded Dr. Teusler, "that many prominent men in the medical profession in Tokio have offered their service to the new institution, and also that we will have a complete dispensary and social service work. The value of our institution to a better international understanding and to the promotion of a true international spirit can hardly be overestimated."

TAKE LARGER SPACE.

The Los Angeles branch of the Century Electric Company of St. Louis, one of the largest manufactories of single phase motors and electric fans in the United States, has moved to larger quarters at No. 806 South Hope street. This office will take care of all the Southern California trade. The company now has branches in all the large cities of the Pacific Coast. R. J. Davis is coast manager and Paul A. Shilton will be in charge of the local branch. The lease by which the concern secures its Hope-street space was closed through A. C. Hemming, with Bryan & Bradford.

NEW RAMONA ACRES.

The Janss Investment Company announces sales at New Ramona Acres during the past week to the following: J. W. Mundie, plot improved with house, $1350; C. S. Wakley, plot with bungalow, $2450; A. E. Bassler, plot, $1250; J. C. Sherman, plot, $1500, and M. L. Gunnison, plot, $1250. Mr. Bassler, Mr. Sherman and Mr. Gunnison, it is stated, will at once start bungalows. The company itself is having plans drawn for three new bungalows in the same subdivision.

FORM PARTNERSHIP.

Charles M. Conant, who has been handling Juab Valley lands, announces the organization of the Conant-Winstanley Company, with offices at 1108 Van Nuys Building. The new firm is composed of Mr. Conant and F. Winstanley, both of whom have had a large experience in the sale of subdivision of acreage, ranches and farms. The new firm will specialize in Juab Valley lands.

SCHOOL CONTRACT LET.

A. S. O'Neill, a local contractor, has been awarded the contract for the construction of a large addition to the present San Pedro High School. The new portion of the harbor school will conform architecturally to the old and will cover a ground space of 90x105 feet, being two stories in height. It will contain an auditorium, library, music-room, English department and physics laboratory. Lyman Farwell drew the plans.

Progress of Southwest's Great Mining Revival—Oil Industry Developments.

In Golden State.

REHABILITATION OF OLD MINES STILL CONTINUES.

Mining Investors from All Parts of Country are Conducting Eager Quest for Demonstrated Auriferous Properties, Particularly in the Mother Lode District. Move is Made to Place Hydraulic Section on its Feet.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PLACERVILLE, Sept. 30.—The ardent quest for demonstrated gold mines is resulting in the rehabilitation of numerous old properties in California that have been idle for decades. California, eastern and foreign capitalists are eagerly searching the mother lode for meritorious holdings and a number of old camps are again waking to life.

The famous old Gold Bank mine, near Forbestown, has been acquired by a syndicate of Salt Lake people, headed by J. Reese, and operations started with twenty-five men. Retimbering of old workings is preceeding, and the new owners plan extensively to mine the large quantities of ore blocked out in old workings. If satisfied by the examination they will make the new operators install new equipment, and develop the virgin ground. The Gold Bank is one of the oldest properties in California and was one of the first to prove the merit of quartz deposits in the State.

After a period of inactivity the old Mt. Pleasant mine, in the Grizzly Flat district, has been reopened. Unwatering of the 1100-foot shaft is proceeding and an elaborate plan of development has been outlined. Although good ore has been intersected in the lower levels little work has been done below the 600 point. An assessment of 8 cents per share has been levied, and the funds will be employed in opening the lower levels and in placing the property on a productive basis.

The famous old Morey mine, northwest of Grizzly Flat, continues to yield good profits after fifty years of almost continuous production. The stamp mill, which has been in operation forty-five years, is the oldest active plant in California. The ore is largely free milling, with values ranging from $20 to over $100 per ton. The refractory product is shipped to smelters.

D. S. Wesmith and associates of San Diego have arranged to vigorously operate the Undine gravel mine on Butte Creek, fifteen miles from Chico. Erection of new mine buildings will commence at once, and overhauling of the gravel mill will soon start. Considerable gravel of excellent grade is blocked out, although financial difficulties seriously hampered operations under the old management. The property has an excellent productive record.

REVIVIFYING PLAN.

Owners of placer mines in Nevada and Placer counties will submit a bill to Congress at the next session, asking an appropriation of $150,000 for the building of a restraining dam on Bear River. Arrangements have been made to have Congressman Raker father the measure. It is proposed to reinburse the government by imposing a tax on the gold recovered.

The dam would facilitate resumption of hydraulic mining in You Bet, Lowell Hill, Dutch Flat and other famous placer districts, draining into Bear River and its tributaries, and would mean the activity of more than twenty mines of proven richness. Practically all of these properties have been idle since the laws regulating hydraulic mining were enforced, and it is conservatively estimated their operation would add $1,000,000 to $4,000,000 to the annual gold output of California within a short time.

The United States Exploration Company, composed largely of Southern California and San Francisco people, is enlarging its development scope at the Robinson quartz mine in the Granite Basin district, near Quincy. The main shaft is being deepened 100 feet, and the old-stamp mill has been demolished and will be replaced with a battery of rotary mills having a capacity equal to forty stamps. Several mine buildings are under construction and operations will be prosecuted throughout the winter with a force of thirty men. If the property continues to develop satisfactorily new roads will be built in the early spring and 250 to 300 men employed. The mine contains huge ledges of mill ore of free milling character.

High-grade copper ore, due to secondary enrichment, has been discovered on the 125-foot level of the Walker mine, twenty-five miles from Portola. The strike was made in the 150-foot drift and revealed a strong body of ore, assaying 12 per cent. copper, with good gold and silver values. Development of the main ore body is progressing satisfactorily. The rock averages around 6 per cent. copper and $3 gold and silver to the ton. Road-building and construction of the new flotation plant is proceeding rapidly. Utah people are chiefly interested.

The Willow Valley Mines Company has installed a powerful electric pump in the Montana shaft of its property, near Nevada City, and is preparing to sink to the 1200 level. The shaft is now down 830 feet, with the lowest levels in good ore. Development of the three properties comprising the group is proceeding from the Montana shaft, and the mill is dropping on quartz of good grade.

BLOCKS LITIGATION.

By an agreement consummated last week all danger of litigation between the Empire and Golden Centre companies at Grass Valley has been eliminated. The Golden Centre is privileged to work all veins apexing at certain points on its holdings to their ultimate length, and a like right is accorded the Empire on veins clearly demonstrated to have their apex in Empire ground.

On veins which have been partly developed in the disputed ground, the Golden Centre will mine the upper shoots, and the Empire the lower. Both companies are mining splendid ore, and the agreement establishes clear title to large areas of rich territory.

It is understood the arrangement also gives the Empire company additional claims to the rich ore body over which arose the dispute with the North Star Company. Thus far the Empire has not filed a complete answer to the suit brought against it.

A vein of rich ore has been uncovered in the Pine Grove mine, near the old camp of Pine Grove. The ledge ranges from four to six feet wide, with streaks of picture ore mingled with the milling quartz. Much of the rich ore recently extracted was taken from shallow workings, and the company is preparing to operate to fair depth. The Pine Grove has been developed from a prospect into a rich producer in the brief span of two years.

The Metals Reduction Company is preparing to resume treatment of tailings from the old Comstock mills, below Dayton, Nev. New cyanide equipment is to be installed and several changes are to be made at the main plant. Approximately 250,000 tons of tailings, containing gold and silver, are on the old dumps, besides material covering an area of twenty-five acres to a depth of ten feet.

The company erected a costly plant about two years ago, but several unsuspected metallurgical problems developed. It is now believed the material can be treated at a good profit.

MINE INDUSTRY "HAS THE CALL."

REAWAKENING INFLUENCE IS VISIBLE EVERYWHERE.

Set in Motion by Need for Monetary Metal, Great Wave of Activity is Constantly Spreading—Great Era of Accomplishment Appears Nigh—Los Angeles to Benefit.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

About every third man you meet is interested in mining. The other two are willing to be, or at least they talk that way. Men who never before would consider the business are now planning to engage in it, either actively or passively, either as operators, or to take a flyer in stocks. In other words, "mining has the call."

There is a reason for this. In fact, there are several reasons.

At the foundation lies the demand, ever increasing, for metals of all kinds. When that evanescent thing called "confidence" was squeezed from things financial, the country was perforce made to realize the necessity for actual monetary metal—for gold, for silver. War, with its grim necessities, called into action less-precious metals — copper, lead and zinc. The shutting off of foreign supplies of such products as tungsten, platinum and mercury, set our own prospectors to work to supply the market. Old prospects were relocated, old mines reopened, new ones brought to light. "Mining is coming back" became the password among those who for several years had felt their occupation gone. Men who had declared against mining as a profession because of former wildcatting had taken note of the legislation safeguarding this great business and began to drift toward the industry. "Mining is coming back and it is coming back right," was the next word to be uttered. Clean, clear-cut, as it should be, was what they meant.

Greater strength even is lent to this utterance by the fact that still further legislation for safeguarding mining was under consideration by the National Mining Congress during its recent sessions in San Francisco.

CATCHING THE SPIRIT.

Today, may of the most conservative men in Los Angeles either own to "prospects," are frankly interested in mines, or are willing to talk mining.

To the inquiry: "What do you know about mining?" likely as not the man you salute will reply by bringing forth from his pocket a map of Oatman, or a sketched plat of the new tungsten fields near Atolia, or a blueprint of the Yellow Pine district.

Not to know something about the big mines and prospects of the various Arizona fields is to own yourself out of the procession.

There is every reason why Los Angeles should be interested and informed regarding these new mining districts. She is the natural distributing station for the supplies for those camps, and in more ways than one is likely to benefit by their prosperity. Her capital is going into the development of those localities and her future will draw from them at least a part of its stability.

ARIZONA'S NEW CAMP.

Many are the predictions that Oatman will be the greatest of the Arizona camps. These forecasts are based not upon surface values or anything like a "boom," for the reason that Oatman is not what is known as a "poor man's" camp. It is an expensive camp in which to mine. It is not a "grass-roots" proposition. However, it already has several mines, at least two of which experienced operators believe are great mines. The fact that many of the claims are owned by men who have made successes in other camps, men with mining experience as well as with money, seems to mean stability for the camp.

"I have never seen greater ore bodies than those in the United Eastern," said a mining man who had recently visited that property at depth.

With even one such mine, a camp is likely to boom, in spite of all conservatism. And the Tom Reed has long been a great mine. Others are making a good showing with development. Even proximity becomes a good gamble in such a vicinity.

TUNGSTEN ATTRACTS.

Nearer home, in the vicinity of Atolia, southeast from Randsburg of Yellow Aster fame, the new tungsten fields are attracting much attention.

"I saw scores of men working leases in that locality," said a Los Angeles man recently returned from there, "tramping along with sacks over his shoulders, picking up tungsten ore, which some declared would net them $10 to $18 per day." Water is a desideratum in that vicinity. A single company controls the water, practically, and it is sold by the barrel at a price. Every foot of ground within a radius of several miles of Atolia is being worked for the acid-bearing rock, which is now at so high a price as to have become almost a precious article. A number of Los Angeles men have leases or options in the Atolia district and more are under negotiation.

Placer territory and also gold workings in this locality are feeling the revivifying benefits, and it is predicted by many that the old days of Randsburg will soon be, perhaps rivalled.

STILL NEARER HOME.

A field even nearer to Los Angeles than the Atolia field is at Twenty-nine Palms, where a great gold strike in the Anaconda has recently been reported. This one-time producer has recently been revived under the direction of the Los Angeles men and is being watched with considerable interest. Control is in the hands of a very live business man, who proposes to make a mine of the property.

Los Angeles capital is largely interested in the Yellow Pine district, in Southwestern Nevada, where, in certain sections, platinum is the sensational ore. Generally, however, copper, lead and zinc values lead, with some good gold showing. One of the most practical men in Goldfield recently expressed it as his opinion that this field would prove one of the really great mining districts of the West. It is said that about twenty-five properties are being worked.

QUICKSILVER, TOO.

A locality coming into prominence because of a new demand for metals is south of Phoenix, or about eighteen miles south from Payson, where there are several promising cinnabar properties.

With the greatly increased demand for quicksilver, interest in these properties has been renewed and it is said that one in particular, the Sunflower Cinnabar, will again be in operation soon. Immense dikes traverse the country in this locality, and the unmistakable red of the cinnabar rock is most inspiring to those who are familiar with the ore. The owners have done about $35,000 worth of work on the property mentioned, and have proven the product to be of high-grade character.

"Nature has done fully $100,000 worth of work in cutting the ore bodies so that they are shown to be more than prospects," said a man recently returned from examining the holdings. One of the big manufactories of mirrors in New York City has a mine in the vicinity from which considerable ore is said to have been taken. It is the plan to erect reduction plants and to proceed with the work of preparing the quicksilver for market forthwith, as the demand is great at present and the price several times greater than usual.

The Old Hickory, a copper property about thirty miles southeast of Tucson, is shipping high grade ore to the smelter at Galveston. This property is held largely by conservative business men of Los Angeles, and it is believed by many to have a future equal to that of the Greene. The owners in this city show some magnificent specimen ore.

SHAFT NEARING ITS OBJECTIVE.

UNITED WESTERN IS MAKING GOOD HEADWAY IN OATMAN FIELD.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OATMAN (Ariz.) Sept. 29.—The shaft on the United Western has attained a depth of 420 feet and the men are making seven feet a day working with machine drills. Superintendent J. C. Denton is working fifteen men, three shifts, and expects to cut into ore in another month.

The shaft was started on the hanging-wall side of the vein, which is now within fifteen feet of the workings. The formation has been rapidly changing during the last fifty feet of sinking, the shaft filling up with vein material and quartz in spots.

Important developments are expected shortly on this property, as the vein is expected to enter the shaft somewhere below the 400-foot level. Unless the vein is encountered in the shaft, the latter will be continued to the 500-foot level and a crosscut run at that point.

The United Western stock has been listed on the San Francisco exchange and was called for the first time yesterday.

Development work on the Ivanhoe has been resumed and a vigorous plan of work formulated. One crew is crosscutting on the 200-foot level to intersect the vein and another force of men are doing shaft work. The shaft, which is down 225 feet, is to be continued to the 500-foot level. The machine equipment has been supplemented by the addition recently of a twenty-five-horse-power hoist, an eight by nine-inch air-compressor, and jack hammers.

The Ivanhoe estate consists of seven claims adjoining the United Eastern and Tom Reed on the northwest. Ample funds for development are now in the company's treasury. The control has recently passed from the original owners to a syndicate headed by H. E. Teter, S. M. Warmbath and associates, all of Los Angeles.

The Black Eagle shaft, where the recent big strike was made, is being continued to the 500-foot level. At the latter point the ore-shoot opened on the upper levels will be thoroughly explored.

With all possible speed the shaft on the Big Jim is being sunk and is now near the 200-foot mark. It is to be continued to the 300-foot point, where the first station will be cut and a crosscut run to intersect the vein system.

Jumbo Extension.

Although recent developments have been devoid of the sensational elements, Jumbo Extension is splendidly maintaining its stellar position in the firmament of Goldfield. Shipments are being made upon the same scale as for many months past, namely, eighty tons daily. This output is made up of the mixed yield of the various drifts, raises and stopes and continues to average around $45 per ton. Rapid progress is recorded in sinking operations on the old Original Velvet lease or No. 2 shaft of the company's Velvet claim. Recently the shifts were increased from two to three daily, and an average of five feet each day is being made. The shaft is now approximately 500 feet deep. It will be sent down to connect with all the levels, including the 1017-foot lateral of the Poleverde, or No. 1 shaft, through which production is being handled.

The completion of shaft No. 2 will not only make perfect the ventilation of the miles of workings tributary to shaft No. 1, but will permit of operations upon a vastly greater scale.

Goldfield Merger.

Public interest attaching to the Goldfield Merger centers at this time in the geological study of the property being made by George H. Garrey, a consulting mining geologist of New York City, formerly connected with the United States Geological Survey, who collaborated with F. L. Ransome in making a government report upon this district in 1906.

His report upon the Merger property will be used as a guide for future operations. Drifting continues along the latite-shale contact in the property.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY AND CHEMISTRY

You are politely requested to submit samples carefully wrapped and tagged, with letter accompanying stating what tests are desired. Make samples of small size. There is no necessity for big chunks. Correspondents offering matter for analyses with card, or scrap of paper, intended to show that the stuff is from Jim Jones, for instance, with no marks of identification on samples, will, hereafter, receive no attention whatever.

Uranium Absent.

MOJAVE (Cal.) Sept. 11.—Q.: With this I mail you to you a sample of rock. One of our prospecting boys claims he had a sample of the the rock assayed, with the result that it carried good values in uranium and vanadium. I told him that I would not be satisfied until I submitted a sample to you; so please let me know through the "in the earth" column what it is. We thank you for all past and present kindnesses, and rely on your decisions. We still have the diatomaceous earth (and not "kaolin") that you tested right, and the desert rats are still nestling, and send kind wishes to The Times. J.

A.: Your kind words are appreciated, and we are glad to hear from the boys. The sample is quartzitic and aluminous; in part amygdaloidal, and there is not a trace of uranium present. Vanadium in very low percentage in the mass, but not sufficient for commercial profit.

Ilmenite, zinc a trace, iron oxides and antimony trace, all present. The microscopic particles of smalt-blue matter in the rock lead one to suspect that gem material might be near the locality from which sample was taken.

Acicular Gypsum.

ESCONDIDO, Sept. 11.—Q.: I am sending you under separate cover a sample of what I think is gypsum; still, I am not certain. Please advise me through your column what it is, and if there is any value to it, and oblige. L.

A.: Gypsum like sample can be burnt into first-class plaster of Paris.

Halite.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Q.: I send with this sample of salt of some kind from Southern Nevada. Does it carry potash? O. B.

A.: The sample is sodium chloride variety. Potash none.

Titanic Iron in Part.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Q.: I am sending you some samples from Cedar Canyon, in Northwest Arizona. No. 1 is a black sand, and No. 2 consists of two blackish rocks. Are there any values in the sand, or in the rock? B.

A.: No. 1 carries 92 per cent. magnetic iron, trace of microscopical pyrite, quartz, topaz, ilmenite and yellow mica. No free gold. The rock samples, No. 2, are chiefly titanic iron ore; traces of manganese, pinkish quartz and iron silicate. Tungsten absent. All of doubtful value.

Gold Present.

MARUBA, Sept. 12.—Q.: Under separate cover please find one sample of ore taken from the New York mountains. Please describe this ore in "in the earth" codumn and tell me what it contains. The ore is from granite formation, and some pieces are solid metal or mineral. What name would be given to this rock and contents, and does it have a commercial value. Kindly grant this information to an old subscriber and advertiser in the Sunday Times. S.

A.: Glad to hear from you. If one desired to go into the manufacture of arsenic, the arsenical iron present in the specimen would indicate that the ledge from which the rock was taken would pan out well.

The sample is ferruginous quartz, carrying arsenical iron in good percentage, with traces of pyrite, chalcopyrite, iron, manganese, traces of lead, zinc and antimony. The quartz will concentrate.

Gold and silver more or less present. The ore is base, and subject to smelter penalties.

Orthoclase-Feldspar.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—Q.: Sample from Los Angeles county. Please state if baryte, or what is it? T.

Ferruginous Quartz.

GRAHAM, Sept. 13.—Q.: Will you please inform me what the inclosed sample contains. M.

A.: Some microscopical silvery mica appears in the geodic part of the quartz, which resembles silver. Free gold absent. Iron present.

Platinum Trace.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 14.—Q.: I am a reader of your paper and would be pleased to have you tell me how much gold and platinum there is in sample, and if so, how much will it go by the pound. B.

A.: The sample consists of one gram of so-called black sand. There is 92.50 per cent. magnetite in the mass, with ilmenite, quartz and garnet. Gold trace.

It would be contrary to the rules of this department to "figure" on platinum values. All we are responsible for is the sample submitted.

Pyrrhotite in Part.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—Q.: What minerals does this contain? Have they any commercial value? R.

A.: Calcite present in the quartzitic-aluminous rock; magnesia present. Pyrrhotite (magnetic pyrite,) is sparingly shown, with low per cent. nickel value. Ilmenite; arsenic a trace, zinc trace, and trace phosphoric acid.

No great values are obtainable from such a variety of rock and mineral.

Altered Anthracite.

NEEDLES, Sept. 15.—Q.: Here is a sample that I call coal, and yet it will not burn. Please test it and tell me what it is. T.

A.: The sample was coal at one time o' day. It is of no value now.

Quartz (Sandstone.)

BISBEE (Ariz.) Sept. 15.—Q.: Two small reddish-brown specimens herewith. Kindly state whether it is sandstone or limestone, to settle a debated question (some call it altered shale.) I have been a subscriber of The Times for a long time, therefore would consider it a great favor if you will give me the desired information. Thanking you very much in advance. R.

A.: And some of the boys would refer to the sample as gneiss. It is not shale. Iron oxides present; slightly argillaceous. Lime trace only (as carbonate.) According to Ransome, "the oldest rocks in the Bisbee district are those of the pre-Cambrian pinal schist, which has been intruded by granite, probably also of pre-Cambrian age."

We are not stating the "age" of the lime content in the samples; whether carboniferous (cretaceous,) Devonian or Cambrian "cuts no figure." A real old Irish gentleman might express the sentiment that on this behalf one limestone is as good as another, "and a darned sight better!"

Impure Baryte.

ARROYO GRANDE, Sept. 16.—Q.: I am sending you under separate cover a few pieces of ore. Please tell me through your columns what it is. Thanking you, etc., P.

A.: The sample is barium sulphate and rather too impure for paint purposes. The bluish-green specks are baryte, also.

Prospect the locality for the valuable witherite (barium carbonate.)

Silica.

ENCINITAS, Sept. 16.—Q.: Please let me know what these samples consist of? White rock No. 1, and dark rock No. 2. T.

A.: No. 1 is chiefly silica. In this whitish material you submit three varieties; the grayish white is silica (quartz) with aluminum silicate; the pearly-white sample is low-grade kaolin, and the remaining samples of No. 1 are granular silica. No. 2 is an altered aluminous and magnesium silicate; iron present, and carrying traces of fuller's earth.

Limonitic.

ARROYO GRANDE, Sept. 17.—Q.: Please test the local samples with this correspondence. P.

A.: The sample is a silicious (hydrous) iron peroxide, barium present; chalybeate iron in the mass; gold trace.

Ferruginous Quartz.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17.—Q.: Herewith a sample lot from San Bernardino county. Does the black iron carry any valuable acids? Should it be assayed for gold and silver? "J."

A.: The chip of iron oxides quartz carries one microscopical color of gold. The blackish matter is in porphyritic matrix; iron and manganese present; valuable commercial acids absent, including that of tungstic acid. The third sample is copper-stained quartz with trace of cuprite.

Many Combinations.

INDIO, Sept. 18.—Q.: I am sending you today a few pieces of ore or rock. I do not ask you to analyze all of them, but I would like your opinion about them, and the names I would really like to have. If not too much trouble, please test No. 4. Do you think it would be best to have Nos. 1 and 2 assayed for gold? I have lots to learn yet, and will appreciate very much any information about these samples. All of the specimens come from a locality thirty-five miles northeast of Indio. W.

A.: How pleasant it is to meet up with fellow-men that "do not know it all." There is hope for such manly fellows, and they are, generally, worth knowing.

No. 1 is quartz; copper low percentage; No 2, quartzitic, lime traces, copper and vanadium sparingly present; No. 3, galenite with high-grade antimonial lead; No. 4, jasper iron, copper 1 per cent.; No. 5, altered wollastinite, fluorine trace, strontium trace; No. 6, orthoclase (potash feldspar,) iron present. Nos. 1 and 2 are not of an encouraging nature. Go for No. 3!

Actinolite.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 18.—Q.: Under other cover I am mailing you two samples. No. 1 is from a prospect in Kern county that I sent some samples from to you a year ago. I have just visited the prospect; no work done on it to show if there is any body of the "stuff," and it shows on the surface for quite a distance, but only in bunches. I would like to know if it would pay to go down on this and see if the bunches would come together. No. 2 is also from Kern county; a large ledge of it. Does it contain any borax? If so, there is a probability of it getting better at depth. Thanking you for this and past favors. H.

A.: Glad to get a line from you. The greenish acicular samples are of the hornblende family and are, specifically, glassy actinolite.

With the lot is a valuable grayish white sample of a talcose, and probably altered asbestic matter. Prospect the locality for commercial quantities of it. Borax traces are present in many of the samples No. 2.

Quartzitic Matter.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—Q.: I send you under separate wrapper a sample of mineral that was given to me, with other copper samples, by a miner who is working on the Arizona side of the Colorado River about four miles southeast of Parker. He claims to have a ledge two feet wide, like the sample. Will you please tell me what the sample contains, and has it a commercial value? S.

A.: The sample is (in matrix) of quartz. Throughout the masse antimonial lead appears in good percentage, and silver is present.

Tungsten Absent.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—Q.: The writer has been a reader of The Times for twenty-five years, and is much interested in your "In the Earth" column. The enclosed rocks were sent to me by an old prospector friend, with the request that I ask you to give him contents of the same: No. 1, vanadium; No. 2, scheelite; No. 3, antimony; No. 4, tungsten; No. 5 ——. My friend thinks that these ores may contain some of the minerals mentioned, and he found them while prospecting near the Alvord Mountains in San Bernardino county. W.

A.: There is a small percentage of vanadium in No. 1, but the coloring matter is chiefly that of ferric and ferrous oxides. No. 2 has a talcose coating; it is aluminous-magnesium matter with wollastinite in part. It is not scheelite. No. 3, low percentage of antimony; traces microscopical galenite and traces microscopical molybdenite. No. 4 carries lead, antimony, vanadium and zinc; all of the four substances in low percentage, and there is quite a percentage of magnetite in the mass. No. 5 is amphibole carrying low percentages of antimony and lead.

Florence Goldfield.

The continued pleasing physical condition of the Florence mine is reflected by the fact that thus far this month the company has despatched approximately 300 tons of ore averaging around $17 per ton. This is being yielded principally by stopes B and C, on the new vein above the 250-foot level of the main working shaft in the old Florence Consolidated lease territory. On the same level new crosscuts are being advanced as a preliminary to the exploration of the walls of the famous Reilly stope, which, through leasing operations in the boom days of the camp and subsequent work on company account, has to its credit a production of approximately $2,000,000.

SOUTHWEST ACTIVITIES.

MANY BRACING FACTORS IN OUR OIL SITUATION

Declining Production and Shortage of the Past Fe Months Tend to Revive Spirits of Operators, in that They Make Day of Higher Prices Seem Less Distant. Conservative Policy Still Dictates Retrenchment Ideal.

THE chief factors to be considered in formulating an idea of the present oil situation and the proximate future of the industry are the gradual decline in production and less pronounced falling off in shipments, and the fact that the last few months have revealed a small oil shortage, the contrasting feature of the large potential surplus, and the size of stocks, the dearth of gusher territory and the limited possibilities for new territory being developed on account of the decrease in "wild cat" operations. Besides these features it should also be considered that field activities have greatly fallen off. An anticipated unfavorable influence is the likelihood of a falling off in consumption following the cessation of the rather abnormal exposition traffic.

On the whole, however, the balance is very strongly in favor of the coming of better times in the oil business. Consequently a spirit of more pronounced optimism has hovered over the industry in the past few months.

Naturally, no immediate advance in the price of the product is anticipated, as conditions have not improved sufficiently for that, but if the present programme of restriction of new development is adhered to for another half year or so, it is expected the market will undoubtedly recuperate from its present low level.

The eastern part of the country has begun at last to recover to some extent from the effects of the tremendous overproduction which brought prices to a bankruptcy point some two years ago, about the same time that California was submerged in a flood of oil, the like of which was never recorded in the history of the State. Pennsylvania prices have shown two small advances, and it is quite likely that other sections of the East will also soon be reaping the benefits of a higher market.

Last month's California figures, which have just been made public, showing shipments to exceed production by nearly 400,000 barrels, the largest shortage in nearly two years, brought an especial message of good cheer to the producer. It should be borne in mind, however, that the apparent consumption was inflated considerably above the probable average for the remainder of the year by the tremendous fair traffic. Consequently the standard of optimism cannot securely be raised on the foundation established by August's showing.

REDUCING SURPLUS.

The release of shut-in production last month, although it amounted to only 1000 barrels daily out of a potential surplus of 19,000 daily average, was significant. Every barrel this potential surplus is reduced the more confidence may the California producer feel in the approach of a period of higher prices.

Another reserve which must be considered, and one which in time may prove a very necessary one to maintain at somewhere near its present level, are stocks, which now aggregate close to 60,000,000 barrels. At the rate California oil is now being consumed it would take some nine months to reduce this surplus to nothing, provided all production in the State ceased. So long, however, as the output remains where it is, and the potential surplus is its present size, this statement will have little meaning for the California producer, despite the frequently great stress laid upon it.

The oil output for the first eight months of the year aggregated approximately 60,000,000 barrels, while shipments aggregated about 59,000,000 barrels, resulting in a surplus of 1,000,000 barrels compared with a surplus for the same period in 1914 of about 2,500,000. Both production and shipments have shown a pronounced falling off in the past year, but the former's has been considerably larger. At the present time the daily average output is nearly 35,000 barrels less than what it was last year. Oil shut in, although it rose very high early this year, has since declined to about the same level as averaged last year.

VALLEY FIELD'S DECLINE.

Eighty per cent. of the falling off in the State's yield is accounted for by the drop in the production of Midway-Sunset field. That district now is no longer the scene of the monumental gusher, nor is there in sight new territory likely to furnish big spouters. The same is also true of the other districts.

Once in a while a strike has been made this year, but its magnitude has quickly dwindled in nearly every case, and it has always been in the center of some developed district. At present, oil in much of the best territory is being taken from the deepest levels, so that the chances for finding a large production in the lower strata are lessening.

In spite of the falling off in production, the number of producing wells has shown an increase of several hundred over the average in 1914. This is due in part to the release of shut in production, and to the natural addition of new producers; as none of these have been exceedingly large, they have not offset the natural decline in the yield.

While the number of drilling wells has lately been increased to some extent, they are still nearly 100 less than the average last year. Half the number of new rigs are put up monthly, and completions are considerably less.

While the passing of the fair year may bring about a temporary drop in consumption from its present high level, there seems little doubt but that this will gradually be counter-balanced by the steady expansion of trade up and down the Coast.

Immediately following the war all outside oil trade was practically paralyzed, and it has taken months for the foreign markets to recuperate, and until the end of the war it is not expected that they will reach their normal consuming capacity. Coast business, however, greatly recovered in a few months, and has been steadily waxing in volume.

Although the oil area of California undoubtedly extends far beyond the limits of present development, the incentive for "wildcatting" will not exist until prices shall have risen to a much higher level than at present. As several fields, which came in before the sharp decline also did not turn out favorably, this rather discouraged operators of test wells.

While conservative oil men are very hopeful for the future of the industry, they believe that the prod will do well for the present to m time, and suspend all new activ until a still more equable relation between production, consumption potential surplus exists. The impro ment which has already been nessed and the steady strides in process of rehabilitation lend a hopeful atmosphere to the futur

FACT AND COMMENT.

One of the sanest pieces of legislation urged before the City Council in many a day is that embodied in the recommendations of the Building Ordinance Revision Commission, having to do with the thickness of brick, concrete and hollow tile walls in small structures. That the commission's suggestions will be favorably acted upon is declared on good authority to be practically assured.

For years it has been evident to architects, engineers and contractors that the laws governing the wall thickness of ordinary one and two-story buildings of fireproof and semi-fireproof construction were needlessly stringent. The structural ordinances, which, in the main, are rational in their requirements for substantiality, go entirely too far in their demands upon the builders of non-frame residences.

The builder of a one or two-story private dwelling of anything but wood construction is, under the existing statutes, required to have walls as thick as those necessitated for the uttermost limits of safety in apartment buildings three stories or more in height and designed for the occupancy of many families. Such a requirement on the face of it is archaic and ridiculous. That the law should even read that way is doubtless an oversight upon the part of the original framers.

What the commission recommends is that builders of substantial one-story structures be permitted to con-

THE EVER-HIGH TIDE.

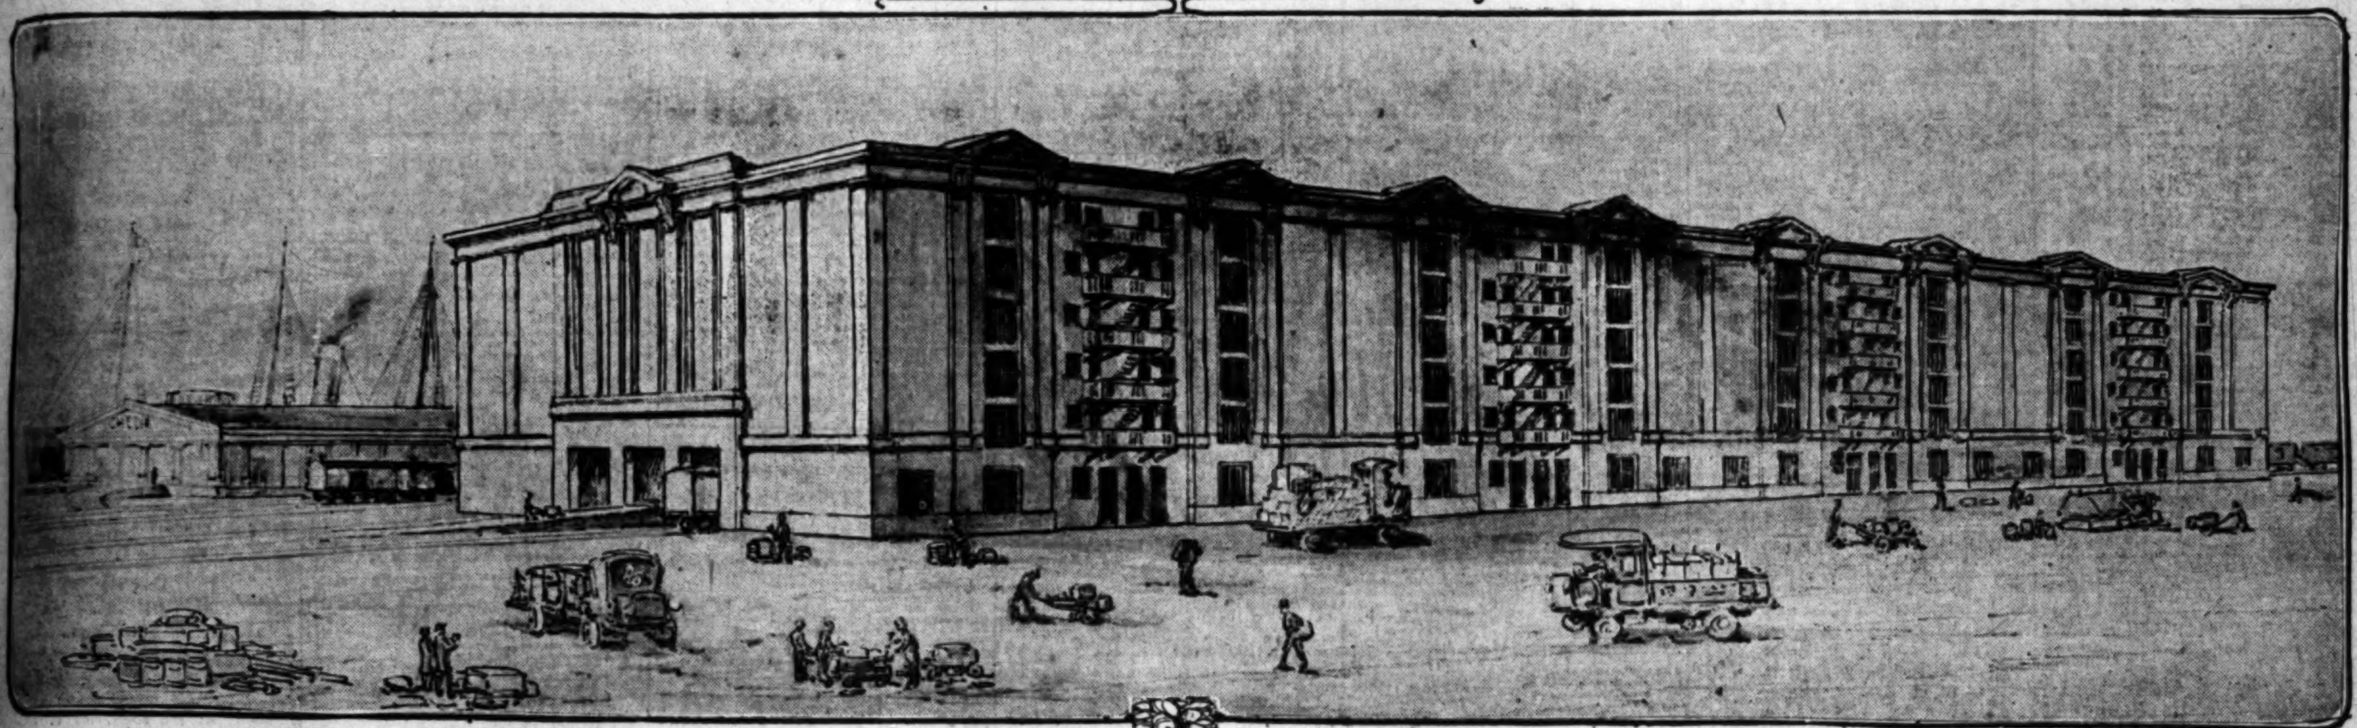
Huge Outer Harbor Warehouse to be Started this Month by City of Los Angeles.



Perspective of great municipal improvement for which the harbor engineering department has completed plans and is now taking bids.

The drawing, based on the actual plans for the building, gives, as no mere description could, an idea of the enormous proportions of the projected warehouse, which will be by far the largest structure of its kind on the Pacific Coast. The building will be of reinforced concrete construction and six stories high. It will have a length of 480 feet and will be 152 feet deep. Its site will be alongside that of the recently completed municipal shed, itself a marvel of structural steel construction 100 feet wide and 1800 feet long. The warehouse will contain more than eleven acres of floor space. In its erection more than 27,000 cubic yards of cement will be poured and 1300 tons of reinforcing steel utilized. Its cost is estimated at $300,000. The building will be the first of three or more of its type called for in the city's outer harbor plans for the complete development of Municipal Dock No. 1. The shed already finished and the warehouse that is about to be started are, however, expected to meet all harbor needs for some time to come. Between the sheds and the site of the warehouse are three depressed railway tracks and a paved roadway, which are now in use and which solve all problems of transportation to and from the dock.

FACT AND COMMENT.

One of the sanest pieces of legislation urged before the City Council in many a day is that embodied in the recommendations of the Building Ordinance Revision Commission, having to do with the thickness of brick, concrete and hollow tile walls in small structures. That the commission's suggestions will be favorably acted upon is declared on good authority to be practically assured.

For years it has been evident to architects, engineers and contractors that the laws governing the wall thickness of ordinary one and two-story buildings of fireproof and semi-fireproof construction were needlessly stringent. The structural ordinances, which, in the main, are rational in their requirements for substantiality, go entirely too far in their demands upon the builders of non-frame residences.

The builder of a one or two-story home dwelling of anything but wood construction is, under the existing statutes, required to have walls as thick as those necessitated for the uttermost limits of safety in apartment buildings three stories or more in height and designed for the occupancy of many families. Such a requirement in the face of it is archaic and ridiculous. That the law should even read that way is doubtless an oversight upon the part of the original framers.

What the commission recommends is that builders of substantial one-story structures be permitted to construct walls of four inches in thickness instead of being required, as at present, to have nine-inch walls. The commission would permit projectors of two-story buildings to plan eight-inch walls on the ground story and six-inch walls on the upper floor instead of forcing them to keep to a minimum thickness of nine inches from the foundation to the roof.

The Advantages.

The advantages of the change both to the builders of Los Angeles and to the community as a whole will be obvious to all. It is the dream of every municipality that the time may come when everyone will build so substantially and permanently as to reduce the burden of maintaining elaborate and costly fire-fighting equipment to a minimum. In Los Angeles that dream has seemed far from realization.

The restrictions placed upon the use of brick, hollow tile or concrete for small buildings have been and are so exacting in this city that the cost of such construction has been prohibitive to ordinary builders. The proposed new laws, by reducing the amount of cement, brick or tile made imperative by ordinance, will make the use of these materials by home builders almost as economical with respect to initial outlay as that of wood itself. It follows naturally that many more will build the permanent types of homes if the cost is brought within reason.

There is not the least intent upon the part of the Fact and Comment man to question the merits of wood as a medium of construction. From the purely architectural and artistic points of view, there are doubtless many arguments for the use of wood

HAIL NEW RAILWAY.

People of Palo Verde Valley Celebrate Completion of First Unit of Line to Blythe.

The people of the Palo Verde Valley, under the auspices of the Blythe Boosters' Club, held a celebration on Thursday to express their satisfaction over the completion of the first unit of the projected new California Southern Railway route from Blythe Junction to the town of Blythe. The line has just been completed to Gyp Wells, where are located the gypsum deposits of the United States Gypsum Company. It is to be carried on at once to Blythe.

The part of the branch already constructed is about 12 miles long and will at once be put to use in hauling gypsum, which product is expected to provide sufficient tonnage to make profitable operation immediately possible. The railway when completed is expected to play a most important part in developing the agricultural resources of the Palo Verde Valley, which, because of the lack of transportation facilities, has heretofore been held back.

The valley proper is about 25 miles long and six miles wide and contains upwards of 100,000 acres, only a small portion of which has been put under cultivation. Among other large purchasers of acreage in the valley are the Hauser Packing Company and the Los Angeles Creamery Company, both of which concerns have acquired land for stock raising, an industry that has already been demonstrated to be profitable in certain portions of the district. A large tract has just been opened in the Palo Verde Valley by the California Southern Realty Company of this city.

IMPORTANT PROJECTS FOR THE SOUTHWEST.

Local Capitalist to Establish Important Business and Residential Center at Vermont and Slauson—Present Plans Call for Erection of Stores, Theater, Garage, Flats and Apartments.

ONE of the most extensive improvements of its kind yet projected in Los Angeles is a combined business and flat building to be erected by F. W. Braun at the southwest corner of Vermont and Slauson avenues. The structure will be of brick and is designed to cover part of a large parcel of business frontage recently acquired by Mr. Braun in the vicinity, and which extends along Vermont for 600 feet, with a depth on Slauson of 124 feet. It will front 240 feet on Vermont, extending back the entire depth of the property, and will be two stories in height.

Plans for the structure are now being prepared by W. J. Saunders, who is also designing a two-story frame apartment-house to stand on the Vermont-avenue frontage, cornering at Fifty-ninth street. The larger building will contain several stores, a picture theater and a garage on the ground floor, with modern three and four-room flats above. It will have attractive street fronts and will suggest the Mission types in its design.

The apartment-house will contain ninety-six rooms, divided into four-room suits, and will have a lobby on each floor. It will have plastered exterior walls. The total investment in the two buildings will be about $120,000.

Mr. Braun is the owner of nearly forty acres of level land practically adjoining the Vermont-avenue frontage on the west and lying south of Slauson. This it is his intention to subdivide and improve for the market at once, his plans calling for the erection of forty or more bungalows in the near future. It is Mr. Braun's intention to create an up-to-date business center on Vermont avenue for this and other neighboring subdivisions.

OTHER LOCATIONS.

A building permit was issued during the past week for a twenty-room flat building to be erected by Mrs. Lizzie Hays at No. 1525 South St. Andrews place. The structure will have plastered exterior walls and will cost about $16,000. Miss Martha Canady took out a permit yesterday for a twenty-room flat she will build at No. 841 Catalina street. Work will be started this week on a twenty-room flat for C. B. Kingsley at No. 1500 Fifth avenue.

Plans were completed during the past week for a sixteen-room flat to be built by A. V. Perkinson at No. 2727 West First street. Contracts have been let for two sixteen-room flats projected by W. F. Tifal of Monrovia at Nos. 828 and 832 West Fortieth place. M. J. Daugherty has had plans drawn for a sixteen-room flat at No. 817 Denver avenue. Mrs. Ida E. Connor is planning to build a flat at the corner of Alvarado and Montana streets.

Work will be started at once on two sixteen-room flat buildings for J. K. Lloyd at Nos. 850 and 854 West Fortieth place, the contracts having been signed during the week. J. T. Bocock will start construction within the next few days on two flats at Nos. 836 and 842 West Fortieth place. G. V. Henckel has had plans drawn for a flat at No. 1430 South Vermont.

TO RAISE TIDELANDS.

Local Realty Concern to Utilize Silt From Channel Dredging to Build up Low Ground at Harbor.

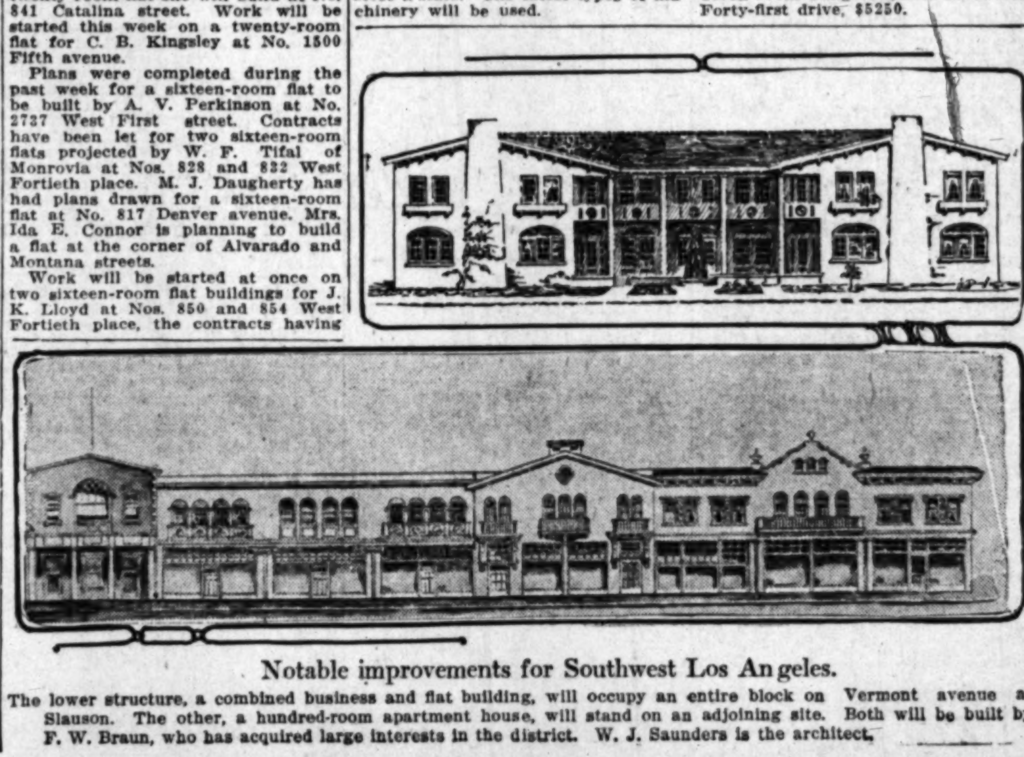
An important development in the harbor district is revealed in the plans of the F. P. Newport Company for the filling in of the low tidelands comprised within what is knìwn as the Pacific Terminal tract. The area to be raised lies north of the Consolidated Lumber Company's plant, fronting Seventh street.

The fill will be made with silt from channels to be dredged by the Consolidated Lumber Company at the site of its own yards. The contract for this work has already been let to the Standard American Dredging Company. It is estimated that nearly 400,000 cubic yards of silt will be deposited on the Pacific Terminal tract and on its neighbor the Dominguez Harbor tract, which is also to be filled in. The work will require from four to six months for completion.

The Newport Company has already subdivided the ground for the market and has made several sales of frontage. In celebration of the project just launched for filling in the Pacific Termnal tract for the company entertained its sales force and several invited guests on Thursday evening at Casa Verdugo.

PLAN PACKING HOUSE.

The Rialto Heights Association has purchased the property adjoining the Rialto Fruit Company holdings at Rialto and will begin in a few days the erection of a modern packing house to cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. The building will be 90 x 120 feet in size and of interlocking tile construction. The concrete basement will extend under the whole building and there store rooms will be provided for the reception of all fruit. All posts and pillars have been eliminated on the main floor by the use of steel trusses. The latest types of machinery will be used.



Notable improvements for Southwest Los Angeles.

The lower structure, a combined business and flat building, will occupy an entire block on Vermont avenue at Slauson. The other, a hundred-room apartment house, will stand on an adjoining site. Both will be built by F. W. Braun, who has acquired large interests in the district. W. J. Saunders is the architect.

LEASES REPORTED.

Brokers Announce Closing of Deals for Grand-avenue Apartments and West Fourth-street Hotel.

A deal has been completed through the agency of E. W. Cason & Co., associated hotel brokers, whereby Elizabeth Lebus Holman leases the Adams apartments at No. 832 South Grand avenue, to Mrs. Rose Huverstuhl, for a term of five years. The total rental consideration is given at $36,000. The building contains ninety rooms in two and three-room suites and is of brick construction.

Mrs. Huverstuhl was formerly owner of the Amherst apartments at Union and Eighth street, and managed the Stratford apartments at Sixth and Burlington for a number of years. She will install new furniture in the Adams and will otherwise improve the property before opening it to the public the last of this week.

The same brokers also report the leasing of a small hotel at No. 220 West Fourth street for W. E. Waldeck and R. Robert Russell to J. D. Snyder. The lease is for a term of five years and the consideration is given at $12,000.

TO NORTH END SITE.

South Los Angeles Concern Fitting Up Retail Store on Broadway and Wholesale House on Hill.

Plans have been prepared for the extensive remodeling of the storeroom at No. 233 South Broadway, in the Blanchard Building. The space, which extends back to Hill street, is to be occupied by the Emil Olcovich Company, dealers in shoes. Among other changes to the premises, a mezzanine floor will be put in.

The Olcovich company, which is now located at No. 755 South Los Angeles street, will utilize the Broadway frontage of its new location for retail purposes and the Hill-street end of its space for wholesaling. Work on the necessary alterations will be started at once.

NEW VERMONT SQUARE.

Sales are reported in New Vermont Square to the following: Capt. A. W. Murray from Gottlieb Dombrowski, eight-room bungalow, southwest corner Forty-third place and St. Andrews place, $5000; Southwest Land Company to Mrs. Fred Schobbell, vacant lot on West Fifty-third place between St. Andrews and Gramercy, $1200, through agency of Bryan & Bradford; Jennie E. Henderson to Earl B. Parks, vacant lot on Forty-third street, between Gramercy and Van Ness, $1000; E. P. Parks and M. J. King to Ernest E. Kirk, seven-room bungalow, No. 1932 West Forty-third street, $3650; Wilber Scholes to Joseph M. Finn, six-room bungalow, No. 1724 West Forty-third place, $4050, through agency of R. C. O'Haver; William Roos to J. L. Smith, seven-room bungalow, No. 1758 West Forty-first drive, $5250.

HOME BUILDERS ARE ACTIVE.

NEW RESIDENCES, LARGE AND SMALL, SPRINGING UP ALL OVER LOS ANGELES.

To the number of attractive residences already completed or started in Lafayette Square is soon to be added a ten-room brick house for O. J. Boos, who recently acquired a lot in the west side tract. The site is at No. 1739 Buckingham road, and has a large frontage. The dwelling will have plastered exterior walls on the second story and will suggest the English types. The roof will be of tile.

At the corner of Fifth and Lucerne streets work is to be started in the near future on a ten-room stucco residence for W. H. Comstock. Plans for the house were completed during the week by Lester H. Hibbard. The place will occupy large and sightly grounds, which are to be landscaped under the direction of the architect.

Plans for a twelve-room house of the Spanish type, to be erected by Robert Fuller at Franklin avenue and Camino Palermo, Hollywood, are now being drawn by A. S. Heineman. The dwelling will have plastered walls and clay tile roof.

Permits were issued by the city building department during the past week for a number of residences, notable among which were an eleven-room house for W. C. LEASE TRANSFERRED.

Control of Valuable Broadway Holding Between Second and Third Streets Passes into New Hands.

The lease on the Copp Building, on Broadway between Second and Third, has been sold by Charles H. McFarland to Elwood de Garmo and C. S. Fleming. Mr. McFarland took a 20-year lease on the building 14 years ago. The new lessees, consequently, will have control of the property for the next six years.

The consideration for the unexpired portion of the lease is stated to have been $45,000, which amount is applied by Mr. McFarland toward the purchase of 160 acres of highly improved land, all of which is in alfalfa, about five miles north of Corona. The acreage is valued in the transaction at $65,000.

Both parties to the deal were represented by F. E. Bennett, with W. B. Merwin & Company.

BUNGALOW COURT.

A bungalow court of six buildings is to be started at once by Mrs. Lillian M. Gilbert on Walton avenue, between Forty-first and Forty-second streets, plans for the improvement having been completed during the past week. Three of the bungalows will contain six rooms each and the other three three rooms each. The total investment will be about $15,000.

FOR SALE —
CHARMING HOME.
BEAUTIFUL GARDEN—LIVE OAK TREES.
SOUTHWEST CORNER—117x200 FEET.

If you are familiar with Oneonta Park, South Pasadena, you know how unusually attractive are many of the residences here. This property that is now offered for sale is beautifully located on a southwest corner. Surrounding residences are all very fine.

As you approach this home you are at once attracted by its lovely lawns, the beautiful oaks, of which there are four on this property, the very fine expensive palms and rare shrubs. When you wander through the grounds you will come upon three separate Japanese gardens, and at the side and rear of house you will find the yard brilliant with many beautiful flowers, as a large portion of these grounds are given over entirely to flower beds containing many flowering shrubs, bulb plants, roses, and a myriad of other varieties.

As the corner is elevated, a retaining wall runs entirely around two sides. This wall, built of clinker brick and cobble stone with a wide cap of blue brick, is in keeping with the architecture of the house. At first glance one can quickly see that this residence was built for a home; built with the idea of beauty, and comfort and pleasure, and when you go over the grounds and through the house you will appreciate how well these ideals have been fulfilled.

The house itself is a ten-room bungalow with cobblestone, clinker brick and frame construction. The cobblestone chimney, running from the ground up, with its climbing vines, the cobblestone foundation of the circular breakfast-room, and the way in which several of the rooms extend out from the house give this residence a more than usually attractive appearance, architecturally.

When you step inside the house you immediately appreciate the harmony of all the fittings and wall decorations. You appreciate the cheery airiness of each room because of the many windows that line all sides of the house. Beautifully marked oak is used in the living-room, den and dining-room; in the library is tobacco mahogany. This lovely long room is built in such a way that there are large windows on three sides and on the fourth side French windows lead into the garden.

In the living-room is a large Gruby tiled mantle. The dining-room is particularly inviting with its large, circle bay window, in fact you will find a similar bay window in almost every room in the house, including the bedrooms. The finish in the bedrooms is white enamel with wall paperings in delicate colors. Unusually large closets; full length mirrors in the doors. Bathrooms in white with tile floors, very handsome, expensive and heavy fixtures, pedestal lavatories, several mirrors; three baths in all. The windows of the four large bedrooms look out upon the beautiful gardens and lawns.

The breakfast-room forms almost a complete circle of solid windows; with its ivory finish and chintz decorations, and the morning sun beaming in it, is one of the most delightful rooms in the entire house. Because of the lighting arrangements, this house is also wonderfully beautiful at night. There are several indirect lighting fixtures, with imported Italian alabaster bowls. These give out a wonderful soft light, very attractive.

The heavily built pergola running from the rear of the house extends to the two-story garage. Here there is room for two machines and above are comfortable servants' quarters with bath, built-in closets, sinks and other conveniences. Bowser underground gasoline tank.

This description can merely give one a suggestion of what they may expect to find in this beautiful home. It is almost unnecessary to state that there are large cement porches; a cement basement, 16x18 feet with furnace and automatic water heater; that all the floors are hardwood; that there are many other conveniences and beauties that you could not find in a house merely built for sale. The owner of this home has spared no expense to make it all that a refined, comfortable, beautiful home should be. If it is such a home that you are looking for you will be interested in this magnificent property.

FALLING OFF IN FRENCH CROP AFFECTS MARKET.

Buying Tendency in Pit Becomes Apparent After Attention of Traders had been Called to Prospect of Increased Exports Being Needed Abroad.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Official announcement of a big falling off in the volume of the French crop gave considerable strength today to wheat prices here. The market closed 1⅛ to 1½ net higher with December at 96⅝@96¾ and May at 98. Corn finished ⅛ to 1c under last night, oats unchanged and provisions at an advance of 7½ to 15c. Buying impetus in the wheat pit became the most apparent after the attention of traders had been directed to the prospect of greatly increased imports being needed in France. Rains in Canada and a forecast of general showers over the entire domestic belt tended to lift the wheat market almost from the outset. Corn weakened enough to touch the lowest prices so far this season. The favorable weather acted as a stimulus for sellers but covering by shorts was at times on a liberal scale. Oats remained almost stationary. Commission houses absorbed the offerings. Higher prices in the hog market lifted provisions. There was no abatement in the export demand for cured meats.

The close was strong, 1⅛ to 1½ net higher, with December at 96⅝@96¾ and May at 98. In corn prices closed steady at ⅛ to 1c net decline.

COMMERCIAL.

Increased shipments of eastern cranberries are coming into Los Angeles daily, and although the supply is not expected to equal that of last year, the quality is exceptionally good. According to the government crop report the following figures are given for three main producing States: Massachusetts, about 261,000 barrels, being 55 per cent. of last year's bumper crop of 475,000 barrels; New Jersey, 139,000 barrels, a decrease of 7 per cent. from the 1914 crop of 149,000 barrels; Wisconsin, 39,000 barrels, an increase of 35 per cent over last year's crop of approximately 39,000 barrels. This gives a sum total of 439,000 barrels as against 653,000 barrels during the season of 1914. At the present writing Massachusetts is sending more cranberries to this market than any of the other Eastern States. The universal price of $10 a barrel is higher than last year's opening quotation of $8.25.

The local cantaloupe season is rapidly drawing to a close and if it had not been for the Huntington Beach melons the market would be practically bare of the fruit now. Small crates of tip-top melons are plentiful at 50 cents a crate and the large cabbage crates are selling for $1.25 to $1.50. Watermelons continue plentiful at unchanged quotations, and casabas are bringing $1.50 a crate. Jonathan apples are in just sufficient supply to keep both the wholesalers and the trade in a good humor. There was no particular feature to the vegetable market yesterday and prices remained the same as the day previous.

Saturday's session of the local Produce Exchange was very quiet and no sales were consummated. San Francisco dairy quotations were also unchanged. Receipts of butter and eggs totaled 47,950 pounds of the former and 183 cases of the latter. Domestic Swiss cheese was in some demand and northern was also in frequent call. Arrivals of cheese aggregated 2600 pounds. There is a large amount of Idaho potatoes coming into the city at present and represented the majority of yesterday's receipts of 4113 sacks. Other receipts were 550 sacks of onions, 5 sacks of beans, 1323 boxes of apples, 2 cars of tomatoes and 400 cases of eastern eggs.

WESTINGHOUSE AND STEEL SHOW GREAT GAINS.

Bethlehem Attains New High Point, While Motors Also Score Big Advance—Railroads Treated with Scant Consideration, Playing but a Minor Part in Proceedings.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Today's session of the stock exchange furnished a fitting close to one of the most active weeks in the history of that institution. At the outset there were signs that the movement in the specialties had run its course, temporarily at least, but before the end of the first hour trading was again in full swing. The second hour was even more active, the short session recording a turn over of about 750,000 shares. Of this amount Westinghouse contributed about 25 per cent. and United States Steel and American Car and Foundry 10 per cent. each. Westinghouse was the all absorbing feature for a time, adding a total of almost 7 points to yesterday's substantial gain at the maximum of 139½. American car got into this greatest stride shortly before the close, the inquiry for this stock sending the price up by leaps and bounds to 95, a new record and an overnight advance of 11 points. Steel was backward at first but came within a fraction of yesterday's top, its best price in four years, just before the end. Some of the recent favorites like Bethlehem Steel and General Motors were conspicuous for their new records, Bethlehem attaining to 375 and Motors to 350 on 10-point advances. Willys-Overland also achieved a new high point at 225½, such issues as American Woolen, United States Cast Iron Pipe, Pressed Steel Car, Industrial Alcohol and the Petroleum all figured to a substantial degree in the rising market. Railroads were again treated with scant consideration, playing little or no part in the day's doings, except to manifest heaviness at intervals. Canadian Pacific was pressed for sale but in the final dealings betterment in this group was registered. News of the day bore mainly upon the foreign loan with its large subscriptions and trade reports which indicated an increase of expansion and distribution, particularly at jobbing centers. The bond market was firm on moderate rate dealings. Total sales, part value, aggregated $2,320,000. United States bonds were exchanged on call during the week.

BIG INCREASE IN STOCK VALUE.

WESTINGHOUSE AND STEEL SHOW GREAT GAINS.

Bethlehem Attains New High Point, While Motors Also Score Big Advance—Railroads Treated with Scant Consideration, Playing but a Minor Part in Proceedings.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Today's session of the stock exchange furnished a fitting close to one of the most active weeks in the history of that institution. At the outset there were signs that the movement in the specialties had run its course, temporarily at least, but before the end of the first hour trading was again in full swing. The second hour was even more active, the short session recording a turn over of about 750,000 shares. Of this amount Westinghouse contributed about 25 per cent. and United States Steel and American Car and Foundry 8 per cent. each. Westinghouse was the all absorbing feature for a time, adding a total of almost 7 points to yesterday's substantial gain at the maximum of 139½. American car got into this greatest stride shortly before the close, the inquiry for this stock sending the price up by leaps and bounds to 95, a new record and an overnight advance of 11 points. Steel was backward at first but came within a fraction of yesterday's top, its best price in four years, just before the end. Some of the recent favorites like Bethlehem Steel and General Motors were conspicuous for their new records, Bethlehem attaining to 375 and Motors to 350 on 10-point advances. Willys-Overland also achieved a new high point at 225½, such issues as American Woolen, United States Cast Iron Pipe, Pressed Steel Car, Industrial Alcohol and the Petroleums all figured to a substantial degree in the rising market. Railroads were again treated with scant consideration, playing little or no part in the day's doings, except to manifest heaviness at intervals. Canadian Pacific was pressed for sale but in the final dealings betterment in this group was registered. News of the day bore mainly upon the foreign loan with its large subscriptions and trade reports which indicated an increase of expansion and distribution, particularly at jobbing centers. The bond market was firm on moderate rate dealings. Total sales, part value, aggregated $2,320,000. United States bonds were exchanged on call during the week.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Mining Issues Monopolize Trading. Home Telephone Securities Firmer. Olinda Announces Dividend.

The Oatman mining stocks were the chief traders on the local board yesterday, and the entire list was considerably stronger. Fessenden Gold, the latest newcomer, was the most active security, almost 30,000 shares changing hands on a constantly rising market. Big Jim and Arizona Tom Reed showed added strength but Tom Reed was neglected. Among the oil issues Union Provident was a heavy trader at 56.75, with the other producers inactive. Home Telephone preferred was much firmer and the common stock was in demand at the higher quotation of 21.00 and 21.50 a share. The Olinda Land Company (oil) declared a regular quarterly dividend yesterday of one-half of one per cent., payable to stockholders on October 20, books closing on the 16th instant.

The total amount of business transacted on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange for the month of September aggregated 463,697 shares with a value of $354,113.52. Mining stocks were most active with a record of 415,650 shares transferred but the oil list represented the most value of any separate classification with a grand total of $157,829.29 for 34,231 shares. As a whole last month's business was twice as heavy as during the month of August.

Has already produced over $1,000,000.00. It is now producing $60,000.00 a month. It is earning 40 per cent. on selling price of stock. Immense tonnage of high grade milling ore blocked out on three veins to 350 foot level and proven to over 500 feet. Gold values increasing with depth. Driving tunnel at rate of 10 feet per day to cut veins at 1200 foot level. Now within 300 feet of veins. Sensational development anticipated very shortly.

Notice to Stockholders of the Mexican Petroleum Company, Limited, of Delaware.

Los Angeles, California, September 15, 1915.

To Holders of Preferred and Common Stock of the Mexican Petroleum Company, Limited, of Delaware:

The undersigned, stockholders of the Mexican Petroleum Company, Limited, of Delaware, and other stockholders holding in the aggregate a majority of the outstanding capital stock, preferred and common, are of the opinion that it is for the best interest of all of the stockholders of the Company that the continuity of the present management of the Company be secured in order to carry on without risk of interruption the development of its properties and business along the lines now being followed. In view of the arrangements recently effected in England, which were outlined in the annual report, involving a great expansion of the Company's business, it is believed to be particularly desirable at this time that a continuous policy of management be secured, not only because the measures already adopted by the present management are expected to work great benefit to the Company and its stockholders, but because the management would feel better justified in inviting the co-operation of the English interests requiring large expenditures on their part, if the control of the Company is secured for the period during which the present policies are being developed.

It is, therefore, proposed to create a voting trust for a period of seven years, and the undersigned have consented to act as voting trustees provided the plan meets with the general approval and co-operation of the stockholders.

Preferred and common stockholders are invited to deposit their stock in negotiable form with the Guaranty Trust Company, New York City, which will issue its temporary transferable receipts therefor.

For convenience of stockholders deposit may be made at the Company's office, No. 1015 Security Building, Los Angeles, California.

Such deposit will constitute an assent to the creation of the voting trust and an authorization to the undersigned to deposit such stock under the voting trust agreement if and when executed. Deposits of stock will be accepted only until the close of business on October 15, 1915, unless the time for deposit be further extended for thirty days by the undersigned in their discretion. Upon the expiration of the time for deposit the undersigned will determine whether in their opinion stockholders sufficient in number and interest have deposited their stock to justify the creation of the proposed voting trust. According to the determination then made the Guaranty Trust Company in exchange for its temporary receipts will either, as agent for the voting trustees, issue to holders thereof voting trust certificates representing the deposited stock, or will return the stock without charge.

Copies of the proposed voting trust agreement may be obtained from the Guaranty Trust Company and at the Company's office in Los Angeles, California, upon request. Prompt application will be made to the New York Stock Exchange to list the temporary receipts.

[Signed:]
E. L. DOHENY, President of the Company.
J. M. DANZIGER, Vice-President.
HERBERT G. WYLIE, Vice-President and General Manager.

Fact and Comment.

in its various forms. There are charming effects in house architecture especially, to which wood particularly lends itself. The same, of course, may be said with respect to the various fireproof materials.

The objectionable thing about the present building laws is that those [illegible] brick or concrete instead of wood in the construction of houses and bungalows have been prevented from doing so—not through any justifiable consideration of practical expediency or safety, but because of what many competent architects and engineers unreservedly pronounce a "fool ordinance." Four-inch walls for bungalows of non-frame construction are not only strong enough and good enough in every way, but are cheap enough to encourage this highly desirable kind of building. Largely because Los Angeles has demanded walls more than twice as thick as are really necessary, this is a city with practically nothing but frame residences.

Will Benefit Industry.

The passage of the proposed amendments to the existing building laws will have a distinct bearing upon industrial conditions in Los Angeles and Southern California. This part of the State produces practically no timber for purely structural purposes, but it does produce an enormous quantity of cement, tile and brick. What is more, Southern California's brick, tile and cement are unsurpassed for building. The cement and clay deposits of the southland are of a quality that can be found in but few other parts of the world and they have scarcely been scratched. The widest use right at home of the products of these industries is something to be encouraged in every possible way.

Every man who erects a brick, cement or tile residence or other structure contributes that much to the upbuilding of strictly local industries whose importance cannot be overestimated. Already Southern California is in the forefront of those sections producing such building materials and is shipping heavily to other parts of the country. It is preposterous that the use of the same materials at home should be senselessly restricted.

Many builders of big downtown blocks and other larger structures have already come to a realization that it is unnecessary to pay tribute to Pittsburgh and have erected buildings entirely of Southern California concrete instead of with steel frames. Even those who cling to steel boost home industries by their use of local brick, tile and cement for wall facing and partitions. It is the height of folly that the hundreds who start homes every month in this city should be forced by a ridiculous ordinance to fatten the pocketbooks of the Oregon lumbermen, without even being given the opportunity to patronize home industries.

NEEDS MORE ROOM.

The California Planing Mill Company will meet its need for increased space and facilities by the erection of a one-story brick machine shop at No. 1915 South Los Angeles street. The building will cover a ground area of 55x132 feet and will be faced with white enameled brick. Plans are now being drawn.

NOVEL APARTMENTS.

One of the most novel apartment-houses in Pasadena will soon be ready for occupancy. It is on San Pasqual street, and is called the Court of the Oaks. The building contains six semi-detached bungalow apartments, so arranged as to get the maximum of exposure and ventilation. The apartments form an irregular line around the central court, giving the effect of an old Aztec village. It is being built for May Evelyn Hart.

PORT IMPROVEMENT.

One of a number of new harbor district improvements projected for immediate construction is a two-story brick store and apartment building to be erected by D. K. Altoon at Pedro. The structure will two stores on the ground floor four four-room apartments on the ond. Bids are now being taken it is expected that the contract be let this week.

Tigers Keep Striving, and Make Close Finish.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

In a game that was as stubborn and mulish as a stump-pulling contest, the Angels won, 5 to 4, and gained an even footing with their opponents on the crucial series. That the Angels would ever ketch up with the Tigers this week was not regarded as human, for Doc's men had won three straight before the Angels started their real offensive.

LONG BATTLE.

Two hours and ten minutes of mighty valuable time were consumed in deciding the issue. While the road was long and rocky, Johnny Williams stuck it out to the finish and won under a heavy handicap. Although charged with no errors on hands or feet, Johnny's support balled things up so greatly in two or three places that it seemed certain that he would be beaten.

Johnny was out to win at all costs, having purchased residence property here with a view to remaining. The idea of selling out and going elsewhere does not appeal to him, as he believes that Los Angeles has a future. Therefore, he will earnestly strive to win.

NICE LEAD.

Bill Piercy, who is going back East to show New York a few things next spring, was spotted to a one-run lead in the second. He maintained this for five innings by allowing only three hits, and catching a number of guys off first base. His work in this respect was much better than on his last appearance, and he watched runners with the keen vision of an eagle for a chicken. Nothing escaped his left. Peering out of the corner of his eye, he kept close track of all runners on first base. Gen. Custer may have had a chance, but not the runners.

Well, as stated, Bill got along all right until the sixth, when things took a sudden turn for the worse, the Angels climbing his frame for four runs. Bill was amputated from the happy scene after filling up the bases in the seventh.

QUAKERS TRAMP ON INDIANS.

ROLL UP ONE-SIDED SCORE ON LIGHT BRAVES.

Sherman Eleven is Too Small for Smashing Whittier 'Varsity—The Tackling of Weir's Boys and Plays Good—Victory Merely Question of Weight.

Although the Sherman Indians are a bunch of wonders, they were severely tramped on yesterday. The Whittier varsity did the tramping. The final count was 42 to 0, which is not nearly as bad as it might have been. The whole story is one of weight. The Indians were very small-sized fighters and the Whittier squad was a large-sized bunch of the same.

The Quaker aggregation started off with a rush and Finch plunged, in two long runs, to the 1-yard line. Bogue bucked over and kicked goal. All this occupied a very short period of space and it looked like a slaughter with Whittier on top.

The ball was then kicked off to the Indians, who were unable to gain ground. They were forced to punt and the ball went out of bounds near their own goal post. Whittier duplicated the performance and was unable to make a yard. There was an exchange of kicks and the Quakers began to do things. Finch was given the ball and managed to rush it over the line on the fourth down. Bogue kicked and hit the post, but failed to score.

WAKE UP.

At this point in the proceedings the Indians began to wake up and to gain ground. A nice forward pass was pulled, but the ball was finally lost on downs. A punt of fifty-five yards was made to Bogue, who was downed in his tracks. Whittier returned the punt and had intercepted a forward pass when the whistle blew for the quarter.

Wooloomes started the second quarter with a twenty-yard run which brought the grand stand to its feet. Finch then lost one yard and Chalmers gained it back on the third down. Finch and Chalmers both gained five yards, thereby proving that their hearts were in the right place. Finch crept over to the sideline and pulled one of the good old shoestring plays for a touchdown. Bogue kicked goal.

The Indians received a long kick from Bogue, but lost the ball when a long forward pass failed to materialize. Finch immediately fumbled, however, and the Indians recovered the ball in the center of the field. They completed a wonderful forward pass, but threw the pill away on a fumble. Whittier then tried some passes and failed on three in succession. Bogue booted the ball, in one of his remarkable kicks, to the end of the field. The kick was immediately returned and Chambers tore through for a blood-curdling forty-yard run. At this point Finch hurt his back and was taken out.

The ball was on the 5-yard line and Chambers bucked over. Bogue failed to kick.

Bogue booted to the Indians and the whistle blew for the half.

The score was 26 to 0, but the first half was far from one-sided. The Indians put up a remarkable game. They tackled hard, they ran pretty fair interference, they had some good plays, but they were too small. They were outweighed fifteen pounds to the man.

They rushed to the training quarters with lots more signs of life than the Quaker bunch.

SECOND HALF.

The second half was very much like the first except that three goals were made instead of four. Sherman gathered in one of Bogue's long kicks and started up the field. They made small gains and soon lost the ball on downs. In the next mix-up Bogue was badly hurt, but refused to go out. Whittier was unable to get over the ground and there was an exchange of punts. This exchange netted about thirty yards for the Quakers and they started in to buck down the field. They not only started in, they continued to do so and soon ran the ball over the line for the fifth goal. The kick was a good one, but it failed to pass between the goal posts.

During this half several subs were used by the Quakers, and they showed considerable class.

The varsity came back for the last quarter in full force. They seemed to be feeling pretty good and completed a couple of neat forward passes, which took the ball to the

TROJANS WIN FROM CLUBMEN.

L.A.A.C. Makes a Terrific Uphill Fight.

Trojans do All Scoring in Twenty Minutes.

Neighbors Kicks Field Goal of Thirty Yards.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

The U.S.C. varsity defeated the L.A.A.C. eleven yesterday on Bovard Field by the score of 21 to 9. It was the first appearance of the Trojans this season and the clubmen gave them a hot reception and a genuine surprise.

The story of the game is the terrific uphill fight of the L.A.A.C. eleven. After being hopelessly outclassed for the first twenty minutes and having three touchdowns hurried across its goal line, like John Paul Jones it began to fight.

It was one of those stubborn attacks that battered down the opposition until the attack itself collapsed from sheer exhaustion. It began when Sid Neighbors sent a beautiful place kick spinning between the Trojan goal posts. It ended when, in the second half, the clubmen carried the ball to U.S.C.'s two-yard line and had not the strength left to buck it over. It collapsed utterly when Neighbors stood watching the ball that had been placed for a kick while Elmore broke through the L.A.A.C. line and gave it a boot.

Until Sid Neighbors kicked that field goal, the clubmen were outplayed. In twenty minutes the Trojans rolled up twenty-one points, going like the Michigan point-a-minute team. They were sweeping in long end runs around the clubmen, chopping their way along on close-in end runs and getting away with forward passes. The clubmen, when they did get the ball, either failed to make their downs or fumbled.

Inside of the first five minutes Livernash dove across the L.A.A.C. line. Kelly, on a couple of wide end runs, had carried the ball to the L.A.A.C. 10-yard line. Then the clubmen braced and held the Trojans for downs, but on that fourth setback some clubman was off side, so the L.A.A.C. was penalized five yards. It was only a matter of diving for Livernash to score. He kicked the goal. The score was 7 to 0.

Then Craig kicked to the L.A.A.C. and Neighbors booted back. Woerner pulled a heave down out of the air and put the ball on the club's 40-yard line. Then Mosely slipped down the sideline, caught a forward pass and shot behind the goal posts. It

Now Let Us Talk
About Anthony Service
On Reo Cars

First, it is an accepted fact that Reo cars require less upkeep expense than any other motor car.

Careful records kept all over the United States show that repair expense on Reo cars has been reduced to an unbelievable minimum.

Therefore, in building up our marvelous, State-wide service organization, we found it necessary, first, to select a car that would give exceptional satisfaction to our customers at a reasonable cost to ourselves.

So we selected Reo the Reliable—Reo the Dependable.

Then we found that we could extend our copyrighted Service Coupon plan (which had heretofore only applied to retail sales made by us,) to cover every Reo car sold in the State of California, whether purchased from one of our branches at retail or through a Reo dealer in the smallest mountain hamlet.

Thus we guaranteed the same quality of Anthony service to the Reo purchaser, regardless of where he might live, or where he might go in the State with his car.

And we put the Coupon Books in the purchasers' hands, to save argument.

Six months ago we originated this monthly coupon scheme.

It has swept the country like wildfire. It is the first real, satisfactory answer to the old service question—about which there is so much talk and so little performance. The public is demanding the Anthony service coupon system. The factories are being forced to take it up.

Already two factories, the Chalmers Motor Company and the Hupp Motor Car Company, have adopted our system for national use.

But a service coupon system is valuable only in proportion to the stations at which the coupons may be redeemed.

Our chain of over 100 service stations covers the State of California. Not two agencies, but over 100 stations ready to give you service.

And remember that this monthly Coupon System, in connection with a great series of service stations, was originated by Earle C. Anthony, Inc.

Remember, when you buy your Reo, you get our Coupon System and access to the most perfect service organization in the United States.

SUCCESSOR TO OLLIER HERE.

R. T. Hodgkins of Studebaker in Town.

Has had Notable Career in Business.

Now Sales Manager for Big Corporation.

R. T. Hodgkins, newly-elected sales manager of the Studebaker Corporation, is in Los Angeles.

Mr. Hodgkins's career has been identified with both military and commercial activities, the former possibly having had effect in developing a genius for exercising leadership over men, which has steadily advanced him, finally to this highly responsible and important post. He served ten years with the New York naval militia, for five years of that period being ordnance officer of the commander's staff.

Receiving his degree in mechanical engineering at Iowa State College in 1893, he followed this with two years at practical training by shop work, first in employ of Allis-Chalmers Company, at Milwaukee, afterward going to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad. Later he was with the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, at Boone, Iowa, quitting the railway business to become manager of the Air Motor Company's branch at Lincoln, Neb.

This was followed by his becoming identified respectively with Sears-Roebuck Company, Chicago, as department manager, and the Yale and Towne Manufacturing Company of New York City as sales manager of the hoisting machinery department. Mr. Hodgkins served a term as chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Supply and Machinery Manufacturers' Association.

His connection with the Studebaker Corporation began first as branch manager of the vehicle division in New York city, this including supervision of all export business of the department. The value of the service rendered here was the cause of Mr. Hodgkins being transferred to the automobile division headquarters at Detroit and his being made the assistant sales manager.

Having a thorough and practical knowledge of mechanical engineering, combined with an enviable faculty for meeting men in both a business and social way, along with keen perceptive abilities, has proven of incalculable service to Mr. Hodgkins in so successfully shaping his business career.

Interesting.

MR. MOTORIST, HERE IS THE LATEST ROAD DOPE.

Topanga Canyon Road will be Thrown Open to Motorists Again Today—Big Force of Men Busy on Tejon Ridge Route Between Here and Bakersfield—Other Valuable Road Information.

WITH the announcement from the touring information bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California that Topanga Canyon will be opened to the motoring public today comes also a meaty statement of changes which will soon take place on various highways throughout the southern part of the State.

Work was finished late yesterday on the coast entrance to the Topanga, opening the Malibu road from Santa Monica to the mouth of the canyon to motor travel. For several weeks the big steam shovel has been operating along the edge of the ocean, and automobiles have had to enter and leave the canyon at the same entrance, above Owensmouth.

Were received at the auto club from the constructors of the State highway between Los Angeles and San Diego states definitely that the work is being rushed on that section of the route lying between Serra station, just below San Juan Capistrano, and San Onofre on the San Diego county line.

Motorists may look forward to using this new road by the middle or the latter part of November. This has proved the most difficult part of the construction work, due to the fact that the big banks on the eastern side of the railroad have had to be cut away.

The road here would be opened earlier were it not for the fact that a concrete bridge must be constructed and allowed to set for approximately six weeks. In the meantime, the laying of the concrete on the highway proper will be rushed. Travel will not be allowed on any part of this section, according to auto club officials, until the entire surface has set. There are only five miles of detour, however.

San Diego is maintaining a splendid dirt road at present from the top of the Torrey Pines grade into the city by the simple expedient of scraping and watering the distance often enough to keep it in shape. Exposition motorists will note the flowers and trees which have been planted at the side of this route, running practically into La Jolla.

A platoon of five motor trucks, according to the auto club's engineer, Frank M. Jordan, is rushing work on the ridge route in the Tejon Pass, which will cut off the distance from Los Angeles to Bakersfield by about forty miles.

Motorists will be turned loose over this scenic highway by November 1, according to the report issued to the touring bureau. This roadway was to have been completed by the first of October, but due to the unusual difficulty in getting water, the work was continued until the time announced for the opening in November.

A significant announcement is also made in connection with the construction work on the Basset bridge near El Monte. It is announced that the Valley boulevard will positively be kept open during this work. There should be no confusion in the minds of automobilists in this regard, as it is clearly stated in the contract that a by-pass must be kept open and in good condition during all kinds of weather.

Providing this is not carried out, Superintendent of Maintenance of County Highways William Davidson has stated to the auto club that the county will take the matter in hand and see that a suitable by-pass is provided. This bridge will be open for traffic before the flood season, for work is progressing rapidly.

On the inland route to San Diego motorists will find that they must detour between Murrieta and Temecula. The club has erected sign posts over this temporary route.

AUTO SHOWS HELP TRADE.

"The coming automobile and flower show to be held in the old Boston store building will prove a stimulant not only to the automobile business, but all lines as well."

The above statement was made yesterday by W. E. Bush president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and agent for Pierce-Arrow motor cars.

"In such a show the buyer has the opportunity of making a close inspection of all cars on the market. Of course, there are men and women who have used a certain type of car and mean to buy another of that model without further investigation. I suppose the Pierce has more than its share of this type, as our price has varied little if any for years, and the same lines of construction have followed.

"But during the past few years thousands of buyers have graduated from the small car to the larger one, and the graduates from the medium-priced car are now ready to step into the quality class."

He Tells Us.

WAR BUSINESS BOOM IS JUST REACHING COAST.

THAT the stimulating effects of war expenditures in this country have already passed from the eastern zone well into the rural districts of the Middle West and are soon to be felt by Pacific Coast business is the keynote of what Lee Anderson, sales manager of the Hupp Motor Car Company, has concluded after ninety days of traveling in nearly every section of the country.

"The first thing," remarked Mr. Anderson, who arrived with his wife and little daughter Friday morning, "is that it is just nine years since my last visit to the Pacific Coast.

"The one grasping subject of the day," he continued, "and increasingly so in the East every day—is the war. To us as to other large manufacturers it is not so much the war itself as the relation that it bears to our particular business.

"The Hupp Motor Car Company by most fortunate preparation and foresight, I believe, is today one of the best-equipped plants in the country. The shortage of high-grade steel, copper, brass and aluminum has been a serious handicap to the motor industry. But we saw it coming and met the situation accordingly many months ago.

"The public today is buying motor cars nearer the actual cost of production than at any time in previous years. The war, of course, has done this, because it has forced the cost of raw materials far in advance of the early prices announced on the new cars.

"Even had there been no shortage of material the demand for Hupmobiles the country over would have far exceeded our normal production. We have had dealers from many sections of the country come personally to the factory with cash in their pockets, asking for extra cars.

"Since June 1 alone we have never had less than 2000 orders on our books at a time."

In speaking of the foreign business of the Detroit factory the Hupp sales manager said that Japan, China, India and the British colonies alone would gladly take 25 per cent. of this year's production. While England proper and Norway and Sweden have even had personal representatives at headquarters urging larger shipments.

ANNOUNCING THE NEW IDEAL TRACTOR

Made by the
UNION TOOL CO.

After three years of experimenting the Union Tool Company announces its Ideal Tractor ready for the market. This company has not hurried a cheaply-constructed machine onto the market to meet the demand. For three years experimenting of the most extensive character has been carried on.

"Build the best tractor possible, one most suited to the western country," was the order to our engineers.

F-O-B
Torrance, Cal.

The money expended in this preliminary work has been tremendous, but the result has justified all that has been done.

The quality of goods manufactured by this two and a half million dollar company is well known. This new tractor is worthy of the Union Tool Company label. It is the last word in the practical farm and orchard tractor. Full details upon application.

Dealers are to be Established in Every Locality
THIS IS AGENTS' WEEK

Responsible parties are invited to come in and see what we have and learn what we intend to do. It is needless for us to tell the man in the country what the opportunities are in this field—they know the market today is larger than in the automobile field. Every rancher and orchardist must have a tractor.

The men who secure good agencies today will be the big men in the tractor business.

If you cannot come in at once write or wire but it is much better that you come without delay.

Tractor Salesmanager Robert Stanton will be at the Los Angeles up-town salesroom to meet dealers.

Touring Car Models
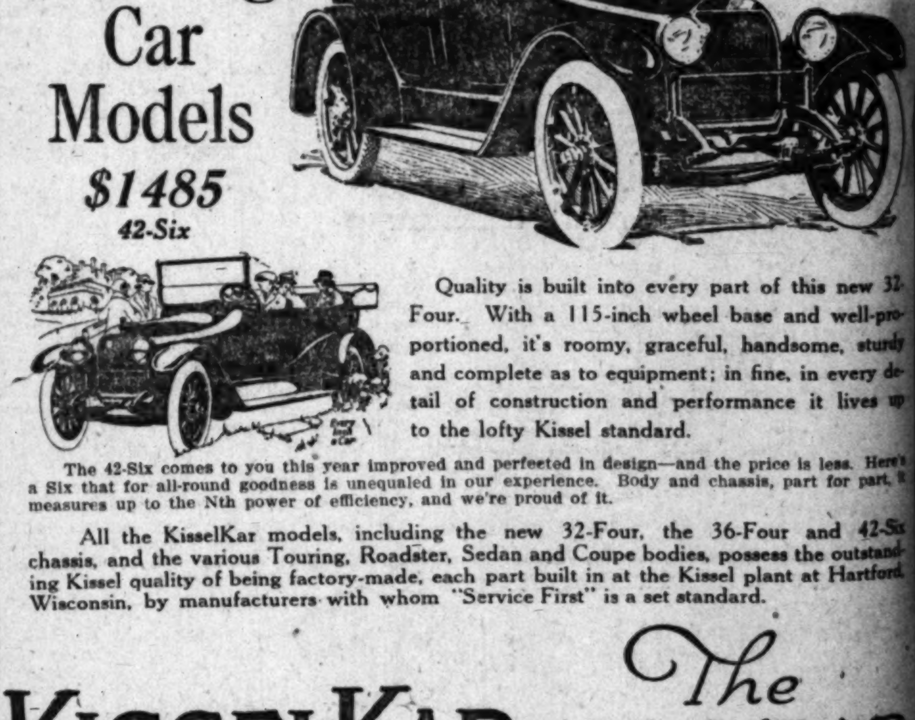
$1485 42-Six



Quality is built into every part of this new 32-Four. With a 115-inch wheel base and well-proportioned, it's roomy, graceful, handsome, sturdy and complete as to equipment; in fine, in every detail of construction and performance it lives up to the lofty Kissel standard.

The 42-Six comes to you this year improved and perfected in design—and the price is less. Here's a Six that for all-round goodness is unequaled in our experience. Body and chassis, part for part, it measures up to the Nth power of efficiency, and we're proud of it.

All the KisselKar models, including the new 32-Four, the 36-Four and 42-Six chassis, and the various Touring, Roadster, Sedan and Coupe bodies, possess the outstanding Kissel quality of being factory-made, each part built in at the Kissel plant at Hartford, Wisconsin, by manufacturers with whom "Service First" is a set standard.

KISSELKAR The ALL-YEAR Car

The ALL-YEAR Car, of course, continues to be the big and exclusive Kissel feature. Its Detachable Top arrangement gives you a closed car when it's chilly or dusty, an open car when it's warm and pleasant, readily interchangeable by two inexpert men in less than half an hour.

With the 32-Four the All-Year model is the Roadster Coupe at $1450, and with the 42-Six, the Roadster Coupe at $1950, the 5-Passenger Sedan at $2000, and the 7-Passenger Sedan at $2100.

The complete line of KisselKars, ranging from the 32-Four, 5-Passenger Touring at $1050 to 42-Six, 7-Passenger Sedan at $2100, is now ready for inspection. Also the Kissel Trucks, from the 1000-lb. capacity model at $950 to the 6-ton capacity at $4350.

KEEPS TOURING ALL THE TIME.

Entire Summer not Enough for Him.

Now He is Touring in the South.

Six Thousand Miles up to this Time.

An entire summer in his motor car was not enough for H. F. Burto, and he is again under way after a [illegible]-mile transcontinental trip in his Marmon Forty-one. This time he will tour through the southern States, and expects to travel more than 8000 miles before returning to his Chicago home, late in the fall.

Mr. Burto's first trip was a transcontinental drive from Chicago to San Francisco and other Pacific Coast points, during which time he visited both the San Francisco and San Diego expositions.

Mr. Burto left Chicago in his Marmon touring car in May. With him were his wife and family. He followed the Lincoln highway to San Francisco, toured to the Pacific Northwest, then down the coast to Los Angeles and San Diego.

From Chicago to Denver the roads were endless stretches of mud, for the rains were at their height, but in spite of this fact the Marmon party often covered 250 miles in a day. From Denver west, better roads were encountered and the traveling was rapid. One day of driving on the desert netted 300 miles and the Marmon reached its stopping place before sundown.

Mr. Burto was highly pleased with the work of his car, which carried them the entire way without a mechanical mishap. No money was spent for repairs from the time the party left Chicago until they returned.

NEW ZEALAND AFTER CARS.

AMERICAN PRODUCTS ARE IN HIGH FAVOR.

Fifty Light Six Glides Have been Ordered for the Antipodes After a Hard Two Months' Test Given the Sample Car—Same Model Car will be Seen Here Soon.

C. S. Anthony has recently received advice from the Glide factory that orders for fifty of the new light six Glides have been received from New Zealand.

The order was placed after a deliberate investigation of the car's construction and durability.

One of the features most liked by the purchaser was the use of Westinghouse electric equipment, which is used throughout on the new six. A sample car was tested over the roughest roads to be found, for some two months before the order was placed. This certainly speaks well for the new six.

The first shipment of these cars for Mr. Anthony was scheduled to arrive last Monday, but owing to railroad delays, he will not be able to have them in the showroom before Tuesday, when demonstrations can be had for the asking.

Mr. Anthony has increased his sales force and two demonstrating cars will be on hand at all times, with expert drivers in charge. Roscoe Anthony, son of "Confederate States Anthony," will have charge of the wholesale department.

NORTHERN ROADS GOOD.

Road conditions in the Pacific Northwest are much better this year than ever before, according to John G. Vanderlip of Kokomo, Ind., who has completed his second long tour in four years of the west. Driving his Marmon "41," he covered 5400 miles over mountain highways through Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California, and visited practically every point of interest on the coast.

Something New.

TORRANCE CONCERN TO PUT OUT FARM TRACTOR.

THE boom in farm tractors has been coming for the past year. It has finally arrived and is now in full blast. Every rancher who has not already purchased a tractor is looking over the field with the idea of putting a tractor at work doing the plow, harvesting, cultivating and doing the many other things a team will do about a ranch.

The Union Tool Company with an immense plant at Torrance, Cal., has been experimenting on a tractor for several years and has finally announced what it has named the Ideal Tractor.

The company recognized three years ago the tremendous possibilities of the tractor and put its engineers at work designing and building a tractor best adapted to the western country. For such use the horse has about seen his day. One tractor will do the work of four horses and do it better and cheaper.

"For instance," said Tractor Salesmanager Robert Stanton, "this tractor will pull gang plows, harrows, discs, seeders, cultivators, manure spreaders, wagons, drags, road graders and will operate a feed grinder, ensilage cutter, circular saw, water pump, hay baler or any other belt driven machine on the farm.

"Another thing about a tractor—it must be strong and simple. All working parts must be easily accessible and it must be such a tractor that an experienced man is not necessary to adjust or operate it. The bearings and working parts must be well protected from dust and dirt.

"One feature of the new Ideal tractor is that it guides itself while plowing. The front wheel runs in the furrow, and as this wheel has a flange on the rim it hugs the furrow wall with practically no attention of the operator who can devote his entire time to the plows until the end of the furrow is reached."

The Ideal is 11 ft., 6 ins. long. The length over all including seat is 13 ft., 1 in. Width over all including front wheel, 6 ft., 7 ins. Heighth to top of dash 3 ft., 11 ins.

The motor is of the two-cylinder heavy duty type and is manufactured by the Union Tool Company. The weight is 4000 pounds complete. The Ideal is built throughout for exceptional strength with special attention to the simplicity feature.

This has been set aside as agency week and Salesmanager Stanton will receive at the local branch. Demonstrations and visits to the factory will keep Stanton busy with the many visitors.

But not Knockers.

HAMLIN PLEASED TO GET LETTERS FROM BOOSTERS.

AUTOMOBILE dealers do not linger over the footlights and smile as they impatiently await delayed applause, but they appreciate what the satisfied user has to say of his car nevertheless, according to Ralph C. Hamlin, the Franklin distributor.

"Any man in this business very long gets accustomed to knocks and complaints so when some user feels kindly toward you for having sold him a car that he writes you a letter telling you you have the right to put your feet on the desk, smile and feel that you want to frame that letter,"

Mr. Hamlin then explained that Mr. [illegible] Currie, of Andrew Wier & Co., the English shipping concern, whose associates are largely interested in California and Mexican oil, has had to make a prolonged stay in California and last March purchased a Franklin touring car.

Mr. Currie has been so pleased by the performances of his car, that he wrote Mr. Hamlin a letter in which he recounted his experience as a Franklin owner. The car still is running on the original set of tires, although they have gone almost 11,000 miles, he wrote.

The car has been driven into the mountains and away from the paved highways a number of times, so that the tires were subjected to more than boulevard service, Mr. Currie wrote. He ascribes their longevity to the perfect balance of the car.

But it was not only the ease of the Franklin on tires that has won Mr. Currie's favor. He is as well pleased with the mechanical features. "As for the engine," he writes, "I cannot speak too highly of its efficiency. It has never given me a moment's trouble or anxiety, and the ease with which it is driven and handled is remarkable. My daughter, who had never driven a car before now drives the Franklin with the confidence that makes for complete enjoyment."

A Useful Thing.

BREAKER STRIP SAVES BAD INJURIES TO TIRE.

"MANY motorists ask me about the breaker strip in our tires," says Eddie Lingenfelter, branch manager the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

"This is put in the tire to take the blows before they can reach the original part of the tire. It is not designed to add to the strength or efficiency of the casing, but it simply is another belt running around the tire to protect it from injury. The breaker of the tire is made of close-woven fabric placed at an angle of [illegible]. The tread rubber is made soft and tough, and exerts a drag on the fabric, tending to pull it loose. By having the breaker strip with the threads running around the circumference of the casing this drag on the tread which pulls it away from the fabric is resisted.

"When sharp stones or glass cut the tread rubber, in many cases the cut is stopped at the breaker strip, preventing the water and dirt from working down to the main fabric. This helps to prevent water- and sand blistering.

"The breaker strip is the nearest thing to the road, receiving all the wear, dirt and sand, it must be made, so far as possible, to resist the damage caued by them. To combat this we use a fabric of closely twisted yarn, tightly woven to make it waterproof, with rubber rivets extending through it at intervals.

"The importance of this feature to combat tread separation and at the same time protect the main fabric from injury, can hardly be overestimated. It has played an important part in the successful advance of Goodyear tires."

FOUR CARLOADS OF OIL COMING.

Mr. C. C. Carter, manager of the A.B.C. Oil Company, this week received word that four carloads of their auto oil had been shipped from the Pennsylvania oil fields and he expects these tank cars to arrive some time this next week.

Orders for four more carloads have also gone in with instructions to ship at once, which will practically mean that this one company will have eight carlods of auto oil on the way here, which is a pretty good indication that the auto oil business is in pretty good shape and the business of the A.B.C. company, in particular, must be exceedingly rushing.

LONG TRIP IN LIGHT MACHINE.

CROSSES THE CONTINENT IN A NEW CAR.

Tarrytown Man Brings a Heavy Load to the Coast and Pulls a Motor Truck Out of a Hole on the Way—Is Very Enthusiastic Over His New Machine.

Bringing news of tremendous business activity at all of the Chevrolet factories and also of some exciting experiences along the way, Mr. Richard Harbinger of Tarrytown, N. Y., arrived in town this last week after making the trip in his Chevrolet Baby Grand touring car, and carrying three passengers, coming over the National Old Trails route, which, he says, is in fairly good shape, with occasional stretches, of course, of very bad conditions.

The car in which this trip was made was a brand new one, which was just out of the factory at Tarrytown, and had been run only about 200 miles when the start was made for California, and many of his friends urged him to test the car out more before making such a journey. Mr. Harbinger never once had any trouble.

"In one instance we overtook a loaded truck which was stuck, and I decided I would try and at least help out, and after hooking up with a cable from their load, I was myself surprised to see this big truck respond to the power of my car, but it did, and I towed them for about seven miles to the nearest house where he could make repairs; in another case both of our rear wheels sank to the axle in some quicksand, and only quick response from our motor saved us from being hopelessly stuck, and ofttentime we found ourselves going up high grades on the high where many other cars were having difficulty in making it in low."

Ten thousand volunteer workers recently engaged in the construction of an interstate highway between Paducah, Ky., and Memphis, Tenn., with the result that after the first day's work most of the important details over the 150 miles were completed. Congressmen, judges, city and county officials all along the highway were among the most active workers.

HARRY HARTZ GETS FAMOUS.

OIL COMPANY ELECTS HIM TO ITS SELECT GROUP OF HEROES.

Harry Hartz, master junior driver of the world, and erstwhile daredevil motorcycle rider, has just received a communication from the White & Bagley Company, manufacturers of Oilzum oil, that they have accorded him a place in their "hall of fame."

The White & Bagley Company has for some time past been turning out souvenir postcards of noted men, automobile drivers, motorcycle riders and others of note who have used Oilzum oil. This is what is called the "hall of fame."

Together with Dario Resta, Louis Chevrolet, Barney Oldfield, Eddie O'Donnell, Paul Derkum and Eddie Pullen, young Hartz's name will be linked, as the company has just turned out a hnudred thousand of these souvenir cards, which will be distributed all over the United States.

Manager Connie Mack of the ex-champion Athletic baseball team of the American League has sixteen pitchers signed. He expects to construct another pennant winner.

Tough Stuff.

RUNS DOWN FROM NORTH WITH TIRES ON FABRIC.

"I HAVE a record that I think you will have to go a long ways to exceed," said J. Wallace of San Francisco to Manager Frank Carroll of the B. F. Goodrich Company.

"I have a 1914 Overland equipped with Goodrich tires all around. I have used them for a number of years and know that they are there when it comes to delivering mileage, but I never knew they were quite as good as this last trip of mine from San Francisco to Los Angeles proved them.

"I had four tires on my wheels which had given various mileages, the newest one having run 3800 miles. Two of the tires which had run considerably more than this were worn down so that the fabric showed through when I determined to come to Los Angeles.

"I looked over my tire equipment and at first intended to take off these two tires, which had the tread worn through, but finally decided to leave them on until they blew, equipping my car with sufficient extra tires to take care of any emergencies of this sort. I did not expect to get more fifty miles out of them because they were running on the fabric.

"You can imagine my surprise when I say that these tires held out all the way from San Francisco to Los Angeles without so much as a puncture. These two tires proved conclusively to me that the Goodrich fabric is on a par with the tough rubber tread."

The well-known Chinese University of Hawaii baseball team, which has been touring the United States since last March, playing many of the best college and club nines, will go to Cuba on September 26, where a series of games will be played with teams there. Including September 22, the oriental players took part in 142 games in this country, winning ninety-seven, losing forty-three and tying two.

RESIDENTS OR LOS ANGELES FIND NOTHING UNUSUAL ON LONG TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Henchy of the Rampart apartments have just returned to Los Angeles after twice crossing the continent in their Buick six. The car has barely a scratch to show as a memento of its travels from Los Angeles to New York City and return.

The chief thing about the entire trip was that nothing eventful happened. The Buick six performed as though a round trip from Los Angeles to New York City and return was nothing unusual. The motoring public is fast learning that the touring radius of the modern motor car is restricted only by their own desires, and a transcontinental trip offers no more difficulties to the experienced driver than will be encountered on many a trip within 100 miles of Los Angeles.

The route followed by the Henchys was over the Santa Fe trail from Los Angeles to Kansas City and from Kansas City to St. Louis, through Indiana to Zanesville, O., and then through Cleveland, Buffalo, Albany and to New York City. The return trip was made via Atlantic City, Pittsburgh, Toledo, O., to Chicago. Frim Chicago the Lincoln Highway was followed to Colorado Springs, and from Colorado Springs the Santa Fe Trail was followed to Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Henchy came to Los Angeles last fall from New York. They had expected to tarry but a month, but their stay has been lengthened into a year, and promises to be permanent.

Frank Howard of the local branch of the Howard Auto Company says that he attributes much of the delight of the Henchys in Southern California to the Buick car, and says also that the ideal combination is Southern California and a Buick.

The receipts of the automobile division of the Pennsylvania State Highway Department for the first six months in 1915 show that $1,483,201 had been received. These receipts are the more remarkable when it is considered that on the first of July, 1912, the total receipts of the automobile division were $519,000.

He Should Know How.

CHICAGO SPEEDWAY BOSS LANDS LOCAL CONTRAC

LOS ANGELES' prospects for a speedway assumed a roseate hue with the announcement today by the Los Angeles Speedway Association that it has closed a contract with George H. Shank, the celebrated Chicago contructing engineer, to build a duplicate of the Chicago speedway near this city. The site on which the vast plant is to be established is a tract of 300 acres, located about four miles east of the business district of the city.

With the running of the Astor cup race on the Sheepshead Bay speedway at New York yesterday, the racing season in the East practically closed. There will be nothing for drivers and cars to do until next May, and the announcement of a Los Angeles speedway is regarded as a step toward filling the gap.

Apparently, there will be no road races of any consequence in Southern California, regarded as the home of winter racing in the United States, and unless a speedway furnishes the attraction there is no probability that the cars that have established so many new records this year will be seen on the Pacific Coast.

The Shank speedway is said by drivers to be the most successful in the country. All records from 50 to 500 miles were broken. The remarkable lack of vibration was commented upon by the drivers, who also sa the track is faster than any ca built are capable of going.

Actual construction work speedway is to begin within weeks, according to present p the association. Mr. Shank wil for Chicago in a few days. assemble his engineers and them to the Coast at once. C tion apparatus, such that had built especially for the work Chicago track, will be shipped out delay, he says. G. P. R a surveyor, has had a force at work surveying the tract f eral days and they will have grade lines and levels establi fore Mr. Shank's men arrive.

Local labor and supplies used in the construction of the way wherever possible, Mr. says. To have the track r February 22, the tentative d for the first race, which known as the "Southern C Classic," will require the em of approximately 1200 men.

Mr. Shank has estimated proximately 12,000,000 feet of will be required in the w cut and fit all the timbers the supply of carpenters in California, he says. To trans lumber will require 1200 frei which will mean sixty trains ty cars each.

About eighty carloads of will be used. It will require mately 150 tons of nails to lumber together. Two-inch laid on edge will form the s of the track.

Chalmers Six-40

$1500 Seven Passenger

You ride in the Chalmers Six-40—not on it

THERE may be those who take "with a grain of salt" the statement that a $1500 car can be made to ride as easily and be as comfortable as a car selling for $6000 or more.

Nevertheless, it is absolutely true that no car, at any price, rides any easier or is more comfortable than this $1500 Chalmers Six-40, and a ride in it will thoroughly convince you of this fact.

Comfort must be built into a car, but it is not difficult if you know how.

The seat backs and side walls of the Six-40 are built for comfort—according to scientific principles that years of experience have taught us.

The seats and side walls are deep and roomy, the upholstery is luxurious and is of full leather. The leg-room is ample.

Truly, you ride in this car— not on it.

The rear springs are 57 inches long—the longest on any car in the world at the price. Aside from the great comfort they give you will find that their resilient action will save you tire bills.

And, finally, there is always in the Six-40 the comfort of steady power—the quick acceleration—the easy, vibrationless pull of the marvelous valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor.

Let us show you some real motor car comfort. Let us do it today.

MANY DELIVERIES MADE THIS SEASON.

Interest Seems to be Equally Divided Between Touring Car and Truck Models, with Many of Each Kind Being Delivered—Several Prominent People Among Buyers.

The new models of White touring cars, with the foreign type body and perfect streamline construction, are proving very popular in Southern California.

The Pioneer Commercial Auto Company, distributors of White products, have recently delivered new models of White "Thirty" touring cars to Phillip Bixby, Long Beach; O. E. Boadway, Pasadena; Mrs. C. A. Markwell and Mrs. S. Cohen of this city. New models of White "Forty-five" touring cars have been delivered to Mrs. E. C. Sterling, Redlands; Peter Nichols, Fullerton; Frank Chance, Glendora; W. L. Christian and John Zobelien of Los Angeles.

According to O. R. Fuller, president of the Pioneer Commercial Auto Company, the sale of White trucks is also very brisk. New five-ton automatic power dump models have been delivered to the contracting firm of Benjamin H. Maddox & Co., and C. E. Murray, vice-president of the Dump Truck Association of this city.

The Bradford Baking Company also placed an order for five more trucks for immediate delivery. This will make twenty-six White trucks in their delivery service which will give them the honor of having the largest fleet of commercial trucks on the Pacific Coast.

ROUGH TRAIL IN THE EAST.

ONLY ONE AUTO EVER MADE THE TRIP.

Eastern Man Searching for Excitement is Advised to Try the Daniel Boone Trail Through the Wild Cat Mountains in Kentucky and He Manages to Cross It.

The West has no monopoly on motor trails which afford hair-raising experiences, nor are all the uncharted, untraveled mountain roads found west of the Mississippi, either, writes C. A. Keible of Xenia, O., to Clarence Smith of Smith Bros.

Mr. Keible left his home in Xenia a few weeks ago on a tour which would take him to Atlanta and then across the continent to Los Angeles and San Francisco, and, as he sought excitement, he asked for the most difficult road between Lexington, Ky., and the South. He was told that only one car had attempted the terrible Daniel Boone trail through the Wild Cat Mountains to Knoxville, and that that car now lay at the bottom of a 1000-foot gully.

The trip was suggested in jest, but Mr. Keible took the tip in earnest, and with his wife, daughter and two companions began the hazardous drive. In places the road was so narrow and the grade so steep that Mr. Keible frankly admitted he expected an accident at any moment, but his Paige Fairfield "Six" responded to every demand on its reserve power and carried them through the difficult mountain passes and over the steep grades without a falter.

Some idea of the difficulties of the trip may be gained from the fact that at one place it took seven hours of hard driving to cover an air-line distance of three and one-half miles. At another place twelve hours of driving netted fifty-nine miles.

VETERAN TRUCK MAN'S NEW JOB.

S. W. MERRITT SALES MANAGER FOR BULL TRACTOR COMPANY.

S. W. Merritt, a pioneer in the motor truck industry, has just taken over the sales managership of the Bull Tractor Company. Mr. Merritt is a competent transportation engineer and his long and varied experience both in this city and through the East is certain to stimulate interest in the new machine.

The tests recently conducted by the Bull tractor have opened the eyes of the California farmers to the possibilities of the new motor-propelled farm machine.

"The Bull tractor has proven its complete success in all lines of farm work," said Mr. Merritt, "and I am confident that the time is not very far distant when this State will boast of many up-to-date horseless farms."

Members of the Automobile Club of America have been discussing a plan to organize a detachment of armored automobiles.

SKIDDING CARS HARD TO HANDLE.

Since the last rains thousands of inexperienced motorists have begun driving cars and these men and women have had no experience in driving on wet streets and roads which they are sure to encounter when the rains start.

There is nothing as dangerous as a skidding motor car, and unless the right thang is done at exactly the right time, serious accident is likely to result. The impressions of a driver who first feels his car slipping are hard to describe.

There is one vital fact which C. E. Jessup, manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, points out, and which many drivers learn only by experience. When driving on a wet street or road and it is desired that the speed be slackened do not throw out the clutch and put on the brake. This is one of the worst things that could be done as it makes a car skid and puts it beyond the control of the driver. Putting on the brakes suddenly will often cause a car to turn round and round and has resulted in serious accidents. The brake should be put on easily without disengaging the clutch. If a driver is caught on a mountain road in a rain without non-skid tires this method of holding a car straight will be found very useful.

Arise.

BIG BUSINESS STARTS SMALL.

TOOK VISION TO PLAN SUCH A PLANT.

Commenced with Yearly Output of Four Hundred Cars and Now They Turn Out a Good Many More than that a Day—Record Shipment to Date is One of 502 Cars.

Had anyone but a dreamer undertaken the great task of building up a little automobile factory producing about 400 cars a year to a great organization with a production of 100,000 cars in the same period of time failure probably would have attended him. But the man at the helm of the destinies of the Willys-Overland Company at its inception, and the hand which guided it through its years of struggle to prosperity, was the hand of a man who had the power of vision, a man who could read the future and build to meet it.

The story of the growth of this great organization is like a tale from the "Arabian Nights," and the wonderful Alladin's lamp which John North Willys rubbed to bring the genii of steel and fire was the lamp of imagination. His powers of vision saw the motor car of today, the car of all the people, and he built his structure on this dream fabric.

When he brought out his first car his rivals said a motor car could not be built at that price, but it was, and each year the car has been improved and the price lowered, until today he stands at the head of the industry, the largest producer of cars costing more than $500 in the world.

Last week Manager Starr of the Los Angeles branch of the J. W. Leavitt & Co. received a letter from the Overland factory which informed him that the record shipment of Overland cars for one day had been placed at 502 cars August 28, and that this had been equaled several times in September, with a daily average for the month of more than 495 cars.

The foreign business of the company has been remarkable, the exports for the first six months amounting to more than 4000 cars, and the business done by J. W. Leavitt, the Pacific Coast distributor, has been far ahead of any previous year.

The days of bright colors for motorcars are gone; perhaps some yearn for brilliant reds and yellows, but good neutral tint browns and grays, that both look well and wear well, ought to be considered by manufacturers much more than they have been.

Springfield, Mo., has passed an ordinance providing a fine of from $1 to $100, or jail sentence of from five to sixty days, or both, for using glaring headlights.

BEARINGS NEED MUCH ATTENTION.

UNLESS IN GOOD RUNNING ORDER, POWER IS REDUCED.

Motorists who permit the bearings of their cars to wear out, and who do not give them the proper attention, are greatly reducing the life and efficiency of the car.

No matter how powerful the motor of a car may be, it cannot be a good hill climber and an efficient car unless the bearings are kept in condition.

The Ahlberg process of regrinding bearings costs the motorist only one-fifth as much as a new bearing and under this process the old bearing race is smoothed out by a special grinding device invented by Mr. Ahlberg, and the bearing is then fitted with oversize balls.

Announcement is made by the Montreal Automobile Trade Association that the annual motor show will be held some time during the latter part of January next year. A meeting will be held in the near future, when the matter will be fully discussed and the exact date announced. The question of making some substantial concession to exhibitors with a view of relieving the trade of some portion of the burden of show expense also will be given consideration.

New Car Wins New Hupmobile Friends

No other new Hupmobile has ever had the enthusiastic reception that was accorded the 1916 model.

All over the country the $200 increase in value, and the $100 reduction in price, brought prospective buyers by the score.

Hupmobile owners came, asking only for the chance to get one of the new cars early.

Other owners came, eager to place their orders, for to them the new price meant a Hupmobile at last.

In spite of a 50 per cent increase in production, the factory is still working behind its orders; and buyers are patiently waiting for their Hupmobiles.

With 20 per cent more power and proportionately better performance; with even greater luxury and comfort due to better upholstery and equipment; with quality improved at a dozen points—the new Hupmobile at $1195 is unquestionably the best value the company has ever produced.

We shall be glad to demonstrate the new car.

THE HUPMOBILE Free National Service System — the like of which you get with no other car—is so complete, and means so much genuine satisfaction to the owner, that you should learn all its details before you buy any car. Call and ask us about it.

SAN FRANCISCO GETS SALT LAKE.

BUT IT TAKES TWELVE INNINGS TO ACCOMPLISH THE FEAT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2. — San Francisco defeated Salt Lake today, 6 to 5, in a twelve-inning game. The Seals had the game apparently pocketed until the eighth, when the Bees tied the score by pouncing upon Brown's delivery and pounding him from the mound. He was replaced by Steen, who won his own game by driving in the winning run in the twelfth. Today's victory makes the series stand, Salt Lake, three; San Francisco, two. The score:

Angels Win Battle.

Mitchell, who worked his way out after one of the blokes on bases had scored. Mitch discouraged further run-getting, but the Tigers kept plugging along, counting two in the seventh and one in the eighth. These things had the effect of making a close finish, and sent the fans home in a glow of excitement. This was not a bad idea. The evenings are getting chilly, and the ladies and gents are in less danger of catching cold if they are glowing when they leave the park.

Piercy was particularly eager to win the game. It will take a victory or something like that to get him back into the public eye at El Monte. All season up until three days ago, Bill had been the loud noise in his home town. Everybody there was talking about him. Then something happened to dim Bill's luster. A Mexican lady living out there gave birth to a 19½-pound baby. A town can't stand two sensations at once. The fickle public of El Monte forthwith forgot all about Bill and began talking about the baby. Therefore, it behooves Bill to get in and win a game or two if he is to dim the luster of the baby and regain his rightful place in the community.

VERY STRANGE.

The second, in which the Tigers scored their first run, was a strange and fuzzy inning. Wilhoit began it with a single, and Purtell sacrificed. Risberg walked and went clear to second, as the fourth ball was a wild pitch. Wilhoit took third on the accident. Berger drove to McMullen. Wilhoit, who had taken a big lead, was nailed off third, Mac to Butler. Butler and Wilhoit got so badly tangled up that the umpire reserved his decision until Johnny emerged with his hand wrapped around the ball to prove that he had held on to it through it all. Spencer drove to Zeb, who started to toss to second. McMullen, expecting the play to be made at first, had his back turned. Zeb then threw to Beef too late to nail Tub, Risberg scoring. Piercy fanned.

Three walks filled up the bases on Williams with two gone in the fourth, the third walk being due to the fact that Tub was purposely passed. The wisdom of this was shown when Piercy drove to Butler for a forceout at third. In the fifth, Wilhoit was deliberately walked with Rader on third and two out. Again the move proved effectual, Purtell grounding to Williams.

MAG SCORES.

Maggert sliced open the sixth with a three-bagger to the scoreboard. He scored on McMullen's fly to Wilhoit, sliding across the plate about an inch in advance of Wilhoit's terrific peg. Rube sliced a single over second, and Beef lined to Bayless in deep center. They were hitting the pill full in the face, even if it didn't always land safe. Harper hit to right for one base, Rube galloping to third. Harry swiped second. Tub made his throw to third, almost nipping Ellis off that base. Zeb tore off a two-base foul close to the left field line. He came back and tried it over. This time his marksmanship was better and he shot a single past Rader that was too fast for the human eye to follow or the human hand to stop. This scored Ellis and Harper in a lump. Zeb took second on the saucer shot by Bayless, and counted when Purtell foozled Bassler's grass cutter. Johnny was caught off first by Bill, who had his piercing left eye focused on him.

Bill started the seventh by passing Butler. Williams bunted to Risberg, and arrived safe despite the fact that both Purtell and Piercy were covering the base. How Williams ever managed to touch the base with two other guys standing on it can't be explained, but he did. Piercy passed Maggert, clogging the sacks, and then himself passed from the scene of action. With Mitchell pitching, McMullen drove to Berger, whose fast assist forced Butler at the plate. Williams counted on Rube's fly to Kane. Berger threw out Koerner, making a fine play of it.

Vernon picked up two in the seventh. Mitchell led off with a double. Rader fouled out. Bayless put Mitchell across with a double to right, and after Kane had been retired, scored on Wilhoit's hit to center. Joe was nailed at second when Williams intercepted Maggert's throw.

Purtell opened the eighth with a fly to right center that went for a double when Harper and Maggert bumped into each other. Billy took third on an out. Berger popped to Bassler. Spencer was walked, whereupon Williams cut loose with a wild pitch that let Purtell in. Tub went to second, and was still there when Zeb threw out Mitchell. The Tigers were dangerous in the ninth, getting two men on base. They died there, the needed punch not being present.

HORSE DISPLACED.

COALINGA, Sept. 10.—The motor car has displaced the old four-horse stage over the mountains to the coast. A Studebaker 1915 car is now making three regular trips each week, driven by Ben Byles, from Coalinga to Parkfield and Paso Robles, making connection at Paso Robles with the Southern Pacific trains, distance over the mountains sixty miles. A convenience fully appreciated by the traveling public, a scenic road over the new Parkfield grade.

Even Uncle Sam's mail carriers are using the Ford car in Coalinga to gather up the mail, a saving of time and a convenience to the merchant using the parcel post and ordinary mail. The motorcycle is being displaced by the Ford cars. Men who work in the field and live in town, where the children get the advantages of High School, now use the Ford. The motorcycle was the educator; now the whole family enjoys the benefit of the "outdoor air treatment."

THIS is the open season for bunk and bull con. That is why we are all doing it. Dope never decided a world series, or for that matter, ever seemed to have the slightest effect on it.

Almost everybody picked the Cubs to beat the Athletics in 1910, and the Athletics to beat the Braves in 1914, but none of these things happened. All of which merely goes to show that the guy who flips a Canadian quarter has as good a chance of winning as the guy who decides the world series along scientific lines a week or so in advance of the series itself.

HONORS ALMOST EVEN IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES.

Americans Have Taken One More Series than the Nationals, but the Latter Have the Edge on Winning Games—Changes and Shake-ups, However, Make Precedent Almost Valueless—Who will be the Hero?

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THIS is the open season for bunk and bull con. That is why we are all doing it. Dope never decided a world series, or for that matter, ever seemed to have the slightest effect on it.

Almost everybody picked the Cubs to beat the Athletics in 1910, and the Athletics to beat the Braves in 1914, but none of these things happened. All of which merely goes to show that the guy who flips a Canadian quarter has as good a chance of winning as the guy who decides the world series along scientific lines a week or so in advance of the series itself.

One expert receiving not less than $100 a week picked the last two winners in advance, and picked them wrong. At the same time, a North Main-street bootblack, who doesn't know a typewriter from an adding machine, picked 'em right. Dope is good up to a certain point—meaning until the series begins. As a rule, it isn't worth a tinker's cuss word after that.

Meantime, nothing pertaining to the world series will be overlooked. If Hezekiah Hobbs, who played with the Hickory Elms back in 1833, gives it as his opinion that the Red Sox will win, said opinion will be given a headline and conveyed to a waiting public. Should Tris Speaker happen to sneeze between now and next Thursday, dispatches will be sent out to all parts of the country announcing the fact.

THE OPINION.

Being fully cognizant of the uncertainties of life, we seldom venture a definite opinion on a world series. However, the case is so clear in the present instance that we do not hesitate to go on record, and we are willing to stand by our prediction:

The Red Sox have greater hitting power than the Phillies, they are greater run-getters and better fielders, they have stolen more bases than the Phillies and they have more good pitching. Therefore, the Red Sox will win unless the Phillies do. However, in case the Phillies win, the Red Sox will be defeated.

That is our private and public opinion, and we don't care who knows it.

What the players have to say:

Alexander: "Show me a guy that I can't strike out and I will eat my hat."

Tris Speaker: "Who is this Alexander guy, anyhow? I've knocked the block off many a pitcher better than him."

Cravath: "Fine bunch of dubs the Boston pitching staff. I'm some hitter, I am. Shore, Ruth, Leonard and Wood. Where did they ever find bar?"

Pat Moran: "I regard Carrigan as big stiff."

Bill Carrigan: "If Moran is a manager then my real name is Billy Sunday."

Not one word of which is true, the players never having said it. Players and managers do not talk like that. They leave it to the pork-and-bean fighters. Regular ball players always give the other fellow credit for being some guy.

A HERO.

Every world series produces some hero, or near-hero, as witness the bold base-stealing of Mr. Deal last year. Who will be the hero this year has not yet been determined, and therefore is undecided. Some advance opinions, however, have been secured.

Miss Crutch says: I see a great opportunity for the trainer of the Philadelphia club. There is no reason why he should not sneak up behind Tris Speaker just before the first game starts and sever his Achilles tendon. This would make him a hero, and put Tris out of it for good.

Amos Riddlesnatch: The best way it seems to me to beat the Philadelphia club would be to bribe the water boy to place knockout drops in the bucket from which Alexander drinks. This would make the bat boy the hero of the series.

Miss Prunetta Simms: I do not claim to be a baseball expert, and never wore spiked shoes. But I do see a great chance for the Boston groundkeeper to put the Philadelphia club on the bum and gain some prominence for himself. Let him place a cobblestone between second and third, pretending, of course, that it was an accident. In the course of the game Dave Bancroft will stub his toe on the cobblestone, putting himself on the fritz, and the Philadelphia team on the hog. Frankly, I expect the groundkeeper to be the hero.

EVEN ENOUGH.

Things are very even between the American and National League as far as world series go. To date eleven series have been played, of which the Americans won six and the Nationals five. However, in total number of games won, the Nationals lead by virtue of having made a clean sweep last year. Sixty-four world championship games have been played. Of these the Nationals have won thirty-two, the Americans thirty, with two tied.

Basing calculations on the achievements of the past, the Phillies, National League champions, should win this year. World championships seem to revolve in cycles, or come in bunches like bananas. One league, after winning the championship, generally remains supreme for three or four years.

At the start, however, this tendency was not so marked. In the opening clash, which was in 1903, the Boston Red Sox, with such stars as Jimmy Collins, Ferris, Cy Young and others gleaned from the National, defeated Pittsburgh. The following year there was no series owing to inharmonious relations between the two leagues, but in 1905 the Giants avenged the insult of 1903 by beating the Athletics.

Things switched again in 1906, when the White Sox beat the Cubs. After that, however, things became more settled and the National League remained supreme for three years, the Cubs beating Detroit in 1907 and 1908 and Pittsburgh cleaning up with Detroit in 1909.

Meantime, Connie Mack was fashioning the Athletics, and with their advent into prominence in 1910, the American League became supreme and remained in that condition until last year. The Athletics crushed the Cubs in 1910, defeated the Giants in 1911, lost to the Red Sox, who beat the Giants in 1912, and regained the championship in their own league last season, only to take the worst beating of their career from the Braves in the play-off.

The way things have been going for the past decade, the National League should win the title this year and for one or two more. However, inroads made by the Federal League on the playing talent, and a general shake-up, has made precedent of little value. Taken as a whole, the American League unquestionably is faster than the National, and in the American League the best team won, while Alexander won in the National.

Woman Driver Makes Fast Time Here.

Twenty-two Hours from the Bay City.

Her Only Guide was an Old Road Map.

Riding alone all the way from San Francisco and with no idea of the route to the south other than a road map, Mrs. J. B. Williams, a young motorist of the exposition city, arrived here this week, enthusiastic and anxious for the return motor drive.

Leaving the Bay City without preparation, and never before having driven her car outside of the immediate country, the fair motorist, looking for 500 miles of adventure, ran her car onto a ferry boat to Oakland and started for the south.

At the wheel of her Chalmers "Six," Mrs. Williams took difficult chances without a caution; at several places outdistanced speeding passenger trains; at Fresno was feted by local motor dealers, and finally surprised unexpecting relatives in this city after twenty-two hours' running time.

"I made the trip neither on a wager nor a dare," said Mrs. Williams, "but simply as a matter of excitement and pleasure and to satisfy my inclinations.

"I was not out to break any records or break into print, but on arriving in Fresno the newspapers, much to my surprise, announced that I was seeking to establish a record between San Francisco and Los Angeles. This was news to me, but after the publicity it was up to me to deliver, and from Fresno south I had more than one encounter with the speed cops."

In speaking of the effects of her trip Mrs. Williams warmly praised her large car. Although her tool kit was neither touched for tire nor engine trouble once, the fair motorist admitted that had the same been necessary her trip would have come to an end.

"It is a woman's car, indeed," said Mrs. Williams. "Ordinarily the lighter cars are pointed out as the ideal type for woman drivers, but I can say that this run down the coast without companion or experience has most thoroughly convinced me that there is no car better suited to the woman driver."

Efficiency demands 'em.

The girl for whom the diamond will be bought—if he wins—presented him with a kewpie for the radiator of his car. A venturesome individual doubted the real good luck charm of the kewpie, hence the wager.

CHANDLER SIX
Breaks World's Record

Mexico to Canada Without a Stop of the Wheels or Motor

Arriving in Vancouver, B. C., after the most strenuous test ever given an automobile, a stock Chandler touring car, carrying five passengers, successfully completed the Mexico-to-Canada non-stop run Friday afternoon at 1:20, covering 1898 miles in the remarkable time of one hundred and twenty-four hours, averaging almost four hundred miles per day.

During the entire trip from the start at Tia Juana, Mex., Sunday morning at nine o'clock, the Chandler averaged sixteen miles per gallon of gasoline; eight hundred miles per gallon of oil, used less than one quart of water, had no tire trouble whatever, and the motor was running as perfect at the finish as at the start.

The motor world has never witnessed such a record for economy, reliability and endurance. This wonderful run will go down in motor history as the hardest and most gruelling test to which a motor car and its crew has ever been subjected.

So We Hope.

AMERICAN DESIGN WILL BE COPIED BY EUROPE.

TODAY America is on the threshold of an era of pioneering in motor-car construction and engineering work.

Where before American automobile builders and designers have gone to the European factories for ideas and body designs, they will now step into the leadership of the world in the most modern of all motor-car construction, according to Clarence A. English, prominent in local automobile circles and in close touch with the factory situation throughout the East.

In other words, European leadership must now take second place to the enterprise and initiative of the American engineer in the building of V-shaped motors as a factory standard model in large outputs. The full significance of this statement is possibly not apparent until the contention of the King "eight" distributor has been fully analyzed.

For more than fifteen years it has been the custom of motor-car engineers of the United States to commute to Europe to find the last word in foreign engineering and to then incorporate it in their own cars. But late in 1914, as pointed out by Clarence English, fate took a hand in the affairs of automobiles and men, and for more than a year has prohibited these annual visits. Of this prohibition the result was immediate and apparent.

Eight-cylinder motors at popular prices, combining the maximum of flexibility and power, made their appearance in America through the agency of the King factory. Multiple cylinders quickly followed at higher prices, but, still, they were multiple-cylindered and it is evident that the V-shape motor has come to stay.

According to "C. A.," the result of the inactivity in European touring-car and truck production circles has had its direct result in making the American engineer more aggressive. Today they can't very well cross the water, and if they did there would be no new models to study.

American engineers, then, have come to stand upon their own feet, and instead of becoming merely mediocre copyers they have become first-class originators. That is, today they are building cars that even Europe failed to turn out, or, at least, similar conceptions of design did not appear before activity along these lines ceased.

With this twist of fate Europe is now watching closely what America is doing, and it is not improbable, according to the King "eight" local manager, that within a short time there will be a general flood of European motor-car engineers to this country to study design.

Santa Ana Canyon is closed to motorists.

Warning was issued yesterday by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California that motor travel through the popular canyon has stopped because of road construction between the Riverside county line and the Yorba bridge.

Motorists are advised by the Auto Club bureau to use Carbon or Brea canyons. The new Carbon Canyon road, although not paved, provides and excellent tour, and Brea Canyon is also largely popular.

Further information on tours throughout Southern California will be supplied to eastern visitors at the club headquarters, No. 1344 South Figueroa street, and motorists are advised by Secretary Stan Mitchell to secure such data before attempting trips of any length.

TRUCK PREPARED FOR SERVICE ALONG BORDER.

"IN TIME of peace prepare for war," is an old adage that J. A. Stoner has revised into "prepare for peace the same as for war."

Mr. Stoner's motto is an adaptation of the martial spirit of the needs of the times, he says. As manager for the Mack Motor Truck Company, the fact hat he recently had prepared especially for borderland condition a five-ton truck may have some influence on his sentiments.

"This truck has been fitted out for service in hauling ore down in Arizona, exactly as would have to be done were it intended for army use any place along the Mexican frontier of this country," he says. "That is a land where water is scarce, and the efficiency of the truck depends upon the supply of water it has for cooling the motor.

"Realizing what the truck would be going up against and in our desire to make it adapted the best possible, we equipped it especially. An auxiliary water tank of ten gallon capacity is mounted directly over the motor. The feed is direct into the radiator and the circulation is improved so as to meet the exigencies of desert country.

"In order to increase the efficiency further, a specail intake line has been installed fdom which the carburetor obtains its air supply. The mouth of this three-inch pipe is almost at the top of the driver's cab. It is raised into a protected place this way so that the air that goes into the carburetor will not contain any sand or dust. It is screened with a very fine wire mesh, also.

"Should intervention in Mexico arrive this truck could be requisitioned by the government for border service and put into commission right away. So far as we know, it is the only one equipped in this way. For hauling camp equippage, the dump body would not need to be changed. The big 47x7-inch dual Firestone tires will provide sufficient traction on any kind of a road and sand could not stop the truck's advance. The big searchlight would illuminate the night, and a little heavier hood would be absolute protection for the vulnerable parts of the motor."

The Return.

"UNIVERSAL CHANDLER" STARTS ON TRIP BACK.

After Sensational Nonstop Run from the Mexican Line to the Canadian Border the Los Angeles Machine Starts Back — Roads in Northern California the Most Difficult of the Trip.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Oct. 2.—Focused on the mud-stained "Universal Chandler Six" were the eyes of hundreds of British soldiers as the sturdy car started from Vancouver this morning on the return tour down the Pacific Highway after establishing a non-stop record from Mexico.

There were the young Highlanders of the 30th Battalion in their "kilties;" grim-looking men of the pioneers, who are to leave for the front next week; men in the snappy uniform of the British Columbia horse and "Tommies" of the Duke of Connaught's own regiment and the Canadian Mounted Rifles recently recruited from the ranks of business men of Vancouver.

A CURIOSITY.

From the time it reached Vancouver yesterday until it was cheered on its merry way today, the "Universal Chandler Six" was the greatest curiosity in the city. The arrival of the car and crew after the 1898.5 mile non-stop run from Tia Juana, created a sensation which even detracted from the prevailing military spirit temporarily.

As a fleet of Canadian-owned Chandlers, flying the Canadian flag, escorted the muddy Chandler bearing the Stars and Stripes, through the streets, men in uniform and civilians alike saluted. The crowd in front of the war office and those at every recruiting station turned to look at the grimy car, then followed it up the street.

ENTHUSIASTIC.

Although the war has crippled the automobile industry in Vancouver and has taken something like 11,000 young men from the city for the trenches the Vancouver people are great motor enthusiasts nevertheless. They are proud of their good roads and the remarkable run of the Chandler was of especial interest even at this time.

Soldiers and motor cars are about all one sees in Vancouver now. The traffic congestion is almost as bad as in Los Angeles, and the streets are invariably wet and skiddy. Just outside of the city there is a military training camp where 9000 men are being conditioned before they are sent into the trenches. Motor cars are active at this great camp. Officers drive about the city in touring cars, supplies are transported by trucks and automobiles do excellent work in the recruiting service.

LOTS OF 'EM.

Many young men who at this time last year were training for battle on the Rugby field, are now training with one of the Canadian volunteer regiments. In the 3th Battalion, the Scottish outfit, quartered in a building formerly used by a social club in the very heart of the city, there are many youngsters who are not out of prep school. They are anxiously awaiting the orders which will put their regiment on the firing line, fighting for King and country.

In this Scotch battalion, three companies of 250 men each, there are some fine young athletes. Every one of the "kilties" is a fine specimen of manhood. These young men who are soon to leave for the front, represent the finest families in Vancouver and during the period of training, father's or mother's automobile is at the disposal of the young soldier, and his command.

AMERICAN CARS.

There are more American cars in the province than foreign, by about ten to one; but out of the 10,000 cars registered, there are many wonderful foreign machines. The low-priced American car is popular, but the big car here is the car selling for about $2000 or $2500. In the United States these same cars are listed at about $1000 or $1250, f.o.b. factory.

While the motor sales are not as great as they were last year, the cars which are being sold are American built, as it is impossible to get foreign cars on account of the war.

They are building a great many brick roads in British Columbia, and with the good roads the automobile is in service throughout the entire year, whereas before the motoring season closed before December 1. This same condition exists in Washington and Oregon.

USED ALL YEAR.

No longer is the car for summer service only. Good roads have come to those sections and now the automobile is not only a necessity, but a luxury throughout the entire year. Accessory dealers of Portland and Seattle have encouraged winter touring with poor success in the past, but with good roads, their efforts are not needed.

The record run of the "Universal Chandler Six" proved the value of good roads. The feat will prove a boon to the industry in many ways. It proves the efficiency of the modern motor car, increases interest in touring and shows the value of good roads.

Through Southern California the drive was not even tiring on the nerves. The bad roads of Northern California were hard to negotiate and luck played a part in the success of the expedition when the rain held up while the Chandler passed over the rough going to the best roads of the Northwest.

BAD IN WET.

Southern Oregon has some clay roadway, which, in rainy weather, would have probably stalled the wheels of the car. After crossing the Columbia River on the railroad bridge, the run was over, as far as actual danger was to be encountered.

At Toledo, Wash., the crew ran into rain which throttled down the speed of the car somewhat. But, as the roads were improved, the car was able to negotiate the course despite the heavy downpour.

It was raining hard when the Chandler left Vancouver today for Los Angeles, where it will be exhibited by the Chandler Motor Car Company of California, at the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show, October 23 to 30. Both C. H. Hunter and Ben Knoth, Los Angeles boys who drove the car on the non-stop run across the United States from Mexico to Canada, paid no attention to the rain as the car splashed through the mud toward the American line, forty miles away.

FEED COMING.

At Seattle the car will be exhibited by the Chandler dealer there, and the members of the crew are to be banqueted Sunday night.

From Seattle to Portland will be the next leg of the return trip. After two days at Portland, where the car and crew are to be well entertained, the boys will ship by boat to San Francisco, where the San Francisco agency will have the car for three days.

From the exposition city the Chandler will be driven down the Coast to Los Angeles and Universal City, making stops at all the Southern California centers, which are in the territory controlled by the Chandler Motor Car Company of California.

AT SAN DIEGO.

After the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show, the car is to be placed on exhibition at the San Diego exposition as the first motor-driven vehicle to travel from Mexico to Canada on its own power all the way without a stop.

Southern California Different.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS BENEFITED BY HIGHWAYS.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA is saving more than $2,000,000 annually to agricultural interests because of good roads in this section.

Officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, the biggest motoring organization in America, have arisen to the defense of local highway improvements following the issue recently of a report from the United States Department of Agriculture in which it is stated that the United States is sustaining an annual loss to farming interests of $250,000,000 because of bad roads.

If the tremendous loss attributed to bad roads by the department were divided equally among the States of the Union, California would be shown to lose approximately $5,319,148 each year. Of this amount the southern part of the State would lose more than $2,000,000.

But the ratio of road improvement in Southern California is so much higher than the improvement work carried on in other States that officials of the Auto Club point out that instead of sustaining this loss, the territory is actually saving a like amount to the great orange and bean interests because of the rapid building of State and county roads.

AN EXCEPTION.

In the report of the Department of Agriculture, no special point is made of the States, individually, which are undergoing the yearly loss, although no exceptions are named. However, according to the Auto Club, Southern California must be made an exception.

Inaccessibility of producing territories to markets is named by the department as the greatest reason for the loss. But in Southern California, the producing territories have been among the first to be connected with the commercial centers. This work has been carried on, and there is still a general need for more commercial roads in Los Angeles and other counties because of the rapid development of the farming interests on the Pacific Coast in the southern part.

In connection with the report, it is stated that illiteracy is more prevalent in the South Atlantic States than in the New England States, where road development has been carried on to a larger degree. In other words, illiteracy by this deduction is traced to the prevalence of bad roads in the southeastern part of the United States.

This excess of illiteracy in rural over urban population due to a lower percentage of improved roads, showed for the South Atlantic States 400 per cent., and for the New England States 140 per cent. In both of these comparisons, only native whites of native parentage were considered.

EARLY DEVELOPMENT.

Here, however, is a problem which Southern California has never had to face, it is pointed out by Secretary Mitchell of the Auto Club, because so far as the rural population is concerned, good roads began to develope with the development of the southern agricultural section.

Mountain regions in Southern California have been steadily tapped by highways, and county road development, on a large scale, practically began with the published findings of a group of motor car enthusiasts who took part in the first "run" ever held by the Automobile Club of Southern California. That was in 1900. Since that time more than $12,000,000 has been spent by counties for highways. The State is spending millions more.

In this connection it is pointed out by the same organization which has been the leading spirit in inducing the building of roads, that funds should be applied to the construction of commercial highways to keep pace with the growing agricultural districts.

Guncotton Made Harmless.

[Washington Post:] Guncotton was made safe by macerating the cotton until only the tiniest particle of [illegible] in the cotton was left, and there was nothing remaining to hold the acid after it had been washed and boiled. Sir Frederick Abel did much to improve the method of making guncotton.

When guncotton was first used to form a powder the enormous rapidity of the explosion threw a tremendous strain on the guns. It became necessary to tame guncotton so as to produce a powder that burnt steadily and more consistently. Guncotton was tamed by gelatinising it in alcohol and ether.

Couldn't Afford to Wait.

[Chicago News:] "So you're leaving to get married, Mary?"

"Yes, mum."

"And how long have you known the young man"

"Three weeks, mum."

"Isn't that a rather short time? Don't you think you should wait until you know him better?"

"No, mum. I've tried that [illegible] times and every time the [illegible] changed his mind when he got to know me better."

STANFORD IS THE WINNER

IN A HOT BATTLE AGAINST THE OLYMPIC CLUB.

Fast Work in Both Scrum and Backfield Aids Cards in Work of Winning the Game — Freshmen Show Real Class in Downing San Jose, 52 to 0.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PALO ALTO, Oct. 2.—Stanford was treated to a "big game" today when, in the hottest and most scientific contest of the season, her varsity defeated the Olympic Club, 43-13. Fast, snappy, open backfield work with many scrappy encounters characterized the play. Although the score favored the Stanford boys, the visitors made them work for every gain.

Faultless passing, rushes and clever dodging runs abounded on both sides. The tackling was deadly, and time was frequently called. The appearance of Ric Templeton at wing freed Joe Urban for the first five positions, resulting in a new combination that has wonderfully speeded up the backfield and probably solves the Cardinal backfield question.

The pack, which it has been feared would prove to be the weak spot, surprised the fans and performed its function, fed the ball to the backs at the proper moments, stopped up the rushes and dribbled in veteran style. A fast and heavy opposing scrum worried the Cardinal pack every moment, and a backfield with more experience than that of Stanford kept the fight constantly at fever heat.

Bob Templeton"s forty-yard spirals to touch and accurate tackling displayed today will undoubtedly win him the full-back berth. H. H. Diefendorf of San Diego exhibited varsity caliber fighting mettle, especially on the defensive.

Joe Urban's resiliency when tackled has improved, if that be possible. The baby team walked over San Jose High's light team to the tune of 52-0. Their weight plus their increasing teamwork and accuracy in dribbling and passing made the freshmen drives irresistible.

Of course, because of the lack of competition, today"s play of the frosh cannot be taken as a criterion of their strength, but nevertheless the spectators were agreed in the remarkable increase of their efficiency.

Charlie Boydston of Harvard Military and Melancthon Smith of L. A. Poly were the stars of the contest, their dodging runs being the cause of many long gains.

SCORELESS TIE ON A BAD FIELD.

BROWN AND TRINITY PULL OFF EVENLY-MATCHED GAME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Oct. 2. — Brown and Trinity battled to a scoreless tie on a soggy football field today. The only time that either goal line was threatened was in the third period when, George Brickley, a brother of Charles Brickley of Harvard, on a fake punt, ran from his own 15-yard line to Brown's 8-yard line, where, a moment later, Trinity lost the ball on a fumble.

27 TO 6 SCORE OF CHICAGO GAME.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. — Northwestern University defeated Lake Forest at football today, 27 to 6, without much difficulty. The college eleven showed to the best advantage in the second quarter, when, by a series of forward passes, they carried the ball to the Varsity's 1-yard line, where Full-back Gray plunged through the line for a touchdown. A brilliant run by Quarter-back Underhill was the feature of the Northwestern play.

SANTA MONICA GETS WALLOPED.

TWO TOUCHDOWNS MADE ON FIFTY-FIVE-YARD END RUNS.

The Whittier State School-Santa Monica contest of yesterday ended with Whittier thirteen points in the lead. Whittier's two touchdowns were both made on fifty-five-yard end runs by Brashear and Paschal, respectively. The State School's numerous forward passes were the most interesting features of the game. In the last quarter the fighting Santa Monica lads made their enemy's 2-yard line, but were held for downs.

AUTO RACER IS KILLED.

FRESNO (Cal.) Oct. 2.—Don Francis, driver of car No. 10, in the 150-mile automobile race at the Fresno district fair, was killed at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon, when his car left the track on a turn and crashed through the fence surrounding the fair grounds. Francis was crushed under the wreckage of his racing car, fifty feet from the outside fence. He died in five minutes. His mechanician, Frank Tuttle, was rushed to a hospital and died there. Francis had driven ten miles. Ten cars started in the race. Gov. Hiram Johnson saw the accident from his box in the grand stand. The heavy car leaped from the high embankment on the turn of the one-mile track. Francis was traveling at the rate of sixty miles an hour, estimated by spectators at the race track.

Faultless passing, rushes and clever dodging runs abounded on both sides. The tackling was deadly, and time was frequently called. The appearance of Ric Templeton at wing freed Joe Urban for the first five positions, resulting in a new combination that has wonderfully speeded up the backfield and probably solves the Cardinal backfield question.

The pack, which it has been feared would prove to be the weak spot, surprised the fans and performed its function, fed the ball to the backs at the proper moments, stopped up the rushes and dribbled in veteran style. A fast and heavy opposing scrum worried the Cardinal pack every moment, and a backfield with more experience than that of Stanford kept the fight constantly at fever heat.

Bob Templeton"s forty-yard spirals to touch and accurate tackling displayed today will undoubtedly win him the full-back berth. H. H. Diefendorf of San Diego exhibited varsity caliber fighting mettle, especially on the defensive.

Joe Urban's resiliency when tackled has improved, if that be possible. The baby team walked over San Jose High's light team to the tune of 52-0. Their weight plus their increasing teamwork and accuracy in dribbling and passing made the freshmen drives irresistible.

Of course, because of the lack of competition, today"s play of the fresh cannot be taken as a criterion of their strength, but nevertheless the spectators were agreed in the remarkable increase of their efficiency.

Charlie Boydston of Harvard Military and Melancthon Smith of L. A. Poly were the stars of the contest, their dodging runs being the cause of many long gains.

SCORELESS TIE ON A BAD FIELD.

BROWN AND TRINITY PULL OFF EVENLY-MATCHED GAME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Oct. 2.—Brown and Trinity battled to a scoreless tie on a soggy football field today. The only time that either goal line was threatened was in the third period when, George Brickley, a brother of Charles Brickley of Harvard, on a fake punt, ran from his own 15-yard line to Brown's 8-yard line, where, a moment later, Trinity lost the ball on a fumble.

27 TO 6 SCORE OF CHICAGO GAME.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Northwestern University defeated Lake Forest at football today, 27 to 6, without much difficulty. The college eleven showed to the best advantage in the second quarter, when, by a series of forward passes, they carried the ball to the varsity's 1-yard line, where Full-back Gray plunged through the line for a touchdown. A brilliant run by Quarter-back Underhill was the feature of the Northwestern play.

SANTA MONICA GETS WALLOPED.

TWO TOUCHDOWNS MADE ON FIFTY-FIVE-YARD END RUNS.

The Whittier State School-Santa Monica contest of yesterday ended with Whittier thirteen points in the lead. Whittier's two touchdowns were both made on fifty-five-yard end runs by Brashear and Paschal, respectively. The State School's numerous forward passes were the most interesting features of the game. In the last quarter the fighting Santa Monica lads made their enemy's 2-yard line, but were held for downs.

AUTO RACER IS KILLED.

FRESNO (Cal.) Oct. 2.—Don Francis, driver of car No. 10, in the 150-mile automobile race at the Fresno district fair, was killed at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon, when his car left the track on a turn and crashed through the fence surrounding the fair grounds. Francis was crushed under the wreckage of his racing car, fifty feet from the outside fence. He died in five minutes. His mechanician, Frank Tuttle, was rushed to a hospital and died there. Francis had driven ten miles. Ten cars started in the race. Gov. Hiram Johnson saw the accident from his box in the grand stand. The heavy car leaped from the high embankment on the turn of the one-mile track. Francis was traveling at the rate of sixty miles an hour, estimated by spectators at the race track.

OCCIDENTAL AND MANUAL HOLD PRACTICE AFFAIR.

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE indulged in a small-sized football carnival yesterday morning. The affair could not be called a game. It was scrimmage pure and simple.

About five teams journeyed over from Manual Arts and offered as much opposition as possible, which was quite a good deal. Occidental put four teams on the field, the varsity, the freshman and a couple of others.

It would be difficult to pick the winner of the day. Scoring was discouraged all the way through, and whenever a man got near a goal the whistle would blow and he would be dragged gack to the center of the field. Two drop kicks were registered, one by Manual and one by Oxy. Aside from this the score was 0 to 0.

The Occidental line-up was decidedly different. Tubby Wieman, the sensational center of a couple of years ago, held down the full-back position, and did it well. Tub is a trifle slow, but he has a whole lot of redeeming features. He can follow the ball like he was tied to it; he can run good interference; and it's awful hard to get around him. Besides this, it looks like he might develop speed.

Brandstetner played quarter-back. And he put up one of the niftiest little games that anyone would want to see. He "done noble"' gents in every sense of the word. Unless he gets kicked back into his old job, he will make a great quarter.

Lupher, a young man who didn"t even turn out for football last year, made a hit as end. He was fast, and he hooked forward passes out of the air in the old Kirkpatrick style. He is about the right weight and he looks good. Kohler and Batz also took turns at the end location.

Shorty Smith and Sammy McClung did the honors as halves. Smith did a lot of hard work, and McClung tore loose for a near touchdown.

In the first part of the scrimmage the Occidental line held like a concrete wall. The Manual team bounced off with great gusto and couldn't even make a dent. Later, however, the High School team began to find a few holes and to make 'em when they couldn't find any.

The Occidental freshmen were the sensation of the day. They came out on the lot with a superabundance of pep. And they ripped up the prep team in great style. Little Cresswell was a wonder as quarter-back. He pulled off the most sensational run of the day, by the way.

The Manual Arts men were a bunch of fighters. They demonstrated the fact that they were new at the American game. But they also proved that they could learn in record time. They tackled high, were a little hazy as to singles, and there was a terrible time keeping the men on the line. Aside from this they looked dangerous.

SOUTHERN TEAMS HAVE ACCEPTED.

WILL PLAY SERIES OF RUGBY GAMES IN THE NORTH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 2.—Graduate Manager Behrens received word today that the invitation of the California Rugby Union inviting Southern California teams to participate in a set of matches here had been accepted.

A telegram from A. P. Michael Narlian stated that sixty men in Los Angeles had signed up for practice beginning today. Two teams, the Ardens and the Marathons, already have been organized and a third fifteen is in prospect. The date for the northern trip has not yet been decided on.

COLUMBIA-YALE RACE THIS FALL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Columbia and Yale crews will row in a dual race this fall, it was announced here today by Jim Rice, coach of the Blue and White oarsmen, probably at New Haven either on November 2 or 13. Columbia and Yale have not met in a varsity crew race in about twenty years.

YACHTING CUPS.

KING GEORGE AND PRESIDENT WILSON CUPS ARE GIVEN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Presentation of the King George Trophy Cup and the President Wilson Trophy Cup, won in the recent international yachting regatta held under the auspices of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, was made today to the winners. The ceremonies were in the Court of Abundance.

In presenting President Wilson's cup to Capt. Hans Muelengracht Madsen, of the Royal Danish Yacht Club, William B. Lamar, United States commissioner to the exposition, said the trophy was virtually a presentation to the King of Denmark from the President of the United States, as the King is a member of the yacht club and part owner of the Nordug. The Nordug was sailed by Capt. Madsen.

The King George cup went to the Westward of San Francisco, owned by John R. Hanify. This presentation was by British Consul-General A. Carnegie Ross.

Forty-nine other cups were presented, the largest number ever awarded at a Pacific Coast regatta.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAME CANCELLED.

RAIN MAKES BASEBALL CONTEST ON BOSTON BRAVES' FIELD IMPOSSIBLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—The Philadelphia Nationals today lost a further opportunity for practice on Braves' Field, where one end of the world's series games will be played, by cancellation of their last scheduled game of the season with Boston. Rain made playing impossible. The National League champions left for Philadelphia this afternoon. Catcher Killifer, still suffering somewhat from a lame arm, had preceded them last night. It was said to be doubtful whether he would be able to start the series.

BERKELEY HAS EXCITING GAME.

Bears Win in the Last Few Minutes of Play.

Clubmen Walk Off Field and Come Back.

St. Mary's Seconds Defeat Freshmen.

BERKELEY, Oct. 2.—After three uneventful periods the last quarter of the California-Olympic game, played this afternoon on California field, stands out with a sort of startled jack-in-the-box air. Its precipitate playing, unexpected scoring and abundance of "thrills" make it by far the best fifteen minutes of football which has been presented to the bleachers.

Until this quarter the Olympic Club led. Hogan, Olympic half-back, surprised the spectators, and perhaps himself, by kicking a field goal from the 40-yard line. With the nestegg of three points the Olympic Club saw glory ahead of them and began the necessary proceeding to acquire more.

For some forty-five minutes they kept the varsity from the goal line, though not without some acquiescence by the varsity, which shall be explained later.

Then came the final go. At the close of the preceding quarter the varsity had bucked the ball to the 5-yard line and had three yards to go on the third down. The gun prevented any try at the goal, but when the shift to the opposite goal came in the final quarter California bucked the ball across.

The Olympic Club objected. The ball had not crossed the goal. The temperature began to raise considerably. Half of the men walked off the field, the other half stood first on one foot and then on the other, not knowing just what procedure to take. Manager Donald at length persuaded them to go on with the game.

After Sharpe failed to kick the try at goal, the winged "O" men felt better and trotted back onto the field with a brown taste which could only be sweetened by another score. A smashing drive was started and from center to ten yards the club men plowed their way. At length they arrived on the 2-yard line. A shift to right caught the varsity unawares and Hogan got the ball within a foot of the line. The next buck, the last down, took the sphere over. The kick failed.

Preceding this feat there had been an exodus of Olympic Club rooters toward the goal line. But in five minutes they were congregated on the other side.

From kickoff California gained thirty yards, but lost the ball. Lockhart managed to get in the way of a forward pass and smothered the attempt of the club to extricate itself by taking the ball ten yards closer to the goal. The next buck found Gianelli over the line hugging the ball like a long-lost brother. This made the score, California, 12; Olympic Club, 9. Madison toed the ball over and won another point.

But the best was yet to come. Smith, Olympic full, booting from the kick-off, drove his ball straight into Sharpe's outspread arms. The second the ball landed Sharpe began to move and, moreover, he kept moving. When quiet and six Olympic Club men descended upon him he was three feet across the goal line. Eighty yards at a time makes a rather exciting stroll through a football field.

This hippodrome stunt ended the tension, and the California band took up the air which they had suddenly allowed to vanish into silence, all except "traps," who all the time chastised his drum unmercifully.

When it is said that California was an unobjecting partner to some of her troubles before the last quarter, this is meant; the quarter, playing back on defense, was instructed to mark the ball and not to run. This, of course, put the Blue and Gold on the defensive and they were forced to fight the Olympic Club under a handicap. The coach's idea was to give plenty of opportunity for defensive play, and they certainly succeeded.

That defense is developing is shown by the fact that only once could the Olympic Club get over the goal. This method of teaching defense is about as strenuous as any that could be devised.

But the Olympic Club should be given much credit for their own defensive work. They were able to anticipate plays, something inexperience prevented on the part of the varsity.

St. Mary's second line-up bumped the freshmen up and down the field at will. Score was St. Mary's, 19; Freshmen, 0. The great weakness of the freshmen was in tackling. Guisto and Fitzpatrick, St. Mary's half-backs, are a fast, dangerous pair. Both are Rugby players and have the swerve and dodge run down to a science. The freshmen were baffled by their tactics.

The freshmen are much lighter than St. Mary's and lack the training of Rugby which aided their opponents. St. Mary's will provide U.S.C. with a good match.

PRINCETON HOLDS RUTGERS ELEVEN.

TIBBOTT IS THE STAR, SCORING ALL OF PRINCETON'S POINTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) Oct. 2.—Princeton rose to the occasion today and not only held the strong Rutgers eleven safely but defeated the New Brunswick players by the score of 10 to 0. Rutgers showed her strength by the ease with which the team penetrated Princeton's territory, but ability to stiffen the defense when there was danger kept the visitors from scoring.

Tibbott scored all of Princeton's ten points in the first period. He caught a punt and dodging through the line escaped the second defense and ran 85 yards for a touchdown. He kicked the goal and later added three points to the score by kicking a field goal from the 25-yard line.

DARTMOUTH WINS FROM U. OF MAINE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HANOVER (N. H.) Oct. 2.—Dartmouth rolled up almost as many points against the University of Maine today as did Yale a week ago, the green score being 34 to 0. Dartmouth relied on line plunges, varied by an occasional forward pass.

Trojans Win.

was done so easy that it seemed a shame to take the money. Livernash again kicked the goal. The score was 14 to 0.

All of this happened in the first quarter. Before the second quarter got started the ball was half way to the L.A.A.C. goal line. After the ball had changed sides several times, Kelly got away with one of those long runs of his and then repeated. The ball was on the L.A.A.C. 2-yard line. Then Len Livernash, who makes a specialty of diving, went over the line head first and kicked the goal. The score was 21 to 0. It looked as if it might be 100 to 0 before nightfall.

Then came the change. The clubmen began bucking the ball. Neighbors, Williams, Traverner and Tuttle hurled themselves into the red line. It spilled back and back. Before the Trojans could stiffen and hold the ball was on their 20-yard line. Three times the clubmen went into the line and three times they failed to gain. Sid called for a place kick. The goal posts were so far away, everybody laughed. The ball rose clear of the frantically-fighting players and went end over end until it dropped behind the Trojan goal posts.

"Come on, fellows," yelled Sid. "We've got them beat." They kicked off to L.A.A.C. and held U.S.C. for downs on the latter's 30-yard line. Craig, on the fourth down, punted right up in the air. There were only three minutes left to the half. Williams, Neighbors and Tuttle began cutting into the Trojan line, forcing it back and back. It took them four downs to make every ten yards, but they made them. Each fourth down there would be three or four yards to make. Always Williams dashed into the Trojan line and made the yards. Then he went over. Sid failed to kick the goal. The score was 21 to 9 and the half over.

Neither team could score in the second half. For a time the Trojans made steady progress toward the clubmen's goal. They got the ball as far as the 10-yard line. The clubmen stopped them. That was U.S.C.'s last chance to score.

Once more the L.A.A.C. march began, Williams, Tuttle, Neighbors and Tivarina bucking through the U.S.C. line. Every down one of the four went between the two tackles and always gained. They reached the Trojan 2-yard line. Then Glaze's men gritted their teeth and held for four downs. On the last down Williams had the ball half an inch from the white line. By that much L.A.A.C. failed. Craig booted out of danger.

The clubmen crumpled after that. The spirit seemed to go out of them. In the last quarter they advanced the ball to U.S.C.'s 35-yard line. Here Sid called for another place kick and watched the Trojans stream through the blue line without ever swinging his leg. Sid wandered around in a sort of a daze after that and the clubmen quit trying. Perhaps they couldn't. Subs began going in and the heroes out. The game was only a matter for the whistle.

U.S.C. has a much stronger team than last season. It ran with interference and a knowledge of the game. Kelly stuck close to his bodyguard and made downs nearly every time he carried the ball. He was easily the best of the Trojans. Livernash on his twisting off tackle bucks gained steadily. Murray at quarter used his head and looked like a general. Malette gained more ground than Murray, but did not handle the team nearly so well.

U.S.C.'s weakness was on bucking the line and holding the other team's bucks. At the ends the Trojans were like a stone wall. The secondary defense was strong and the backs were bear cats at circling the ends.

The L.A.A.C. is easily the best club team the south has ever had. Williams is a better full-back than Bull Finch, and Neighbors has become his old self again.

SAILORS GET A BAD DRUBBING.

NAVY'S LINE RIPPED OPEN BY THE GEORGETOWN TEAM.

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) Oct. 2.—Showing a lamentable weakness in offense and almost total inability to solve even such simple plays as the old-fashioned cross-buck, Navy's football team went down to a 9-to-0 defeat at the hands of Georgetown here this afternoon.

The sailor line was ripped open for eight and ten-yard gains time after time. Georgetown, on the other hand, found little trouble in breaking up the small variety of plays Navy had, and constantly the forwards broke through and dropped the sailor back field behind the line.

NORMAL LOSES TO HOLLYWOOD.

BLANCHARD IS NEARLY THE WHOLE TEAM OF TEACHERS.

Despite the efforts of a youthful yell leader attired in a football costume, the Normal eleven fell before Hollywood High yesterday afternoon to the tune of 12 to 7. Considering that this was the first scrimmage indulged in by the future teachers, they made a rather good showing in their dashes through the lush, waist-high weeds of Hollywood field.

Blanchard kicked off for Normal, rushed down the field and recovered his own kick, but the High School men soon marched up the field for a touchdown by Doyle, who failed to kick goal, the try barely going a foot above the ground. Another score came shortly and the kick again failed.

Things tamed down, except for the activities of aforesaid yell leader, until the last quarter, when Kulzer of Normal got away for a fifty-yard run to a touchdown. Blanchard kicked the goal, and Normal fought like mad during the last minutes of play, but did not score again.

Capt. Blanchard and Kulzer were about the whole thing for the teachers, while Kirkpatrick at tackle and Doyle at full starred for Hollywood.

The line-up:

WENDELL BAKER IS STAR WHEN POMONA HIGH WINS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Oct. 2.—Wendell Baker, the colored star of the High School's former State championship Rugby football team, played his team-mates to a 33-to-0 victory this afternoon against Fullerton Union High School in the first game of American football that has been seen on the local field in nine years. Hurdling a Fullerton tackler, who was on his knees, Baker fell headlong and rolled over a half-dozen times to a touchdown in the first eleven minutes of play.

Capt. Varcoe kicked goal. Varcoe then made a touchdown on a fine end run, followed by a counter buck in front of goal posts. Goal was missed. Soon after the opening of the second half Baker broke through the line, shook off half a dozen tacklers and ran sixty yards to a touchdown.

Varcoe kicked goal. Baker then scored a touchdown on a short left-end run. Varcoe missed goal. Parker, a former Rugby star, made the next touchdown on a twenty-five-yard forward pass from Varcoe, and Varcoe kicked goal. In the first half of the game the local team was stacked against the five and six-year junior college men from Fullerton High. The regular Fullerton High team played the second half and made the better showing of the visiting teams.

Coach Evans, who has often been accused of knowing nothing but Rugby, has built a remarkable team in two weeks. His back field is surprisingly strong. The ends are frail, but there are six available ends to select from with a squad of fifty to sort over. It is conceded that Evans will have a team that will rank high in Southern California interscholastic football. Coaches from nearly all of the citrus belt schools were on hand today to watch the State champions work.

Jimmie Nesbit of Pomona College refereed the game. Clarence Parker, coach of Fullerton, continually referred his men to the plays that were being made by his little brother, Buck, in the Pomona lineup.

POMONA HAS HARD TIME BEATING SANTA FE TEAM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLAREMONT, Oct. 2.—Pomona started her 1915 football season here this afternoon by taking a 13-to-0 game from the Santa Fe apprentice team of San Bernardino. The mechanics proved to be tougher customers than was at first thought, and during the entire second half of the game more than held their own with the Huns. The Sage Hens started the game with a rush and managed to slip over a touchdown within the first few minutes of play.

THE GAME.

Santa Fe kicked off to Sugg, who ran the ball back twenty yards to the 40-yard line. Pomona could not make downs and was forced to kick. Santa Fe also failed to make the required yardage, and a punt formation was called. The Huns' linemen swarmed through the Santa Fe line on the play and blocked the punt, giving Pomona possession of the ball on the 4-yard line. Green took it over on a full-back buck, and McFadden converted.

Pomona got her second touchdown when Jesson intercepted a forward pass and ran the ball back forty yards to the 5-yard line. McFadden scored on a quarter-back buck, but missed goal. During the rest of the half both teams participated in a kicking duel with honors even.

DETERMINED.

Santa Fe came back on the field for the second half determined to even up the score. Pomona kicked off and seemed to be bewildered by the attack of the up-country team. Santa Fe resorted to forward passes to advance the ball and succeeded in making two gains of thirty yards each, besides several of five and ten yards. The Huns managed to hold, though, whenever their goal was threatened, and the mechanics never were able to rush the ball beyond the 25-yard line.

What the Huns lacked mainly was team work. At times they showed flashes of form, but could not gain ground consistently. Sugg and Raitt starred for Pomona on the defensive, while Jesson gained the greatest number of yards among the back-field men.

BUSH PLAYS.

The mechanics sprung a surprise on the Huns in placing Bush, mentioned last year for the all-American team, at tackle. Bush was captain of the Carlisle Indian team in the East last season and proved a tower of strength to the Santa Fe line. McClung and Deems of Occidental sat in the bleachers during the game watching the Huns in action.

INTERCEPTED PASS BEATS THE AGGIES.

MASSACHUSETTS GOES THROUGH GAME WITHOUT A SUBSTITUTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Oct. 2.—Only a dashing leap and catch by Harte, Harvard's right, intercepting a forward pass two minutes before the end of the game, enabled the Crimson to score against Massachusetts Agricultural College today, 7 to 0. The Aggies, who went through the game without substituting a player, had held Harvard scoreless for three periods.

In the closing minutes Quarterback Palmer of the Aggies launched a forward pass from his own 25-yard line. Harte crashed through the defense and caught the ball, then, eluding would-be tacklers, raced 30 yards for a touchdown. Rollins kicked a goal, completing Harvard's seven points.

SIXTY-NINE-YARD RUN WINS GAME.

PENNSY MEETS STRONG TEAM BUT COMES OUT ON LONG END.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—The University of Pennsylvania's football team met strong opposition in the Franklin and Marshall eleven but won by the score of 10 to 6. The upstate team crossed Pennsylvania's goal line in the third period when Mylin, the little quarter-back, made a spectacular run of 69 yards for a touchdown.

Pennsylvania's only touchdown was scored after a series of line plunges and from passes. Quigley, for Pennsylvania, kicked a goal from placement from the 32-yard line.

Tramp on Indians.

3-yard line. Here the Indians held, and it took Finch three hard bucks to cross the line. Bogue kicked goal.

Bogue kicked off to Attache, who ran up fifteen yards. The Indians then tried a pass, which was hooked by a Whittier end. The ball was carried to the 20-yard line and Bogue managed to boot a field goal.

SOME TACKLE.

The only other exciting thing was a tackle by Attache. This young man made one of the hardest tackles ever seen on a southern field and there have been some hard ones. He grabbed Bogue and threw him to the ground like he was a twelve-pound shot. How Bogue ever got out of it alive is what everyone is wondering. It was certainly a vigorous tackle.

The Quakers ought to have won and they did. That's about all there is to it. Whether they won by as big a score as they should have is a question. However, it was a good game and the Indians fought like wild men all the time. The line-up follows:

The Moon buggies were known throughout the Middle West, where a vehicle must stand hard wear and tear.

For eleven years, J. W. Moon has built good automobiles.

The Moon car is known throughout the United States as a car that will test out in every way.

One reason for this is Mr. Moon's experience. He is Number Five in the list of the oldest automobile builders of America.

Another reason is found in the unlimited resources at his disposal.

A third reason is that Mr. Moon believes in using the most highly perfected parts—whether the exclusive product of a famous specialty manufacturer or made in the Moon factory.

VIRGINIA'S FIGHTING TEAM WALLOPS HOPES OF YALE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Oct. 2.—Yale football stock took an unexpected drop today when the University of Virginia's clever and well-balanced eleven won a 10-to-0 victory in the bowl.

Capt. Wilson and Guernsey of Yale fumbled a lateral pass and while the ball was rolling around the ground near the Blue's goal line, T. Coolman fell on it for a touchdown, from which goal was kicked. A few minutes later, Thurman, standing on the 40-yard line and with a stiff wind to aid him, booted the ball between the uprights for a perfect field goal.

Yale threatened to score only once and that was the first quarter. After an impressive rush up the field for fifty yards Virginia braced and Guernsey attempted a field goal from the 25-yard line, but the kick went wide. Yale was outplayed offensively and defensively. The Virginians had no difficulty in solving the Blue's passing game. The Yale attack lacked coherence and versatility. The work of the Yale line, though extremely crude, braced at critical junctures. Neither team was able to gain consistently, so the game resolved itself into a punting duel between Thurman of Virginia and Wilson of Yale, with the laurels going to the former.

LONG BEACH SCRUBS ARE BEATEN BY ST. VINCENTS

SMASHING through the Long Beach second team's line and scoring touchdowns at random, the St. Vincents' squad, under the leadership of Ed. Irvine, smothered their opponents on the old Occidental Field yesterday afternoon by a 55 to 0 score.

Long Beach started the game with the kickoff, but the St. Vincent boys rushed through them for long gains and scored their first touchdown within two minutes after the whistle blew. Wilson, playing full, was the one to take the ball across.

Not being satisfied with one touchdown for the quarter, the St. Vincent boys rolled the score to 21 to 0 for the first quarter when Frank Sweetser and Cronin each scored a touchdown.

The rest of the game was merely a repetition of the first quarter.

When the St. Vincent boys had the ball in their possession they invariably tried line bucks and end runs that sent their team swooping from one end of the field to the other. On the other hand, Long Beach never gained over ten yards during the entire game on line-bucks, and their end runs were smeared behind their own line time and again.

Krohnen at left end, and Daze at right half, were the stars of the game. Of the seven touchdowns scored by St. Vincent, Krohnen carried three of them over. Daze converted six of his seven tries, besides scoring a touchdown.

Cadillac EIGHT

A Car Without an Equal in the World

Unequaled flexibility and pickup

The Cadillac not only runs two miles an hour on the high gear, but it has a pick-up that will cause you to marvel. It will also do over sixty miles an hour with ease.

Easiest and safest car to drive

Anybody who can steer a car can drive the Cadillac Eight with confidence. Its control is so sure, so simple. If necessary you can almost stop the car in going around corners and then by a slight pressure of the foot leap ahead without bothering with gears.

Velvety smoothness of motion

The car seems to be propelled by some invisible power. You are not conscious that the motor is running. The car has a life and spirit of its own.

Power beyond all requirements

The dynamometer tests of the Cadillac Eight motor show 80 horsepower. It is alive with power. You will seldom, if ever, have occasion to use it all.

The world's leading motor car

Recent developments in the motor car industry emphasize the fact that the Cadillac sets the standard. A year ago the Cadillac announced a V type motor. Since then a dozen makers have followed the Cadillac lead and others will trail. They have discarded work of years and millions of dollars' worth of machinery to build the V type motor. Following the leader is easier than pioneering, but it lacks the sound foundation of experience. You are safe when you buy a Cadillac Eight—over 18,000 in use prove their dependability.

Where Wheels Turn.

LOS ANGELES MANUFACTURES IN YEAR HUNDRED AND FIFTY-SEVEN MILLIONS.

More than Two Thousand Plants Having a Tremendous Output of Products, and a Hundred New Industries Since First of January in Our Great Metropolitan District.

MANUFACTURED products valued at $157,000,000 will be Los Angeles' output for the year, according to an estimate made yesterday by Industrial Commissioner Kinney of the Chamber of Commerce. There have been recently completed, or are now under way, factory buildings representing a total investment of more than $1,500,000. The number of new industries located here since January 1 is nearly 100.

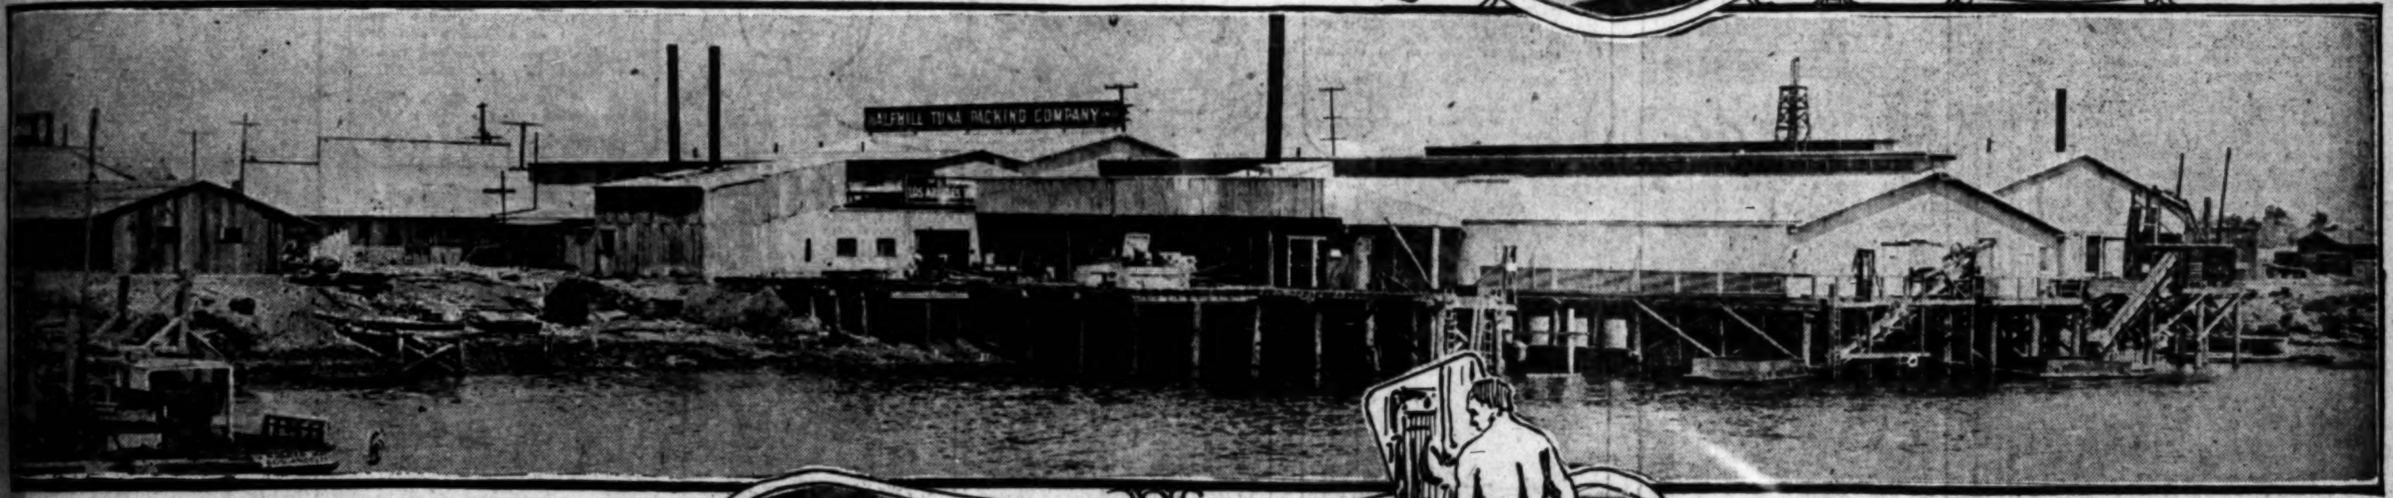
Los Angeles has arrived industrially—emphatically, surely. The big five of equable climate, cheap fuel, abundant raw materials, good transportation facilities, and ideal labor conditions have done and are doing their work. In addition to being the motion-picture capital of the world, the city is rapidly becoming the trade metropolis of not only the Southwest, but a large part of the Pacific Coast.

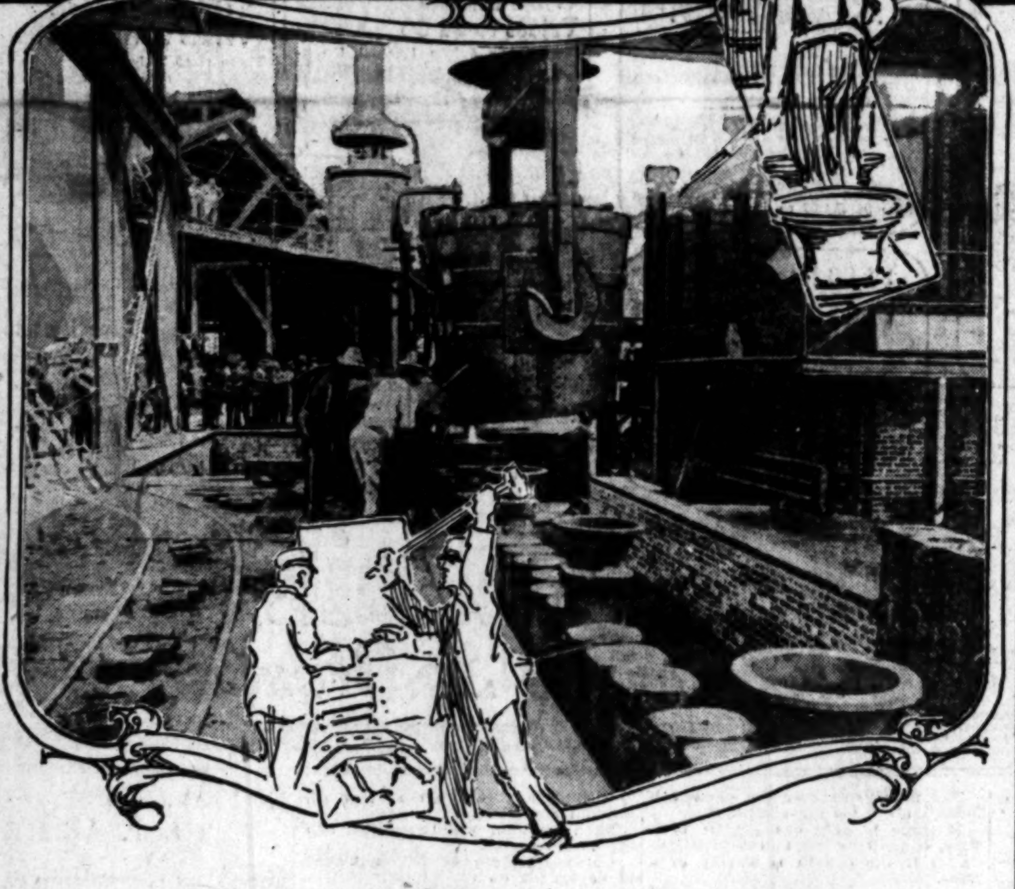
Within the metropolitan district, which includes those cities more directly tributary to Los Angeles, there are, according to a census compiled recently by the Industrial Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, 2166 separate and distinct manufacturing plants, making a total of 875 different articles. Los Angeles, as might be expected, leads the list with 1904 concerns, followed by Long Beach with sixty, Pasadena with fifty-five, and our own harbor district with forty-six.

Though Los Angeles' advances along the path of self-support have been noteworthy, the forging of more effective instruments for increasing sales is a poignant demand of the hour, according to Mr. Kinney. Advertising being the wind to the windmill of business, as an effective advertiser of old time once put it, Mr. Kinney urges its increased use, in selling Los Angeles-made goods to consumers both at home and abroad.

However, the Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Bureau are now "running the metal down" for an instrument of advertising that the manufacturers can use. They have set aside the week beginning November 1 as "home-products' week," a week, in which merchants are asked to display Los Angeles-made goods in their show windows, and also to push their sale.

Even the Making of Dolls Becomes a Local Industry.





Glimpses of unique and great Los Angeles enterprises.

Mme. Georgene Hendren, above, creator of character dolls, now shipped to nearly every State. Center, one of three immense tuna-packing concerns located here within a year, trebling the maximum annual pack to 350,000 cases. Below "blowing-in" steel furnace, first in the Southwest, at Southern California Iron and Steel Company's plant.

During that week will also be held the second of the chamber's "home-products' luncheons," as well as the second of the Industrial Bureau's "new industries' night." The luncheon will be at noon, November 4, and "new industries' night" the evening of the following day. The menu of the luncheon will be made up of eatables produced or manufactured at home, while "new industries' night" will bring together a display in the Coronel room of the chamber of the products of the 100 new concerns that have located here during the year.

No city, however, multifarious its industries, could well afford to build a Chinese wall around itself. We, for instance, can produce motion-pictures more cheaply, quality considered, than any other city or subdivision of the earth on which the sun shines. But, other things we cannot produce as cheaply as more favored districts.

However, as Mr. Kinney puts it, "multiplicity of industries is the backbone of our prosperity." The ice dealer, for instance, is accustomed to do a little fuel selling in the winter time to preserve a high mean of money returns.

STEEL FURNACE AND DOLLS.

Los Angeles is attaining this multiplicity of industries. During the present year, the first steel furnace in the Southwest was "blown in" here by the Southern California Iron and Steel Company. We now have in the Averill Manufacturing Company a maker of dolls, a unique industry for the Pacific Coast. The city is also now putting up more than 60 per cent. of the walnuts that will go into Christmas stockings.

Though oil, autos and motion pictures are this city's large staples, there is another industry that bids fair to make a strong fourth. It is tuna packing; not our youngest, but certainly the fastest-growing of our industries. From nothing, one might say, it has grown until there is now invested around $1,000,000 in packing plants alone, and a pack of this year of 350,000 cases. Three of the largest started this year are the plants of the Halfhill Tuna Company, Long Beach Tuna Packing Company, and

OFFER FORTY CUPS FOR FLOWER SHOW WINNERS.

Handsome Prizes to be Incentive to Growers to Display Their Choicest Blooms—Half an Acre of Floral Loveliness to Include Exhibits from Famous Southland Gardens.

EXHIBITS of cut flowers and plants by amateur growers will divide the honors with those of nurserymen, florists and famous Southern California gardens at the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show. The show will open the 23rd inst. and continue until Saturday night, the 30th inst., in the big four-story building opposite the City Hall recently vacated by the J. W. Robinson Company.

As incentive to growers of roses, chrysanthemums, dahlias, other flowers and plants the management of the show decided yesterday to offer forty-two cups as prizes. In addition, the Judging Committee will be authorized to award prizes to any special exhibit not included in the schedule which, in their opinion, is deserving of recognition.

The exhibits already entered insure a magnificent show both in quality and variety. It will occupy the entire third floor of the building, extending from Broadway to Hill street. This means that there will be virtually half an acre of flowers.

The classifications and cups to be awarded in each class are as follows:

CAR SHORTAGE IN NEW GUISE.

Herald of Prosperity that Makes Delay Easier.

Steamers that will go East Also Jammed Full.

Appeal Made that Shippers Abate Selfishness.

Once again the car shortage is with us, but in a pleasing guise. It is the herald of prosperity, according to notices sent shippers yesterday by Agents Ryler, Pate, Thomas and Bennett of the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Salt Lake and Pacific Electric, respectively.

"You will no doubt be pleased to learn," say these notices, "that business conditions are improving, and to such an extent that the railroads are now experiencing a shortage of cars."

After offering this as the sugar coating to the pill, the railroad men ask the shippers to bestir themselves in such matters as loading cars promptly and to capacity, unloading them well within the free time, and eliminating diversions as far as possible.

Nor are the railroad men indulging in any Delphic utterances on this matter of car shortage. They have done a journeyman dovetailing of facts to facts, and are also specific on incantations that may be efficacious in making two box cars grow where there was but one before.

In fact, two box cars are now needed where there is one, for crops are large and the tonnage offered for east-bound movement is 20 per cent. in excess of last year.

"The proposition is one of heavy crop movements complicated by a lowering of railroad rates, which has diverted much tonnage from the steamship lines," said Assistant General Freight Agent Reinhardt of the Santa Fe yesterday.

"According to the California Walnut Growers' Association, there are 12,500 tons of walnuts to be moved this year. This is 40 per cent. in excess of last year. Other crop movements will be nearly equally heavy. Also, the east-bound movement of crops is not compensated by a west-bound movement of merchandise of similar proportion. In other worls, we are sending many cars east and receiving few."

A further complicator of the situation is the steamship companies' desertion of us when we needed them worst of all. In many cases, freight space on many of the steamships operating from Pacific Coast ports has been contracted ahead for export business covering a good share of October and November.

In the East there is a report that the shortage is 18,000 cars and that buyers of all descriptions of California food products are anticipating long delays in shipments of the various commodities out of the new crop and pack, as a result of the shortage of cars at Pacific Coast points and the lack of freight space on steamships plying from our ports.

APPEAL TO SHIPPERS.

However, loading a car to the maximum of tonnage rating will help some. A car carrying 40,000 pounds will be giving 33 1-3 per cent. more service than a car carrying 30,000 pounds for instance. Also, a car unloaded immediately on receipt means that some other shipper will get a car a day earlier.

Necessarily all this presupposes that the body politic assays very little human nature to the ton. What is expected to happen is that a few will go in for co-operation and the many will not. But those that do will help.

The "I should worry" attitude is all right unless it concerns you. For instance, you order a car, the shipment is boxed and ready for loading and you have some notes at the bank that must be met. The car persists in its absence. The car distributor hears from you, correspondence begins to accumulate, both between you and the railroad and you and the shipper. The days slip merrily along; your notes begin to show signs of a beard. Then the car arrives. But your profit on that shipment has been worn to a razor-edge, if it exists at all.

A thousand others, however, are in the same fix, and you and these thousands of others are the ones the railroads ask to "howl" to your less considerate brothers, also to be considerate of them if you should ever get "flush" on cars.

FEDERAL JOB TO TEXAS DEMOCRAT.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER WILLIAMS TO RETIRE; BERTH FILLED.

The term of United States Commissioner Charles N. Williams will expire next Saturday and as Mr. Williams has expressed a desire to retire immediately, the announcement of the selection of his successor will be made tomorrow. The appointment is within the gift of Judges Bledsoe and Trippet, and the first-named has picked out a good Texas Democrat for the job. If Judge Trippet agrees with his senior coadjutor—and prospects are good that he will—and if the aforesaid Texas Democrat will accept the place—and it is a good bet that he will—there will be an announcement of the successor to Mr. Williams in open court tomorrow morning. The new man has been in Los Angeles county about three years and has relatives here who have been of assistance to him in landing the job.

But for the issuance of a rule by the Attorney-General about a year ago, that thereafter he would allow no deputy United States Clerks to act as United States Commissioners, Mr. Williams would again secure the honor, as he has served long and faithfully and is a Democrat.

The new commissioner will have his office in the Federal Building.

W. M. Van Dyke, clerk of the Federal Court, was a United States Commissioner until the expiration of his term of office, some months ago, when the new rule was put into effect and he was not reappointed.

Financially the job pays a fee for each hearing and is worth about $100 a month.

ALLEGED WALNUT THIEVES.

Jose Rocho, Jose Nacegear, Cruz Leon and Felix Cottello were arrested yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriffs Sweezy, Modie and Cooper on the charge of being implicated in an extensive theft of walnuts in the vicinity of Rivera and Downey. They are in the County Jail.

OR SAFETY OF LIFE AND LIMB.

PREPARING ORDINANCE TO STOP RIDING ON OUTSIDE OF PUBLIC VEHICLES.

County Counsel Hill is delving deeply into the provisions of various regulatory ordinances for passenger-carrying automobiles as adopted by San Francisco, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Pomona and Long Beach. The purpose is to arrange safeguards for the public of Los Angeles county.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors the County Counsel was instructed to investigate the ordinances of other cities and present to the board a similar measure for this county. The Supervisors expressed their belief that the time has come for such action in order to protect human life. They particularly urge that provision be made that there shall be no riding of passengers on the running boards or sitting on the doors of vehicles.

The proposed ordinance will be framed on the theory that persons who make their livings out of the constant use of public highways are subject to regulation, not as a matter of revenue to the county, but as a protection to the traveling public. The State Railroad Commission has jurisdiction regarding rates, but regulation pertaining to public safety is in the province of the County Supervisors.

Probably several weeks will be required before the draft is presented to the board, as various perplexing problems are involved.

NOTED JESUIT TO SPEAK HERE.

BROWNSON SETTLEMENT BRINGS FR. GARESCHE OF ST. LOUIS TO LOS ANGELES.

A noteworthy series of lectures will be given by Rev. Fr. E. T. Garesche of St. Louis on the 18th, 20th and 22nd inst. at the Columbus Auditorium under the auspices of the Brownson Settlement Association. Following will be the subjects of the lectures:

"The Field Today, a Survey of Social Work in the Great Cities of the United States," "The Layman's Opportunities" and "Need and Methods of Union in Catholic Social Work." Tickets may be obtained at Mullen & Bluett's and at the Catholic book stores, near St. Vibiana's Cathedral and St. Vincent's and St. Joseph's churches.

Father Garesche is one of the foremost Catholic social workers in the United States and has been responsible for the success of many important movements, including the Catholic vacation schools. He is the editor of the Queen's Work, a well-known magazine devoted to Catholic activities, which was begun under his direction in 1914. His many books and writings are widely read, the most popular among them being "Your Neighbor and You," and "The Four Gates."

Father Garesche was born in St. Louis in 1876. After completing his college course he took up the study of law and practised that profession for several years. He then entered the Jesuit order and has spent most of his time lecturing and writing. He has made an exhaustive study at first hand of the social conditions of the present day. During the past two years he traveled over 20,000 miles, lecturing and studying conditions in various large cities.

AN AMERICAN WRITER.
Charles Kenyon has written a play called "Husband and Wife," which will be produced in New York within a few weeks. We hope that it is as good as his wonderful piece, "Kindling," for this comes pretty nearly being the great American play.

ON A PAYING BASIS.
A married man in Long Beach made love to four widows and took money from all of them. As a rule when a married man makes love to somebody else it works the other way. It often happens that the other woman gets the money, as he would rather pay than be found out.

NOT DANGEROUS.
It just happens that the only people who would probably be stupid enough to favor the no-party law are the only ones who would be of no benefit to the measure. We refer to the stay-at-home vote. Only a man who is too indifferent to go to the polls at any time could possibly favor this asinine proposition.

ON THE WRONG PLAN.
When the moving picture people sought to control the patents for manufacture they were within their rights, but when they attempted to say that only certain houses should be allowed to exhibit, they became a trust, and the Sherman law was set upon them with results. This is a big industry, but one that will require a great deal of adjustment before it is on a normal basis as a staple.

BOYCOTTING A NATION.
China is quietly but efficiently boycotting Japan as a reprisal for the action of the latter in forcing an obnoxious treaty upon her. Japan's trade with China has fallen off at the rate of $23,000,000 per month. Japan is without remedy in the premises. A government may tax its subjects into bankruptcy but it cannot compel them to buy goods that they do not want, and Chinamen at present do not want anything made or grown in or brought in from Japan.

IN THE AIR.
A Columbia professor says that he has an invention which will make it possible to talk around the globe by wireless telephone. It will be fortunate for the world if this invention breaks out in several places at once. If only one or two people could get hold of the principle, the telephone trusts will be able to suppress or control the new device and the world will either lose the benefit of it, or be compelled to pay a forbidding price. If a number of people master the idea, it is certain to leak out and be given to the public.

GRATEFUL.
James J. Hill in bolstering the half-billion loan to the allies is paying an old debt. Lord Strathcona was at one time the holder of $20,000,000 Great Northern Railway stock. The Schiff-Harriman syndicate had secured enough Great Northern stock to give them, with Lord Strathcona's stock, control of the road. In order to crush Hill and get rid of the Great Northern as a rival to the Northern and the Southern Pacific, Lord Strathcona was offered an enormous price for his stock, far beyond the market value. His reply was: "I have known Mr. Hill for so long and been associated with him in such large enterprises that I do not care to forsake him now. As for money, I have more than I know what to do with. No, I will not sell."

ARTIFICIAL LIGHTNING.
If it be true, as stated in the dispatches, that there has been perfected an electric invention for the destruction of submarines, which has already been used by Great Britain to destroy over fifty German underwater boats, the result will be to bring into commission many dreadnaughts now idle in British harbors.

Some time ago a paragraph was in circulation to the effect that a means had been developed of gathering electric fluids from the atmosphere, creating artificial lightning and hurling it a distance of five miles. If this be true and if the machinery of generation and propulsion can be carried in a Zeppelin, it would mean an end of war, for it would mean an extermination of armies and navies, forts and cities. Ajax might successfully defy the lightning but Ajax is not in command of either the German or the allied armies.

THIRTY-SIX BILLIONS.
The French Chamber of Deputies has voted a credit of $1,338,940,000 to carry on the war for the next three months. That will make the present national debt of France over twelve billions of dollars, or twelve times that of the United States, or sixteen billions of dollars if the war lasts another year.

Great Britain at her present rate of expenditure will, by that time, owe twenty billions of dollars.

Together this brace of borrowers will owe an amount equal to thirty-six times the sum total of our national debt. The entire revenue of France and England on the present basis of taxation will—after the necessary expenses of civil government are provided for—be insufficient to pay more than half the interest on a debt of thirty-six billions of dollars. As for paying any part of the principal that will be utterly out of the question.

HOW SHALL WE BE PREPARED?
All patriotic citizens are in accord that this republic should be in a position to adequately defend itself again foreign aggression. Our navy must always be our first line of defense, for if we can control the oceans along our two coasts we are practically exempt from the attacks of any hostile nation. How far ought we to go then in providing a navy sufficiently strong for this purpose?

To say we must have a navy superior in battleships, armaments, men and equipment to any other navy afloat is to suggest a financial burden for our people that few of our citizens believe the future is likely to warrant. Yet to have any navy, however efficient, that is exceeded by the navy of a foreign power, is not to have that immunity from attack on our coasts on which our safety some day may depend.

Our coast line is too long to be defended entirely by forts from Maine to Florida and from Seattle to San Diego. The cost of such a system of defense would be greater than the building of an adequate navy. For the strength of such a chain will be the strength of its weakest link. One point unguarded would render the whole protection futile.

Aircraft and submarines offer a less expensive protection for a nation whose sole purpose is self-defense. But advances in naval systems of warfare are very uncertain. We know not what a day may bring forth. Submarines to be effective against fast cruisers and destroyers must attain a speed that so far has not been found mechanically possible. When it comes to building aeroplanes we have few statistics as yet to prove their usefulness against invading sea fleets. We should need an overwhelming number of them to offset an inferiority in battleships and cruisers.

So far in the European war the big battleship has remained the deciding factor in the strength of navies. This is the heaviest item of expense in the navies of all nations and the fearful loss in life and equipment when one such is sunk has to be taken into calculation. We want a coast protection that in fact—not on paper or in the imagination—will be a coast protection. How to obtain this without loading ourselves down with staggering bills to pay is the problem at present before our naval experts. And though we might not grudge the expense, how are we to be sure that an adequate navy in nineteen-fifteen will be an adequate in nineteen-twenty? Science, like time and tide, waits for no man. Nor does a declaration of war.

ANTICS OF A SOCIALIST SKINDICATE.
Spot cash brotherly love and money-down Socialistic "all for each and each for all" pays some people if it fails to pay others. Whenever a tract of land passes into the ownership of a halo-crowned, glory-radiating, love-your-neighbor-and-your-neighbor's-wife Socialist its advance in values is as rapid and certain as the swift and intrepid tread of a jackass toward a peck of oats, or a Johnson anti-party advocate toward a commissionership.

M. W. Beck, who came from Fresno to join one of Brother Harriman's higher-life colonies, instead of contenting himself with living ecstatically by cultivating his intrinsic spirituality under the tutelage of the highbrowed Harriman, went poking around among the books. He says he found that the Mescal Water and Land Company, organized by the benevolent Socialist, Harriman, and his co-anti-religionists, bought 160 acres of land in December, 1913, for $4000. Ten months afterward the brotherly-love skindicate organized the Llano del Rio Colony Company which (as Beck reports) bought for $24,000 from the Mescal company the land for which the latter paid $4000.

Beck declares that the Mescal company then bought four other tracts for $47,000 and sold them to the Colony company for $80,000. The profit of $53,000 made by the Mescal company probably went to the Brotherhood of Man associates, each dollar singing as it went, "Farewell, vain world, I'm going home."

The Mescal company was well named, for its "spirit" is evident in all its transactions.

The ludicrous aspect of the situation is that when the colonist from Fresno, after overhauling the books, wanted his money back, the skindicate had him arrested for an attempt at extortion.

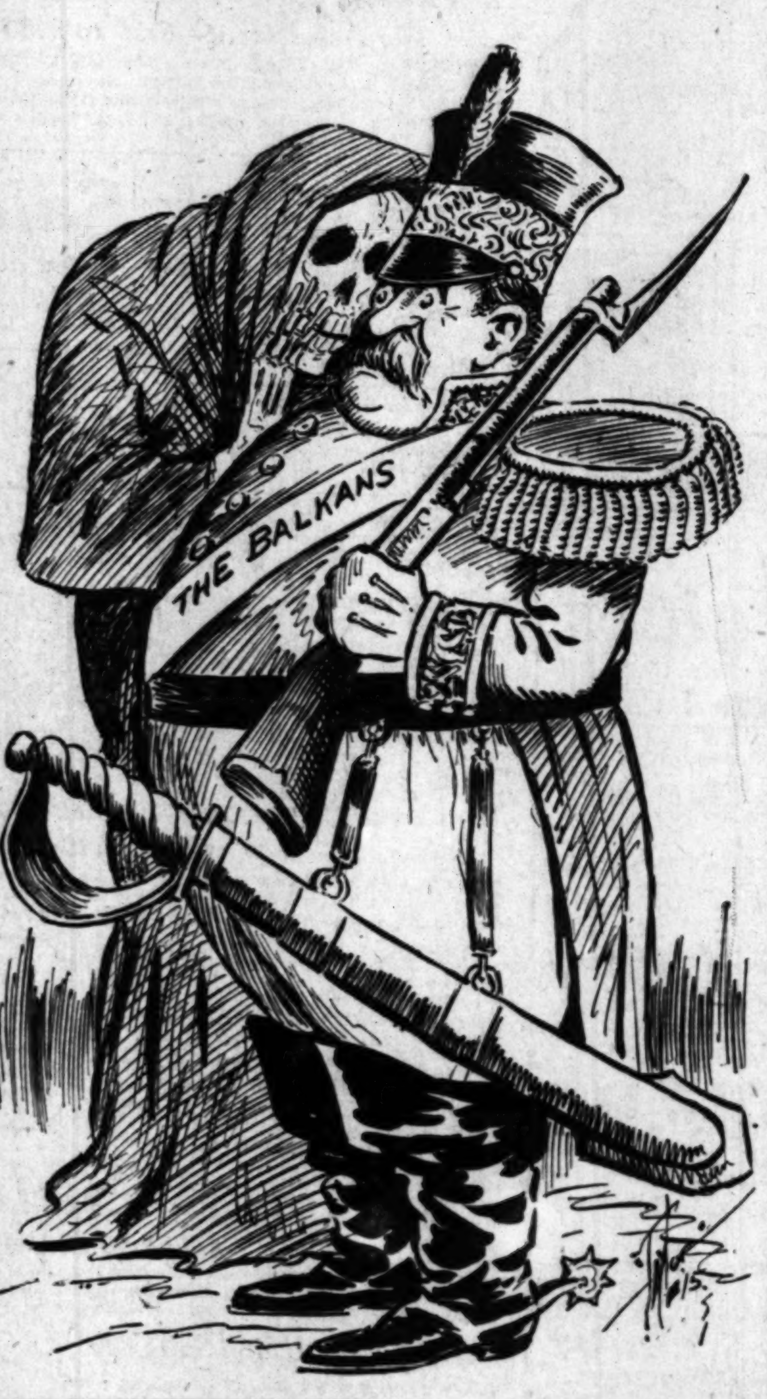
TAFT ON TEMPERANCE.
Because of his sound common sense, his conserved experience of men and affairs and his judicial poise the words of William Howard Taft always command public attention. On the subject of prohibition, one of the most hotly-debated questions of the day, Mr. Taft has spoken in no uncertain voice. He has spoken as one free from all bias. From the stand of a practical man he has declared his belief that hard and fast prohibition is not the best weapon for fighting the drink evil but that local option is in every respect better adapted for stamping out the curse of drunkenness.

Mr. Taft possesses two of the most valuable requisites of statesmanship, soundness in judgment and temperance in expression. He has shown these qualities in all his public and private acts. That he has at heart the true cause of temperance, that hating excesses as he does he must abominate overindulgence in any form, will give his words due weight with all those who earnestly desire to see America a sober nation but are uncertain as to the best methods for attaining this end.

It is not indeed on the end but on the means that our people are divided. The time has gone by when any self-respecting citizen looks upon alcoholic indulgence as a minor indiscretion. The "two-bottle man," rather admired in the eighteenth century, has now become a social pariah.

Mr. Taft himself is a strict teetotaler. The American nation is already the most sober upon earth. And the best records here have not been made under total prohibition but under the local option law. Human nature, as it is, must be taken into account by those who would have human nature as it should be. And one of its chief characteristics is that ten men can be led more easily than one man can be driven. From an excess of zeal prohibitionists may damage their cause. The appellate court has already had to declare some ultra dry laws as unconstitutional.

War Orders.



BRITAIN'S BLOCKADE OF AMERICA.
British Orders of Council have taken the place of acts of Parliament and under the authority granted by the "Defense of the Realm" act, the British Council has established a blockade not only of the open seas, but of American ports.

American manufacturers are importers from British colonies—or would be such importers if great Britain would permit them—of crude rubber, ferro-manganese, tin and wool. But Britain has declared an embargo on all these articles to America unless the American manufacturer gives a satisfactory guarantee, secured by a bond, that he will not sell the goods manufactured from such articles to anybody except Americans or citizens of the allied countries.

No wool can be shipped from Australia to Boston unless a guarantee is given that the blankets made from it shall never be spread on German beds.

No tin can go from Australia or the Straits Settlements to New York unless it is made clear that no Berlin dog will ever have its tail kettled with a can made from it by an American manufacturer.

No rubber will be shipped from Ceylon or British Guiana to an American port, if there shall be gum shoes or storm coats or auto tires made from it for German consumption.

American cotton exporters must sign an agreement that they will sell cotton only to citizens of the allied countries, or else they will be blacklisted by the British government, and if blacklisted, no Englishman or Frenchman or Russian or Italian will ever buy cotton of them.

Verily, our stepmotherland overlooks no opportunities.

NO FAITH, NO HOPE.
The godless tragedy in the Mosely family reported in day before yesterday's paper is full of despair. The story of the loss of faith and its sustaining influence, and the hopelessness that must come upon a normal mind when all religion is denied, is an acute reminder of what the world is losing in its new creed of belittling Christianity.

In that tragedy a young woman, who had hitherto always found solace and strength in faith and prayer, married a professed atheist, who ridiculed her faith in God. He had a ready tongue and succeeded in robbing her of the very foundations of her life. Then came suicide, and death for three members of the family; for with faith gone there was no hope and without hope there is nothing left to live for.

There has been a growing tendency, more than a tendency, for many years now to belittle God, to deny Him altogether, or to portray Him as a merciless monster, satirically indifferent to the fate of individuals.

The flood of Russian literature now poured out upon the American public is nearly all of this type. Russia, always regarded as the most sincerely religious of nations, strong in simple faith. And in Anglo-Saxon literature, when God is not actually denied, He is spoken of with familiar levity, flippant blasphemy, well calculated to steal from religion its solemnity and reverence.

Bernard Shaw makes high game of religion in his "Androcles and the Lion" and, while professing merely to point out the absurdities of Christians rather than the weakness of Christianity, the very style of the play succeeds in making all religion seem foolish and futile.

This attitude of literature is regarded as strong, daring, virile, independent, and there are many imitators. But the world has not yet come to the place where it can read such things without a qualm of conscience and a sense of irreverence. The world is still fundamentally religious, notwithstanding the onslaughts upon its faith by so-called scientific minds, and religion is still stronger than science, notwithstanding the paucity of good Christians.

And it is well to remember that the great majority of the world's noblest and most famous men have been religious. Indeed are still religious. The best and greatest minds have never dared in their arrogance to deny God, and if it is true that Christianity is belittled by the littleness and pettiness of Christians generally, it is also true that Christianity is the firm and irrevocable faith of the majority of the great ones of the earth.

There are comparatively few men who dare proclaim themselves atheists, and these always leave us with a sense of the abnormal. They are usually a specious and futile type, repellent in a weak, vague way. The man who amounts to anything hesitates to deny the Deity, even when he is no churchman. That uncertain, uncomfortable thing called conscience which is given to us all, keeps us disturbed and undecided on the great illusive question long after we have concluded that our actions shall not be hampered by any slavish regard for an effete religion. Effete religion! A phrase specious mouths love to formulate, even as they feel in their bones that religion is the strongest and best force in the world today, no matter how much man may have repudiated it.

Religion, faith, is natural to us. Skepticism is cultivated and unreal. And while many of us are pretty poor exponents of our faith, well we know that in our hour of trial, when calamity falls upon us, there are few indeed who do not cry out in a last wild ring of despair to that Deity whom we have erstwhile ignored.

IT IS IMPERATIVE NOW.
There never has been a time when it was more important for us to preserve to our own producers the great home market which has heretofore been absorbing more than 90 per cent. of our domestic production. The pressure for markets when the European war is over will be terrific. The antagonisms of the war will for a time handicap the two groups of combatants in the markets of their recent foes. Moreover, the sacrifices of the war are such that the people of all these countries will fall far short of their normal consuming capacity. They will be looking for markets in which to sell, not to buy. It is indicated that Great Britain may resort to a protective policy as a means of raising revenue and of achieving an industrial independence which has stood Germany so well in hand during the present struggle.

If the restoration of our protective policy was important before the war in Europe began, it is imperative now. The party in power cannot resort to protection without abandoning the chief issue upon which it was elected and repudiating its national platforms of the last fifty years.

The leaders of the party, having 1916 in mind, may be disposed to change front on the protective issue, but it is hardly to be expected that acceptance of the Republican tariff theory can be made the Democratic caucus programme. Yet the anti-protection cause was never before so weak in the United States as it is today—not even in 1894, when the party in power was routed on its tariff policy.

THE KILL-PARTY CROWD.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

"It gets my goat how they put it across," remarked Dennis Casey, the retired contractor.

"What seems to be whimpering through your headlights on this otherwise felicitous day?" inquired I, cheerfully.

"How this bunch of Governors get by with the story that their kill-party law isn't what it is; isn't what we think it is; isn't even what we think we think it is. If it has as many jokers as that I'd be again' it even if I was a Progressive—which, thank God, I am not."

"You're old-fashioned, Dennis. You want to get away from the idea that all there is of life is a scrap between the Democrats and the Republicans. This is an age of individualism. We put the man before the party. All you know is that the Republican party freed the slaves and the Democratic party ripped the gizzard out of the tariff. You don't give a whoop for either of those results. Our Governor is not a party; he is a man."

"He was a fat party with goo-goo eyes when I saw him last," interrupted Casey.

"He is not a party," I continued, "he is an institution."

"Yes; an institution for the blind," snorted the contractor. "What business has he got in butting in and putting a crimp in our gr-rand old Constitution? Does he think he's a bigger guy than your Uncle Sam? The Constitution gives the people the eternal right to get together to talk politics, to pick out somebody to run for office. According to your fat friend a dozen men cannot get together and do what one man can do. Is that good sense? It is not."

"But you can still have your party, Dennis," I persisted. "You can vote for your Democratic President and Congressman—if you want to, and you can have your convention, and make up your party platform."

"Sure, I can, but what kind of wild animals do I associate with? A Prohibitionist who bamboozled a nomination as a Republican is a better member of my Democratic convention than I am. I am on the committee on resolutions. Th' other skates on the committee are a Progressive officeholder and a Republican who sneaked off with a Prohibitionist nomination. I am for free trade and one more chanst for Wilson. I am a good Democrat in the convention of me own party, but what happens? The majority of the stiffs put in a platform that indorses that peerless statesman, Hiram Windbag Johnson, and insists on the immediate suppression of the infamous liquor traffic—and me that am that thirsty this minute I could drink out of a trough! What kind of a Democratic convention is that? Supposin' ye are a Methodist—which ye are not. How would ye like to have your church creed made by a feverish Sivinth Day Adventist and a greasy delegate from the Mormon church? Th' gang of pirates at Sacramento have taken th' cross from me party ballot and th' next thing'll be to pull th' cross from me church. 'Tis only a Progressive who wants an office that can turn handsprings fast enough to light in the Democratic, the Republican and the Prohibitionist conventions."

"But don't you know that parties are entirely unnecessary?" persisted I.

"I do not," retorted the contractor. "Man doesn't travel alone. It's as natural for him to have a party as it is to have a gur-rl. Isn't it better for a thousand of us to get together and ask Judge Hogan to run for office on a pledge of reduced taxation than it is for little Spike Brady of the gashouse gang to jump in on his own account and make th' race on the private platform of 'Steal all ye can and spend all ye can't.' If Judge Hogan doesn't live up to his specifications his party is held responsible and he knows it. The thousand of us can go to him and make him show his hand; but if Brady gets in he can steal ye blind and when ye make a roar about it Spike can put his thumb to his nose and say it's none of your damned business."

"But don't you think it is ridiculous for you to run a man for the Council, for instance, simply because he is a Democrat?" said I.

"I do not," returned the contractor. "He is a candidate of somebody and represents something even if his politics have nothing to do with his job. A thousand Democrats have said he was th' strong man of the party. He has that much behind him anyhow. Th' party that named him want him elected, so that he can't be a weak or incompetent man. But if ye have thirty or forty candidates in a free-for-all th' man that can promise the most, lie the most and steal the most is like to get th' job."

"But if he is crooked you can put him out," insisted I.

"Ye can not," retorted the Celt. "Look at your man Johnson. Ye're broke with paying taxes. I know ye had to borrow the money to meet ye'r last assessment. But what did ye do? Ye sat down and let your fat-faced Governor walk off with the bacon. He's costing ye $18,000,000 a year. Next season he'll be the twenty-million-dollar beauty. Don't he look it? It's costing ye twice as much to live in California as any other State in the Union. Maybe it's worth it, but I dinnaw. So long as the Governor does not have to run as a party candidate against the centralized vote of another party he can beat you. He has such a fat crowd of commissioners, wardens, clerks and pay-roll pensioners that ye can't shake them out of th' tree. If a man can get into a job as a nonpartisan and then have partisanship done away with he is like to hang on forever. If a nest of hornets get into your barn 'tis hard to poke them out."

"Oh, if that's how you feel about it go ahead and vote that way," exclaimed I, pettishly.

"I will that," said the contractor, grimly, as he removed his collar and took his seat in the barber's chair.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

GOLDEN DAYS.

I'm glad to be living when autumn is giving a gingerous snap to the air; my labors I tackle with jubilant cackle, and pause not a moment to swear. In summer a fellow feels yawny and yellow, the heat takes the vim from his form; he's fussing and fretting, and swatting and sweating, the days are so stupidly warm. But summer is ended and climate that's splendid, refreshing and mild, is on tap, and there's no excuse for—the world has no use for the languid and indolent chap. So put on your gaiters and gather the taters, and saw up some wood while you may, oh, don your goloshes and harvest the squashes, and fill up the corncrib with hay. Get busy! remember the storms of December, the snow and the sleet and the slush! Be wise as a wizard, prepare for the blizzard, and bank up the house with a rush. Soon winter will jump us, and then when the rumpus of riotous weather begins, the man who got ready in days calm and steady will look on the tempest with grins. WALT MASON.

TRUE HEART'S CONTENT.

Don't ever seek for happiness across the land or sea,
For Love is in the home-place, where the promised Love would be;
No shadows of the world-strife where, in the twilight late,
The home-latch clinks a welcome and you enter Love's own gate.

A green world around you—a star-bright firmament,

Love's cloudless stars to guide you to a world-home, heaven-bright.

A Sabbatarian Nut.

[Judge:] Orville L. Kiplinger, chaplain of the Michigan City (Ind.) reformatory, tells the following instance of a scrupulous conscience:

Some years ago an insane patient was given to the immodest, not to say expensive, habit of tearing his clothing from him and converting jeans, ticking, denim or whatever the clothes were made of, into carpet rags.

The prison physician remonstrated with the shredding nut as follows:

"Say, old man, you're certainly making a lot of unnecessary trouble for us. We don't think it's fair. Wouldn't you like to make money?"

The insane man emphatically averred his willingness to earn ready cash.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do," resumed the doctor. "I will give you 10 cents for every day you don't tear your clothes off. Eh?"

The offender assented eagerly, and started in to make good. Tuesday his clothes remained intact; Wednesday, ditto; Friday and Saturday the same. His reformation was the talk of the institution.

But on Sunday morning the garments the crazy man had worn all week were torn into strips and thrown to the four winds of his cell.

"What does this mean?" asked the indignant physician. "I thought I had you hired to keep your clothes on and—"

"Well," said the prisoner, innocently, "you didn't suppose I was going to work on Sunday, did you?"

WRESTS SECRETS FROM THE STORM-SWEPT SUN.

Director of Mt. Wilson Observatory, After Ten Years' Work, Declares Nature of Spots on the Mighty Orb. Great New Reflector Expected to Reveal Million Unknown Stars and Plumb Deepest Space.

THAT sun spots are regions of reduced temperature in the solar atmosphere; that there are magnetic fields in the sun spots caused by electric vortices and that a sun spot is a solar storm resembling a terrestrial tornado, in which the hot vapors whirling at high velocity are cooled by expansion, is the announcement made by Prof. George Ellery Hale, director of the Mt. Wilson Solar Observatory of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, after ten years' work.

The result of Dr. Hale's decade of laborious research with the powerful instruments on Mt. Wilson, made at this time, is highly significant. Within another twelve months the great 100-inch reflecting telescope, the largest ever constructed, will be in operation, when, it is believed, mysteries of the heavens will be revealed that have remained hidden all these years. A sixty-inch reflecting telescope is used by the scientists on Mt. Wilson now.

The study of the sun has been the subject of greatest consideration at the observatory on Mt. Wilson, and in the laboratory in Pasadena.

"The sun," asserts Dr. Hale, "is the only one of all the stars near enough to the earth to be studied in detail. Each of the others is reduced to an infinitesimal point of light which the most powerful telescopes cannot magnify into an appreciable disk. If we wish to study what a star really is we must approach it closely, and this is possible only in case of the sun.

ANALYZING THE RAYS.

"Sun spots, though known and studied for 300 years, offered most promising opportunities for research. Evidently there was much to be learned from an inspection of their spectra, which had never been attempted with adequate instrumental means. To produce a spectrum, the light of a sun spot was passed through a narrow slit, and thence to a lens of eighteen foot focal length, which rendered the rays parallel; they then met polished metal, ruled with 15,000 lines to the inch. This resolved the composite light into its parts and returned the rays through the lens, which formed an image of the long spectrum bands on a photographic plate below the slit.

"With this spectograph, constructed in our shop in Pasadena, and mounted for use with the Snow telescope, it soon became an easy matter to photograph sun-spot spectra. The curious widened lines, the much-debated bands and the strengthened and weakened lines were thus accurately recorded for study.

"What is the cause of these peculiarities?

"The first step was to test by laboratory experiments the hypothesis that some of them were due to reduced temperature of the sun vapors. In studying such phenomena the investigator is in a position much like that of an archeologist endeavoring to translate an unknown language. A bilingual inscription, containing an expression of the same fact in both characters is what he required, and this a suitably equipped physical laboratory is often capable of supplying.

CHEMICAL COMPOSITION.

"In the solar spectrum we can photograph about 20,000 lines, distributed irregularly from the red to the violet, and throughout the invisible regions beyond. Perhaps some of these are due to iron. To settle this it is only necessary to vaporize iron between the poles of an electric arc and photograph its spectrum beside that of the sun.

"Some 2000 solar lines are found to coincide in position with lines of iron. These lines are given only by iron, we may conclude at once that this element exists in the solar atmosphere.

"So much for the chemical identification of iron. We may next interpret the peculiarities of sun spots. We suspected that certain changes in the relative intensities of the lines were due to a reduced temperature of the spot vapors. To test this, the spectrum of iron vapor in an electric arc was photographed at different temperatures. Some of the lines were found to strengthen and others to weaken relatively, as the temperature was reduced. When compared with iron lines in sun spots, the changes are seen to be of the same kind. The same test applied to vapors of chromium, nickel, manganese, titanium and other metallic elements, previously identified in spots, gave the same results. It thus became clear that sun spots actually are regions of reduced temperature in solar atmosphere."

Dr. Hale states that the next step taken bore out this conclusion, and that if the solar vapors are cooler in spots than is the general atmosphere of the sun, it may be possible for some of them to unite chemically. Experiments in the laboratory identified titanium oxide and calcium hydride. It was then that the scientists connected with the Mt. Wilson observatory began to form a new picture of the regions of the solar atmosphere and to recognize the chemical changes at work in the sun vapors.

PICTURING CLOUD MASSES.

Meanwhile systematic work was in progress with the spectro-heliograph, which gives images of the sun in monochromatic light, showing the distribution of some one vapor in its atmosphere. The instrument was put to work making pictures of the great [illegible] clouds in the solar atmosphere. These were first observed many years ago as solar prominences, rising high above the sun's limb at total eclipses, when the bright light of the disk was cut off by the moon. The spectro-heliograph permit the prominences to be photographed on any clear day, but discloses extensive clouds of calcium, hydrogen, iron and other vapors, which do not rise high enough to be observed in elevation at the limb, but are recorded (as flocculi) in projection aainst the bright disk.

It was discovered that the gaseous sun does not rotate like the solid earth, on which all points in all latitudes complete a rotation in twenty-four hours. It turns more and more slowly as the poles are approached, points in high altitudes lagging behind those nearer the equator.

"If this could happen on the earth," asserts Dr. Hale, "Jacksonville, which is almost due south of Cleveland, would be far to the east of it twenty-four hours hence.

"If we could see a single sun spot from a point beneath the solar surface, it would probably resemble a terrestrial waterspout or tornado, though its cross-section, instead of being a few hundred feet, would be hundreds of miles. The strength of the magnetic field produced increases with the diameter of the spots. The field is strongest near the center of the spot and decreases to very low intensity at points just outside the edge of the penumbra.

"It has long been known that sun spots usually occur in pairs and our study indicates that the two principal spots in such a group are almost invariably of opposite polarity. The natural inference is that we are here dealing with a semicircular vortex (like half a smoke ring,) the two ends of which, coming to the sun's surface from below, appear to whirl in opposite directions. This hypothesis is still under investigation."

MILLION MORE STARS?

In regard to the 100-inch reflecting telescope, Dr. Hale says:

"To the unaided vision, about 5000 stars would be visible on a clear night in the entire sky. According to a recent estimate by Chapman and Melotte, the heavens contain 219,000,000 stars brighter than the twentieth magnitude, which are within the range of our sixty-inch reflector.

"If the indications afforded by Chapman's figures can be applied to fainter objects, there is reason to believe that the 100-inch telescope would search out nearly 100,000,000 still fainter stars, many of them lying beyond the universe as now known. The inconceivably great distance of these stars makes them of peculiar interest and importance in the study of the magnitude and structure of the sidereal system."

Dr. Hale asserts that the 100-inch reflector should contribute in large degree to the solution of other questions, as it would collect more than twice as much light as the sixty-inch reflector, and for all classes of work this would mean a great gain. In citing an example of this he says the number of stars whose spectra could be photographed on a sufficient scale to determine their radial motions would be trebled.

"Quite as important," adds Dr. Hale, "would be the possibility of photographing the spectra of the brighter stars with high dispersion. However, no predictions can be made as to possible new results, as the capacities of the new 100-inch reflector are still untried and the course of research in any field can never be clearly foreseen.

"Stellar problems are innumerable, but the work already begun demands first consideration. We must learn beyond doubt whether light is scattered in space, and measure the amount of scattering for unit distance, if a positive conclusion is reached. This once accomplished, the determination of a star's redness, after due consideration of the scattering and absorbing effect of its own atmosphere, will afford a measure of its distance, thus providing an invaluable means of sounding the greatest depths of the universe."

Solar promipences eighty thousand miles high,

Photographed on Mt. Wilson, where the spectroheliograph makes such remarkable photography possible on any clear day. These prominences were first observed rising high above the sun's limb at total eclipses.

COUNTY BEAUTIFYING AWARDS MADE PUBLIC.

Pasadena Gets Grand Prize for Municipality with the Most Beautiful Floral Effects of Year—East Whittier Grammar School Captures Special Prize for Best Improved Grounds, Also First Prize in its Class.

ENDING perhaps the greatest beautification movement ever undertaken by the district schools of any county of the United States, the judges in the Los Angeles County Beautifying Contest made their final reports yesterday, awarding a total of $8000 in prizes to successful contestants.

Pasadena was awarded the grand prize of $1000 for the municipality having the most beautiful floral effects of the year, while the East Whittier grammar school captured the special prize of $400 for the best-improved school grounds, as well as first place in its class, and the Shakespeare Club of Pasadena the $400 prize for the prettiest women's club grounds.

The adjudging of the grand prize to Pasadena was the result of an ensemble of pretty school grounds, including the High School, which captured first place in its class, and the Jefferson, Madison and Longfellow schools, which tied for first prize in one of the six grammar school classes.

A special prize of $25 was awarded by the three judges, E. H. Lahee of Los Angeles, W. S. Kienholz of Pasadena and W. B. McQueen of Long Beach, to the Las Virgines school at Calabasas, where the teacher, Miss Mattie Wolfe, and her six pupils made a garden in the barren foothill soil, regardless of the fact that the tiny workers were forced to carry water a mile for irrigation.

The awards to the county schools and clubs will be made at 2 o'clock next Saturday afternoon at Exposition Park, in conjunction with the awards to the city school and home gardeners. These last will not be made public until that time, or possibly the day before, as a large attendance of the interested is desired.

HUNDREDS COMPETE.

Inaugurated by the 1915 General Committee as part of its plan of making the city and county beautiful for the reception of exposition-year visitors, 268 schools outside of Los Angeles were enlisted in the Los Angeles County Beautifying Contest, as well as twenty-one women's clubs, and various municipalities. In each class four prizes, ranging from $400 down to $74, were offered, with the additional grand prize of $1000 for the municipality having the most beautifully-decorated school and club grounds.

Expenditures of more than $100,000 are estimated by the three judges to have been made by the various competitors in the county beautifying contest. This includes planting, as well as the putting in of cement sidewalks and curbing, and, in a number of cases, the erection of summer houses, pergolas and other garden fixtures.

So keen was the competition that in some cases the judges found a decision impossible and divided the prizes among several schools. Letters from teachers and public-spirited citizens to the judges are enthusiastic in praise of the movement and urge its continuance on a permanent basis.

"The benefit of this movement is inestimable," said the judges in their report, " and suggests, in view of the small cost compared to the permanent beauty effects and educational advantages obtained, the continuance of the work so auspiciously begun. We suggest a plan whereby every school in the county could be brought into the first-prize class by each year eliminating the first prize winners for the next two years, thus giving the previously outclassed a chance to catch up with their advanced competitors."

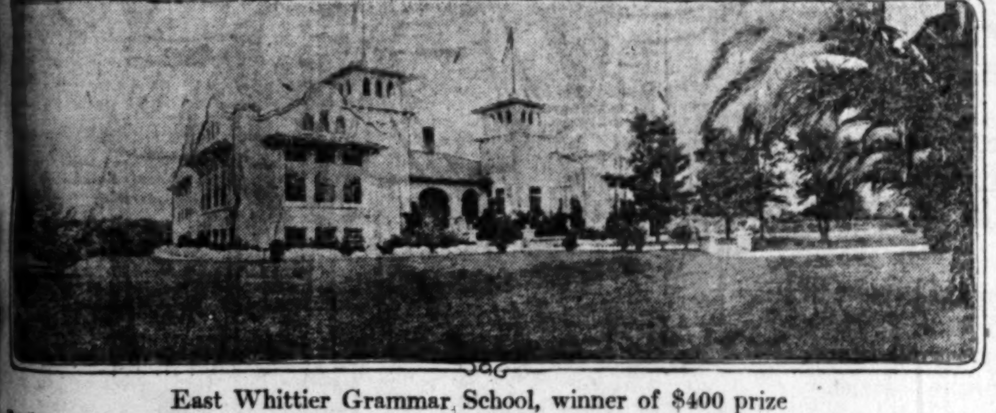
THE PRIZES.

With prizes of $400 for firsts, $200 for seconds, $100 for thirds, and $75 for fourths, the waards to high schools in class No. 1 were: Inglewood, first; Covina Union, second; Venice Union, third; and Montebello, fourth; and in class No. 2, Pasadena, first; Santa Monica, second; Monrovia, third; and South Pasadena, fourth.

In class No. 3 of the grammar schools, the awards were: Beverly Hills, first, $400; Baldwin Park, second, $200; Owensmouth, third, $100; Zelzah, fourth, $75; class No. 4, Palms, first; Puente school, Hudson, second; Lawndale, third; Charter Oak, fourth; class No. 5, East Whittier, first; Artesia, second; San Fernando, third; Van Nuys, fourth; class No. 6, Greenwood school, Montebello, first; Glendora, second; San Dimas, third; San Gabriel, fourth; class No. 7:Marengo school, South Pasadena, first; Wild Rose school, Monrovia, second; Central school, Redondo Beach, third; and Central school, Venice, fourth.

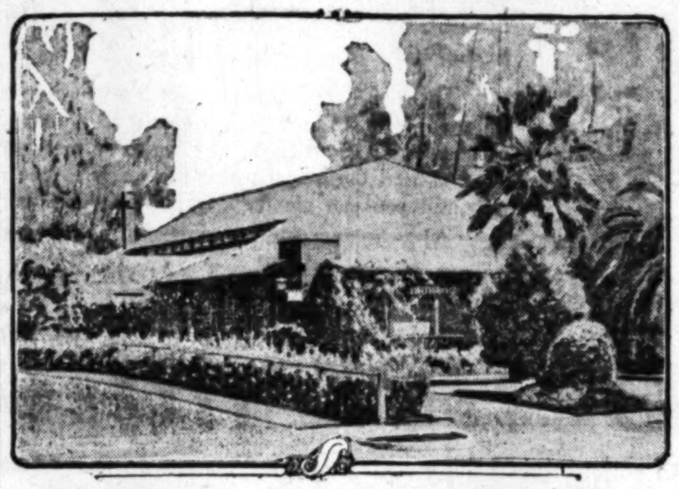
In the closing class, No. 9, the acute competition led to a general division of prizes. The first prize was divided between the Jefferson, Madison, and Longfellow schools, Pasadena; while Horace Mann, John C. Fremont, and the Temple avenue schools, Long Beach, split the second prize; the San Antonio and Washington schools, Pomona, the third prize; and the Grant and Garfield schools, Santa Monica, the fourth.

In the women's club class, the Shakespeare of Pasadena won the first prize of $400; the Woman's Club of Santa Monica the second of $200, the Woman's Club of Pomona the third of $100, and the East Whittier Woman's Club the fourth prize of $75.



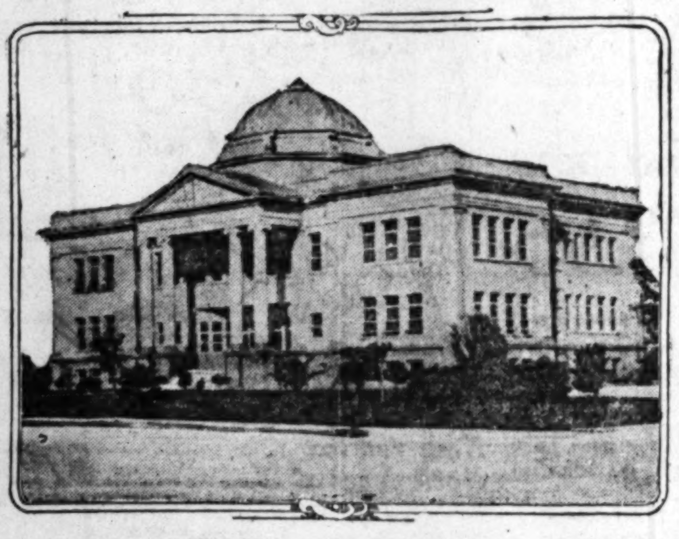
East Whittier Grammar School, winner of $400 prize

For the most beautiful schoolhouse and grounds, without regard to size, in the county; also of first prize of $400 in its class.



Prettiest women's club grounds in the county,

The home of the Shakespeare Club, Pasadena, which wins a prize of $400, and is one of the contributors to the Crown City's capture of the grand prize of $1000 for the beautiful floral effects in municipalities outside of Los Angeles.



Van Nuys grammar school,

The youngest district in competition, winner of the fourth prize of $75 in its class. Four San Fernando Valley schools were prize winners—Owensmouth and San Fernando, both third, with prizes of $100 in their classes; and Zelzah, a $75 prize in its class.

FIGHT LAUNCHED ON STORM DRAIN.

LEGALITY OF ASSESSMENT IS FORMALLY ASSAILED.

Property Owners Make Formal Objections Referring to Big Madison-Virgil Conduit, and Another Protest is Circulated in Hollywood. Big Municipal Battle Expected.

A protest attacking the correctness and legality of the assessment for the Madison-Virgil storm drain was filed at the City Hall yesterday and opens what promises to be one of the biggest municipal fights staged in recent years. The protest is signed by 251 property owners, among others Col. Griffith J. Griffith and former United States Senator Cole. Fully as many property owners will sign another protest which is now being circulated in the Hollywood district.

The Madison-Virgil storm drain is the first of the great storm drains projected by the city, and has been completed. It goes through Griffith Park and leads into two or three branches of the Bimini sloughs. The protesting property owners say it is of no benefit to their properties.

The assessment district covers the foothills surrounding Griffith Park, extending on the east to the hills including Crestmont and as far as Silver Lake reservoir. The assessments aggregate $257,000, covering a district of approximately two miles.

The hill people say there is no reason why they should pay for this storm drain, as it is a mile from their vicinity. The people in the valley say the storm drain takes water in at a higher level than the basin and dumps it in the Bimini slough, thus making conditions worse than before the drain was constructed.

The protestants are represented by Col. R. L. Lightfoot and Ingle Carpenter, who state the assessment is illegal because no benefit will be conferred on the property of their clients, in that the natural water courses which carried off the storm waters were adequate and the property was thoroughly drained.

It is contended the flow of water which has interfered with a portion of the protestants' property was directly caused by the city authorities making street crossings over such natural water courses and failing to provide adequate means for the passage of water beneath them. Also, it is declared these natural water courses were dammed or obstructed without the consent of the property owners and against their desires.

It is alleged the work has not been performed according to the contract, or in a good, substantial manner, and that the consideration paid is exorbitant.

It is stated by one of the large property owners that plans are on file in the City Engineer's office calling for storm drains approximating in cost $30,000,000. In Hollywood alone, he says, property owners will be called upon to pay assessments of about $10,000,000.

OVER-SEAS CLUB GATHERING.

The British Over-seas Club will meet at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening in Fraternal Brotherhood Hall for a social and dance. Election of officers will be held. All subjects and former subjects of Great Britain are invited.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

A sentence of five years in San Quentin Prison was imposed yesterday by Judge Willis on Charles C. Hind, aged 18, who was convicted of burglary. The sentence was suspended and the youth placed in the charge of former State Senator Estudillo of Riverside as a special probation officer.

Hind is the son of a prominent Riverside rancher. The boy came to Los Angeles some time ago and fell into evil companionship. He will be required to stay on a ranch and forego the lure of city life during the period of his suspended sentence.

MUST STAND TRIAL.

The preliminary hearing of Charles Templer, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was before Justice Hinshaw yesterday. Templer was held in $1000 bail to appear before the Superior Court and is now in jail. Templer, who is said to be an I.W.W. member, came from Antelope Valley, it is alleged, went to his wife at No. 815 Naomi avenue and drawing a revolver, pulled the trigger. There was no explosion, and while he was examining the gun, it seems, his wife escaped. He was arrested on San Fernando road. It developed after the hearing yesterday that Templer is alleged to have threatened to shoot various other persons and other charges may be filed against him.

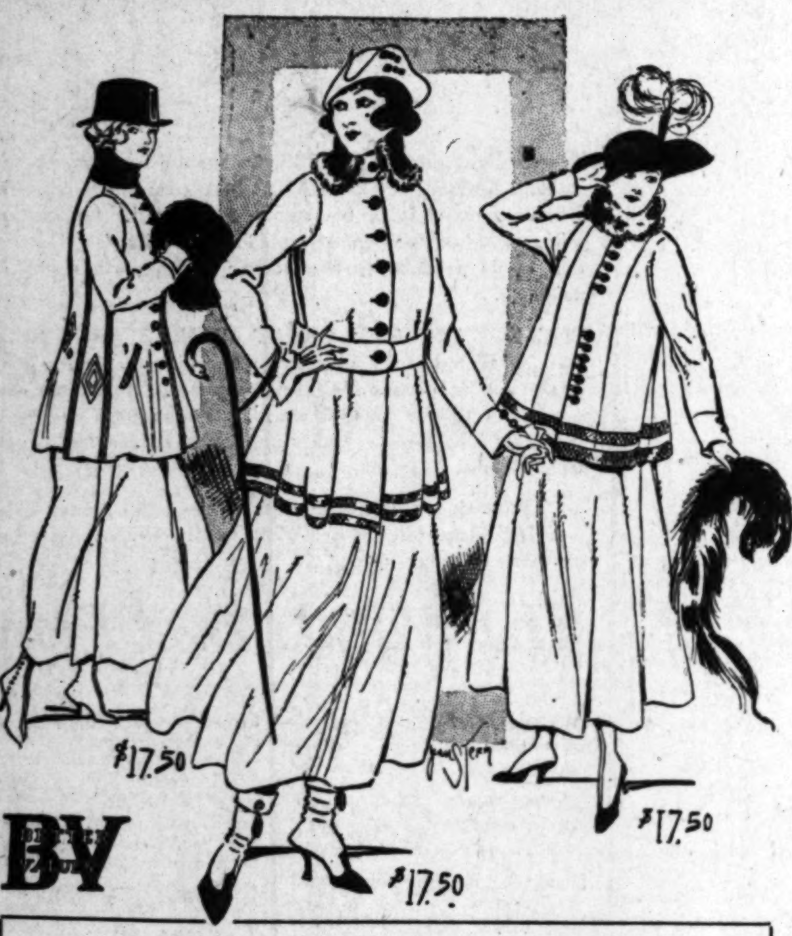
October Better Value

Demonstration

Jacoby Bros. Here's garment news such as you seldom read Jacoby Bros.

Brand new fur trimmed suits $17.50



If there is any item which we could offer that would illustrate the Betterness of Jacoby's values more forcefully than this sale of new fur trimmed suits at $17.50—the writer has never heard of it. Why! the sisters of these suits are in stores the country over and on their tags are prices 'way, 'way above $17.50.

There are 300 suits concerned in this sale—a special purchase made by our New York office especially for this October "Better Value" demonstration.

There are suits of gabardine, of all wool poplin, of fine serges and of broadcloths—a great many of them are richly trimmed with fur—others are prettily braided—and still others are in plain tailored styles. Glance at the three styles we've shown in the picture. You'll find all sizes in all colors.

Be sure and see the showing of these suits in our windows today.

Just what "Better Values" mean

Every day of every month our entire buying and selling organization is working to find Better Values—and to offer them to you in an attractive way. This demonstration which we have planned to hold during the month of October is merely a time we've set apart to win new friends by letting more people know about the worth-while merchandise we carry—and the low prices which we've attached to it. Most of the "Better Values" are, of course, not advertised.

Better Values indeed!

New frocks, and special $15

—It was only because we went on a diligent search for "Better Values" that we found these wonder dresses to sell at $15.

—Charmingly new and different frocks of crepe de chines, of taffetas, satins, charmeuse and combinations of silks and chiffons. The skirts in the new draped, double and box plaited effects. The blouses in ever so many pretty styles.

We might say—"The best values"

Coats, Fall models at $15

—And if we had said "the best coats $15 will buy" we don't believe we would have exaggerated.

—They're of plushes and of wide wale corduroys—in ½ and ¾ lengths. All are fur trimmed—all have linings of guaranteed satins. Note that there are only a very limited number of them to go Monday at $15.

Another remarkable purchase of

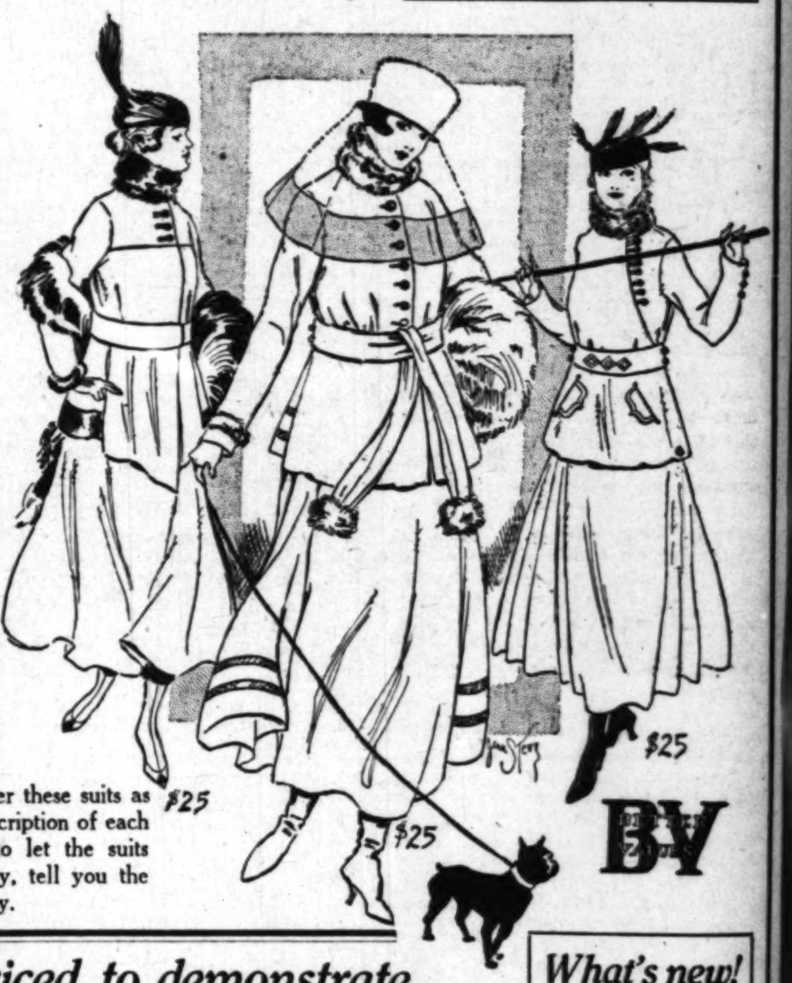
New fall suits

$25.00

We've had the artist sketch three of these wonderful suits—but while the drawings are accurate in every detail—drawings at their best can be but poor substitutes for such suits as these.

Surely with suits like these at $25 our garment buyer will not only be able to demonstrate the unusualness of Jacoby's values, but he will—or rather already has demonstrated to us that the seemingly impossible can be accomplished—namely the buying of the most wanted new garments to sell at a small part of their worth right at the very beginning of the season.

To write this advertisement so that you might be as enthusiastic over these suits as we would wish to have you, it would be necessary for us to write a description of each different model, but there's not room to do that here—so we're going to let the suits pictured and the others which are ready in one of our windows today, tell you the story, till you can see the SUITS themselves on the 3rd floor Monday.



Hundreds of new hats just out of their boxes—all priced to demonstrate

Better millinery values

It's one thing to go into the Fashion centers and buy smart, up-to-the-minute hats without regard to price—it's another thing to buy these same hats so that they can be sold at the prices our hats are marked.

It's because we know that every one of our hats is a new and worthy style and because we know that our prices are unusually low—that we have entered the millinery department in such a big bold way in this great October demonstration of "Better Values."

We want you to do more than take our word for the rightness of our styles and the lowness of our prices. We want you to shop the Los Angeles Millinery world from one end to the other. The keener attention that you pay to millinery elsewhere, the more enthusiastic you will be over Jacoby millinery—the more easily you will understand why our millinery store is growing—growing—growing—and why so many women say: "I always buy my hats at Jacoby's."

Now, because we have dwelt so strongly upon the rightness of our styles and the lowness of our prices, we don't want you for a minute to lose sight of the fact that you will find here an extraordinarily broad showing of styles—and by that we mean that there are big hats and little hats and hats just in between—that there are hats in every shade and in every head size—that there are hats with each and every one of the little trimming effects which have been declared good for Fall wear.

And note this! No matter how little you pay for a hat, here at Jacoby's, it is either a silk or a Lyon's velvet. We permit no velveteens or cotton velvets to come into our stocks.

Our trimmed hats range in price from $3.95 up to $35 and more

Genuine hatter's plush hats at $3.95

Untrimmed shapes

We have gathered hundreds of shapes and priced them to be "Better values" at $1.45, $1.95, $2.95, $3.95 and more!

And one thing of great importance, which we would impress upon you—that every shape in our stock is of either silk or Lyon's velvet.

Jacoby Bros.

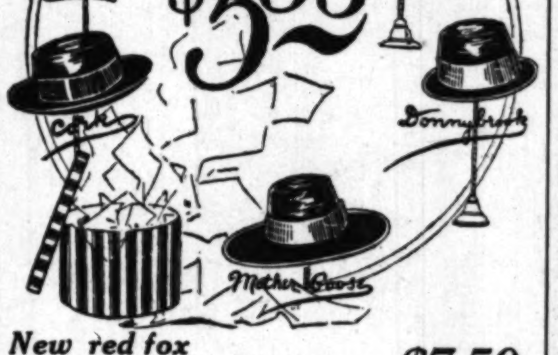
Over at the right we have pictured six of these very smart, ready-to-wear hats. One of the styles is bound to prove wonderfully becoming to you.

The crowns are all of shiny, black silk hatter's plush, the brims are of silk velvet.

Better values? Yes, indeed—

2nd floor—Jacoby's



New red fox Neckpieces at $7.50

Wonderfully attractive scarfs—and think! They're priced but a small part of what one would expect to pay for such pieces in this season of Fur. 3rd floor—Jacoby's.

What's new!

Vulture quills treated to an acid process make a clever imitation of the rare goura. We are showing these on a jet base, making a simple and clever trimming for small hats. Priced $1.95.

Small hatters' plush hats — hand blocked shapes with narrow faille ribbon around crown are proving very popular for street wear.

Fashion in millinery demands a touch of fur—whether it be just a suggestions of fur, a button or a band around the crown or with the edge bound with fur—we have it and priced unusually low, too!

A very nobby coat for the school miss is being shown on the 4th floor. It's of an all-silk plush—belted and finished with large plush buttons. Priced $8.50.

Dancing sets—New and different hats finished with just a touch of fur. They're attracting no little attention at $12.50 and more!

Silk and lace waists $2.95

Several weeks ago we sent word to one of the country's greatest waist makers asking for smart, up-to-the-minute waists which we could feature underpriced during our Better Value demonstration.

And because we knew this maker—and his broad, liberal policy — we expected much of him—but we little dreamed he would send us such waists as he did—

There are just 150 of them—some of crepe de chine, in flesh, white, navy, black—some of radium taffetas in pink, white, maize, orange and black — some of Georgette crepes in flesh and pink and one very delightful model of lace combined with Georgette crepe.

You've seen waists not a whit prettier or better than these with their prices fully double this "Better Value" price.

There are Maggioni gloves in black, white, gray and tan with 2 pearl clasps—and contrasting backs at $1.50.

There are Vallieres—French kid gloves P.K. sewn at $2. These are in black, tan, gray, white and brown.

Because "luck" was with us we are able to offer

15-in. and 18-in. lace flouncings, 39c

In the headline we said that we were able to offer these laces at 39c, because luck was with us—and luck it was, and nothing more, for our buyer happened into the office of a big New York importer just at the very minute that the stock clerk handed in a list of over shipments which had been made by foreign manufacturers. The importer was glad to unload this surplus at his cost. We were glad, too, and so will you be Monday when you see the exquisite Oriental, shadow and filet flouncings which he has sent us to sell at 39c yard.

"We are sending you by express today, 1000 yds. of fancy silks which you can feature during your Better Value demonstration at 95c a yard! They are among the best values we have ever sent out."

The foregoing was a telegram we received the early part of the week.

The silks came late Friday afternoon—just in time to get into this advertisement—in fact, they were not all unpacked at the time this was being written—but there were enough of them out for the writer to see—Plaid taffetas, Pekin striped taffetas, Pompadour silks, silk serges, brocaded silks, corded silks and novelties galore in every color—and they were all silks such as you would never dream of buying for so little as 95c.

Every piece is full 36 inches wide.

A splendid showing of these silks ready in the windows.

Main floor—Jacoby's.

Stockings — about half!

"Why, I thought that the scarcity of dyes had made it almost impossible to buy stockings," said one of our department managers to the Hosiery Buyer, as he heard him giving this advertisement to the writer—

"So they are," said the hosiery buyer, "but the impossible WILL happen, you know."

How the impossible did happen would make a very interesting story if only there were room to tell it here—but the stockings themselves demand all the space we're able to give—so we can only say—They are all good stockings—and they're all half price or close to half price.

CHILDREN'S IMPORTED SOX, 12½c—700 pairs of full fashioned sox in pink and sky blue—sizes for both infants and children. Just ½ price at 12½c pair.

WILL TAKE ART TO THE PEOPLE.

Exhibitions to be Made in Towns Far and Wide.

Part of California Club's Educational Campaign.

Lectures and Pictures Both to Enlighten Laity.

"I am not an artist and don't know anything about art," is the popular phrase of centuries given as an excuse for lack of interest in everything artistic. But it will be obsolete if the plans of the California Art Club succeed in the educational campaign which the club will open this week and extend from San Diego on the south to Santa Barbara on the north the first year.

The aim of the artists is to create a more general interest in a strictly American art for Americans, and particularly to arouse an intelligent interest in and appreciation of the art that is being created in the West—the West which artists and critics alike feel will be the leading art center in the next generation.

Long centuries ago Mohammed found that if the mountain would not come to him, he must needs go to the mountain. The artists have found that if the public does not come to them with an adequate appreciation, they must go to the public first.

The club will start its propaganda for art with a traveling exhibition of paintings by members, which will be sent to clubs, schools, churches and organizations—the only requirement being that the organization that desires the paintings pay the cost of transportation. A special feature of these exhibitions will be a lecture on the meaning of art to the individual, showing the problems which the artists face in their work. It will be given by Miss Alma May Cook and illustrated with colored stereopticon slides, and in addition to showing the work side of the paintings, will include reproductions in color of the important canvases in the fall exhibition of the club, which will be opened tomorrow evening in the Exposition Park art gallery, with a private reception, and continue open to the public during the month.

TO INTERPRET.

One of the special features of the educational work of the club, and something entirely new in Los Angeles, although it is an established custom in the large eastern galleries, will be the interpretations which Miss Cook will give each Tuesday and Friday afternoons at 3:30 o'clock in this gallery. In these lectures she will tell something of the personal side of the artists themselves and also discuss the pictures from a critical standpoint.

Miss Cook, as a local critic for the past ten years, has become personally acquainted with the artists and has watched their work progress during these years.

"It is a conceded fact that the West is to be the art center of the future," said Miss Cook yesterday, "and surely California, with its vast storehouse of everything that is beautiful and all that which appeals to the very soul of the artist, will take the lead. The expositions will do much toward achieving this result, for already a more general interest is manifested in things artistic. Many clubs have studied American art during the past year that their members may better appreciate the art of the expositions, and after this preparation, we feel the work of carrying on the educational campaign will be far more easy, for the interest has been aroused and instead of letting it die down, we will try to fan it into greater activity.

"The work is to reach the general public. Not to take art down to the public, but simply to take it to the people. Art is not for high days and holidays, for the intellectual appreciation of the few, but it is for the everyday life of every man, woman and child from the earliest years of intelligence to the last days of life. Art should be in one's life just what music is—everyone knows the influence of music. And the fine art of music always precedes the fine art of painting and sculpture, as perhaps a more natural expression of one's feelings.

RARE INSPIRATION.

"Everyone knows the influence of a lilting song or a merry whistle heard in the hurrying crowds on the street. Faces light up, tired eyes smile, and altogether the song or the whistle has done its mission. Just such a mission should be a beautiful sunset, seen down the vista of a crowded street or reflected in golden colors on high office buildings, or a patch of blue sky contrasted over the buildings of a city. Art should enter into the very soul of a people, and until there is that appreciation, there will never be a healthy American art."

Much interest has been manifested in the work, clubs writing from small towns in Inyo, Kings and other counties, asking for assistance in creating interest among their members. The exhibit and lecture will be offered churches, schools and clubs throughout Southern California, several clubs co-operating by inviting the high school students for a special afternoon exhibition, in addition to the usual club meeting.

A feature that is giving much satisfaction is the interest in the outlying towns and in addition to the Los Angeles dates for the exhibition, Miss Cook will take the pictures to and speak in Tropico, Pomona, Hollywood, Long Beach, Santa Paula, Sierra Madre, Redondo Beach, Ontario, Covina, Riverside, Corona, Glendale, Santa Monica and Colton, while plans are being formulated for a series in San Diego and Santa Barbara, the latter to include several near-by towns.

[illegible] OF GOLD.

Congregational Minister Receives Liberal Present upon His Departure to Another Church.

The members of the Plymouth Congregational Church showed their appreciation of the services of Rev. J. [illegible] Mallows, who was their pastor fifteen years, by giving him a purse of $335 in gold upon his departure for San Dimas, where he will be pastor of the Union Church.

The interesting gift was presented the minister at a reception given in his honor at the church Wednesday with instructions not to open the package until yesterday. He restrained his curiosity until the appointed time.

THE offices in the Hass Bldg., Seventh and Broadway, are beautiful and the prices so reasonable.

Tremendous Output.

Pierce Tuna Packing Company, the first two at Long Beach and the third at Harbor City.

One most important new concern is the Golden State Woolen Mills Company at Long Beach. This concern has invested $150,000 in buildings and is now manufacturing blankets, flannels and robes from wool grown in the Southwest, admixed with cotton grown in the Imperial Valley.

A unique industry, outside of the metropolitan district, however, but of real interest to everybody in the Southland, is the plant of the Exchange By-Products Company at Corona. There close to $50,000 has been invested by lemon growers, affiliated with the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, in creating a plant for the reduction of lemon culls and unsalables into citrate of lime and other lemon by-products.

IMMENSE WALNUT PACK.

Another association of growers that has embarked in a unique industry is the California Walnut Growers' Association. With a plant at No. 833, Traction avenue, the association is employing 100 men and women putting up 1,000,000 packages of walnuts for the holiday trade.

Also of the "Christmasy" tone is the work of Mme. Georgene Hendren, maker of character dolls. Mme. Hendren is associated with the Averill Manufacturing Company, an enterprise that had its birth through the fact that America is now almost entirely cut off from intercourse with the greatest doll-making country of the world, Germany.

Los Angeles' own doll factory is but three months old, and is the only one of its kind on the Pacific Coast. But, with the holidays rapidly approaching, it is a very hive of industry, while its products are now being shipped to practically every State in the Union.

In the canning line, the Van Nuys-Owensmouth-Marian Growers' and Canning Association has erected new plants, at a cost of $250,000, at Van Nuys and Owensmouth, while the American Can Company, to supply the containers for these and other canneries, has just leased property for a $250,000 plant.

Among the more important new industries that have recently located here and built large plants are the Coco-Cola Company, Dixon Glass Company, National Briquetting and Clay Working Machinery Company, Buttonlath Manufacturing Company, Western Oxygen and Gas Products Company, Pittsburgh Foundry Company, C. E. Post & Co., Western Metals Company, and Antimony Refining Company.

LET'S LET 'EM KNOW!

"Los Angeles is growing faster than most American cities," said Industrial Commissioner Kinney yesterday. "We have a purchasing public that includes many transients, while the list of newcomers runs into tens of thousands yearly.

"Many of these transients and newcomers are used to purchasing nationally-advertised goods. For instance, Akron, O., by consistent advertising, increased its sales last year 118 per cent.; Minneapolis, in the same way, 34 per cent.; Rochester, N. Y., 39 per cent.; Cleveland, 58 per cent., and Detroit, which is now the best-advertised city of them all, due to the automobile, 97 per cent.

"Los Angeles has all the requisites to manufacture profitably. But we need more advertising, and especially consistent advertising at home. Let each manufacturer see to it that the people here in Los Angeles and the Southland are made familiar with his goods.

"Now, as for home-products' week. My idea is to make every store window a showcase of home products, and to bring home the truth that nearly everything used by the housewife, as well as by her husband, can be found made-in-Los Angeles."

After Them.

TICKET SCALPERS TO BE ENJOINED.

FIGHT JUST STARTED, STATES INSPECTING AGENT.

Bellboys, Bartenders and Curio Shops Among the Venders—Heavy Exposition Travel and Cut in Rates Caused Business to Grow to Startling Proportions.

Asserting that the campaign against the "ticket scalper" is yet in its infancy, Henry A. Koach, assistant to the chairman of the Railway Ticket Protective Bureau, stated yesterday that further Federal injunctions will be asked this week against the venders of second-hand special and excursion-rate tickets.

With traffic to California for the expositions exceeding all records and round-trip rates cut to nearly the one-way basis, thousands of persons have been encouraged to exceed their ticket limits, according to Mr. Koach. This caused the flooding of the market with the unused portion of round-trip tickets, and afforded a rich harvest for the "scalpers."

"I have been amazed," said Mr. Koach, "to find tickets openly bought and sold by hotel clerks, bellboys, porters, cigar stand clerks, bartenders, curio shops, sightseeing motormen, and a host of others, many of whom are not residents of Los Angeles, but have flocked here for the purpose of dealing in these low-priced excursion tickets.

"Though the names of many of these have been secured and they have been enjoined from ticket-selling by the Federal Courts, they continued in the scalping business under the belief that no prosecution will follow. I intend to disabuse their minds of this belief. Furthermore, instructions have been given to railroad conductors, validating agents, and my assistants that, in the future, any ticket found in wrong hands, the party holding the same shall be held and either prosecuted for forgery in signing the name of the original purchaser or compelled to act as witness against the scalper."

EXPOSITION PARK MUSIC.

Music to please all tastes is on the programme for this afternoon at Exposition Park, beginning at 2 o'clock. The following numbers are scheduled: "The Diplomat March" (Sousa,) "The Skater Valse" (Waldteufel,) "Zampa Overture" (Herold,) "Cavatina" from "Ernani" (baritone solo, Philip Rammacher, soloist,) (Verdi,) "Toualouwa" (Hopi Indian dance) (Homer Grunn,) Chicago Tribune March (Chambers,) sextette from "Lucia" (Donizetti,) ballet music from "Faust" (Gounod,) "A Hunting Scene" (descriptive) (Bucalossi,) "Carmen" fantasia (Bizet,) "Star Spangled Banner."

HINDU INVASION IS HEADED OFF.

THOSE CROSSING BORDER LINE FIND OFFICERS WAITING TO DEPORT THEM.

The threatened invasion of Hindu undesirables from across the Mexican border has been stopped, thanks to the campaign made by Capt. Connell, in charge of the local emigration service.

The influx began about a year ago, when the Vancouver authorities refused to allow a ship loaded with Hindus to land in British Columbia. They were also denied admission by the American authorities. Mysterious and unidentified East Indians subsequently appeared at the colony in Mexico, just across the line from Calexico, and also at the Hindu colony in Imperial county.

Unlike the Chinese, the Hindus do not have to be equipped with an identification card setting forth the physical characteristics of the possessor. All that is required is a certificate that at some port of entry the subject has passed the investigation required by the law. When they were barred from the country in the North, they sought a point that would enable them to enter the United States. Calexico was selected as the crossing point, in the vicinity of Hindu colonies on Mexican and American soil.

But the emigration authorities have been alert and during last month ten of the undesirables were sent back to India. Most of them were afflicted with the hook worm in a virulent form.

Yesterday, Rulie Ram, one of the leaders of the Hindu movement, was brought up from Calexico. When in India he was known as one of the most famous fakirs in the Bengal district. For some time he has lived among the members of his race in Imperial county, coming across the line at Calexico after staying over a year in Mexico.

MOVIE ACTION IN REAL LIFE.

OFFICERS MAKE CAPTURE IN AUTOMOBILE RACE WITH THRILLING LEAP.

The arrest of A. D. Brain, owner of the Tipperary mine, near Mojave, on the charge of making threats to kill officers who undertook to attach an automobile of Brain's, occurred yesterday morning under spectacular circumstances.

After the trouble in Mojave, Brain is said to have departed for his Los Angeles home, No. 792 East Fourth street. Officers at Mojave notified persons along the way and at nine points unsuccessful attempts were made, it is said, to capture the speeding man. When he reached Los Angeles the chase was taken up by Deputy Sheriffs Nolan and Fox, who followed in their auto. A lively race along Central avenue followed. Finally the officers drew alongside Brain's car and jumped into it while both machines were swiftly moving. The moving-picture men missed a rare opportunity.

When Brain first discovered that he was being followed it is said he was accompanied by a woman and slowed down his car to permit her to jump out. He then raced onward, and at Forty-sixth and Central avenue, narrowly escaped colliding with a street car. The leap of the officers into Brain's car was made on Central avenue, near Twenty-fifth street.

TEN-DOLLAR BILL HIS AMMUNITION.

CURRENCY SHOT BY ERROR AT SQUIRREL—FOUND IN GOOD SHAPE.

Ground squirrels were damaging grain left in a field by Winfield Scott, manager of the San Fernando Hotel in the town of that name. A guest had left a loaded shotgun at the house a few days before.

Manager Scott decided to put an end to the squirrels and started on a still hunt, finally drawing a bead on one of the marauders. He shot it, and having scared the others away, returned home.

Yesterday the guest arrived and asked for the gun. When he discovered it had been discharged, he wilted.

"I stuck a $10 bill in the barrel for safe keeping," he said.

Manager Scott and the guest immediately went to the shooting grounds and there, after much searching, discovered the bill, considerably blackened and torn, but not so mutilated that it could not be sent to Washington for redemption.

UNUSUAL INJURY.

Carpenter Alleges Flying Stone Fractured Knee and Hurt Hand While on Railroad Train.

An action was brought in the United States District Court yesterday by Adna Brantingham, a carpenter, to recover $52,709 damages for injuries alleged to have been received while en route from Pueblo, Colo. to Ogden, Utah, over the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad.

He declares that on October 8, 1914, he was struck by a rock precipitated from an excavation made at the side of the track by the railway company. His left knee cap was fractured and ligaments of his right hand severed, the plaintiff says.

EATING MEAT REGULAR CLOGS THE KIDNEYS, THEN YOUR BACK HURTS.

Flush your Kidneys occasionally with a tablespoonful of Salts to avoid danger.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

To Remove Superfluous Hair Is Easy

Many Owe Their Beauty Success to Valeska Suratt, Famed as America's Greatest Self-Made Beauty-Actress.

BY VALESKA SURATT.

THE necessity of keeping the face and arms free, not only of heavy superfluous hairs, but of the soft "down" which is often seen about the cheeks, chin and temples, shoulders and arms, should be obvious to every woman. But many women do not remove this soft down because they fear to use the many superfluous hair removers advertised, since they cause marks, red spots and irritation. I have had the same experience myself, and that is why I adopted a formula of my own. Simply apply some simple sulfo solution on any hairs you want removed, and see how magically it dissolves even the toughest or worst wiry hairs, and even on the most tender parts of the body. It never leaves a mark and always works perfectly. Simple sulfo solution can be obtained at any drug store. In fact, every woman should have a supply of this wonderful formula. It never fails.

MISS BLUE—Yes, I can assure you that blackheads can be positively removed in a few minutes by sprinkling some powdered neroxin on a hot, wet sponge and rubbing this on the blackheads. The neroxin can be obtained at drug stores. This formula of mine has never failed.

MISS T. B. M.—I am sorry you could not get the "Suratt Face Powder" at your druggist's. In such case write to "Secretary to Valeska Suratt, Thompson Bldg., Chicago," enclosing the price of fifty cents, and saying whether you want white or flesh tint. My secretary will see that you are supplied without delay. It is the face powder par excellence and free from chalkiness.

MISS ANABELLE—No, you didn't guess my age very closely. There's a secret reason, and my wrinkle formula is responsible. Use this formula liberally every day, and use no other socalled wrinkle cream. Add two tablespoonfuls of glycerine and two ounces of eptol to a half a pint of hot water. This is so economical that it can be used generously, and will hasten the result. It removes wrinkles, crow's feet and lines of age in a remarkable way. The eptol can be obtained at any drug store.

TRYING—You are just as disgusted as I used to be with the hair tonics commonly sold. Here is my own formula which has a wonderful effect upon the cell-growth of hair, and results can be quickly seen in the sprouting of new hairs, in the vigorous growth and lengthening of hair, and in the added lustre and fluffiness. To half a pint of alcohol add half a pint of water (or else you may use a full pint of bay rum if you wish) and to this add one ounce of beta-quinol, which your druggist can supply you. I consider this one of my most remarkable formulas.

MISS G. R. B.—My complexion formula will produce an almost magical transformation on any skin. The most common cause of a bad complexion is a grainy, spotty and uneven color of the skin. Added to this are occasional freckles, red spots and liver spots.

All blemishes disappear in a short time and the skin takes on an even pinky-whiteness all over, which is adorable. Freckles and red spots vanish. Mix two tablespoonfuls of glycerine with a pint of hot water and one ounce of zintone, which you can get at the drug store. Use this cream liberally every day.

MISS LOTTIE G.—Yes, pimples can be very quickly removed by taking one or two tespoonfuls after meals of a mixture of twelve ounces of sugar, one ounce of sarsene and a pint of water. Get the sarsene at the drug store, by the ounce, in the original package.

MRS. R. T. V.—Here is my formula for that shampoo and dandruff remover, a gem, I assure you. Dissolve one teaspoonful of eggol in half a cup of hot water. You can get enough eggol to last you for at least a dozen shampoos, at the drug store, for a moderate price. This eggol shampoo far exceeds even the best soap, or any other article for the purpose I ever used.

MISS R. T. H.—No, positively do not use any mechanical contrivance in an endeavor to develop the bust. The following safe formula has produced splendid development in many cases, though you realize that bust development is difficult to accomplish. Mix together a half cup of sugar, two ounces of ruetone and half a pint of cold water. Dissolve thoroughly and take regularly two teaspoonfuls three or four times a day.

COUNTIES' EXPERIENCE SHOWS FOLLY OF ANTI-PARTY BILLS.

Enormous Increase of Taxes During Plunderbund Regime Due Mostly to System Johnson would Extend to All the State's Affairs.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CALIFORNIA taxpayers are asked to approve at the special election the 26th inst. a proposal to abolish all political parties in the State and make all offices of the commonwealth nonpartisan. Here are a few salient facts concerning the cost of county government under no-party rule and of the present State administration.

California's population shows a steady increase but the advance in cost of State and county government under the Johnson administration has outstripped the growth in population three to one.

The State and county tax rate in California under the "progressive" nonpartisan form of government is higher than that paid in any European country before Aug. 1, 1914, including the enormous cost of military establishments.

The gross cost of the last year of Republican rule in the State government was $18,573,720. That of the fiscal year which closed June 30 was $36,529,593. Californians paid in 1913 $21,000,000 more for county government than the taxpayers of any other State in the Union, and since then there has been an increase of nearly 20 per cent. in the total of taxes collected.

The average county tax rate in California is more than five times the average throughout the United States. The county tax paid by the average Californian in one year would pay his county tax in Vermont 241 years.

Investigation shows an enormous increase in county pay rolls under the anti-party procedure that has begot a coalition between office-holders and "progressive" legislators that whipsaws the man who foots the bills.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 1.—The protest against the attempt of the "progressive" State machine to destroy all political parties, except its own, in California has led to a scrutiny of the results accomplished by the adoption of the anti-party system in the selection of county officials and management of county affairs. The press of Alameda and San Francisco counties—the second and third largest in the State—agree that this system has not proved its efficacy in those counties and a scrutiny of the reports of county auditors generally reveals that there has been an almost astounding increase in county pay rolls and expenses under the new plan.

Comparative figures of the cost of county government in every State in the Union are compiled in a special report issued this year by the United States Census Bureau. This report gives the average cost of county government per capita in the United States as $4.32; that of California in 1913 was $19.31 per capita. The estimate for this year is $22.40.

The total governmental cost payments of California counties for 1913 was $46,013,485. This is $21,000,000 more than was paid by any other State. Ohio is second, with a governmental cost of $24,933,000. The report of the State Controller shows the counties increased their tax collection $5,000,000 in 1914 and unofficial estimates place the increase this year over 1914 at $4,450,000.

It may be interesting to the California taxpayer to know that the average per capita tax in California for county government for one year would pay the county government taxes in the State of Vermont for 241 years.

"POLICIES" SHOWN UP.

One of the ludicrous episodes of the recent State constitutional convention in New York was the attempt of some "progressives" to secure a consideration of a number of the "Johnson reforms" in California. Other delegates took a look into the Federal reports, with the result that in one committee meeting the figures of the cost of State and county government under the "Johnson" policies were read and comparisons were made with the present cost of the same in New York and other States. The "Johnson policies" never survived that committee meeting. They were not heard of again during the convention. This attitude of the New York convention was maintained despite the fact that a member of the State Tax Commission had gone East, at the expense of the State, for the very purpose of enlightening the New York convention on the wonderful progress made in State government in California during the last four years.

One would like to believe that our comparatively high cost of county government is occasioned by the fact that the counties do much of the work in California that is performed by the State governments elsewhere. But a glance at the Federal reports shows that the average cost per capita of State government in the United States in 1913 was $3.95, while in California it was $7.98. And that was two years ago. The report of the State Controller for the fiscal year that closed last June 30 shows the total cost of our State government for the last fiscal year was $36,529,593.04. As our population is estimated at less than 3,000,000, this means a cost per capita of our State government of more than $12.

STARTLING CONTRAST.

A reference to the report of State Controller Chambers shows the total cost of State government for the last year of Republican rule under Gov. Gillett was $18,573,720. A careful scrutiny of the reports of all State departments for 1910 and for 1915 reveals that for strictly governmental costs—excluding all bond issues, harbor improvements and every other item outside legitimate government expense—the cost of administration for the last year under Gillett was $9,000,000 and the last year under Johnson was $19,000,000.

These figures demonstrate pretty clearly that the enormous increase in county expense has not lessened or even retarded the rapid growth of State expense.

To one familiar with the legislation in California it is easy to locate the cause of this surprising increase in county expenses and pay rolls; although it is not clear to the average citizen. These pay rolls have doubled, and in some instances more than trebled, during five years under "progressive" nonpartisanship government. California's taxes have not always been so high. The State taxes were the lowest under Gov. Gillett in the history of California; just as they are the highest now in a generation. County taxes were considered high five years ago; but a comparison with present pay rolls would make them seem low indeed.

Take the instance of Kern county. Its pay roll under the Gillett administration was $32,600; under the last Johnson county government bill it is $106,244, an increase of more than 200 per cent. Why?

Here are the figures themselves:

Office—	1909. Pay roll.	1915. Increase.
Clerk	$ 5,000	$ 9,100
Sheriff	7,000	11,300
Tax Collector	3,000	7,360
Treasurer	2,000	3,800
Recorder	1,600	8,500
Auditor	2,000	6,020
Attorney	4,000	8,100
Assessor	5,000	10,164
School Super't'dent	1,800	7,200
Surveyor	1,200	2,100
Total	$32,600	$73,644

WHERE BLAME LIES.

Here again the average taxpayer is mystified. He does not see the connection between the State and county administration. He cannot figure why we should load the sins of Kern county on the shoulders of the State administration.

But there comes the rub. Los Angeles is the only county in the State that enjoys home rule in her government. She operates under a special county charter that does not permit the State to dabble with her pay rolls. But for every other county in the State the number of county departments, the number of employees in these departments and their salaries are fixed by what are known as county government bills. These originate in the Legislature and are signed by the Governor just like other State laws.

The salary for each official in Kern county is fixed by the State Legislature. Thirty-nine of these county government bills, every one of them carrying increases in the pay roll for a California county, passed the last Legislature and were signed by the Governor. In not a single instance was the pocket veto resorted to.

In the old days before "progressivism" become so flagrant, the individual legislators were held responsible by their party for increases in county government bills. There were some abuses that seemed then flagrant, but which viewed in the light of the development of the last four years, were hardly to be classed as peccadillos.

Now there is no party in the counties to remonstrate. The Supervisors shift the blame to Sacramento. And at Sacramento the Governor says the county government bills are up to the counties themselves; that the State should not interfere. Just how they are up to the counties is difficult for any but a "Progressive" to understand. They originate in the Legislature. A county cannot introduce them, cannot amend them, cannot vote against them, and it cannot refuse to make the increases which the Legislature orders.

Behold how six Southern California counties fared:

County—	1909.	1915.
Riverside	$28,800	$29,750
Orange	22,500	27,040
San Diego	57,200	91,000
Santa Barbara	30,360	15,000
Ventura	26,400	16,120
Imperial	21,700	32,015

MISERABLE JUGGLING.

In theory the county government law was attractive. It was proposed for the purpose of equalizing the cost of county government in the different counties of the State. An amendment was placed in the Constitution providing that the counties of the State should be divided into classes according to population, and that the pay rolls of all counties coming under the same classification should be identical. Five classifications were advocated when the amendment was proposed; but the politicians carefully kept that out of the amendment itself. What was the result?

As soon as the 1911 Legislature, "Progressive," of course, got hold of that law, it made not five classifications, but fifty-eight. Each county was placed in a separate classification. This subterfuge removed all possibility for a combined protest of several counties. Then commenced the race between the different counties and the different departments of the different counties for the spoils. All responsibility was removed and it was just a question of getting $2 from the taxpayer where he put up but one before. The present system of swollen pay rolls and high taxes is the result.

The last three Legislatures have made it a point to form offensive and defensive alliances with the office holders on the different counties. The Legislature passes the county government bill that the office holders ask, and the office holder in the county gets out and legs it for the "Progressive" candidates for State offices and for the constitutional amendments the "Progressives" want. Just as Artemus Ward wrote of politics under the Buchanan administration before the Civil War: "You scratch my back, and I'll scratch your back." Offensive and defensive alliances they truly were; a fine defense for the party behind the breastwarks with all the offices, but highly "offensive" to the taxpayer who has to foot the bills for the ammunition and supplies.

COUNTIES WORK FOR BETTERMENT.

LOS ANGELES, RIVERSIDE, SAN BERNARDINO AND VENTURA MEET.

Representatives of the four principal counties of Southern California addressed the City Club yesterday on the welfare work done recently and planned by the respective counties of Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino and Ventura. The speakers urged more consistent co-operation in building up the interests of Southern California.

R. W. Pridham, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, outlined briefly the work of the county road department, which is now constructing 200 miles of permanent roads to make a total of 500 miles of concrete, macadam or asphalt highways. Mr. Pridham quoted statistics showing that, financially, Los Angeles county is the largest in the State. Instead of working the unemployed on roads this year he said the County Supervisors will provide rock piles, where men can earn as high as $2 a day. For those who will not work, a stockade will be provided, he said.

Rex Goodcell of San Bernardino said that his county is now following the example of Los Angeles by carrying out a road improvement programme that will include 250 miles of concrete highways, and these are being built at a rate of fifteen miles a month.

Judge Merle J. Rogers of the Superior Court of Ventura county said that although that is one of the smallest counties in the State it is advancing rapidly in providing the things that make life really worth while. Although population has increased only 25 per cent. in the last ten years, he said, the county is spending 400 per cent. more for making it a better place in which to live. Last year, he said, the county's expenditures for promoting sanitation and cleanliness amounted to $10 and the county health officer's expenses, including salaries, amounted to $660.

C. C. Arnold, president of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce, said the important achievements of that county during recent months have been the establishment of the Southern California experiment station and the acquisition of the municipal water, light and power plant. Riverside county, he said, can boast of an efficient and well-officered county Chamber of Commerce and the second best library in the State.

TENTH BIRTHDAY OF BIG CONCERN.

FIFTH-STREET STORE TO HOLD CELEBRATION.

Large Growth Won in Brief Time Brings Forth Congratulations. Feast of Bargains Tomorrow will be Expression of Appreciation. Slices of Great Cake for Everyone.

Yesterday terminated ten years of successful merchandising by the Fifth-street Store. Only its founders had the vision to foresee how gigantic this mercantile institution's proportions would be in such a short time.

R. M. Walker, the president and general manager, and W. A. Faris, secretary and treasurer, are being congratulated on the achievement wrought. Opening their doors for the first time with a selling space of less than 35,000 square feet and employing not more than 150 people, they have blazed the way to a thriving beehive of industry, now utilizing more than 175,000 square feet and employing more than 1000 people. Business has grown in the same proportions, keeping pace and even striving ahead of this rapidly-growing city.

So tomorrow a great celebration will be held—the Fifth Street Store's tenth annual birthday sale, an event that will fittingly demonstrate its appreciation to the public, by giving a feast of bargains. A great birthday cake, one of the characteristic features of this annual event and weighing nearly 1000 pounds, will be cut on a certain day, to be announced later and every Angeleno who attends will be given a slice. Tomorrow, the first of the twelve-day celebration, 7000 china cups and saucers will be given to customers showing a sales receipt for $1 purchase or more. There are two pages in this issue of The Times telling in detail about the fine values offered at the store all day tomorrow.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

Three Women Pass Examination for Referee of the Juvenile Court. Appointment Soon.

The successful applicants for woman referee of the Juvenile Court, as announced by the Civil Service Commission yesterday, are, in the order of their standing, Mrs. Betty Berry, Miss Orfa Shonts and Miss Litta Hibben. Mrs. Berry is assistant County Public Defender, Miss Shonts is secretary to Judge Rives of the Probate Court and Miss Hibben is practicing law.

The selection of a woman referee will be made by Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court, who will probably announce his decision this week. The three young women are bright and capable. Each has had experience in juvenile work, one of the qualifications of the office.

The referee will perform practically the work of a judge of the Juvenile Court except that she will not render decisions. She will hear cases involving women and girls and report her recommendations to the judge of the Juvenile Court.

ILLNESS CAUSES SUICIDE.

San Francisco Man Feels Approach of Old Ailment and Shoots Himself Through Head.

Robert Pray, a salesman employed by the Sierra Paper Company, yesterday ended a long illness by shooting himself through the head. He died a few minutes later at the California Hospital.

Mr. Pray came to Los Angeles several months ago from San Francisco, hoping the change of climate would be beneficial. Friday he complained to his room-mate, R. C. Ayres, of feeling worse. When the latter left their apartment at No. 2343 Scarff street yesterday morning, the ailing man shot himself. On the floor beside him was found the gun he had used and a card on which he had written the following:

"I feel my old sickness coming back. I cannot stand it again. Forgive me. "BOB."

He leaves a widow in San Francisco and is said to have been the son of a prominent family of that city.

PUBLIC PROTECTION.

Condemned Weights and Measures Seized in Recent Months Represent Thousands of Dollars' Saving.

Condemned scales which had accumulated until almost all the outer office of the Department of Weights and Measures was occupied by the articles, are being removed to a storehouse by order of County Sealer Fuller. The mass of apparatus represents the result of the department's last eight months' activities.

Over 5000 pieces of weighing equipment have been seized. Many classes are represented, from a faulty druggist's balance to a pile of several hundred brass beams—each from a condemned platform scale. One beam larger than the others was taken from a wagon scale which probably caused thousands of dollars' loss before being destroyed, each draught being in error over 100 pounds.

Short measures, some nearly a gallon off standard, possibly caused many autoists to wonder why their mileage was falling off. The majority of condemned apparatus was used in ignorance, it is stated. It is difficult to estimate in dollars and cents what the inspection has saved the public.

It has been asserted that of the refugees have brought district young girls, who are i ous condition and, not being have no one but their kind countrymen to support thems the children they bring in world. There have been two proven cases of this sort— draw attention and prevent, sible, recurrence of desertio men in the cases.

Monday Afternoon Club.

The initial meeting of the season for the Monday Afternoon Club will be held in the clubhouse next Monday. The programme promises to be one of exceptional merit, with L. E. Behymer of Los Angeles speaking on the subject, "The Best in Art, Literature and Music." It is probable that Mr. Behymer will speak reminiscently of some of his experiences in securing for this Coast international talent along many lines, also of his many acquaintances among the world of celebrities.

Last Friday evening, in the church social hall of the Presbyterian Church, one of the most successful social gatherings of the year was held, the immediate purpose being a general rallying for the fall work. About 125 were present. Groups were formed by joining together sections of well-known songs, which had been distributed early in the evening. A decidedly amusing and interesting part of the programme was the singing, or acting, of the songs by the groups.

D.A.R. Birthday Party.

The Los Angeles chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has completed arrangements for its birthday party, which is to be held Wednesday afternoon, October 6, in the ballroom of the Fowler apartments, Washington street and Union avenue, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Henry J. Martin and Mrs. John V. Peacock are to be hostesses for the event, which celebrates the fourth anniversary of the formation of the chapter. Mrs. Charles Henry McKevett, the newly-elected regent, will preside. The programme will consist of readings by Mrs. Frederick Best West, "A Night in Avignon," and a short scene from "The Rivals," with parts of the "Rebecca May Stories." Mrs. William Duffield will give two groups of her own songs.

The Robert E. Lee Chapter, No. 278, United Daughters of the Confederacy, elected the following delegates and alternates to the general convention to be held in San Francisco, October 23: Mrs. Franklin L. On Thursday, October 7, at the regular monthly meeting of the Ebell Club, the chapter will commemorate the birthday of Admiral Raphael Semmes by a historical and memorial programme in charge of Mrs. E. A. Loy, historian.

Woman's City Club.

For October the Woman's City Club will devote its programme largely to a consideration of the proposed amendments which are to come before the voters at the coming election, as follows:

Ballard, Senator from the Thirty-eighth District; "Proposed Change in the Method of Taxation," Clyde L. Seavey, Tax Commissioner, and Charles E. Scott, Assemblyman from the Sixty-fourth District; October 18, Gov. Hiram W. Johnson, address; October 25, "Other Proposed Amendments," N. W. Thompson, Senator from the Thirty-fifth District, and A. L. Bartlett, Assemblyman from the Sixty-third District.

RISK MEN SCHEDULED.

A Thousand Insurance Men in Five Special Trains to Visit City Coming Week.

An invading party of 1000 Aetna Life Insurance agents, in five special trains, will arrive here next Sunday, according to advice received yesterday by the Southern Pacific. The visit will follow the "risk men's" big gathering in San Francisco this week.

One or two days will be spent here by the insurance men. They will also visit the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego. The specials originated at New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago, and were handled west by the New York Central, Chicago and Northwestern and Union Pacific.

"University Activities" is the subject of a lecture to be given in the lecture room of the State Exposition Building at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Prof. W. T. Clark, University of California. There will be no admission charge. Unaccompanied children will not be admitted. The lecture room of this institution is well ventilated and seated with opera chairs, and the lecture to be given by Prof. Clark will be of interest to the educational world.

The Magnetic Girl

How She Compels Others to Obey Her Will.

100,000 Copies of Remarkable Book Describing Peculiar Psychic Powers to be Distributed Post Free to Readers of The Times.

"The wonderful power of Personal Influence Magnetism, Fascination, Mind Ctntrol, call it what you will, can surely be acquired by everyone no matter how unattractive or unsuccessful," says Mr. Elmer Ellsworth Knowles, author of the new book entitled: "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of the Eastern Yogis, and describes a simple though effective system of controlling the thoughts and acts of others; how one may gain the love and friendship of those who might otherwise remain indifferent; how to quickly and accurately judge the character and disposition of an individual; how to cure the most obstinate diseases and habits without drugs or medicines; even the complex subject of projecting thoughts (telepathy) is explained. Miss Josephine Davis, the popular stage favorite, whose portrait appears above, declares that Prof. Knowles' book opens the door to success, health and happiness to every mortal, no matter what his or her position in life. She believes that Prof. Knowles has discovered principles which, if universally adopted, will revolutionize the mental status of the human race.

The book, which is being distributed broadcast free of charge, is full of photographic reproductions showing how these unseen forces are being used all over the world, and how thousands upon thousands have developed powers which they little dreamed they possessed. The free distribution of the 100,000 copies is being conducted by a large London institution, and a copy will be sent post free to any one interested. No money need be sent, but those who wish to do so may enclose [illegible] cents (stamps of your own country) to cover postage, etc. All requests for the free book should be addressed to: National Institute of Sciences, Free Distribution Dept. 867-H, No. 258, Westminster Bridge Road, London, S.E., England. Simply say you would like a copy of "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces," and mention The Times.

Do not enclose coins in your letter. Postage to England two cents.

GRANDMOTHER USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HER FADED OR GRAY HAIR.

Mixed with Sulphur it Makes Hair Soft, Beautiful; Cures Dandruff.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But the brewing at home is mussy and out of date. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, which is usually too sticky, so insist upon getting Wyeth's, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says his customers insist on Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because, they say, it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

WHY "AN-URIC" IS AN INSURANCE AGAINST SUDDEN DEATH!

Sufferers from Backache, Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble.

Before an insurance company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test the urine and report whether you are a good risk. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, or the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism and gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore, and sleep is disturbed two or three times a night. This is the time you should consult some physician of wide experience—such as Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Send him 10 cents for sample package of his new discovery—"An-uric." Write him your symptoms and send a sample of urine for test. Experience has taught Dr. Pierce that "An-uric" is the most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar, besides being absolutely harmless and is endowed with other properties, for it preserves the kidneys in a healthy condition by thoroughly cleansing them. Being so many times more active than lithia, it clears the heart valves of any sandy substance which may clog them and checks the degeneration of the blood vessels, as well as regulating blood pressure. "An-uric" is a regular insurance and life saver for all big meat eaters and those who deposit lime-salts in their joints. Ask the druggist for "An-uric," put up by Dr. Pierce in 50-cent packages.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels have been favorably known for nearly fifty years.—[Advertisement.

"BURN IT" RULE NOT OBSERVED.

NOW HUSBAND FACES LETTERS FOUND BY WIFE.

Counter-complaint in Separation Action Names Iceman Guest, Who is not Told to Leave Because of Spouse's Temper—Neighbors will Testify in Case.

Robert L. Bibb, manager of the Hollywood branch of the Union Ice Company, evidently forgot the old-time admonition, "Burn it." Letters his wife, Ida J. Bibb, testified in Judge Monroe's court yesterday that she had extracted from her husband's pockets were introduced in evidence in her suit for desertion. Mr. Bibb filed a cross-complaint in which he sought to show his wife's alleged affections for another iceman. The case was continued until neighbors of Mrs. Bibb can be brought into court.

One signing herself "Peg" seemed to have been fond of Mr. Bibb. "Bobby darling," she is alleged to have written from Anaheim, "if you were only here I would give you a big hug and a kiss. I love you, dearie, and I only regret that I really have no right to do so."

Mr. Bibb admitted he had known Peg but only for a short time. At that the court remarked "the letters are pretty warm for a short acquaintance."

The husband described incidents which indicated to him that one Dillman had gained his wife's affections. Mr. Dillman remained at the Bibbs home on an occasion when he was sick. Mr. Bibb said he had frequently tried to evict him, but his wife had objected so strongly that he refrained.

"Why didn't you put him out while your wife was gone?" asked the sourt.

"I did," was the reply, "but when she came home she got him back. She had fits of temper when I opposed her and I had to do what she wanted."

DECREE DELAYED.
SHE WED TOO SOON.

Miss Anabel Roberts married Arthur B. Shippen at Boone, Mo., August 14, 1904. This was followed by a divorce suit, Mr. Shippen obtaining the decree. Waiting a year after the period in which ordinarily the final decree would have been entered, Mrs. Shippen married George W. Coleman, believing she was free. She alleges in a suit for annulment against Mr. Coleman filed yesterday, that April 1, 1914, her former husband wrote her that the final decree had not been entered until May 15, 1914, five months after she had remarried. Now she is seeking to free herself from the entanglement.

STRANGE SESSIONS.
WIFE IS GRANTED DIVORCE.

The mysterious disappearance in 1912 of Nathan R. Sessions, a salesman in the employ of Smith-Booth-Usher Company, was revived in Judge Taft's court yesterday when Mrs. Marion W. Sessions was granted a decree of divorce on the grounds of desertion and non-support.

Mr. and Mrs. Sessions were married in 1906, and have two children. February 11, 1912, Mrs. Sessions testified, her husband informed her he was going to San Bernardino on a business trip for the company. Several days later she received a letter from him, asking that she send him his razor hone.

Up to this point Mrs. Sessions had no conception that she would not see her husband again. She believed he was on a business trip, as he said. But when inquiry came from Smith-Booth-Usher Company as to his whereabouts, she began an investigation. Pinkerton and Burns detectives were employed, who reported that a man answering Mr. Sessions's description had been seen in San Bernardino.

Mrs. Sessions also went to that city and found that her husband had been there. She discovered he had bought a ticket for an eastern point. There the trail failed until it was ascertained from a man named Babson, whose deposition was read by the court, that he had seen Mr. Sessions in Chicago. They met in the Stratford Cafe, last February. Mr. Babson, who had known Mr. Sessions and heard of his disappearance, notified the local company of the encounter.

The desertion was corroborated by R. W. Burnham, manager for R. G. Dun & Co. Mrs. Burnham is Mrs. Sessions's aunt.

ALLEGES FRAUD.
SUES DAUGHTER-IN-LAW.

Fred Rabe, aged and infirm, has an alleged grievance against his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emma Rabe. This grievance took the form yesterday of a suit to declare that certain notes and mortgages were his property and to have a power-of-attorney decreed void and cancelled.

Mr. Rabe is a German who does not speak or understand English well. He was the owner of notes and mortgages aggregating $6000. The mortgagor lived at Lancaster in the vicinity of the home of his son, William F. Rabe and the latter's wife, Emma.

It was understood that his son and daughter-in-law were to have the interest on the notes and mortgages to assist them in paying for their home at Lancaster. Mr. Rabe alleges that his daughter-in-law wrote him September 15, 1914, inclosing a document for his signature, representing it to be merely a power-of-attorney.

He signed the paper and discovered that it was an assignment of the notes and mortgages. Informing his son of the fact, the latter verified the statement at the Lancaster bank and informed his father. The latter notified the bank of the alleged facts and the bank now holds the notes and mortgages. Mr. Rabe charges that his daughter-in-law fraudulently procured his signature.

Mr. Herald expresses the hope that they will finish the course, receive a good education, and be a credit to themselves and to their family.

DANCER BEGINS HER TOUR HERE.

Mason to Have St. Denis with Large Troupe.

Frances Slosson in "Big Idea" for Burbank.

Vaudeville Bills are the Drawing Kind.

Ruth St. Denis, the world-famous dancer, will open her engagement at the Mason Operahouse, and simultaneously will begin her own tour, tomorrow night. Her engagement here will be of three days' duration. A matinee will be given Wednesday.

Miss St. Denis brings with her a large company of assisting solo dancers, headed by Ted Shawn, a corps of beautiful Grecian ballet dancers and a number of native Hindoo assistants for her Indian dances.

She will present, besides her Oriental, Japanese and Egyptian ballets, many divertissements of classic Greek character, as well as many modern dances, all elaborately staged and costumed, in accordance with her usual careful attention to detail.

It is as an Oriental dancer that Miss St. Denis is best known, and numbers in line with her talents in this direction will be her principal offerings. She has been at work for several months, originating a number of new ballets for her present tour, and these Los Angeles will be first to see.

Among the new productions is a Hindoo ballet known as "The Kama," founded on Lawrence Hope's poems of the Orient, and dealing with Kama, the Hindoo god of love, and an earthly maiden of whom he became enamored. The story is depicted in dance and pantomime, and the production will be elaborately staged, Miss St. Denis being assisted by a corps of dancers in Hindoo costume. An Egyptian ballet will also be a feature of the programme.

Other new numbers will be "The Spirit of the Sea," a combination of Samoan and Hawaiian dances, to be performed by Miss St. Denis; and a sumptuously staged Japanese number, known as "A Lady of the Genroka Period," in which a geisha girl of the courtesan type performs one of the most graceful and complicated dances of Japan.

The Nature Ballet, participated in and directed by Ted Shawn, promises great beauty. It consists of several numbers, among which are "Rain and Rainbow," "Will o' the Wisp," "Harvester and Gleaner," "Sunrise," "Sunset," "Dawn," "Dragon Fly," "Bubbles" and others. Ted Shawn dances in most of the divertissements, performing some of them as solo numbers.

Yvonne Sinnard appears in "Sunrise" as the solo dancer; Carroll Dempster performs a Greek dance known as "Pandora," and Florence Andrews and Claire Niles perform a fanciful dance known as "The Crescent, Moon and the Bat."

Miss St. Denis's repertoire will include some of her older favorites, among them her famous Buddah dance and the Peacock dance. Special music has been written for many of the numbers, and the production as a whole promises to be the most elaborate and beautiful which Miss St. Denis has ever staged.

Burbank.

"The Big Idea," in which Frances Slosson and Franklyn Underwood will begin their starring engagement in Los Angeles, will open at the Burbank this afternoon. The play was originally produced by George M. Cohan in New York, and Mr. Cohan considered it one of the best he ever put on. It is by Clayton Hamilton and A. E. Thomas, whose names alone should be sufficient assurance of its quality.

A comedy, "The Big Idea" centers about a clever college girl, who sets about to help recoup the family fortunes of some dear friends. How she does it is "the big idea," and the play is said to develop a punch, as well as to possess laugh-making qualities sufficient to satisfy the most blase theater-goer.

Ida St. Leon, Edmund Lowe, John Ivan and other favorites of the Burbank company, will support Miss Slosson and Mr. Underwood. James K. Applebee also will be seen again.

Morosco.

The thrid week of "Nobody Home" will open at the Morosco tonight. Judging from the seat sales, "Nobody Home" would run as long as "So Long Letty," but owing to the fact that the house is booked solid with road attractions for the next few months, the management will be compelled shortly to withdraw the musical play.

Charles Winninger, Walter Catlett, May Boley and the other favorites of the piece, beside the star, Miss Ring, have many winning numbers, which are daily adding to their laurels.

Thomas Rector, the well-known dancer, and his partner, Hazel Allen, will tonight join the ranks of Miss Ring's supporters. "The Globe Trot," described as a combination of folk-dance steps of the various nations, is a feature of their work.

Orpheum.

Charles Howard, happily remembered from the days of Ward and Vokes, as a headline fun-maker, will top the Orpheum bill opening tomorrow, He will be assisted by Kernan Cripps and Margaret Taylor, the trio appearing in a sketch known as "A Happy Combination."

Others on the bill will be Violinsky, presenting an eccentric piano and violin act; the Grazers, dancers; Signor S. P. Valenza, harpist, and the holdovers, including Evans and Philips in "A Forgotten Combination;" Shirli Rives and Ben Harrison in "Another Bench Act;" the Ralph Dunbar Salon Singers, and Billie Burke's Tango Shoes.

Pantages.

"The Birthday Party" is a tabloid musical comedy which will headline the new Pantages bill, opening tomorrow afternoon. The participants appear disguised as Hap Ward, Enrico Caruso, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle, Irene Franklin, Bessie Clayton, Eva Tanguay and others. Imitations of the personages named are not given; the young comedians present are merely so disguised and present their own songs and dances.

Others on the bill are Chester Spencer and Lola Williams, in songs and dances; Louis Winsch and Josephine Poore in "No Trespassing;" Jane O'Roark and company in "The Law;" Hanlan, Dean and Hanlan, gymnasts; the Parisian Trio, musicians and vocalists, besides the motion pictures.

Hippodrome.

The Meredith Sisters, in their celebrated Hawaiian dances, will headline the new Hip bill opening tomorrow. They have songs, dances, and daring costumes, and appear, it is said, in some beautiful Terpsichorean feats of the languid tropics.

Others on the bill will be the Indian Princess, Winona, declared to be one of the best women rifle experts in the world; Aliva and Aliva, in a "nut" comedy act; Vic Leroy and Mae Cahill in songs and dances; Billy Roder, Walter Ford and George Lashwood, also in songs and steps, and the Aerial Patts, daredevil gymnasts.

Republic.

A military atmosphere will prevail at the Republic Theater this week, for "The Boy and the Regiment," a playlet of the European war, heads the programme which will open tomorrow. The sketch features Laura Winston, who is said to be excellently supported by the rest of the cast.

Direct from the Empress Theater in San Francisco come the Howard Sisters, who have a musical and dancing number that is helped out by beautiful costuming. Al Wright promises new sensations in his comedy tumbling act; "The Bug Hunters" is used by Malby and Fulton as a vehicle for clever nonsense, while other musical features of the bill will be furnished by Bernice Bernard, talented soprano, and the Atlantic Duo, instrumentalists.

"The Devil's Daughter" heads the motion-picture part of the programme.

Mason.

By special arrangement "The Battle of Przemysl," now being shown at the Mason Operahouse, the pictures will be exhibited tonight beginning at 6 o'clock and running continuously until 11 p.m.

It is not the policy of the Mason Operahouse to remain open on Sundays at all, but during the week the demand and attendance has been so large that the bookings of the pictures were changed to accommodate those who wanted to see them and had no other chance but on Sunday. This is only the second Sunday night that the Mason Operahouse has kept its doors open for an attraction, the other occasion being when Miss Anna Held appeared one New Year's Eve.

Little Theater.

The opening of the Little Theater, with Blanche Hall heading the company, has been postponed until October 11.

WRITES NEW PAGE IN ANNALS HERE

SYMPHONY REHEARSALS TO BE HELD DAILY.

Inspiriting Plan's Scope Also Includes Placing Men on Salary and Increase in Number of Public Concerts—Programmes will Benefit by Improvement in Conditions.

BY EDWIN F. SCHALLERT.

No fairer page in the annals of local music progress has been written than that which, next November, will chronicle the establishment of the Symphony Orchestra on a daily rehearsal basis. It is a page that will be inscribed in letters of gold, too, by the way, for the placing of the members of the organization on a salary, which is a part of the settled scheme, will require the expenditure of no small amount of the precious glittering metal.

Daily rehearsals mean that certain more difficult works, modern and classical, will no longer be considered beyond the pale of the orchestra's best efforts. The gargantuan harmonies of a Richard Strauss, the pallid, elusive phrases of a Debussy, the classic majesty of Beethoven, will lose much of their awesome and foreboding aspect when they can be faced with the stern-visaged assurance of constant practice.

This is not to say, of course, that the organization has been unable to attempt these works in the past, and, often, with very satisfactory results, but in certain cases the most that could be said was that these renditions belonged in the category of attempts, no matter how worthy and commendable those attempts may have been. And this fact was laid principally, and rightly so, to the infrequency of rehearsals—held probably once or twice a week. Therefore, the coming comparative plethora of the same is as welcome as will be the musical novelties which are promised as a result of the new arrangement—the local orchestra on a par, in the matter of rehearsals, with the organizations in the country's largest cities.

One of the most direct benefits of the plan will be the increased number of concerts. Heretofore it has been the custom to give one symphony programme about every month. This year these regular concerts will be supplemented every two weeks by one of the popular variety, although the word popular is to be taken in a broad sense, as the programmes may even include symphonies of the lighter kind. Moreover, a series of children's concerts is a possibility, which, if they materialize, will serve greatly to broaden the educational phase of the orchestra's function.

Rehearsals of the orchestra will begin the first week in November and will be held every morning. The first concert will occur the latter part of that month, and for this and subsequent symphony programmes the orchestra is to be augmented, perhaps twenty men being added to the string division, as well as to play regularly such instruments as the contrabassoon, the English horn and others.

Estimates are that the cost of the new plan will be about double that of last year, but the supporters of the orchestra have stated their intention of discounting any deficit existing at the end of the season. There is every reason also to believe that increased interest in the concerts, as well as the attendance at the popular events, will serve partially to offset the greater expense.

The project is rife with possibilities for the musical advancement of the city on a scale never before realized. The programmes which are to be given will be of an unusually high order, and the number of novelties much greater than during any past season. Adolf Tandler is preparing a list of compositions to be rendered, to be submitted to the directors of the symphony association at their next meeting, and a definite announcement of what the music lovers will be able to enjoy during the coming season will then be made.

Destinn Recital Off.

Emmy Destinn's inability to leave Bohemia has resulted in the cancellation of her two local engagements for this week, much to the regret of musical enthusiasts, who had looked forward with no small degree of pleasure to hearing the world-famous artist. Fritz Kreisler, the well-beloved violinist, is therefore destined to be the first artist on the regular Philharmonic courses, appearing here the 12th inst. and again on the 16th.

Although Mme. Destinn, a Bohemian by birth, is an American citizen by adoption, her final papers have not been filed. Hence, when she attempted to leave Europe with her husband, Dinh Gilly, an Arabian by birth, but a Bohemian by adoption, she was detained by the authorities, according to advices received from abroad. She has an engagement with the Chicago Opera Company in November, and it is believed that by that time she will be able to leave Europe. There is a bare possibility that she may come to this Coast in February.

Possible substitutes for Mme. Destinn in case she is unable to come to the Coast this season are Mary Garden, Calve, Melba or Paderewski. It is also announced that tickets may be exchanged for the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, which will probably be heard under Walter Damrosch's baton late in April.

Kreisler Programmes.

Kreisler's programmes for his two appearances in this city will be marked by that variety and charm which the great violinist's fine sense enables him to secure. Some of the famous artist's own compositions will be featured. Several of his newest transcriptions are also to be heard. There will also be violin works of Handel, Schumann, Schubert, Tartini, Brahms, Weber, etc.

German Music Today.

German music will make up the programme to be offered by Dr. Bruce Gordon Kingsley, organist, this afternoon at Trinity Auditorium. He will be assisted by Miss Helen Beatrice Cooper, operatic soprano, late of Dresden, Germany.

Each number will be briefly introduced by interpretative remarks, which will describe the wonderful musical growth of the fatherland of music.

The public is cordially invited and a silver collection will be taken at the door. Following is the programme:

Organ, "St. Anne," fugue..................Bach
Dr. Kingsley.
Adagio cantabile (from the sextette).....Beethoven
Dr. Kingsley.
Vocal, grand opera scene, "Softly sighs the Voice of Evening" (from "Der Freischuetz") Von Weber

Organ, overture, "Rosamunde"..........Schubert
Dr. Kingsley.
"The Alpine Fairy's Message" (from "Manfred")..............Schumann
Dr. Kingsley.
Vocal, "Verborgenheit" (secrecy).......Hugo Wolf
"Staendchen" (serenade).........Richard Strauss
Miss Cooper.
Organ, "Huldigungsmarsch"................Wagner
Dr. Kingsley.

The next concert will be devoted to French music and the date will be announced later. Other concerts of the series will take up English, Italian, Scandinavian, and, possibly, Hungarian music.

Local Composer's Success.

Four prominent artists in this country are now presenting compositions of Fannie Dillon, the local musician whose interesting work has lately received a great deal of commendation. Mme. Schumann-Heink and George Hamlin are using her "Berceuse," "Love Song," "Evening" and "From the Far West" on their programmes, while her six preludes are being played by Rudolph Ganz and Alberto Jonas. Last year Miss Dillon devoted her efforts to the composition of songs and a woman's chorus, and mixed chorus. This year she intends to work on a string quartette. She has just returned from her vacation spent in the mountains and resumed teaching yesterday.

Masterpiece Recital.

A "programme of masterpieces," will be presented the 11th inst. at Blanchard Hall, the proceeds to be used toward purchasing good musical instruments for two talented young men, George Paynter Hopkins, and Arthur Hitchcock, who will appear, the former playing Saint Saens's Concerto in G Minor, and the latter the first movement of MacDowell's Concerto in D Minor. Contributing their services will be Alfred A. Butler and Mme. Catherine Shank. Mr. Butler will present Chopin's Sonata in B Minor, opus 58, and Fantasie in F Minor, and the unusually exacting Paganini variations (both sets) of Brahms. Mme. Shank, in company with five other singers of her own choosing, will offer Debussy's exquisite "La Demoiselle Elue."

American Music.

Miss Margaret Goetz's third repertoire song recital will be given at Blanchard Hall Wednesday afternoon. The subject is to be American composers. Misses Grace Morgan and Gertrude Pentland will assist, singing Indian songs in costume.

The programme will contain compositions by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, Sydney Homer, Charles Cadman, Ethelbert Nevin, Jessie Gaynor, Margaret R. Lang, Clayton Johns, G. W. Chadwick, Arthur Foote, Horatio Parker, Dudley Buck, George W. Root, Edward MacDowell, Henry K. Hadley, Gertrude Ross, C. B. Hawley, Edgar S. Kelley, Frank LaForge, James H. Rogers, Laura Zerbe and Edwin Schneider.

Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Grooscup-Perkins will play accompaniments.

Resumes Recitals.

Mrs. Estelle Heartt Dreyfus, popular local contralto, will open her season of Sunday evening recital at the Beverly Hills Hotel tonight. She will be assisted by Glenn Knight and the Beverly Trio. These concerts are deservedly much appreciated by the music lovers of this city and others.

Mrs. Dreyfus has just returned from a visit to the fair, and while away sang at a number of social events in the northern city. One of these was the banquet given by the officers of the International Congress of Engineers to Maj.-Gen. G. W. Goethals. She was also entertained by Mrs. Wallace Wheaton Briggs, president of the San Francisco Music Club and Mme. Emelia Tojetti, president of the Pacific Musical Society. She has been making arrangements to return in the fall to sing in San Francisco for two clubs, and also to give two concerts in Eureka.

Beverly Concert.

Molly Byerly Wilson was soloist at the Beverly Hills Hotel concert last Sunday evening, with Glenn Knight, accompanist, and the Beverly Trio. Miss Wilson sang the Rinaldo aria by Handel, selections from the German lieder, and a group of English songs, featuring Frank H. Colby's impressive "Destiny," and the ever appealing "Mother Machree" (Olcott-Ball.) Encore numbers given were "Love's Old Sweet Song" (Molloy,) and "Irish Love Song" (Lang.)

Frances Alda Coming.

Among the prima donna sopranos regarded as pre-eminent, none has attained a greater popularity than Mme. Frances Alda, who is to be one of this season's Philharmonic artists. Her American debut took place but a few years ago, but was marked by a triumph of the first order. Since that memorable evening at the Metropolitan she has maintained the position she created for herself on the stage which has been graced by so many supremely fine artists.

However, it is not alone in opera that this distinguished artist excels; in the more intimate concert hall her magnetic personality, stimulated by the possession of a glorious voice, and unerring musicianship make her a most enjoyable singer.

Frank La Forge, the ever welcome accompanist-composer, will appear with her in recital again this year. Their concerts will close both the first series and the matinee series, each programme being entirely different.

Pupils to be Heard.

Signor Buzzi, director of the Verdi School of Singing, will present a large number of his pupils in recital toward the end of this month at Blanchard Hall. Special illustrations will be given of Signor Buzzi's new practical quick method, "prestissimo."

Helen Beatrice Cooper,

Soprano, who will be heard in several numbers on a programme of German music offered by Bruce Gordon Kingsley, organist, this afternoon, at Trinity.

Peace Inviolable.

Through a valley of blackest night,
With no single star to guide me,
I could struggle back to the light,
If my love but stood beside me;
And my love—in storm or in stress,
Fortunes frowning or beguiling,
Though Fate punish, or caress,
He shall look—and find me smiling.

Pray what can sadden the heart
When one lives, and loves and is young?
Shall the sudden teardrops start
At the stab of a venomed tongue?
Shall one sigh for the lack of wealth
when the heart holds hidden treasure,
When the blood in one's veins spells "health"
And the feet trip Love's own measure?

Nay, life shall flow like a song,
With a sweet refrain to charm us,
No grief shall prevail for long;
Nor evil have power to harm us.
Who cares for the winter's cold,
Or the heat of summer weather?
'Tis long while yet to grow old—
And we'll travel the road together!

STUDYING STAGE'S PATHOLOGY.

Bed-ridden by Virtue of its Slavery to Petty Personalities and Dollars and Cents Drama Suffers for Want of Uplifting Ideals and Strenuous Serious Attention.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK

IN THE long run I believe in the triumph of the stage and the return of the spoken drama to popular favor, but this is to admit that the stage is not now triumphant and that the spoken drama has gone somewhere, in order to have to come back. It is very sad to see the stage "Sadie Loving" itself to death and to find "Nobody Home," not only at the Morosco, but at every other theater in the land.

Now, when one is conscious of a sickness, the natural impulse is to take the patient to a doctor, but picking out a physician for this patient would be no easy task. Oh, there are plenty of volunteers and numbers of regulars, too, but the patient will have none of them, and takes faith for a cure. But it will take faith and deeds and lots of them. At that, a relapse during convalescence might mean death.

It may occur to you that the right doctors live in New York, but I am of the opinion that it was in Gotham that the patient was first inoculated with its present contagion. The New York doctors are the ones who made the patient sick. They prescribed an overdose of the rest cure—rest from thinking and from anything that might suggest blood or brain. The tired business man was catered to until he was tired of being the cateree. In the meantime, all other theatergoers had either died or gone to the moving pictures.

No, the pictures didn't wean the people from the stage. It merely happened that the stage was doing nothing to hold the people and that the pictures stepped in to fill one of those vacuums that nature is popularly supposed to abhor.

While a lot of these pleasant thoughts were floating through my mind the other day I met Willard Mack and immediately decided to hold him responsible for the death of the stage. Willard said he didn't kill it, but that he knew who did. He was willing to do something about it, however, but realized that he wouldn't be allowed to.

Willard Mack does a great deal besides being a moving-picture star and the husband of Marjorie Rambeau. He writes plays and then acts in them, but he does not like to act in the kind of plays that most managers of today like to buy. Willard is hopelessly afflicted with vitality and intelligence. This has temporarily unfitted him for the spoken drama. It would blight the chances of any actor. Such a combination also makes modern playwriting an impossibility.

It is very easy to write the modern play. You attach yourself to the office staff of a concern that needs plays. The manager comes in and says to you: "I have a man in my company who wears No. 12 shoes. Please write me a play at once about feet."

Or, it may be that one of the directors will approach you diligently and burst upon you with the information that a newly-acquired actress has yellow hair. He would be much obliged if, on the following morning, you would hand him a new play that would discover a fresh angle in the matter of hair.

In this connection I am reminded of the fact that George Cohan once remarked that the author of a play ought to have something more fundamental to begin with than a man's head and an Arrow collar.

Cohan also is one of the few remaining managers upon this sorrowful planet who says to the world, "Bring me the play and I will find the cast." Until more managers say this, there will be no more spoken drama, or at least what is left of it will not amount to anything.

If ever the stage comes back it will be because the playwrights create big plays around fundamentals and managers consent to employ people who can act them. So long as the petty personalities of stars are to be made the subject of plays, there will be no plays worth going to see.

The policy now being followed will kill pictures just as fast as it has killed the spoken drama. The screen and the stage are alike in their need of putting the play before the actor.

This may not read like an interview with Willard Mack, but I was more concerned with using Mack as an illustration than in quoting him. He is exactly the sort of person the stage needs—a man of purpose and intellect who is capable of creating a play that is purposeful and intellectual and able to take a part in it after he has written it and show to the people exactly what he means by it. Mack knows the mechanics of play building as very few living authors know it.

There is one thing he said to me that I do want to quote, and that is that the best plays today are on the desks of managers. They have been there six months and they may lie there three months more before they are returned with regrets. When they are sent back they will be exactly as they are now—unread.

"In the old days of A. M. Palmer and Augustin Daly, the drama and the author had a chance that does not exist for them now," said Mr. Mack.

When he said this he had just stepped out of a moving-picture scene, and I watched him, choking to speak. I imagined that if he could have talked in that scene he would have barked his words as if afraid to release their naked power. When he spoke as he did I was quite prepared for the explosion.

"In the days of Palmer and Daly any big new idea had a chance. Today an idea has a chance in pictures, but not on the stage. Everything in New York is capitalized now. Every manager there talks money from the time you enter until you leave. Formerly three-fourths of all the good new plays came from unknown authors. Today John Doe of Podunk or Bill Smith of Sacramento may write his head off and come through with something astonishing, but he will never be read.

"The managers killed the star system by having their plays written for their stars. If they had gone on buying good plays and finding the stars to play them, the stage would never have suffered the slow death it is dying now.

"Big ideas are never originated when the purpose is to pamper the individuality of an actor. A little handful of men cannot supply the American public with the plays it wants. The managers will have to open their minds before they can rehabilitate the stage.

"You have a fine example out here in California of what I mean. Down at La Jolla is Austin Adams. He is writing the most brilliant satires and the cleverest modern society dramas with the brightest dialogue since Oscar Wilde. What chance has he? Who is producing his plays?

"Austin Adams is not alone. There

Miller's.

Theda Bara, in "Sin," an original and unique photoplay written and produced by Herbert Brennon, is to be the feature at Miller's starting tomorrow. It is an unusually powerful and convincing story, abounding in strong dramatic climaxes growing out of the clash of elemental human passions. The scenes are laid in sunny Italy and in New York's seething colony known as "Little Italy."

Miss Bara plays the role of a lovely daughter of the passionate Italian soil, for whost love men are tempted to commit the gravest of crimes. She is surrounded by an especially strong cast headed by the well-known dramatic star, William E. Shay.

The added feature is the latest Pathe Weekly.

Today and tonight ends the engagement of popular William Farnum in the unusual picture of dual personalities, "The Wonderful Adventure."

Majestic.

Majestic programmes for this week are full of promise. Beginning today Ann Murdock will be seen in "A Royal Family." She will be followed Wednesday by Gail Kane in Clyde Fitch's tremendous success, "Her Great Match."

In the former the gifted ingenue star, as Princess Angela, is forced by her environment and the loss of an older brother to preference for a boy's life, excelling in riding, shooting, fighting and other thrilling pastimes. She is courted by the disguised prince of a neighboring country. Intrigue, mob scenes and many dramatic situations sustain the interest.

"Her Great Match" is said to be a splendid vehicle for Gail Kane's dramatic ability. In her role she is forced by her mother to enter a matrimonial alliance against her will.

Woodley.

"Trilby," in pictures, is to be offered at the Woodley Theater, beginning tomorrow, with a cast headed by Clara Kimball Young and the distinguished actor, William Lackaye.

Du Maurier's dramatic classic is familiar, at least in a general way, to almost everyone. "Trilby" was perhaps the most popular novel of its time. The play when presented in stock in this city had a phenomenal run, and the film version of this startling novel and drama is said to be excellent.

Palace of Pictures.

So great is the popularity of "The Island of Regeneration" at the Palace of Pictures that the management has decided to continue it for another week. Cyrus Townsend Brady's unique story, produced in a beautiful and spectacular manner with a strong cast, has scored an unusual triumph.

The appeal which "The Island of Regeneration" makes is explained by the fact that it combines a strong and unusual plot with beautiful settings and exceptional acting.

MISSION PLAY TO GO ON TOUR.

CONSENSUS OF OPINION IS IN FAVOR OF MOVE.

Author McGroarty Announces Close of Engagement Here will be Synchronous with that of Big Fair, and Thereafter World Journey of Players will Start.

The much-discussed question as to whether or not the "Mission Play" will always remain exclusively in California was definitely settled yesterday by John Steven McGroarty, the author, who made an official announcement that the play will tour the world, beginning some time next year.

"'The Mission Play' has had a good many problems," Mr. McGroarty stated, "but the most difficult one of all was to decide between the two classes of its friends—the one class which contended the "Mission Play" should never be taken from San Gabriel, and the other class which contended that it was an injustice and a kind of selfishness not to take it on tour and thus prevent it from ever being witnessed by countless thousands of people who can never come to California.

"This year," the author continued, "I have had ample opportunity to get the opinions of people from all over the world who have attended the play at San Gabriel. And the overwhelming weight of those opinions is that the "Mission Play" should be taken on tour.

"My own personal desire is that it remain at San Gabriel, but the question is one which I feel should not be decided by me alone. In taking the play across the continent, and probably around the world, I am acceding to the earnest desires and actual petitions of thousands of people whose wishes cannot be denied and whose judgment I consider superior to my own."

The author of the "Mission Play" quoted scores of persons eminent in literature, art, science, religion and the affairs of the world who have strongly urged him to afford an opportunity for everybody to witness the "Mission Play" because of the effect it would have not only on art, and especially dramatic art, but more than all things else for the good that it will do for humanity.

That Mr. McGroarty's decision to take his play across the continent, to South America, the Antipodes, Europe and Asia will result in an unprecedented advertisement of California is the opinion of nearly all public men here.

Mr. McGroarty states that when the play leaves its home at San Gabriel it will carry with it the entire original cast—padres, soldiers and muleteers, the singing and dancing girls and boys of Monterey, Indians and all, to the number of nearly 100.

There can be no question as to the enthusiasm with which the play will be received throughout America and in foreign lands. Great theatrical managers everywhere are clamoring for it. Among the glittering inducements that have been made is for a tour of Australia to be arranged by Hugh Ward, and the offer of a solid year's engagement in London made by Sir Herbert Tree.

"The present season of the "Mission Play" at San Gabriel will close on December 4, the same date on which the San Francisco exposition will close. It is doubtful that the play will again be seen thereafter in California for several years.

POLITICIANS, STATESMEN.

Vice-President Marshall advises Congress and the American people to "soft-pedal" politics while the nation's foreign relations are critical. He does not believe in an extra session of the Senate.

Representative Kitchin, who is to be the Democratic floor leader in the next House, predicts that Congress will not vote more than $10,000,000 increase for armament. Ten cents apiece for the national defense.

Twelve years ago Frank O. Lowden was a candidate for Governor of Illinois. He has now announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, and says he will not be the candidate of any faction.

Senator Kern of Indiana, majority leader of the Senate, is taking a poll of the Democratic members of that body to learn what they think of holding a special session to clean up the calendar generally, but especially to pass upon the Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties and the question of modifying the Senate rules so as to provide a moderate form of cloture. So far, he says, the responses favor one.

Gov. Dunne of Illinois is a candidate for re-election. At the same time Congressman Williams of Pittsfield will also importune the Democrats of the State to give the nomination to him rather than to Dunne. Harry M. Pindell of Peoria, late Ambassador to Russia, says he will be a candidate if the opportunity arises properly.

Revenue officers recently discovered a large plant for making "moonshine" whisky on United States Senator Hoke Smith's country place near Atlanta. The still was a large one and there were indications that whisky had been made in the last twenty-four hours. No one was found at the still when the revenue officials made the raid. The moonshine plant was within 300 yards of Senator Smith's residence and 500 yards from the home of United States District Attorney Hooper Alexander, who is a radical prohibitionist. Senator Smith signed Georgia's State-wide prohibition law when he was Governor.

Actress Tells Secret

A Well Known Actress Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair and Promoted Its Growth With a Simple Home Made Mixture.

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray-haired person look 20 years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

TOGETHER LET US GO

Downtown to Inspect Olive Gray and Other Exquisite Tints; also Things Chic and Charming.

Now is the time to buy:

That suit, coat or dress in the all week bargain sales. You will save enough on one to buy two, perhaps.

Practical Suggestion.

That "ounce of prevention" lies in pouring down the sink drain at least once a week a teakettleful of boiling water. The water in the heater does not get hot enough to answer the purpose, nor does it do to merely turn on the faucet and let it run. The water should be absolutely boiling and poured directly down the drain pipe. Many a dollar will be thus diverted from the plumber's to your own pocketbook.

Have You?

Have you prepared to place a prize winner in the big show devoted to displaying the two things in which Los Angeles excels? I mean automobiles and flowers. It is said we have more motor cars than any city west of goodness knows where, and we know we have more flowers than any city on the Pacific Coast and that means anywhere in the United States. That will be a wondrous show—the one which will open in October, and which will occupy the great store space formerly occupied by the Robinson store. Flowers and motor cars. One draws about as vigorously as the other. There is time between motoring to take care of the flowers, even by the most enthusiastic mobiler; and there will be space between motors to display the flowers. Think what a festa for the eyes that flora-mobile show will afford. (No pun intended by that last syllable.)

Cocks o' the Garden.

Have you happened to see those wonderful cock's combs which have been selling on the street? They look like the old fashioned ones but magnified by about seventeen or more and ruffled at the edges until you involuntarily think what lovely rose ruching they would make to edge your new petticoat. The color is more brilliant than any heretofore seen in those flowers. The posies are for sale and the woman also sells seeds of these new cock's combs. There is, then, one realm wherein old Mr. Hen is still lord; even though he has "gone out" of the poultry pen.

"To Know All."

And the kindly French proverb continues: "Is to forgive all." And that is just why I can never "stay mad" at anyone. Every now and then someone makes me truly indignant and I vow that they are "just too—and perfectly—" and so-forth. But just when my anger bursts into full bloom, certain as fate something or the person herself gives me a glimpse of her troubles and, "pouff!"—I am so sorry for her that I begin to think how I can help her and when I look for that anger—it isn't there. I fancy it would always be that way with everyone, if we could carry a mirror which would reflect 'way down into the heart.

Picked Her Pocket.

Edith has an allowance. That is, she has it until about the end of the first week in each month and then she is "broke." Such a spendthrift, is Edith! The other day she told me that by the fourth, she was beginning to forego picture shows and to diet away luncheon time and to otherwise makeshifts, usual when she has reached the tether end of her "fun-mon," as she calls it. She was about starting down town for a look fest when, thrusting her finger tips into the right hand pocket of her jacket, a tingle went through her veins for she felt—it actually must be— a piece of money—and it seemed to be—as she felt more carefully, a ten dollar gold piece. It was just the right size for one and the right thickness and it had evidently slipped down between the lining of her coat and the reinforcement of her pocket. Quickly she snatched the scissors and began ripping. Rip, rip, snip, snip. Her hurried fingers could scarcely wait to seize the prize, for she wanted more things than she had ever wanted in her life, it seemed, and ere she had opened the seam of that coat lining she had spent the shining gold piece and several of its shadowy brothers and was trying to begin all over again when—out came—guess what? The nice solid lead weight with which the careful tailor had elected for the holding down of wrinkles. "I actually felt like sticking a pin in that tailor," said Edith in telling me about it.

If You Have Not Yet Selected.

If, for any reason, you have deferred the selection of your fall suit or dress or coat, you may profit by the putting off. Sometimes I feel that the old proverb really should be reversed and should run "Never do today what you can put off until tomorrow." In this instance "tomorrow" seems to have arrived, for there is saving in the purchase during the garment week set aside in that big store on Lower Broadway. A whole week devoted to special selling of outside what-to-wears!

"Within a Two."

Sunfast draperies for both sides of that big window at a so-very-small price as to decide the good housekeeper upon buying right now. Why, think of getting those never-fade draperies "within a two!" You could scarcely buy common ordinary stuff by the yard and make them by hand for that. And these are all ready to hang.

New Black and Whitery.

They are so new that they fairly leap forth to greet your quick scanning glance—those dressing-table sets, combs, brushes, mirrors, in ivory white and black. Just in time for the black-and-white room which you are fixing up, are these. More beautiful than even the plain ivory they are, and when monogrammed or initialed in black, they will look as chic as your new and stunning evening frock in those self-same colors. So clean, so different—I think there has never been a decorative scheme to equal this one—this black and white, or white and black, whichever you choose to make it.

Miss Nimblefingers.

As dainty as a lady painted upon a fan and with the wee-est, most dainty fingers, she sits and embroiders hour after hour, and when you visit her she smiles that charming little Japanese smile and laboriously tells you—whatsoever your question—that, "Yes, she like America very, very much and after she go home she will come back again."

She is engaged upon the perpetual embroidering of loveliness upon silk and linen. She will do your monogram upon your wedding chest things, or will replica your name as you write it with a flourish. She is in that big new store which calls its home about mid-Broadway, or sometimes just Broadway without the "mid."

Finger Teething.

Every day the luggage for week-ending becomes more compact until I wouldn't be surprised if we may eventually thrust within the corner of the eye, or at best pack into a single ear, all the needed baggage for a several-days' visit. The latest addition to this sort of preparation—or more properly I should say the latest subtraction—is the finger toothbrush. In the very small container made from celluloid, a tabloid no larger than a half-dollar cut in two, is this new tooth cleanser. It is formed from rubber and has prongs similar to those upon the rubber complexion brushes. You place it upon the fore finger and carefully scrub each tooth and with the rubber rub the gums, and you may be certain that the work is accomplished even more thoroughly than with the tooth brush of yesterday.

Does not Take, but Gives Cake.

That great birthday event which happens every year to that mid-Broadway establishment, just as regularly as birthday events do not happen to women, will be distinguished this week by more than even the usual interest. An attempt will be made, in fact, to outdo itself upon this birthday occasion, which is in some sorts like a woman's, since it is always the fifth—same number each time, you see? This store will not try to take the cake, but to give it—and that most generously—in the conferring of bargains and prizes as well as souvenirs. OLIVE GRAY.

The Business Version.

"A pessimist says, 'Is there any milk in that pitcher?' whereas an optimist remarks, 'Pass the cream, please.'"

Aren't you interested to hear of [illegible] Workman's engagement? They tell me that that Mr. Furman is most unusually nice—positively no end and quite charming manners. They took moving pictures of us all at Del Monte and showed them at San Francisco the following week. It took the conceit out of some of us, I can tell you. Many of us were wearing colored glasses to save our eyes—and we do look guys. And those who had the sun in their face were pulling awful grimaces, while attitudes left everything to be desired. Talk about seeing ourselves as others see us!

So long, dear, mamma is reminding me of that mending.

THE WEEK.

PARTIES, RECEPTIONS, DINNERS, WEDDINGS AND THE LIKE.

THE capricious goddess of pleasure has kept society fitting throughout the summer, either to one of our incomparable, near-by white-sand beaches which frame the moody, ever-changing Pacific; else to the Jewel City in San Francisco, with its exquisite Guerin colorings, or the little gem exposition nestling in its purity so close to San Diego Bay—a city of which the padres dreamed, mayhap.

Lake Tahoe, Huntington Lodge, Santa Barbara, Coronado and Del Monte have each furnished a magnet for our motorists; any one place of which is sufficient to enchant. As the season draws to a close at the various resorts the smart set finds an attraction in the ever-fashionable horse show, which just now is attracting folk from far and wide to San Francisco.

This year the show is doubly important, for the exposition is fostering it and giving $17,000 in cash prizes besides twenty-two trophies. Thirteen States have appropriated $50,000 towards this horse show, one-third of that sum having been expended on transportation. Associations that foster different breeds of horses have contributed $57,600 in prizes. Other cups and trophies have been donated. The total mounts up to $127,168. The prize list is colossal when compared with those of other horse shows in America, and has been approached only in Paris and London.

Miss Adelaide Gillis of Los Angeles, Mrs. Anita Baldwin and John E. Marble of Southern California are box holders, and have entered strings of their best horses. Among those entertaining in their boxes are Charles Templeton Crocker, Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, Mrs. W. C. Ralston, Lieutenant-Commander C. H. Woodward, U. S.N.; A. B. Spreckels, Mrs. George Wingfield, A. W. Foster, J. P. Langhorne, Henry T. Scott, P. C. Hale, W. E. Creed, Frank Grace, Mrs. George McGowan, all of San Francisco; the Misses Morrison of San Jose and J. D. Farrell of Portland, Or.

The show opened Thursday with a flourish, the band of the First Cavalry playing and patrons and patronesses present representative of the fashionable world. It will close October 13. There will be many fascinating special events unknown to the usual programmes for horse shows. These will be contests in which the speed and action seem sure to entertain the public greatly. They are wonderfully varied and include a competition for stock and saddle horses, a mile race for mounted police, a mile trotting race under saddle as a revival of the oldest sport in the United States; a hurdle race of one mile, a steeplechase of two and a half miles, a half-mile race for polo ponies owned by club members, a relay race of two miles for cowboys, another relay race of two miles from which cowboys are barred, a relay race of two miles for cowgirls, a saddle tandem race of three-quarters of a mile, a five-mile race for four-in-hands, the P.P.I.E. jumping contest and several regular jumping classes for horses known in horse show parlance as hunters. There will be a spectacular military equestrian tournament, open to officers and enlisted men of the United States Army and National Guard.

Local representatives who are attending include Miss Gillis, recognized as a splendid equestrienne throughout the State. She usually brings home many blue ribbons. With Miss Martha Freeman, secretary to Robert C. Gillis, the young lady's father, Miss Gillis went north Wednesday night. Since 1912 she has won recognition, that being her first attempt at exhibiting saddle horses, when she came home from the State fair bearing the highest honors for a mount. The next year Miss Gillis toured the Orient with her mother, but in her absence her pets brought added glory at different events. The Gillis stock farm is located in the hills back of Santa Monica.

Boots and Saddles Club.

In honor of the most recent additions to the fashionable Boots and Saddles Club of Wilshire boulevard, the Misses Kathleen and Doreen Kavanagh, members of that organization will give a ball at the Bryson apartments the evening of October 14. Mrs. Frank S. Wise, herself an enthusiastic horsewoman, will be hostess, and is issuing invitations to 200 guests. The ballroom will be decorated in golden rod and autumn leaves, suggestive of the open air and of the sport to which the club is dedicated.

The Misses Kavanagh are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Charles Kavanagh, and with their parents are residing at the Bryson after an extended visit in San Francisco and the south. Originally of Vancouver, the Kavanaghs have spent most of two years at Coronado Beach as guests of another daughter, Mrs. Percival Thompson. Mr. Thompson is a brother of William Hale Thompson, Mayor of Chicago. It is the expectation of the Kavanagh family to make Los Angeles their permanent home, and the two daughters, both accomplished equestriennes and lovers of outdoor sports, are regarded as notable acquisitions to the Boots and Saddles Club. To the latter's pet project, a Wilshire boulevard bridle path to Griffith Park, they have pledged their active support. The ball may be an occasion for a definite announcement as to when work will begin.

Prominent members of the club who will be among the guests are Miss Cecile McCrossland, a young southerner, who is visiting here; Mrs. Sheldon Ballinger, Mrs. John Edgar Maurer and Paul Maurer, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Millspaugh, Mrs. Leo Perry Kaull and Frank S. Wise.

Piano Recital.

An interesting family is that of A. F. Knudsen, living at Vista Del Mar, in Hollywood. There Sydney Francis Hoben of Australia and New Zealand will give a piano recital of Wagner's "The Flying Dutchman" Saturday, October 16, at 3 o'clock. The pianist-interpreter will be assisted by the Alaskan soprano, Miss Grace Niece. Patronesses from Hollywood, Pasadena and Los Angeles will lend their presence.

Mrs. Knudsen's own family individually own the island of Niihau in Hawaii, and the Knudsen ranch, another property, extends over the whole of Haimea on Kawai Island. They have traveled over the world, but came to Southern California when ready to establish a home, selecting the splendid sight on Vista del Mar, which overlooks all Los Angeles and Hollywood. They have been in their home but two months.

Social-musical Event.

Auspiciously opening the week's social happenings was the recital given at the Hollywood Woman's Club on Monday evening by Mme. Louise Rieger, coloratura soprano, and Miss Wilhelmina Rector, pianist. An assemblage of society, literary and musical folk were present. The patronesses included Mmes. Arnold Burkelman, Edwin J. Brent, Luther Brown, P. W. Breese, William Arthur Banks, Ralph Mallette Burdick, Ralph Deming, Henry P. Flint, Bessie Bartlett Frankel, Edward A. Geissler, Franklin Washington Kohler, Charles H. Lippincott, George A. Ralph, Edward Winterer, T. M. Thompson, Henry Henderson, E. H. Miller, Earl T. Osborne, F. M. Douglass, J. Bond Francisco, Rollin B. Lane and the Misses Dent.

The artists were given an ovation at the conclusion of the programme. Mme. Rieger has been soloist in the Boston opera company, and is an acquisition to musical circles of California. She displayed dramatic force in Delibes's "Les Filles de Cadix" and Wagner's "Isolda's Verklarung."

Miss Rector is dominated by piano forte. Because of her youth, she has not yet made her formal bow to society, but she has kept diligently at her music, with the result that her talents are being rapidly developed. She wore a dainty debutante frock of palest yellow, which was veiled in embroidered orchid chiffon and iridescents. Miss Rector gave numbers from Arensky, Debussy, Rachmaninoff, Chopin and Schumann. In her accompanying, she was also satisfactory.

Noted in the audience were Mme. Esther Palliser, whose years as a public artist in the musical world have brought her enviable fame; Mrs. Jotham Bixby, Jr. of Long Beach, Mrs. W. N. Whitney, Mrs. Albert Duffill, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alter, Miss Alice Lohr and innumerable other musicians.

There were some stunning evening toilettes, among the noticeably handsome being Mrs. Kohler, who wore rose, with a drooping taffeta chapeau and evening coat of rose and gold brocade, banded in fur. Mrs. Lippincott was in a creation of white and silver brocade, with white hat trimmed in white paradise. Mrs. Rollin B. Lane also wore white, with stylish evening coat of purple velvet rippled in the latest mode and with wide ermine collar. Mrs. Brent wore black and white, and Mrs. Rector was in yellow and gold. A more brilliant assemblage has not been seen during the early autumn.

Entertain at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Dunnigan entertained guests at a dinner served at Nat Goodwin's beach cafe Wednesday evening. There were covers for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Siegmund, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bravender, Mrs. Franklin P. Burch and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lawless. A mound of radiant pink roses centered the table. Dancing furnished an after-dinner diversion.

Mrs. Dunnigan, who is one of our most stunning younger matrons, is planning two large luncheons for early November, which will, in all probability, be the initial large society functions to be held at the Los Angeles Athletic Club since the large annex was opened to women.

Honor Miss Francis.

To the Misses Irene and Marie Wixson of St. Andrews place are a coterie of the younger set indebted for a smart affair in honor of Miss Evelyne Laurette Francis, who is to become the bride of Donald Stent Simpson on the 28th inst. Just a cosy group of intimate friends were bidden to the function which was in the form of a high tea, held on the afternoon of Thursday. Those present were Miss Francis, Mrs. Rex Hardy, Miss Juanita Hamilton, Miss Harriett Russell and the two hostesses. An effective combination of reddish purple and white fuchsias and maidenhair ferns graced the prettily-appointed board. Fuchsias, by the way, seem to be coming into their own for decorative purposes in California, though they have long been favored in other climes, notably Italy.

Miss Francis and her fiance are to be married at St. Matthias. Her friends have made her pre-nuptial days one continuation of gayety. Several entertained for her last week, and she is to share honors with Miss Elizabeth Norfleet Wednesday when Mrs. Christopher Eccles gives a luncheon. Invitations for that affair have been extended to Mrs. Ward Wells Montgomery, Mrs. Trueman Ward Edwards, Jr., Mrs. Lyle T. Argo, Miss Juanita Hamilton, Miss Harriet Russell, Miss Beth Merriman, Miss Helen Norfleet and Miss Marguerite Katish. Bidden from Stanford are Miss Ollie Raye Cortelyou, Miss Margaret Bullen, Miss Katherine Ames and Mrs. Mary S. Norfleet. Pink will predominate decoratively. Miss Harriett Russell of Cordova street is also contributing for the two prospective brides.

For October Bride.

A pretty prenuptial courtesy was extended Miss Lorena May Whipple Saturday, last, by Mrs. Julius Back, who has just taken possession of a handsome new home on Thirty-sixth and Maple streets. The daylight was excluded from the rooms by drawn shades and the only illumination came from a myriad of softly shaded candelabra and electroliers, which, with coreopsis and roses of yellow-hue formed a most effective decoration. Mrs. H. P. Herron and Mrs. E. Goodrich poured tea, and over twenty-five attended.

The honoree is to wed George Oliver Goodwin of Salt Lake on the 12th inst., and since the formal announcement of her betrothal has been the motif for many happy affairs. Mrs. Herron gave her a shower Friday afternoon and Mrs. Paul Doherty entertained luncheon guests yesterday in her honor.

⸻o⸻

Announce Betrothal.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark Vernon announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Theresa, and William Pressley Tanner of Winnipeg, Can.

The ceremony will be quietly observed at the home of the prospective bride's parents, No. 434 Westmoreland avenue, October 28. Only the immediate family will be present. The Vernons were formerly of Nashville, Tenn., but since coming to Southern California four years ago have become popular with a large circle of friends. Especially is this true of Miss Theresa, who is a graduate of Westlake School for Girls, having finished two years ago. Mr. Tanner is also formerly of Nashville, the romance having started in Tennessee while both were residents there. The intervening days will herald many parties for the bride-elect.

For Miss Tottenham.

Many interesting happenings on the social calendar have for their inspiration Miss Kathleen Tottenham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Tottenham of Lake street, who is to become Hudson Hibbard's bride on October 14.

A recent hostess, who honored Miss Tottenham and Miss Edith Holder jointly, was Mrs. Lester Hibbard. It was a matinee party and tea, the latter being served at tables done with low baskets of crystal holding Cecile Brunner rosebuds, poppies and ferns, perky tulle bows being tied among the flowers and dropping gracefully to the ends of the board. The name cards were hand-sketched in old-fashioned design, which is to be carried out in Miss Tottenham's marriage, for she will wear for her nuptials her paternal grandmother's wedding dress of sixty years ago—quite in accord with the prevailing mode of the present day. Bidden were Mrs. Harbert Stone Lewis, Mrs. Walter Butler, Mrs. Clinton Hulett Merritt, Jr., Mrs. Edward P. Haupt, Mrs. Clyde Martin, Mrs. Allen Leonard, Mrs. Lynden Bowring, Mrs. William Cooper, Mrs. M. L. Davidson, Mrs. Charles Price, Mrs. Valentine Bell, Mrs. Malcom Campbell, Mrs. Robert S. Out-of-Town Society.

Pasadena.

WITH the opening of schools last week and the consequent flocking back to the city of the innumerable families who have spent the summer months at the beaches, in the mountains and at the expositions, society in the Crown City has started the rounds of gaiety with an abandon and "vive" that omens fair for the winter season.

All clubs and societies are showing signs of renewed activities, as is evidenced by a glance over the elaborate and extensive schedules arranged for fall. There appears to be no abatement in the number of weddings and engagement announcements, rather they appear to increase as the autumn leaves being to fall.

Interest is keen at this time over the luncheon and reception to be tendered Gov. Hiram M. Johnson, by the members and friends of the Woman's Civic League, at the Hotel Maryland tomorrow. This is the first big club meeting of the season, and bids fair to rival in distinction and attendance the reception given at the Huntington a week ago in honor of Mrs. William Cumming Story.

Mrs. Theodore Coleman, secretary of the league, is making extensive preparation for the Governor's coming, and from present appearances the event will be a gala occasion. The luncheon will be served in the main dining-room of the hotel, following which an adjournment will be made to the lobby, where the Governor will make his address. The hotel will be thrown open to all who may wish to attend the speechmaking and reception.

The first of the month was ushered in by a delightful tea given by Mrs. George H. Curtis for the circles of the D.A.R.—her own and the Martin Severance Chapter—on the beautiful grounds of the Hotel Vista del Arroyo. During the afternoon Mrs. Thayer, the State Regent, sketched attractively the features of the northern stay of the Presidential party, the luncheon at Mrs. Hearst's hacienda, and the various other courtesies extended them while in San Francisco. Several hundred members of the two chapters listened to this delightful talk while they sipped tea in the shade of the big pepper trees on the lawn.

The College Club made its winter debut last night with a musical and dramatic programme, which was largely attended by Crown City college women. Miss Sybil Jones, vice-president and chairman of the programme committee, has arranged an especially attractive series of programmes for the year.

An evening of five hundred was enjoyed by the members of the Entre Nous Club at the home of Miss Jessie Beaton of No. 729 Cypress avenue, the beginning of the week. Pink and white roses were used in the decoration, arranged in baskets and bowls about the rooms, and the refreshments were served during the game and later in the evening at the small tables. Prizes were won by Miss Emma Reed and Phil Tracey.

Those present for the meeting were Misses Becky Beeks, Alice Snyder, Fern Tracey, Lillian Burnham, Emma Reed, and Jessie Beaton, and Messrs. Clifford Hammond, Mills Beeks, Walter Works, Phil Tracey, Clark Burnham and Eddie Whitbaugh.

A decidedly unique shower was given in the early part of the week for Miss Naomi Bradley at her home in Lamanda Park, in which an elaborate mock wedding was acted out in great detail during the course of the evening. The affair was arranged as a complete surprise for Miss Bradley, both as to the wedding and the lovely hamper of gifts which was presented to her by the guests.

Miss Alma Houlahan was the bride for the occasion, with a veil of mosquito netting and a bouquet of sunflowers. Miss Ruth Bradley was the groom and Miss Neva Nevins the best man. Attending the bride was Miss Esther Lober; the minister was Miss Blanche Boele, and Miss Phoebe White played the wedding march. The two tiny pages who held aloft the bride's flowing train were Rupert Ridgeway and Henry McGuire. Other guests for the affair were the Misses Gladys Thenes, Alice Ayres, Wiwilee Courson, Gertrude Boele, Mary Legg, Ruby Ridgeway and Mesdames Lacey, F. F. Hahn, Chapman, Kincade, Houlahan, Hayes, J. E. Martin, and A. B. Bradley.

The announcement has just been made that Miss Edith Crocker of this city, and Rev. Charles L. Duncan of San Anselmo, will be married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Clara E. Crocker, of No. 536 North Wilson avenue, October 22. Miss Crocker has hosts of friends in Pasadena, having lived here most of her life and been educated in the Pasadena schools. Rev. Mr. Duncan is pastor of the Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo, and also holds the position of physical director of the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo.

Mrs. John Herd was the hostess Wednesday evening at one of the most picturesque and unique events of the season, a garden musicale at her beautiful home on West California street, in honor of Miss Marion Norris. The guests of the evening included Miss Norris and her mother, Mrs. Mary Norris, the Mesdames Theodore Basset, Cora Gleason, A. H. Butler, F. L. Rohrebacher, Lucian Wilson, Louis Mitchell, W. E. Branson, and the Misses Winona Basset, Margaret Hall, Drucilla Allen, Dorothy Thurston, Ethel and Helen Judson, Berenice Robinson, Geraldine Barry,

THE Woman's Improvement Association, which is to open its 1915-1916 season with an elaborate president's reception at their Fremont avenue clubhouse next Wednesday afternoon, has mapped a scheme of work for the year which combines social and civic activities in an altogether delightful manner. As the organization has a membership which includes practically every feminine resident of the city, its scheduled affairs and entertainments have always been an important factor in determining the trend of social life in this city. Its influence in civic matters has resulted in the gaining of many much-needed improvements.

Afternoons of American and foreign music, lectures on travel, social service, industrial problems, American drama and other topics of immediate interest will be featured during the coming year. A number of open meetings when the husbands, sons and sweethearts of members will be invited, are planned. Dances, bazaars and afternoon card parties will make up the programme of social events.

Thursday from twelve noon until five members of the Presidents' Council of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs met in the clubhouse to talk over federation matters and discuss plans for the work of the year. Lunch was served at twelve noon. This was followed by an important business session. The executive heads of practically every woman's club in Southern California were in attendance. Mrs. Jonathan S. Dodge, vice-president of the local club, welcomed the guests in the absence of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Mumford, the president, who is at present traveling in the northern part of the State.

Mrs. A. H. Blakely of No. 316 Pasadena avenue entertained a number of little tots on Saturday afternoon honoring the fourth birthday anniversary of her little son, George Blakely. Twelve happy children were present to enjoy the good times of the afternoon. A big birthday cake bearing 4 candles was a feature of the refreshments. In the evening Master George entertained his three cousins, Irene and Robert Blakely of 1431 Oak street, at dinner.

Mrs. Leo Longley of Prospect avenue and Mrs. John W. Monahan of Ramona avenue are among the South Pasdenans who are taking advantage of the pleasant late September weather to visit the San Francisco exposition and other northern points.

Thirty members of the Epworth League of the Methodist Church picnicked at Brookside Park on Friday evening. Those in attendance were Miss Mary Hood, Miss Crace Coots, Miss Mabel Wright, Miss Mary Cooper, Miss Helen Freedle, Miss Nadia Schultz, Miss Dora Raab, Miss Lulu Finney, Miss Margaret Jones, Miss Ruth Parmenter, Miss Faye Thorne, Miss Hope Kaye, Mrs. Charles Carver, Mrs. J. B. Jones, Mrs. M. M. Reeler, Miss Violet Lacy, Miss Belle Upham, Messrs. Charles Carver, Edwin Cooper, Leroy Parson, Charles Coots, Lester Reid, Carl Cooper, Paul Reeder, Harold Barden, Russell Frost, Clark Swan, Albert Lacy, Henry Elliott, Arthur Neeley and Harold Arnold.

E. B. Hess of No. 1116 Brent avenue entertained on Sunday evening for a number of his friends among the professional dancing fraternity. Miss Ruth St. Denis, Ted Shawn, George Jenkins and other well-known followers of the art of Terpsichore were in attendance. The dinner preceding the dancing of the evening was served in Oriental style. The guests "talked shop" in an informal manner during much of the affair, late steps and advancements in their art being the principal subject of discussion.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. L. L. Washburn of No. 1028 Glendon way entertained with a tea in honor of the officers and committee members of the El Centro Parent-Teachers' association. Plans for the coming year were discussed during the course of the affair.

Alhambra.

THE warmth, the balm and the dreaminess of the resplendent October days have been reflected in many of the delightful affairs that have been claiming the attention of the socially-inclined during the recent fall days. Camp-fire suppers in the arroyo, dinners, receptions and, loveliest of all, word of one or two weddings have all given their quota to the pleasure of the golden hours. One of the most delightful of recent affairs was the party given in the arroyo recently by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clapp. The merry affair was planned as a courtesy to Mrs. Clapp's mother, Mrs. A. A. Hatch of Niles, who has been dividing a visit of several weeks' duration with the Clapps and the R. K. Hatch family of Los Angeles. Eighteen or twenty congenial friends enjoyed the bonfire supper and the songs and stories that followed, among the invited guests being: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Van Graham, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McCormack, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Angel, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sipprell, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. George Ebert, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Cadawalladder, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner and Miss Marge Halsted. On Tuesday Mrs. Clapp entertained with a pleasantly-arranged luncheon party, with covers laid for eight, also as a compliment to Mrs. Hatch. Mrs. Clarence Van Graham entertained at supper in honor of the northern visitor, who left on Friday for her home in Niles.

A pleasant and charmingly-arranged evening at cards was the attractive diversion offered by Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Moore recently to a number of friends. Five Hundred was the chosen game of the evening, and a number of merry games were enthusiastically enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gilruth, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sturgis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riselay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fabrick and Mrs. Maurice Gifford. Prizes for the successful players were won by Mrs. Charles Riselay and Mr. Harwood. After the merry games were concluded a delicious luncheon was served the guests by the hospitable and charming hostess of the evening's happy diversion.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hess of No. 105 South Fifth street have returned from a visit to San Diego, where the exposition and other interesting places were visited in the vicinity of the southern city by the sea.

One of the prettiest parties of the week was that given by Mrs. Marion Brown at her home on South Margarita street on Thursday. The pretty home had been attractively embellished with quantities of cut flowers and greens, and the dining-room was resplendent in decorations of Maman Cochet roses, a huge bunch tied with filmy green tulle which reached the place cards, beside which was another perfect rose, occupying the center of the table. Places were marked for twelve and a delicious course luncheon was served. At the conclusion of the repast the afternoon was spent on the lawn, where music and artistic needlework made the hours pass merrily away.

Surprising and pleasing a host of friends, Mr. Jay Woodward, one of the best-known young men of the city, has returned from his former home in Rockville, Ind., bringing with him as his bride Miss Grace Wright. Mrs. Woodard, who was one of the most popular members of the younger social set in her eastern home, will be the recipient of much social attention at the new home of the happy young couple, which is to be established at No. 200 South Second street.

On Friday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sexton was the scene of a very quiet wedding, when the charming young daughter of the house, Miss Louise, was married, in the presence of close relatives only, to Dwight Warren. The Most Popular Hair Tinting Preparation In The World

Considering the length of time it has been on the market—only three years—"Brownatone" is undoubtedly the largest selling and the most universally used hair tinting preparation in the world.

"Brownatone" will instantly cause gray hairs to disappear, will give any desired shade from light to the deepest brown or black. It comes already prepared (no mixing) and any one can apply it easily and with the sure knowledge of happy results. Just comb or brush it into the hair. Your druggist sells "Brownatone" or will get it for you, and it is worth your while to insist upon having this preparation and not something else. A sample and a booklet will be mailed you upon receipt of 10 cents, and your orders will be filled direct from our laboratories if you prefer. No samples at dealers.

Lime Combats Tuberculosis

"It is difficult to escape the conviction that lime starvation and lime assimilation are the real issues behind the masks of vulnerability and resistance in tuberculosis," wrote the late Ira Van Gieson, M.D., in the N. Y. Medical Record, May 11, 1912.

Ordinarily, lime is not easily assimilated, but Eckman's Alterative contains it in such form and combination as to insure assimilation by the average person. This explains its success in many cases of tuberculosis which apparently have yielded to it.

Containing no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

Ask your druggist or order direct.

A Notable Showing of Fine Bedroom Furniture

WHETHER your home is a modest bungalow or a mansion, the "California's" showing of bedroom furniture is certain to prove a pleasing revelation. Nothing is left to be desired. The diversity of finish, wood, style, and price is truly remarkable.

All the important periods are represented, such as the Adam, Sheraton, Colonial, Louis XVI and William and Mary—while in fine woods and finishes Mahogany, American (or Black) Walnut and Enamels in Ivory, French Gray and many other exquisite colors, completely exhaust the demands of present-day Fashion.

There is a price for everyone. That price is the real price; it is the same to all and always indicates the very fullest measure of value. An attractive dresser may be had as low as $17.50; a Colonial "Poster" Bed for $25.00. From there values ascend by degrees to any figure you care to pay.

We invite you to come and make liberal value comparison, forming your opinions solely upon the merit of these values. Always welcome, whether you buy or not.

The exquisite Adam period mahogany bedroom set now in our window won the "Award of Merit" of the Rice Leaders of the World — the only such award given any furniture setting in the city.

guest of honor was guided to the hiding places of various gifts by pink ribbon streamers. A handsome set of hemstitched table linen was among the gifts. Mrs. Keeney served a delicious luncheon, the guests being seated at a table which was decorated with Cecile Brunner roses and maidenhair ferns. There were tiny baskets for favors. Cakes and ices were served. Mrs. Walter Van Duzen's vocal numbers were a pleasing feature of the occasion. Aside from the bride-elect and her hostess those in attendance were Mmes. Jessie Slauson, Graham Tyson, J. V. Karelson, J. Swin and W. C. Cowan, and the Misses Eva Howland, Maude Terrill and Ethel Hendrickson.

The Misses Flora and Ida Whipp and Miss Ethel Clark entertained pleasantly at the Whipp home, No. 177 East Holt avenue, Tuesday evening, in honor of Miss Nettie McFarland and Thomas Gow, who will be united in marriage early in October. The special feature of the evening was a miscellaneous shower. Some of the presents were "jokes," but others were of a very substantial nature. The hostesses arranged their home very artistically with combinations of wild sunflowers. Part of the evening was taken up with cutting pictures from current magazines and arranging them in books to show the various steps which have been taken in the romance of the honored couple. Refreshments were served after the main events of the evening. The guests were all postoffice attaches, Miss McFarland having been attached to the postoffice force for a considerable time. Those in attendance were Postmaster Frank P. Firey, Assistant Postmaster Charles Schwan, George W. Reid, J. W. Wysong, W. T. Scott, Fred Neidermeyer, A. F. Snow, Charles Nutt, L. A. Benham, Ralph Henderson, Charles Gorton, Charles Rudolph, E. J. Ransom, A. R. Thayer, J. Brenner, A. F. Hills and B. H. Shewman.

Mrs. W. A. Witzel entertained at her home on Garey avenue Tuesday afternoon in honor of the birthday of her mother, Mrs. C. S. Hunt of Chino. Little bonbon boxes in the form of sunflowers were used as favors, and the decorations were wild sunflowers. Mr. and Mrs. Witzel entertained with piano and violin music after the luncheon. Later in the afternoon the guests retired to the shade of the trees on the lawn and amused themselves by writing sentiments to the guest of honor, on postal cards. Mrs. Witzel's guests, aside from her honored mother, were Mrs. C. E. Stinton, Mrs. C. S. Hunt, Mrs. Ashby, Mrs. Albert LaForge, Mrs. George Weston, Mrs. Katherine Perry, Mrs. W. N. Cooley, Mrs. Slavin, Mrs. C. P. Reibold and Mrs. Tarbell, all of Chino; Mrs. Burt of Los Angeles, Mrs. Staumbaugh of Upland and Mrs. Laura Ray, Mrs. Leonard Hargrave and Mrs. Carl Trebing of this city.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lawrence was celebrated at their home, No. 1027 North Garey avenue, Thursday evening, at which time they entertained with an informal reception and card party. Fifty invitations were issued to friends and relatives, some of the recipients being persons who were in attendance at the original wedding. The occasion was also the anniversary of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Z. M. Crilly of San Dimas.

Anaheim.

MISS ARDIS JOHNSON, who is to be an October bride, was given a shower Friday afternoon when Mrs. William Chambers and Mrs. Frank Macleb were hostesses in her honor. Miss Johnson was invited to spend the afternoon with Mrs. Chambers and upon her arrival, found thirty of her friends there to welcome her. She was led to the dining-room and there she found the table loaded with large and small bundles. These bundles proved to be articles for her new home. Roses and ferns decorated the rooms. Music, games and fancy work occupied the afternoon. Ice cream and cake were served before the guests departed.

The Sans Souci Five Hundred Club met on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsh, No. 143 Kroeger street. Three tables were played, Mrs. Charles Clark winning the first prize for ladies and Mr. Leslie Swope capturing first prize for gentlemen. Mrs. William Locke and Mr. M. C. Goff received the consolations. The host and hostess served refreshments to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Newnes, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Swope, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goff, Mr. and Mrs. William Locke, Mrs. Charles Clark and Mrs. L. Olmstead.

Women Shave Unknowingly

When women are so unwise as to use so-called hair removers, they actually shave unknowingly because such preparations stimulate hair growth after each removal.

The proper way to remove hair is to devitalize it. It is impossible to accomplish this result with pastes and rub-on preparations because they only remove hair from the surface of the skin. DeMiracle, the original liquid depilatory, devitalizes hair by attacking it under the skin as well as on the skin.

Imitations of DeMiracle are as worthless as pastes and rub-on preparations because they lack certain ingredients that DeMiracle alone contains which give it the power to rob hair of its vitality—its life sustaining force.

Buy a bottle of the genuine DeMiracle today and you will get the original liquid hair remover. Others are worthless imitations—refuse them. Remember, you are not asked to buy DeMiracle on a mere promise of your money being refunded. DeMiracle is the only depilatory that has a binding guarantee in each package which entitles you to the refund of your money if it fails.

DeMiracle is sold in $1.00 and $2.00 bottles. If your dealer will not supply you, order direct from us. The truth about the treatment of superfluous hair mailed in plain sealed envelope on request. DeMiracle Chemical Co., Dept. 4, Park Ave. and 129th St., New York.

SOCIETY.

Diego, Mrs. J. L. Lamb has returned to her home, No. 203 Tajauta avenue.

With Watts friends bidden, Mrs. A. M. Malody of Highland Park was hostess Wednesday at a beautifully-appointed luncheon at her home, No. 125 Avenue 57. Pink roses, poetry and music blended harmoniously into a memorable afternoon, for the hostess entertained by reading many of her own poems; her daughter, Miss Mildred Shelb, charmingly sang several favorite selections, and Mrs. Ed Hibbs favored the guests and hostess with instrumental numbers. Bidden were Mrs. A. M. O'Dell, Mrs. M. Bentley, Mrs. Ben Cage, Miss Eva Cage and Miss Hazel Fisher.

Mrs. C. C. Pierce dispensed charming hospitality Thursday afternoon at her beautiful home, No. 310 East Shorb avenue, when she entertained the members of the Cradle Roll and their mothers, of the Presbyterian Church. Baby pink prevailed for the pretty board, laid beneath the wide-spread willow tree on the west lawn. Small flags of all nations waved from the drooping branches, while two large American flags mingled their colors with the ferns in two circular beds, their handles being imbedded in the cool brown earth. Animal crackers and milk was the menu chosen as the one best suited to the tiny honorees, who ranged in ages from 3 months to 3 years. Tea and cake were served the mothers, whose dainty little lads and lasses gamboled on the greensward, their white dresses against a green background, adding to the attractiveness of the scene. Members present were Ruth Marie Sawyer, Clara Spencer Freeland, Pauline Louise Leoni, Leona Marie Thompson, Nellie Willma Berkley, Inez Victoria Wyman, Helen Ruth Buster, Angus McDonald Carmichael, Herbert Frank McLeese, Marco Thomas Regan, Charles Andrew Hunt, George Edward Carter and Edwin Albert, and mothers included Mrs. M. A. Pierce, Mrs. M. A. Magee, Mrs. Maud Curl, Mrs. E. E. Rogers, Mrs. W. A. Choate, Mrs. F. L. Buster, Mrs. John Carmichael, Mrs. J. Cove, Mrs. G. Binder, Mrs. C. H. Hunt, Mrs. I. E. Carter, Mrs. A. B. Berkley, Mrs. T. Leoni, Mrs. O. K Freeland and Mrs. B. S. Sawyer, while the following debutantes, who helped to make the occasion a memorable one, were present: Miss Lola Wood, Miss Mabel Bowen, Miss Ruth Choate, Miss Gladys Curl, Miss Sarah Quarmby, Miss Catherine Haren, Miss Winifred Rowe and Miss Audrey Ellis. Rev. W. C. Rushing, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Margaret A. Lanphear of Los Angeles, spoke to the mothers in an interesting and instructive way.

Miramonte.

MRS. H. N. SNEAD of Miramonte boulevard has been entertaining her brother, H. W. Holton and wife of Cleveland, and cousin, Alvin P. Richmond of Philadelphia, during the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Holton are here for an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Brashear of Maie avenue entertained a few friends at dinner Thursday evening, in honor of the birth anniversary of their daughter, Mrs. Louis Worthington. The table was very artistically decorated and covers were laid for ten.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Hayden of No. [illegible] Compton avenue entertained Thursday evening with two tables of Five Hundred. After the prize was awarded to J. C. Barr, light refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Miss Pearl Keller, Mr. Wilson and the host and hostess.

A happy surprise was that "perpetrated" on Miss Mable Linson, Friday evening, when a number of her friends assembled at her home, there being twenty-five present. Roses and [illegible] brightened the rooms and the evening was spent with music and games. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the entertainment. Those of her friends who enjoyed the evening with her were Misses [illegible] and Verna Anderson, Marie and Helen Ward, Orma Nolan, Doris [illegible] Florence Jenkes, Irene and Florence Weeks, Helen Pierce, Gertrude Merberg, Agnes Evarando, Ruth Lasher, Ola Holman, Catherine [illegible]; Messrs. Lester Weeks, Clifford Cottrell, Will Lewish Irwin Linton, Norman Williams, Ed Henson, Will [illegible], Ned and Richie Anderson.

San Diego.

A LARGE reception Thursday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McClurg of Colorado and a musicale and reception Thursday evening in the patio of the Southern California Building marked the close of San Diego county's second season of special hospitality in the Southern California Building of the San Diego exposition. During the past fortnight Mrs. Clarke W. McKee, the official representative of San Diego county, has been hostess of a series of reception's and musicales every afternoon in the rest room. Leading local artists as well as many visiting stars have assisted in the programmes at the delightful affairs which were open to the public.

Different official groups of the city and county have been honor guests on the various occasions, the County Supervisors, the Mayor, the City Council and State officials and commissioners. At the reception Thursday afternoon visitors paid their respects to Mr. McClurg, commissioner from Colorado to the exposition, and to his wife. Mrs. McKee was assisted by Mrs. Edgar L. Hewitt and a delightful musical programme was given. At the same time a tea was held in the bungalow of the model farm where Mrs. Christina Lynn and Miss Hattie Beck received. Here also a musical programme was given.

Thursday evening a large number attended the musicale given in the patio of the Southern California Building by Mrs. McKee, the hostess. The programme was given under the auspices of the San Diego Music Teachers' Association.

On last Friday night another elaborate musical and literary programme was given in the patio of the building when about 400 persons attended. The programme arranged by Mrs. McKee consisted of the reading of the comedy, "Mary Jane's Pa," by Miss Augusta Grimm and of music by Miss Gretchen Steinbach and Miss Hermine Wueste.

The reception given for former President William Howard Taft and Mrs. Taft was one of the most delightful of the receptions of the fortnight during which San Diego's representative had charge of the social part of the building.

Friday, October 1, Mrs. F. C. Mar[illegible] entered upon her duties as hostess for Riverside county in the Southern California Building.

Oxnard.

MISS MARY SOPHIE WUCHERPFENNIG, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Wucherpfennig, and Allen S. Gill, son of Mrs. A. Gill, were married Wednesday morning at [illegible] in Santa Clara Church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss [illegible] Wucherpfennig, and John Gill, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride wore a becoming traveling suit of blue, the bridesmaid a dainty frock of blue crepe de chine. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast served at the home of the bride, the guests being only the immediate families of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Gill, after a trip in Northern California, will make their home near here.

The Misses Gladys Glenn and Frieda Wucherpfennig were hostesses at an aluminum shower in honor of Miss Sophie Wucherpfennig a few days prior to her marriage to Allen S. Gill. The affair was given at the home of Mrs. John Diedrich, in Oxnard, and about eighteen guests, intimate friends and relatives of the bride, were present. The afternoon was spent in various games, with a light luncheon at the close. Many useful and handsome gifts in the popular aluminum ware were brought by the guests for the bride-to-be.

Many members of the Monday Club and their guests were present at the premiere of the music section this week, it being an open meeting. The excellent programme, composed of selections from Italian operas and papers on "La Traviata" and "Il Trovatore," with several songs by the choral union, was under the direction of Mrs. O. O. Emmons.

An enjoyable musical programme was given Wednesday evening by the German Society of Oxnard for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Mrs. Hartley Bither entertained a number of the little friends of her daughter Doris at a party Saturday afternoon in honor of the fourth birthday of Miss Doris. The house was prettily decorated in pink begonias and dahlias, with asparagus ferns. Games and music were enjoyed, followed by refreshments of a character suited to the tastes of the juvenile guests, with baskets of candy for souvenirs. Mrs. Bither was assisted in entertaining the children by Mrs. Harry L. Bither.

Mrs. Anne Scarlett, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, Miss Charlotte Gandolfo and Mrs. J. H. Sharp left several days ago for San Francisco in the Scarlett car.

Just Try This When Hairy Growths Appear

(Modes of Today.)

A smooth, hairless skin always follows the use of a paste made by mixing some water with plain powdered delatone. This paste is applied to the hairy surface 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain or discomfort attends the use of the delatone paste, but caution should be exercised to be sure that you get real delatone.

SOCIETY.

After a month's visit in the exposition city the party, with the exception of Mrs. Sharp, will go to Seattle by auto if the weather is good; if not, they will make the trip by boat. Miss Gandolpho's home is in Seattle and she has been visiting here this summer.

Compton.

DESPITE the fact that the season is supposedly on the wane and many of the temporary summer residents at the beach and mountain resorts have been called to town by the opening of school, there are those who still continue to indulge in auto flights and mountain hikes that almost invariably terminate in a day or two spent in the open. This appeal was felt Sunday, when Mr. and Mrs. John H. McKee and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip DeHetre and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Brown motored to beautiful Laurel Canyon beyond Hollywood and returned Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Alvia Rice recently joined a camping party near Elizabeth Lake, where deer is plentiful. One splendid buck was leveled by these strenuous hunters, which provided venison the remainder of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Amlin recently joined a motoring party on a week's trip and mountain hike beyond Maricopa. They returned Wednesday filled with enthusiastic descriptions of the excellent roads, mountain scenery and ranch life.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Dankey and Miss Ruth Danky returned Sunday from a ten-days' outing in San Francisco, attending the exposition and visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Stockwell entertained Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Beeman of Iowa Saturday. The Beemans are touring Southern California.

Frank Walton and M. L. Breckenridge are back from a delightful mountain trip and several days of camp life near Victorville.

Mrs. W. S. Mudd and Miss Gladys Mudd of Hemet have been recent guests of Mrs. Maggie Reed and her daughter, Miss Rena Reed, of South Acacia street.

Mrs. Walter Legg and Miss Ida Marsh, house guests from Jacksonville, Ill., were the mid-week guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong of Pasadena. Miss Marsh left the last of the week for her home after spending the summer with her cousin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Legg.

Mrs. G. W. Cowan, Lawrence Murray and Miss Blanche Cowan returned Friday from a week's vacation at Long Beach.

Miss Helen Sandercock of San Luis Obispo is the house guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Roselle of West Main street. Miss Sandercock is here for the purpose of continuing her musical education and will soon matriculate at one of the conservatories of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Davidson of West Main street returned Saturday after a week spent at Seal Beach as members of a house party of sixteen friends from Los Angeles, Long Beach and Corona.

Mrs. Arthur F. Guellow returned to her home in Coronado Tuesday. She was home during the brief illness and death of her mother, Mrs. J. R. Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Goebel of Kansas City, Kan., were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Reed, en route for home from Seattle, where they have been attending the convention of the American Bankers' Association. Mr. Goebel is president of the Commercial National Bank in Kansas City.

THE Young People's Society of the Congregational Church held an Indian party in the dining-rooms of the church on Friday evening. The rooms were decorated with Indian rugs, bows and arrows, papoose cradles, baskets, war clubs and a peace pipe. Refreshments were served from a wigwam by Miss Alice Jenkins and Miss Dorothy Hall.

The members of practically all of the young people's class of the First Baptist Sunday-school gathered in the parlors of the church Friday evening for a get-acquainted social. The party was given in honor of the new students of the university who are members of the school. The parlors were decorated with roses and pennants. The classes participating were the Tryphaena, Plus Ultra, Baraca, Kalomathia and Philathea. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Lovejoy, of the University Tract, have been entertaining their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lovejoy, of Tucson, Ariz. The visitors were married just a few days ago and are on their honeymoon trip. They have been to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco and also have spent several days in Los Angeles. Mr. Lovejoy is a banker of Tucson.

Word has been received here of the marriage of William Karl Kierluff, of this city, and Miss Hazel Dicer, at Fairbanks, Alaska. Mr. Kierluff is a United States surveyor and was sent to Alaska to survey government land about three years ago. At that time he met Miss Dicer. He was sent back to Alaska during the summer and the marriage was the result. Mr. and Mrs. Kierluff left Alaska on the last boat out, September 20.

MRS. N. T. EDWARDS of this city was hostess to the Third Ebell Household Economics section on Friday afternoon, this being the initial meeting of the 1915-16 season. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. W. B. Williams and Mrs. George Dobson of Santa Ana. The Edwards home on South Glassell street was charmingly cheerful with flowers and twenty-two ladies responded to roll call after a happy vacation. Mrs. C. F. Crose, the new Ebell president and a member of this section, was cordially applauded after a brief heart-felt address. The programme for the year read by Mrs. Dobson was adopted with pleasure. One of the features of the afternoon was an entertaining account read by Mrs. Andrew Getty of a 224-mile automobile trip she had recently taken through Northern California and across the Oregon line. Household Economics were discussed through a question box, and appetizing refreshments of approved fashion were served by the hostess during the hour given over entirely to sociability.

One of the jolliest automobile parties of the season and one having a very much worth while trip was that returning Friday evening from a visit to the San Francisco exposition. The party comprising Mr. and Mrs. Henry Witt, Mr. and Mrs. Will Maurham, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Kuechel, Ida Schroeder, Miss Clara Marquart, Henry Marquart and Fred Schroeder, made the delightful trip by easy stages, going to the Bay City via the Coast Route and returning by the Inland Highway, the time consumed being two weeks and a half. Many beauty spots were visited besides the great fair, one of the stopping places most enjoyed on the return trip being in Big Basin where the party camped out under the big redwood trees. The round trip was made in three automobiles and the travelers pronounce the journey to have been an ideal one.

The members of the R.A.C. Club were charmingly entertained on Wednesday afternoon at the pretty West Almond street home of Mrs. P. M. Shell. A pleasurable afternoon was spent, an encouraging outlook for the season being presaged by the successful hours spent together by the ladies. Mrs. Shell's hospitality was completed by the serving of dainty refreshments which were enjoyed by the following club members: Mrs. Mc-

DARKEN GRAY HAIR; LOOK YOUNG

Apply Q-Ban—Not a Dye—Harmless—Changes Gray Hair to a Beautiful Dark Shade.

Don't look old—look young—so if your hair is wispy, thin, falling, gray, streaked with gray, faded, dry, prematurely gray, to restore to original dark color, simply shampoo hair and scalp a few times with Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer. All your gray hair will then become beautifully darkened, lustrous, soft, fresh, wavy, with that dark lustrous gloss making entire head of hair evenly darkened, fascinating and attractive. Also stop itching scalp, dandruff and falling hair. Q-Ban is not a dye, but acts on the roots, making hair healthy, so that the gray hair naturally turns beautifully dark, so evenly that no one can tell it has been used. Q-Ban is not sticky or messy; harmless and is guaranteed to darken gray hair. Big 7-oz. bottle only 50 cents. At McKay & Monkman's Drug Stores, Bdwy. and 9th, Pico and Flower sts., Daily and North Broadway, Los Angeles. Out-of-town folks supplied by mail. Call or write.—[Advertisement.

Our Alveolar Teeth can be made to look like Nature's own.

The Cause of PYORRHEA

Some of the causes are bad-fitting crowns and poorly finished fillings, but if you have Pyorrhea the treatment is more interesting.

The old method of treating pyorrhea is called "scaling." It consists of scraping the roots of the teeth by means of a sharp instrument, which is passed between the tooth and the gum. This treatment alone is not sufficient to cure pyorrhea, because the inflamed and spongy condition of the gums need additional attention to restore them to health.

Our treatment is painless. Under ordinary conditions the process of scaling is very painful. However, the use of Analgesic does away with discomfort and makes the operation a simple one.

PLATES

Of course if you have lost all your teeth you should wear a metal plate because they are conductors. Our metal plates are only 1/4 as thick as rubber plates; we also make Restoration plates to fill out the face; illustrated below.

CHURCHMEN, EDUCATORS.

Two professors of Harvard University, who have served in the war for France, will return to their college duties with the opening of the fall semester. Prof. Allard of the French department has been acting as French interpreter in the military camps and Prof. L. J. A. Mercier has been drilling recruits for France.

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Milton B. Rogers and the Misses Elizabeth S. Rogers and Jennie J. Rogers, a brother and two sisters residing in Morris township, Pennsylvania, have given their entire estate, consisting of 360 acres of farm land and 300 acres of the Pittsburgh vein of coal valued at something over $100,000, to found a school for the children of foreign-born parents, the first of its kind in that country.

The new school is to be located near the village of Old Concord, and called the Rogers Industrial School. The Rogers family have given their large donation to the cause of education into the keeping of Rev. C. L. McKee, superintendent of missions.

Recorder Adolph Carsten of Hoboken, N. J., last week fined Anthony Liza, a bootblack, $5 for keeping his shop open after 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Later in the day, finding it impossible to remit the fine and knowing that Liza was poor, the Recorder sent the bootblack his personal check for the $5. "It's a bad ordinance, but I must abide by it," said the court as he stuck the check into an envelope.

Further relief work by the American Red Cross in Mexico City, where thousands are dependent upon charity for food, has been possible by a contribution of $25,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation in response to a request from Gen. Devol, general manager of the Red Cross, who said the relief treasury had been empty since September 1. The money now on hand will probably keep the work of the organization going for at least another month. In the meantime, other subscriptions will be sought, as there is no apparent prospect of conditions in the city improving to such an extent as to permit relief operations to cease for a long time to come.

For the study of industrial conditions in this country, in order to remedy the hardships of industrial laborers, a $50,000 trust fund is provided in the will of the late Charles M. Cabot of Boston.

Philip Cabot is to hold the $50,000. The testator stipulates that it shall be expended as a board of three managers shall see fit. The deceased, while not restricting the board in any way in the expenditure of the fund, "suggests by way of illustration" that it might be used to procure or encourage investigation and study of the industrial conditions and the publication of the results thus secured, to the end that industrial abuses and hardships of industrial laborers may be known and remedied.

The will says that this whole fund is to be expended within forty years of the testator's death or within twenty years after the death of his last surviving child.

The first complete report of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, covering the first eight months of its existence, reveals that in income and expenditure the organization forms the greatest relief movement of history. The commission has collected and disbursed $50,000,000, of which $15,000,000 has been contributed in the form of money or food by the people of the United States and the British empire and Belgium itself. The bulk of the income has come from other than purely philanthropic sources, but the raising of this enormous sum has been exclusively the work of the commission, which by financial arrangements with Belgian individuals and institutions, exchange of currency with Belgium and a system of providing for the solvent Belgian inhabitants has maintained the entire population of a nation for a year.

A remarkable feature of the report which hitherto has received little note is the effort being made by the Belgians to help themselves. More than 50 per cent. of the money expended by the commission in benevolence is being furnished by Belgians abroad and a large amount also is being supplied by Belgians in Belgium.

Only something more than $6,000,000 in food, clothes and money have come from the United States. However, the American public should realize that the commission in its organization, working personnel and political aspects is distinctly American. The American charitable support, so early and promptly given, came at the very inception of the movement, when such backing was vital to the success of the organization in giving it time to build. This support gave the commission its foundation, from which it acquired the moral prestige that enabled it to secure vitally necessary concessions from the various belligerent governments.

A French soldier fighting in the Argonne has just inherited an estate valued at $40,000 from an eccentric retired army officer, who lived in the soldier's native village. The only condition attached to the legacy is that the soldier must, from time to time, visit the grave of his benefactor and relate there some of his war experiences. The will says:

"Being without family, I leave the whole of my fortune to Paul Cambon, farmer. I desire thus to show my gratitude to him for having for many years listened patiently and with every air of interest to the stories I used to tell of the war of 1870. I trust that he will be spared to return to his village after the present war, and my only request to him is that he come occasionally to my tomb and there relate some of his own war experiences."

ACTIVE WOMEN.

Lady Gertrude Crawford, who is making munitions at Erith, has for many years been highly skilled in the use of the lathe, and in her workshop at her home in the New Forest has turned out work which has astounded her friends.

Hon. Muriel Burns, the best woman marksman in England, has set herself the task of supplying grouse and other birds for wounded soldiers. She is the owner of extensive moors over which the shooting will be done.

Mme. Caillaux, the French ex-Premier's wife, lately acquitted of the charge of murdering M. Calmette, is finding in the war an opportunity of escape from a position which must have been, after all, very trying, even though the jury acquitted her. She is now in command of a nursing corps at the rear of the main French army.

Mrs. Harriet Caldwell, who moved recently from North Stamford, Ct., to Springdale, and who is seventy-nine, saw a trolley car for the first time on her moving day. She had not been ten miles away from home in twenty-five years.

Miss F. Pearl Mitchell of Rocheport is "the first professional farmer in Missouri." She has made a scientific study of soils, grains and animal husbandry. She is frequently called the "hog woman of Missouri" because of the large number of hogs she markets.

Miss Effie M. Cahoon, a pretty 16-year-old girl of Pleasant Lake, Mass., has won the title "champion housekeeper of Massachuetts," after a three months' test in which her score was 97.7 per cent.

"The last time I saw Sylvia Pankhurst before the war," writes a London club man, "she was in the arms of a policeman being carried off to the Vine-street police station, followed by scores of militants shrieking that women would never be slaves. I saw her a few nights ago down near Poplar way, where she was presiding over a 2-penny restaurant where splendid dinners of hot stew, potatoes and fruit pudding with bread, butter and tea were served to distressed east enders. In addition, the suffragists have organized pure milk depots for the babies, and an employment bureau for girls and women."

TODAY'S BEAUTY AIDS

To clear up and whiten the skin and secure that charm of pink and white youthful freshness so much desired by all women you will find it far safer to rely upon a good face lotion rather than powder. To get rid of this shiny and muddy appearance in your complexion, dissolve four ounces of spurmax in one-half pint hot water, and add two teaspoonfuls glycerin. Apply this to your face, neck and arms, rubbing gently until dry. This lotion does not show or rub off like powder and is much better. It is splendid for removing tan, freckles, pimples and sallowness.

You can make a delightful shampoo for a very trifling cost if you get from your druggist a package of canthrox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Pour a little at a time on the scalp and rub briskly. This creates an abundance of thick, white lather that thoroughly dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.

Studying Stage Pathology

are others on the same track. These men should be heard. People are not going to the theaters until somebody like these fellows has a voice.

"Personally, you know what I like to do. I like the part of some big dumb creature who only half sees the light, but who wants to do something about it. I like the voice, the unexpressed."

I asked Orrin Johnson about the stage. Johnson is like Mack, he would like to go back to it, and, like Mack, he sees something is wrong, but his answer is different, although equally vital. Johnson says the stage is lacking in beauty and afraid of happiness.

Now, this is like Johnson, because he is a romantic actor, and, in temperament, a poet. He could never stoop to the cheap claptrap of the modern society play. He demands splendid adventure of the part he takes, or a shining intelligence, and the plays they offer him today contain little of either.

"I don't believe the people are supine as are the managers," he said. "I think they want the truly lovely and the ideal. I think they would be as glad to look upon happiness as upon misery, and I don't see why the drama is not lifted from the mire to the sunlight."

Also I talked with Bruce McRae this week, and he said the most astounding thing of all. He condemned New York managers for forgetting to be hospitable. He said that not long ago he met the surgeon of a Cunard liner who was on his way to a very poor theater, because he said the man in the box office there was so pleasant when he sold him a ticket. McRae said that New York managers make money, but kill art, and that until they purvey heartiness and an atmosphere of welcome they will get nowhere.

"I have been in theaters," he declared, "where I felt that I was barely tolerated by everybody, from the man in the box office to the usher. Department stores have floor men who are trained in courtesy. Good cafes have waiters who make serving an art. The theaters will have to learn a lot about hospitality before the people will again turn toward their doors."

THE UNCHLOROFORMED.

Benjamin Franklin Fell of Passaic, N. J., has just entered his 100th year. He is a native of England, coming to the United States when 11 years old. Many years ago he was famous as a cross-country walker, and was an ardent baseball fan up to 95 years of age.

Creek Beaver, the oldest Indian in Oklahoma, has just commemorated the 115th anniversary of his birth. The menu served consisted of twenty beeves, thirty hogs and 150 chickens with the fixings.

Martha Washington, a former slave, 72 years of age, is enrolled in the night High School of Cincinnati. She has been attending the evening classes from the first year they have been organized, fifteen years ago, and says she will not quit until she has been awarded a diploma on merit.

Martha Hurnder, a former slave, who lives with her daughter, Lucy Hubbard of St. Joseph, Mo., claims that she will be 118 years old December 1, next. The aged negress has been making her home in St. Joseph for twenty-five years and she came there from Clayton, Mo., where she had been the slave of John Tyler. She was born in Virginia and her slave parents were the property of Capt. John Tyler, who fought in the Revolutionary War. At his death she was inherited by his son, John Tyler.

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets

Does Your Corset "Set"?

Or break, or tear, or do the bones punch through? You will have no difficulty like this if it is a Warner's Rust-Proof.

Everything's double except the price.

The double boning
(two thin strips beneath the covering,) has twice the flexibility and greater strength than a single bone of equal weight. It positively will not break or "set"—see the bone curve in the boy's hands.

The double interlinings encasing the bones that are ground and tipped, prevent any possibility of the bones punching through the cloth.

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets
are extraordinary corsets—you know this the instant you wear them, and yet they cost only what an ordinary corset would—one dollar up to five.

You will be wearing your Warner's long after an ordinary corset would have gone to pieces. Each corset is accurately graded for the figure intended—each model at the lowest price is a fashionably shaping corset. We emphasize that each corset from the lowest to the highest price is guaranteed not to rust, break or tear.

You will find the new Warner styles for spring and summer anywhere you ask, and at every store, in every part of the city.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need,) apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

LOCUST SCOURGE IN PALESTINE.

Clouds of Whirring Insects Darken the Landscape—Their Larvae Devour Every Green Thing — Leave Famine and Desolation in Their Wake. Bible Accounts of the Scourge in Egypt—Grasshoppers, Katydids, Crickets Their Cousins.

BY WILLIAM H. KNIGHT.

"More terrible than any army of banners" was the invasion of locusts into Palestine a few months ago, according to the report of Consul Glazebrook to the government at Washington. It was a veritable plague and the insects swarmed in such immense numbers that "as far as the eye could reach, the fields were covered by the locusts, and even the street in front of the American Consulate had the appearance, in the movement of the green and black mass, of a flowing river."

The first swarms were seen in March when they flew over and past Jerusalem. Dr. Aronsohn of the Department of Agriculture at Washington was appointed high commissioner for Jerusalem and adjoining villayets, and he employed vigorous measures to combat the locust army. Under his direction an order was issued by the Pasha, requiring every male citizen between the ages of 15 and 60 to collect twenty kilos (fourty-four pounds) or to pay a fee of $4.40.

The rule was strictly enforced and if one could not show a receipt for doing the work or for the cash, a severe penalty was exacted. Toward the end of May the larvae, about an inch long, made their appearance near Jerusalem and aroused the people to renewed efforts to destroy the pests. Tin-lined boxes were sunk in the earth in front of the moving mass and the larvae shoveled in, but this only partially relieved the situation. The foliage of grapevines and olive trees was totally consumed, causing terrible destruction. On the lowlands between Jaffa and the plain of Sharon, where there are thriving Jewish colonies, all the garden vegetables were destroyed.

In ordinary seasons the storks are an effective enemy of the locust pest, but these birds were unaccountably scarce this year. Of course, the domestic fowls devoured them in great numbers but the horde of insects was so vast that they made little impression upon them. Fortunately a small insect locally known as the bee fly came in great numbers and attacked the locust eggs, thus mitigating the evil to some extent, and they will, it is hoped, prevent a recurrence of it in another season.

In the Bible we have a graphic account of the locust scourge in Egypt. Condensed, it reads thus: And the Lord said unto Moses, stretch out thine hand over the land of Egypt for the locusts, that they may come up upon the land and eat every herb thereof. And the Lord brought an east wind all that day and all that night and the locusts went up over all the land of Egypt, and very grevious were they. They covered the face of the whole earth so that the land was darkened; and they did east every herb of the land all the fruit of the trees; and there remained not any green thing in the trees, or in the herbs of the field, through all the land of Egypt.

Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron in haste and said, I have sinned against the Lord your God; forgive, I pray thee, my sin, and entreat the Lord your God that he may take away from me this death. And the Lord turned a mighty strong west wind, which took away the locusts and cast them into the Red Sea.

And similar vistations of locust swarms borne from Asiatic deserts on the east wind have occurred at intervals of time since the days of Pharaoh and Moses. And when a strong west wind springs up the locusts are swept into the Red Sea and drowned. In the case of the recent locust troubles in Palestine, the east wind not only brought the pests from the Persian plains and deserts, but it swept a mighty army of them over into the Mediterranean Sea and drowned all except the few that landed on some of the Aegean Islands.

The Prophet Joel, some eight centuries B.C., speaks of a terrible locust scourge. Sound the alarm, he says, let all the inhabitants of the land tremble, for the day of the Lord cometh; a day of darkness and of gloom, a day of clouds and of thick darkness. The land is as the Garden of Eden before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness; yea, and nothing shall escape them. Like the noise of chariots shall they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devoureth the stubble. They shall run to and fro in the city, they shall climb the wall like men of war, they shall climb up on the houses, they shall enter in at the windows like a thief.

Gordon Cumming describes these insects in Africa as coming on like a snowstorm, flying steadily about 100 yards from the ground. The air was darkened by their masses and the plain upon which he stood became densely covered with them. As far as the eye could reach in every direction they stretched in one unbroken cloud. More than an hour elapsed before their devastating legions swept by. Locusts generally breed on dry and rather elevated plains, whence they sally in immense swarms. A flight of locusts passed over the Red Sea in 1889. It appeared to be 2000 miles in extent, and its weight was estimated to be 42,850 tons, each insect being reckoned at one-sixteenth of an ounce. They invade particular districts at irregular intervals, not in succeeding years. A very destructive scourge of locusts visited Palestine in 1865—fifty years ago. One much less formidable occurred eleven years ago.

Swarms of the so-called seventeen-year locusts have occasionally appeared on the plains below the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains, having been bred in the higher altitudes. It will be noticed that they travel with the prevailing air currents coming down from the northwest. Sometimes the young, before their wings are developed, follow their migratory instincts in long journeys on foot.

It is a common practice in South Africa for young locusts to form a bridge over a small stream by plunging indiscriminately into it and holding onto each other, grappling like drowning men at any floating object that will sustain them while traversing the stream. Meanwhile, those behind eagerly push forward over the bodies of those already interlocked in the stream. Thus a bridge is formed over which the whole swarm passes.

Locusts are used as food in the countries where they abound. Thus we read in St. Matthew that John the Baptist lived on locusts and wild honey. The legs and wings being pulled off, the bodies are fried in oil and are considered a delicacy. They are sometimes dried in the sun, pounded up and made into flour. In Arabian shops they are sold by measure.

Locusts, grasshoppers, crickets and katydids belong to the class orthoptera. They have long, powerful hind legs, enabling them to leap great distances. The males make a loud noise by rubbing their hind legs against the rough edges of their wings, like playing upon a violin. The sound is rendered sonorous by an abdominal cavity under the closed wing. The whizzing noise of large swarms is compared to the rushing of a whirlwind and the crackling of burning stubble.

In the Northern States and Europe the merry chirp of the cricket is heard after the birds have laid aside their melodious pipes and

BY FATHER WILL

Bishop Francisco Diego G

TOMORROW, Monday, October 4, will be the seventy-fifth anniversary of an event in California history which was the center of the most romantic period of its existence. It was the consecration of the first Roman Catholic bishop of California.

Francisco Diego Garcia y Moreno, until then president of the California missions, was consecrated bishop of Upper and Lower California at the famous chapel of Our Lady of Guadalupe, the Mexican national shrine, near the City of Mexico. The ceremony took place on the feast of St. Francis of Assisi, Sunday, October 4, 1840. Bishop Diego was a member of the Franciscan order. He was born in Mexico and first came to California at the beginning of 1833 with eight other Mexican priests, who were to continue the work begun by the famous Serra in 1769.

In August of the year of Garcia Diego's arrival the so-called act of secularization was passed by the Mexican Congress. This law was simply the legalized robbery of the Indians and the doom of the twenty-one great establishments in Upper California. Various laws were afterwards passed see-sawing on this point, until the law was finally entirely repealed. But the spirit of ruin and robbery was in the air. And the Indians, never virile and scarcely to be reckoned as ever hostile in the sense of the hostiles of the plains, were little inclined to defend themselves and their property by resort to arms. They were further deterred by the peace-at-any-price friars, who would gladly have died in any way, except under arms, for their Indian children.

CAUSES OF RUIN.

The immediate causes of the ruin of the missions were these: Since 1810, when the revolution for the independence of Mexico from Spain began, there were several hundred Mexican troops quartered in California. ome were at Los Angeles. All of them drew upon the nearest missions for their support. The Los Angeles arrison, for instance, drew on missions San Gabriel and San Fernando. here were other sources of revenue hich might have been used. Taxes ere paid in the form of tithes on rm products and duties were demanded on imports. But the white settlers produced little that was taxable hile the mission establishments remained to be robbed by government gents and their impecunious relatives. nd import duties were consumed in laries for supernumerary officials. hose were the great pork barrel days California.

The result was that the peaceful ndians and their peace-loving guardians, who were about the only real roducers in the country, were mulcted ut of provisions and clothes. The ndians finally saw that they were aboring only for the benefit of the ary soldiers and useless agents. The ndians complained to their friends, he friars. The friars admitted the ustice of the complaint and wrote ore letters of protest to the capital f Mexico. The central government assed good laws and issued just injunctions. But the native rulers on this im of the world disregarded everything but their own selfish interests nd graft, and went on with the systematic plundering of the mission orehouses and factories until there as nothing left to plunder. Almost ithout exception the California miliary and civil officials of this period ere like the Oklahoma Indian attorey described by Senator Ashurst. The enator said: "He is so slick that he ould walk up the long stairway in ront of the Capitol in Washington ith a bundle of eels under his arms ithout dropping one." The California lunder-bund not only robbed with oth hands, but they kept justifying heir actions without waiting to take reath. And when their breath gave ut at death certain romantic historians were not wanting who took up he dying refrain.

MILLIONS IN GRAFT.

Added to the support of soldiers nd agents and hangers-on of both, ere were drafts from the California overnment upon the missions for oods and services which never eached the missions or benefited the ndians. These drafts amounted in o to over a million dollars. Then top of these came the government agents. They were native Calornians who quartered their numerfamilies in the missions. Consecration of the First Roman Catholic Bishop of California—Romantic Episodes of His Career—The First California Plunderbund.

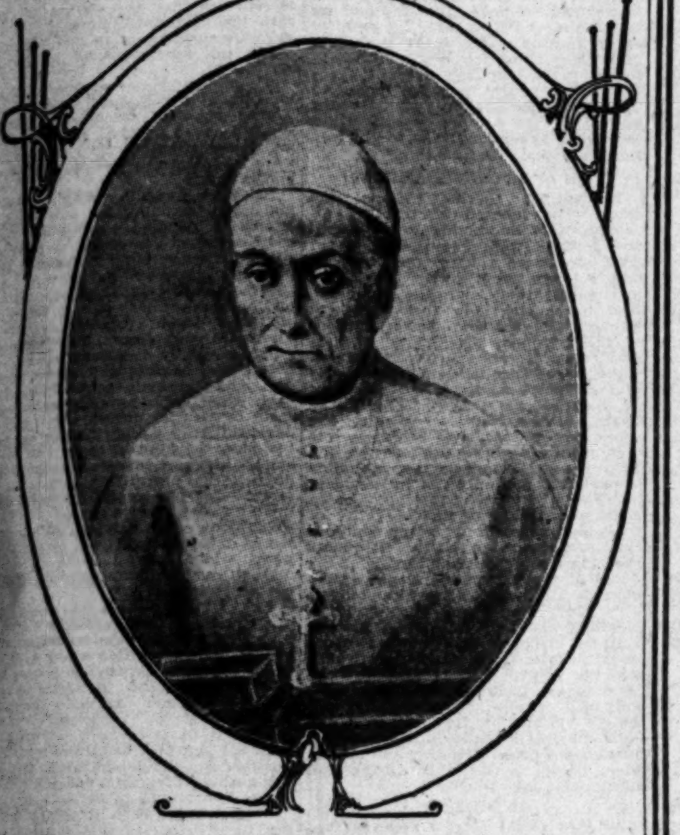
BY FATHER WILLIAM HUGHES.



Bishop Francisco Diego Garcia y Moreno.

TOMORROW, Monday, October 4, will be the seventy-fifth anniversary of an event in California history which was the center of the most romantic period of its existence. It was the consecration of the first Roman Catholic bishop of California.

Francisco Diego Garcia y Moreno, still then president of the California missions, was consecrated bishop of Upper and Lower California at the famous chapel of Our Lady of Guadalupe, the Mexican national shrine, near the City of Mexico. They were further deterred by the peace-at-any-price friars, who would gladly have died in any way, except under arms, for their Indian children.

CAUSES OF RUIN.

The immediate causes of the ruin of the missions were these: Since 1810, when the revolution for the independence of Mexico from Spain began, there were several hundred Mexican troops quartered in California. These were at Los Angeles. All of them drew upon the nearest missions for their support. The Los Angeles garrison, for instance, drew on missions San Gabriel and San Fernando. There were other sources of revenue which might have been used. Taxes were paid in the form of tithes on farm products and duties were demanded on imports. But the white settlers produced little that was taxable while the mission establishments remained to be robbed by government officials and their impecunious relatives. All import duties were consumed in salaries for supernumerary officials. These were the great pork barrel days in California.

The result was that the peaceful Indians and their peace-loving guardians, who were about the only real producers in the country, were mulcted out of provisions and clothes. The Indians finally saw that they were laboring only for the benefit of the lazy soldiers and useless agents. The Indians complained to their friends, the friars. The friars admitted the justice of the complaint and wrote many letters of protest to the capital of Mexico. The central government passed good laws and issued just instructions. But the native rulers on this end of the world disregarded everything but their own selfish interests and graft, and went on with the systematic plundering of the mission storehouses and factories until there was nothing left to plunder. Almost without exception the California military and civil officials of this period were like the Oklahoma Indian attorney described by Senator Ashurst. The Senator said: "He is so slick that he could walk up the long stairway in front of the Capitol in Washington with a bundle of eels under his arms without dropping one." The California plunder-bund not only robbed with both hands, but they kept justifying their actions without waiting to take breath. And when their breath gave out at death certain romantic historians were not wanting who took up the lying refrain.

MILLIONS IN GRAFT.

Added to the support of soldiers and agents and hangers-on of both, there were drafts from the California government upon the missions for goods and services which never [illegible] the missions or benefited the Indians. These drafts amounted in all to over a million dollars. Then on top of these came the government agents. They were native Californians who quartered their numerous families in the missions. They [illegible]—and industriously—[illegible]. Like vampires, they sucked the life-blood out of the missions. Finally Gov. Pio Pico completed the confiscation under the pretense that the system had failed.

The missionaries saw certain ruin ahead. They were indifferent to themselves. They uttered scarcely any complaint against the unjust, insulting and even cruel treatment accorded them. But their anger was great and their protest vigorous, frequent and eloquent when the Indians' rights were violated. Accordingly, at the request of his twenty-one companions and particularly of Fray Narciso Duran, commissary of the California missions, Fray Francisco Garcia Diego, president, went to Mexico to plead for the appointment of a bishop for California. He left San Diego in January, 1836, and reached the City of Mexico six months later. "It was these considerations," he wrote from there, "which impelled me to brave the perils and hardships of the voyage by sea and journey by land in order to make known our distress to the supreme government." Bancroft's suggestion that it was "also doubtless with a view to his own advancement," is a gratuitous assumption for which there is not the slightest evidence either in the character, actions or correspondence of Father Diego or in the desirability of the post of bishop of California at the time.

President Jose Justo Corro acceded to Fray Garcia Diego's petition for a bishopric to be erected in California and the Mexican Congress passed a decree to this effect September 19, 1836. After the Congress passed the law, the government referred the matter of the choice of the bishop to the cathedral chapter of the City of Mexico. June 22, 1839, the chapter met and named three candidates. The first on the list was Father Francisco Garcia Diego. The President of Mexico, Bustamente, selected the first name on the list. The President then instructed the Mexican Ambassador at Rome to petition the Pope to erect Upper and Lower California into a diocese and to appoint Father Garcia Diego its bishop.

Ambassador Montoya's petition to the Pope informed him "that the government of Mexico considered it absolutely necessary that the peninsula of the Californias, in ecclesiastical matters, should be governed with entire independence of the bishop of Sonora, to which see it has been until now subject, for the reason that, as well because of its vast extent as because of the great distance which separates it from the capital of the diocese, for which reason the bishop cannot visit it, nor apportion to it all the pastoral aids needed by the faithful, who are very numerous but little civilized."

THE POPE'S BULL.

April 27, 1840, Pope Gregory issued a bull to "separate California from the diocese of Sonora within the same Mexican boundaries, to erect there an episcopal see to be called the See of California, and to give it a bishop of its own." At the same time the Pope declared: "Moreover, the city of San Diego in New California, situated in the center of California, and regarded as more suitable than other places, we establish and institute as the episcopal city with its courts and ecclesiastical chancery and all and each of the honors, rights, privileges and prerogatives used and enjoyed by the cities and citizens honored by an episcopal see in the Mexican dominion." The diocese of California was then subject to the metropolitan archbishop of Mexico City, just as Los Angeles is now subject to San Francisco.

It took nearly two years for the letter to come from the City of Mexico to California with the information that a law had been passed by the Congress asking Rome to erect a diocese and name a bishop for California.

Returning from Mexico, the new bishop sailed from San Blas in November, 1841, on the English brig Rosalind, Capt. Henry John Crouch. The captain agreed to carry the bishop and twelve companions with their effects to San Diego and furnish sufficient supplies, fresh water and other requisites of the voyage for the sum of $2000 and the payment of all tonnage dues. When rumors of the coming of the bishop reached California, all was expectancy. As early as September 1, 1841, the alcalde of San Diego gave orders that the streets should be cleared of all cattle because the people might have to turn out any day to receive the bishop. The Rosalind arrived in San Diego Harbor the night of September 10. Next morning the bishop landed, and to the salute of cannons, was borne in a sedan chair to the house of Juan Bandini, the only house large enough to receive the bishop and party. In a report of his arrival the bishop, who knew the place from previous visits, referred to San Diego as an "insignificant town," "pequenisima ciudad." Its population was less than 150. Of this number ten were foreigners, three of the latter having families.

THE BISHOP'S ARRIVAL.

In recommendation of San Diego to the central government, the bishop wrote soon after: "I desire to erect my buildings, or rather establish a settlement, on a ranch which lies opposite San Diego (i.e., Old Town,) as well for the supply of water and timber as for not being on the coast, nor exposed to invasion from pirates. Moreover, it has a good climate. If the government should desire to locate a military force there, it would be of the greatest importance for communication with Sonora, in that it would restrain the Indians of the Colorado, and likewise it would contribute very much to reduction of these poor people for their spiritual and temporal happiness. I am sure that by this means communication with the interior of our republic would be facilitated, and that the government would receive dispatches from that department more frequently."

The news of the bishop's arrival spread rapidly throughout California, because, although there were no newspapers, such big news was scarce. How the news was received by the people of Santa Barbara is related by Robinson, who was there. He writes:

"At length a courier arrived from San Diego on December 16, 1841, announcing the fact of his having disembarked at that place. He came as passenger on board an English brig from San Blas, accompanied by several priests, two schoolmasters, three schoolmistresses and four seminarians. The news was received with the most enthusiastic expressions of joy by the inhabitants of Santa Barbara; guns were fired and skyrockets let off in every direction. At the mission the bells rang a merry peal, and the music of the band was heard at intervals as its harmonious sounds floated through the air." There was an Indian band of thirty pieces taught by the missionary, Father Duran.

The leading citizen of the time was Don Jose Antonio Aguirre, a wealthy merchant and ship owner and one of the few Californians of wealth at that time that had not acquired his means by exploiting the Indians or robbing the missions. Don Jose had recently married Rosario, the daughter of Jose A. Estudillo, and intended taking his bride to Santa Barbara on the honeymoon. When he heard that the bishop wished to go to Santa Barbara, the hospitable don invited him and his party to join the happy couple and be their guests for the journey on Aguirre's bark Guipuzcoana.

AT SANTA BARBARA.

The reception at Santa Barbara is depicted by Robinson: "The vessel was in sight on the morning of January 11, 1842, but lay becalmed and rolling to the ocean's swell. A boat put off from her side and approached the landing place. One of the attendants of his excellency who came in it repaired to the mission to communicate with the Father Presidente. All was bustle—men, women and children hastening to the beach, banners flying, drums beating and soldiers marching. The whole population of the place turned out to pay homage to the first bishop of California. At 11 o'clock the vessel anchored. He came on shore, and was welcomed by the kneeling multitude. All received his benediction — all kissed the pontifical ring. The troops and civic authorities then escorted him to the house of Don Jose Antonio, where he dined. A carriage had been prepared for his excellency, which was accompanied by several others, occupied by the presidente and his friends. The females had formed with ornamental canes beautiful arches, through which the procession passed, and as it marched along the heavy artillery of the presidio continued to thunder forth its noisy welcome. At the time he left the bark she was enveloped in smoke, and the distant report of her guns was heard among the hills in our rear. At 4 o'clock the bishop was escorted to the mission, and, when a short distance from the town, the enthusiastic inhabitants took the horses from his carriage and dragged it themselves. Halting at the bower on the road he alighted, went into it and put on his pontifical robes; then, resuming his place in the carriage, he continued on, amidst the sound of music and the firing of guns, until he arrived at the church, where he addressed the multitude that followed him."

AFFECTIONATE INDIANS.

The bishop made up his mind to make Santa Barbara his residence. He wrote: "Since I arrived at this port I have experienced not only the most cordial hospitality, but also such demonstrations of affection, of respect and devotion towards my person that they could not fail to attract my attention, and, at the same time, excite my warm gratitude. The Indian converts of this mission, headed by their alcaldes, beg me not to abandon them, and I am thinking of continuing in their midst and of offering myself for their welfare."

There is no evidence that Los Angeles was even considered at that time as in any way desirable as the center of the diocese and the see, or residence, of the bishop. The village still got its religious attention by visitation of the priests from San Gabriel. Four years later when the people of Los Angeles asked for a resident pastor and offered to assess themselves to support him, the bishop replied that much as he desired to station a pastor there, he had none for the position, and of the two Franciscans at San Gabriel, one was too old and the other too feeble. These two had worn themselves out in laboring for the Indians or been broken in spirit by the robbery of the mission.

The missions which had been built by the industry, example and frugality of the missionaries who received only a bare living in return and who counted everything else as belonging to the Indians, had nevertheless not only supported the Indians and missionaries but had freed the white people from the necessity of supporting churches and the ministers of religion. Under the fee system which was proposed by the Governor to the bishop for the support of the clergy, no town in California could have kept a pastor. Writing in 1845 to Gov. Pico, the bishop said:

VERY POOR.

"The population of Santa Barbara in the preceding year would have produced an income of only $326.75. Can a parish priest maintain himself and the divine service at his church with such a paltry amount? If then Santa Barbara under the fee system cannot support a pastor, what about the smaller places? Could they support him? Evidently not. One after another the fathers will have to depart in order to go where they can live without so much hardship. After they have gone away, or perhaps before, the bishop will depart in order to render an account to His Holiness. He will likewise inform the public by means of a manifesto which will demonstrate the impossibility of maintaining a diocese here, and that he is innocent of its fall and ruin which I already foresee."

California was "a country whose few inhabitants were accustomed only to receive and not to give alms."

VAIN HOPES.

The missions were thriving in 1836 when Fr. Garcia Diego went to Mexico to plead for a bishop. He hoped that that officer might save the missions from the destruction which had already been going on for four years under the paisano plunder-bund. Only one power could have saved the missions and that savior unfortunately did not arrive until fifteen years too late; although even then it did what it could to undo the illegal acts of the paisano chiefs. The savior which came too late was the United States government which, for the saving of the missions, should have taken over California in 1831 instead of in 1846. The havoc wrought between these two periods may be seen from the reports of Fr. Garcia Diego in 1836 and of Fr. Narciso Duran in 1844. The former wrote:

"It must also arouse joy to know that in the twenty-one missions those same natives, formerly savages, are already, through the efforts of the missionaries, men who advance on the road to civilization more rapidly than we hoped, and this shows that they are susceptible of what it is desired to teach them. The workshops, which in that territory are to be found only among them, demonstrate this. Some neophytes are shoemakers, others are blacksmiths, overseers, carpenters, ordinary laborers, stonemasons, gardeners, cooks, bakers, tailors, musicians, choir singers, etc. Then the church buildings and other buildings, the orchards, cultivated fields and whatever useful thing that meets the eye! Who produced it all? Ah! the poor Indians, aided and directed by the missionaries who, with their annual allowance and the alms given them, procured the master mechanics and the necessary tools, implements, and material for all this; by the missionaries who personally labored with the neophytes in order to encourage them and remove the repugnance which they have and always had for every kind of work. Such is the aspect which those missions in Alta California present to the eyes of every one. Such is the progress made by some of the missions in sixty-six years, and others in a much shorter time, for there is one now only thirteen years old since its founding."

THE SPORTING ELEMENT.

In contrast to the Indians and friars, who labored faithfully, although it is interesting to note that the Indians were required to labor only six hours a day, the colonists and soldiers idled away their days and wasted their nights in gambling. And in contrast to the well-kept kitchen, and beautiful flower gardens of the missions, the white settlers planted no flowers and few vegetables. But the contract is seen most clearly in the official report of the president of the missions in 1844. Like a Las Casas, Father Narciso Duran, the successor of Junipero Serra, wrote from Santa Barbara to Governor Pio Pico the following protest which is remarkable not only for its eloquent defense of Indian rights, but also as a keen exposure of the illegality of the whole proceedings in the confiscation of mission property. It places the blame and the shame of it at the doors of the paisanos and not of the officials of Mexico. Let him deny it who can. These are the findings, startling but true, of sober, judicial history. These and many other equally interesting facts have been brought out in clearer light by the Franciscan historian, Zephyrin Engelhardt of Santa Barbara, in his fourth volume on the "Missions and Missionaries of California," which is just off the press. The report of President Duran to Gov. Pico on the ruin of the missions is this:

ANIMOSITY.

"Never would I have believed that the animosity of some of the sons of this Upper California towards the missions, to which they perhaps owe all they have, would reach the extreme measure which has been published throughout the territory, and which forms the subject of this remonstrance, which I as prelate of the missions of the south have the honor of placing into the hands of Your Excellency since I have been commissioned by Your Excellency with the care of the temporalities for the benefit of the unhappy neophytes, the real masters and proprietors, and in compliance with what the most rigorous justice demand. Well, who might not have believed that they (the native Californians) would have been satisfied with what gain they have made from the movable and immovable property, the goods and lands, the best of which they have acquired under the colored title of secularization. Who would not have believed that after their greed was gratified with the properties of the missions during nine years of depredations, they would let the unfortunate Indians enjoy in peace the wretched remnants which are saved from the shipwreck?

"Is it possible, then, Your Excellency, that greed is not satisfied, but wants to rage and rave against these wretched fragments?

"What then shall we call this frenzy which denies the humanity of permitting that these unfortunates enjoy in peace the relics of their fortunes, but rather demands and decrees that they shall be sold and taken away? I do not know, nor do I find any other term except that of plain and notorious injustice."

PLUNDERED BY POLITICIANS.

The missions were in ruin because they had been plundered by paisano chiefs to support petty political rivalries not unlike those in Mexico today. The Carranza of California was Mariano Vallejo, its Francisco Villa was Pio Pico and its Francisco Madero was Juan B. Alvarado.

In view of the reduction of the missions to a state of poverty and in view of the inability or unwillingness of the long coddled colonists to support churches and pastors, Bishop Diego hoped that the pious fund might become available. The pious fund was a missionary fund created at the beginning of the eighteenth century in order to establish missions among the Indians of California. Bishop Diego could have used it for white missions as well in conformity with the wishes of the donors and the form of gift. The Mexican Congress had pledged this fund to the bishop. The law of the erection of the diocese of 1836 provided that "the property belonging to the pious fund of the Californias, shall be placed at the disposal of the new bishop and his successors, to be managed by them and employed for its objects or similar ones, always respecting the wishes of the founders." Shortly after his being made bishop, the Mexican government handed over the properties of the pious fund to Garcia Diego. It was in such poor condition he realized little rental from it. But in 1842 President Santa Ana found that he needed money much as do Carranza and Villa today. Accordingly he "took over" the fund as national property. Later he determined to sell the property. In order to save his face, the President declared in the act of sale that "the public treasury will acknowledge an indebtedness of 6 per cent. per annum on the total proceeds of the sale." He specially pledged the revenue from tobacco for the payment of that amount "to carry on the objects to which said fund is destined." But this pledge was at the time not worth the paper it was written on. Later, however, it gave the American bishops of California an excellent case in the international court at The Hague, where the very first case was this and where the decision was in favor of the successors of Garcia Diego.

FINIS.

Baffled by the problems before him, without either the resources of the pious fund, which had been promised him, or of the mission establishments which he had labored to bring to perfection and which he hoped as bishop to save from ruin, with the love, perhaps, but not the support certainly of the white element in his diocese, Bishop Diego died at Santa Barbara April 30, 1846, and was buried within the sanctuary on the epistle side of the altar at the old mission.

Porto Ricans Unique Experiment.

[New York Evening Telegram:] In the vicinity of Mayaguez, Porto Rico, are several historically interesting places. The little village of Rio Guanroba near Anasco was the scene of the unique experiment by which the Indians, in 1511, endeavored to discover whether the Spaniards were immortal.

After holding a Spanish nobleman under water six hours they were assured that those intruders were just as subject to death as themselves.

ROMEO EMERGES.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Sister, the really essential re movement is at hand. Romeo about to be dressed. Hitherto he merely been covered. We can thr ourselves into this worthy cause w all enthusiasm. It has long bee matter of chagrin to us that when walked abroad with our best beau invariably looked as if he had p chased his day suit in a hurry at corner village grocery store. We ou selves, looking the essence of c bore the affront in silence. But w were not indifferent to the han which the exhibit caused our soc aspirations.

We were forever explaining in spite of his sartorial appea Romeo was really a charming fell We felt called upon to harp upon invisible attributes, the obvious were so painfully frought with perfections.

He himself, while strongly appr ing, nay, demanding, our own sarto efforts to do him credit—him, sooth—seemed to take a perve pride in neglecting his personal pearance as much as he dare. sure as an enlightened male appe on the scene whose clothes had inimitable and attractive cut, essential hang from the should and a carefully considered scheme color; whose various items of a had a sympathetic consideration each other, who never wounded taste by wearing brown shoes with dark suit, the wrong kind of hat his coat, the kind of collar that suited his particular neck, the of ties that grandma would scorned for patchwork, he would miss him with a shrug and dub effeminate. Sometimes, feebly, would try to defend said enlight male, which only had the effect making our pet beau very touchy contemptuous.

But now a change comes o'er scene. Perchance the tailors are sponsible. How often an ambi tailor must have sighed as he saw clients complacently defeating all skill. Some men can make the worthy coat look hopeless by pelling it to sally forth in comp with an unsympathetic waistcoat, possible shoes, and the wrong hat, say nothing of a shirt and collar leaves everything to be desired.

Women have been accused of ing too little to the imagina Romeo, alas, leaves all too much often he presents himself to us in guise of a bricklayer in his Sun best, and nothing but a fertile kindly imagination could know for the lord-high-nabob of, say, bank or a big insurance company.

"Well-clad Men Everywhere" a newspaper headline, in conne with this ingenious spruce-up paign. But that is merely intelli anticipation. There could be, may be, but there are not quite yet. Our Los Angeles Juliets present a counterpart of Paris gayest and chicest—but Los An Romeos (present company alway cepted, dear, sir,) more often ble the bridegroom navvy and man.

Not alone Los Angeles. O serves with interest that San cisco groans under the self moan. This from the current ber of a San Francisco golf zine:

"While attending formal affa dances, one often wonders w fashionable functions, the men ticipating are so oddly and inc ly dressed. At banquets prominent personages . . . by their oddities of dress, that seem incomprehensible in New or London, make a motley crow of a gathering of representativ zens. The same is true dances and the ladies comment it. It is unfortunate that such be the case in cities the size of Francisco, cities that are ing the world, and in which there so many first-class tailors who what is correct in dress."

And the magazine proceeds a table of correct clothes for all casions, formal and informal— is horrid to learn how much Romeos have erred.

We instinctively knew before something was wrong, but now know the painful details. Armed this knowledge, may we not interested aid to Romeo? We just as well get it straight once for all—and gladden our hearts. Hitherto we have loved in spite of his clothes.

And who knows how many ly Benedict has lost the love faithful spouse by a thoughtless lect of his person. We have how essential it is for a wife her appearance up to standard, often she has won back hubby's ing love with a becoming the moment. Thousands of plays and short stories have written round this delicate the most every issue of a woman's zine harps upon it. "Answers to respondents," a la Laura Jean bey, never fail to recommend a ful attention to sartorial matte the purpose of regaining a wand spouse.

Sauce for the goose is sauce the gander. Only a genius or a of the blood can afford to be a or sartorially erroneous. Thin over, Romeo! Notwithstanding premium at which the male in the market, there are but you who win on your attractio women are susceptible to a dressed man. They take it as the ward and visible sign of grace. It gives them a peculiar to be seen with you. It make other girls envious. And it the necessity of explaining the seen virtues with such pathetic sistence.

And a word in your ear. clothes make for good When a man is comfortably scious of being well dressed naturally acts the part. And, ly between ourselves, there is con of room for improvement a soupcon, of course.

For some time now there has a noticeable tendency toward provement in male attire in ern California. Ten years ago men were hopelessly provincial on the golf course, or rather ticularly on the golf course, linity showed a painful disregard sartorial essentials. He wasn't ly a dowdy, he was thoroughly outrageously shabby. Now, it is to find a shabby golfer. I was inely proud of our Los Angeles tingent at Del Monte. They and of course, were, as good best.

And in their evening dress —the crucial test—they begin happy signs of grace. The major them wear them with a social assurance. They no dismal and unhappy in break one's heart with a and a cloth waistcoat.

But I'm afraid many of get their day clothes at store somewhere down street. If not, then their blush to claim them. Keep ing, Romeo. We ask nothing leave to frankly and openly you, to embarrass you with feigned admiration.

Blessings on the spruce-up ment! A renaissance of is at hand.

CHARLEY VAN LOAN.

BUCK PARVIN AND THE MOVIES. By Charles E. Van Loan. George H. Doran Company, New York.

MR. VAN LOAN has turned the camera on the movie folk. He has gotten in behind the scenario and shows the development from "toothpick to lumber pile" from a little idea germ to a serpent of film some three hours long.

The stories, all of good length, all vivid, all with clever twists, are related about movie people who are known personally in Los Angeles and pictorially around the world. These are Southern California stories. Most of them have been read throughout the country during their appearance in the Saturday Evening Post. The dedication is unique and typical of Mr. Van Loan, and is made in a prefatory letter to Hobart Bosworth. It contains the expression: "In case you never had a book dedicated to you before, let me explain that it's customary for one so honored to purchase as many copies of the book as possible—at the full list price—and distribute them among his friends."

Mr. Bosworth is also identified as the original Jimmy Montague, actor, scenario writer and director of the Titan Company, which has Buck Parvin, Ben Leslie, Jack [illegible] Myrtle Manners—all of whom are in the amusing complications related in "The Extra Man and the Milk-fed Lion," "The International Cup," "Man-[illegible]-His-Wardrobe," "Buck's Lady Friend," "Desert Stuff," "Author! Author!" "[illegible] Stuff" and "This is Life!"

Buck Parvin's philosophy is the golden trimmings of the story. But the "stuff" is the extra man's love for the leading lady and the way he rescues her by hanging a poor, inoffensive lion; the great desert picture when cow-puncher Parvin is mounted on a white horse; when the long-lost hero is recognized by his picture in a far-away land—these themes are twisted into smooth

And to whisper some secret "stuff," it is pretty well established that a good, sound basis of fact serves in practically every one of the stories; Mr. Van Loan has written largely of things that have actually happened and adorned the writing with a rich imagination.

A NOVEL NOVEL.

WHAT A MAN WILLS. By Mrs. George de Horne Vaizey. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.

AN UNUSUAL arrangement enables Mrs. Vaizey to make a novel of short stories, gathering the threads of narrative into a final chapter, and concluding the [illegible] offered in the first when each of [illegible] people tell what they wish to do in the future.

Considerable originality and narrative skill make many of the chapters distinctive, especially "The Girl Who Wished for Power." Lilith Wastneys had a "way" of making men propose; a "way" of following her own judgment, and deliberately chose for her husband one whose political career had gone to smash and, without him even suspecting her part in it, makes him Prime Minister of England.

A story of unusual quality is "The Man Who Wished for Money;" telling of a woman who very frankly acknowledges marrying a homely man because of his money. He, in turn, is a worshipper of beauty. . . . Her disfigurement is [illegible]

"The Man Who Wished for Danger" has the element of those situations which, under Conan Doyle's supervision, were wont to befall Sherlock Holmes. The man who wished for adventure got it—accidentally stumbling onto what he thought was an anarchist plot and betrayed the "brotherhood," members of which make life miserable for him until the brother of the girl comes to the rescue.

"The Man Who Wished for Adventure" [illegible] out of the complications: "The Man Who Wishes for Comfort" awakens to the realization that the opposite is the best of life; "The Man Who Wished for Success" finds the price high—

The stories have variety and are altogether worthy of attention, having, as may be said, "none of the slight faults of immaturity" and many of the virtues of careful development.

FAIRY TALE FOR DEBUTANTES.

LITTLE MISS GROUCH. By Samuel Hopkins Adams. Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston.

"LITTLE MISS GROUCH" is skillfully written out of material old as daydreams.

A pleasant and agreeable farce it is, the sort of a love tale that makes every woman—and youthful man as well—wish it might have happened to her. In other words, the sort of a story that appears almost continuously in one guise or another in magazines devoted exclusively to women.

The beautiful daughter of the great financier boards the steamer to escape marriage with an undesirable suitor. She has a red nose and tearful eyes, and is peeved because the gallant westerner—a rather flippant young man he would be outside of fiction, but perfectly adorable in a fairy tale—doesn't think she is pretty. She sets her cap to win him and she does. Also this gallant and plain westerner (why do authors always come west to get their thoroughbred heroes?) wins her heart and hand.

The complications are numerous and amusing if one likes a little vaudeville in fiction.

When the gracious papa arrives on the scene and suggests advancing a little money, said gallant westerner sticks out his chest just like the hero of a meller-drama and says his bride-to-be must take him as he is. And said bride-to-be chortles in ecstatic devotion; and said papa puts out a hearty hand and congratulates himself that he has such a fine son-in-law coming.

But there is a great deal more to the story. Oh, yes. Gallant westerner reminds a lord about the ship of certain portraits in his ancestral mansion, and lo! the genealogical tree is climbed and a relationship established. There is also much to do about a historic mansion which little Miss Grouch—as the westerner called her when her nose was red—has always wanted and to which the hero has an option.

A fluffy, frothy tale it is—just the sort of a day dream that maids and youths spin around themselves. But Mr. Adams has done the spinning with the skill and humor that makes it a beautiful fairy tale for debutantes and college boys.

GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON.

MR. BINGLE. By George Barr McCutcheon. Dodd, Mead & Co., New York.

MR. M'CUTCHEON has stormed castles, the strongest in fiction; he has rescued beautiful, charming, princesses, foiled villains, marshaled stalwart heroes to gallant adventures; he has squandered millions, turned the threads of narrative into amazing complications, but probably he has never signed his name to another story that has so wide and strong an appeal as the twentieth-century fairy tale recited under the name of "Mr. Bingle."

And it is strictly from the viewpoint of the fairy tale that "Mr. Bingle" must be inspected, though not a possibility in the story is wrenched; but as for probabilities—there aren't any.

The little bank clerk, well up past 40, makes the best of a childless home by loving all the children he can herd into his flat. On Christmas eve unfailingly he reads aloud "The Christmas Carol" and believes the world would be better if everyone else did likewise.

A charitable devotion to a presumably vagrant relative, whose family has kicked him out, results in Mr. Bingle suddenly becoming a multi-millionaire. The relatives start proceedings to break the will, but Mr. Bingle makes the most of his affluence by adopting children, almost by the wholesale. They overflow his mansion, and he proudly surveys the waifs and strays who paw him affectionately and multiply their escapades each day.

There are other themes shot through the story, telling of men who have failed in their duty to women, of lovers who have quarrels, and all are bettered by contact with the friendly, unassuming, merry Mr. Bingle.

Then—well, Mr. Bingle loses his fortune. But the book doesn't lose its humor, and the ending comes with gay and real friends—most of whom were former servants—toasting Mr. Bingle and the little surprise that arrives on the merriest Christmas eve he has ever known.

THE WAR IN EUROPE.

SKETCHES OF PROMINENT MEN.

THE WAR LORDS. By A. G. Gardiner. E. P. Dutton & Co., New York.

"THE WAR LORDS" is published in "The Wayfarer's Library" series and the preface states that it is an attempt to consider the origins, issues and conduct of the war in the light of the personality of the principal actors.

"The influence of men upon events is always a deeply interesting subject," Mr. Gardiner writes, "but in the world tragedy of today that influence is a matter of practical concern as well as of intellectual curiosity."

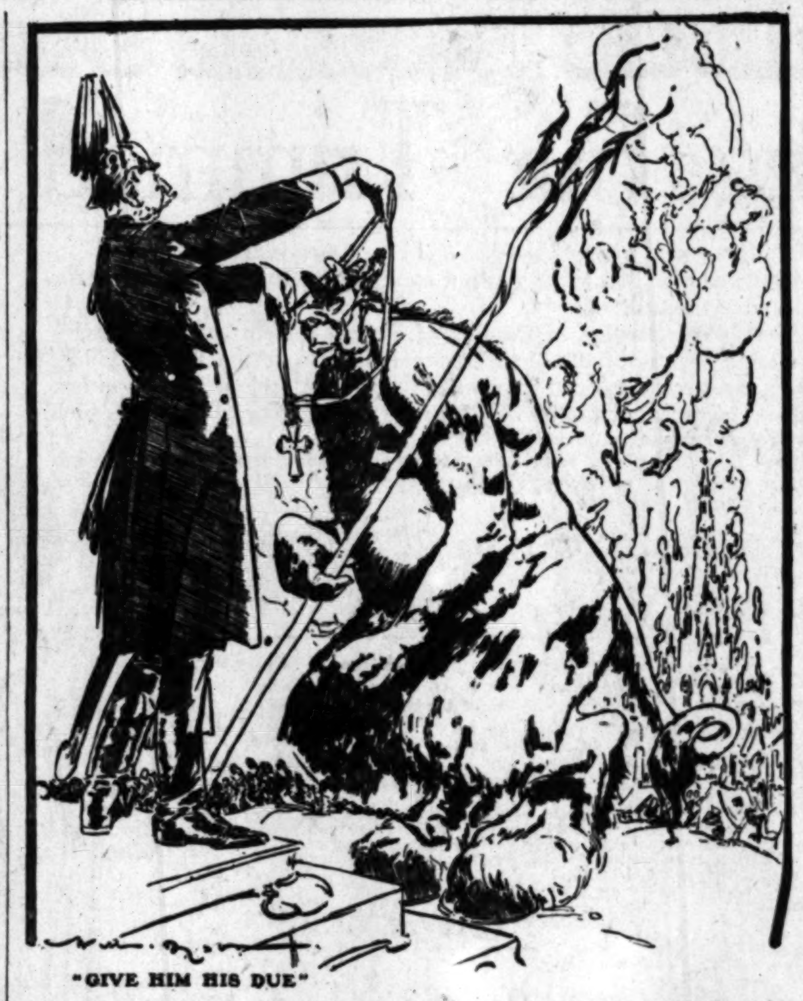
These sketches are from the British viewpoint, exceptionally moderate and filled with such observations and philosophy as it is a pleasure to read—especially the one on Liebknecht. The most serious thing likely to be said against them is that current events have carried their subjects, the statesmen, generals and rulers, into important actions and decisions since Mr. Gardiner completed his book.

In these pressing and momentous days, anything of a biographical nature relative to conspicuous figures is likely to seem inadequate. For instance, Mr. Gardiner makes an excellent sketch of the Grand Duke Nicholas with the abolition of liquor and the proclamation to Poland as the outstanding events of his career. And though perhaps they are, yet the sketch seems lacking without the more recent and spectacular incidents which magazines and newspapers have been relating.

The chapters devoted to English statesmen—"The Asquith Cabinets"—and to British warriors—Lord Fisher, Sir John French, Sir John Jellicoe—are exceptionally informative and valuable.

Among the others to whom considerable attention is given are King Albert, the Kaiser, Francis Joseph, King Victor Emmanuel, Gen. Botha, President Wilson (and at the same time, Mr. Bryan,) King Ferdinand, Gen. Bernhardi, Karl Liebknecht and M. Venizelos, the powerful and brilliant diplomat of Greece.

The little book contains close to 100,000 words, good type, and the arrangement is attractive.



"GIVE HIM HIS DUE"

Or the Germans decorating the devil with an iron cross. Such is the spirit of the English cartoonists who answer the call of patriotism with a forceful pen. The above is reproduced from "Kultur Cartoons," by Will Dyson (The Page Company,) which contains an introduction by H. G. Wells.

GERMANY AGAIN ANALYZED.

THE PENTACOST OF CALAMITY. By Owen Wister. The Macmillan Company, New York.

MR. WISTER—of "Virginian" fame—also analyzes the deterioration of the German people; also with modest expressions of pathetic regrets at his painful duty; also he finds that they have committed the unpardonable crime against civilization; also he excoriates Prussianism; also he does it very well, with graceful, forceful language.

"To me the whole case of Germany," he says, "the whole process, seems a fatalistic thing, destined, inevitable; cosmic forces above and beyond men's comprehension flooding this northern land with their high tide, as once they flooded southern coasts; giving to this Teuton race its turn, its day, its hour of white heat and of bloom, its temperamental greatness, its strength and excess of vital sap, intellectual, procreative—all this grandeur to be hurled into tragedy by its own action."

Mr. Wister's book is very tardy. All that he says has been said before many times. Seldom so dispassionately, however.

He undertakes to offer something of an apology to the allied friends who, hurt and amazed at America's neutrality and division of opinion, addresses us thus: "Your press has been divided. The word we expected from you has never come. You sent us your charity; but what we wanted was justice, ratification of our cause."

But his patience wearies of the judicial moderation and he launches out emotionally to say: "Whatever this American nation is, whatever aspect, noble or ignoble, our democracy shows in the glare of this cataclysm, is even already engraved on the page of History, will be the portrait of the United States in 1914-15 for all time."

A rather obvious observation at that. And though Mr. Wister neglects to say just how he would have the portrait altered, he makes his dissatisfaction with it evident.

COMMENT AND OPINION.

Delicatessens and Magazines.

The young gentlemen who relieve their precocity in the New Republic have a penchant for "fundamentals." They delve to the root of things and after digging and acquiring fundamentals for some twelve months in the proprietorship of a magazine have reached the amazingly new conclusion that "most of our magazine fiction is what it is because most of our magazine readers are what they are."

Delicatessen shops are what they are because their customers are what they are.

Nobody expects the delicatessen proprietor to attempt to force wholesome and nourishing cracked wheat down the throat of a customer anxious to pay for pickled pig's feet.

Why should we look askance at the magazine editor who courageously sneaks by the postal authorities each month with stories calculated to give the readers who want it a sensual thrill?

And hypothecating from the premise established by the young gentlemen of the New Republic, we must reconcile ourselves to magazine fiction as it is, and place our hope for the future in eugenics.

What Magazines Want.

In his autobiography issued some twelve months ago, S. S. McClure allowed it to be known that he had an extraordinary faculty for detecting good work in unknown authors and considerable courage in placing that work before the public.

Jean Webster, author of "Daddy-Long-Legs" and other successful stories, relates one incident in Mr. McClure's magazine career which he, no doubt inadvertently, overlooked.

This experience dates back to the time shortly after her graduation from Vassar when she collected some of her college writings under the title "When Patty Went to College" and tried to sell them to Mr. McClure.

His letter of rejection ran: "Dear Miss Webster: If you had read our magazine as carefully as we have read this manuscript, you would know that it is not fitted for us. I thank you for submitting it, and hope to see something in the future.

"Yours truly,

"S. S. M'CLURE."

Later the stories were accepted by the Century and proved popular. About six months after publication Miss Webster received the following letter:

"Dear Miss Webster: Have you not something to offer us in the line of 'When Patty Went to College?' I have been searching for years for just such a manuscript for my magazine. Yours truly,

"S. S. M'CLURE."

In spite of their efforts to conceal the fact, magazine editors are much like all the rest of us. They want to do good work, but they don't want to be unpopular. They dream of venturesome and successful explorations, but follow the procession.

James Huneker.

A new book by James Huneker has appeared: "Ivory Apes and Peacocks". The title is taken from "Once in three years came the ships of Tharshish bringing gold and silver, ivory and apes and peacocks." The people who don't know from where it is taken will not be likely to guess, for Bible reading has passed out of vogue.

Some people think that Mr. Huneker had no equal as an essayist or critic. He makes a practice of sending most of us to the biographical dictionary to find out about whom he mentions from time to time and the discovery is never valueless. And there is charm in his words and depth to his work. Not to have read James Huneker is to have missed the very best of contemporary criticism.

PUBLISHERS AND AUTHORS.

Paul Elder & Co., the San Francisco publishers, have been awarded a medal of honor by the International Jury, Panama-Pacific International Exposition. This medal is next to the grand prize.

The Putnams have in train for immediate publication a remarkable prose satire on the war, entitled "The Ballet of the Nations," by Vernon Lee, in which the venerable author applies to the carnage raging in Europe the medieval conception of the Dance of Death. The text not only ranks very high as a work of art, but constitutes an extraordinarily powerful comment on the war. The book is printed with elaborate decorations on every page, in the precious or chap book style.

Interest in Artzibashef, the Russian novelist, is growing and his works are being presented to the English-speaking public in quick succession. "Sanine" appeared in January, "The Millionaire" a few months later, and "Breaking-Point," his greatest novel, is promised for this month. With each new book there is a crescendo in the discussion of this new writer. In the September Metropolitan Magazine Clarence Day, Jr., devotes more than a page to a review of "Sanine" with illustrations by the reviewer. In the New York Times Sunday magazine a few weeks ago James Huneker offered, in one of his customary penetrating studies, two pages about this most conspicuous star in the foreign fiction firmament. A sixth printing of "Sanine" is in preparation, and the advance orders for "Breaking-Point" are such as to make necessary a second edition before publication.

The book rights of Geraldine Farrar's autobiography have been secured by Houghton Mifflin Company, who will publish the book this winter.

Francis Perry Elliott, author of "Pals First," attributes the popularity of this latest novel to the necromancy of his black cat. He stoutly avows the cat helped to write the book. This is how it happened: He had decided to tell the story of the old vagabond, the "Dominie," in the third person, and had pressed down the shift-key of the typewriter, preparatory to writing "He." At that moment, the cat, which had been watching operations from the vantage-point of the author's shoulder, slid down into his lap and mewed inscrutably. Then he clambered out upon the keyboard and the next instant a vivid "I" had been imprinted instead of "He." "That settled it," Mr. Elliott concluded solemnly. "I couldn't turn down a hint as plain as that—not from a black cat."

Knut Gjerset, professor of the Norwegian language, literature and history in Luther College, is the author of "History of the Norwegian People," published in two large octavo volumes late in August by the Macmillan Company. This work is the first in English to describe with anything like completeness the Norwegian history from the earliest times to the present. Professor Gjerset shows the social and cultural growth of the nation as well as its economic and political development.

Authors may not now spurn the offer of money for their work, but they really do sometimes fail to cash checks, according to the cashier of The Century Company. "I don't know what they do with the checks," he said in complaint to a friend the other day, "unless they frame them. Though acknowledgments have proved the receipt of the checks, I am always carrying on the books corresponding accounts that I can't close up for months, sometimes years. I remember especially one check issued to a famous actor and author. He died a number of years ago. The check was made out anew to the estate. Still it is uncashed. There is more than one author I'd bless if he—it is usually he—would only go and get his money."

One who much admires the Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Dictionary, and who is a student of books and words has advanced the opinion that the letter "e" is the most unfortunate character in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time.

But we call his attention to the fact, says the Charleston Gazette, that "e" is never in war and always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life and no heaven. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect, and without it there would be no editors, devils or news.

Prof. John B. Leed's startling declaration that the saloon is our only civic center is borne out by Judge Edward Abbott Parry in his "The Law and the Poor" (Dutton). Under the heading, "Two Public Houses," the author of these delightful legal essays shows what a poor man's club might be. Incidentally, Judge Parry disproves the recent statement of Henry F. Hurlburt made at the annual meeting of the Boston Boot and Shoe Club that "the poor man gets just as much justice as the rich man." A debate between these two gentlemen would be well worth hearing.

In the October
Scribner
E. Alexander Powell's "On the British Battle Line." A thrilling account of the British fighters, scenes among the hospitals and ambulances, the dead and wounded, the shelling of Dunkirk.

In all probability, about ninety-nine and a fraction per cent of all real boys possess a secret ambition to become either soldiers or mighty hunters when they grow up. While there are no authoritative statistics on the subject, just observe the small infant grab at the first popgun coming within his reach. If Shakespeare had thought of it first, he might have written his "Seven Ages" somewhat differently. First, the infant with his blowgun, making a target of grandpa's bald pate, and then the keen eyed schoolboy with his bowgun, creeping like a snail to get a shot at some unsuspecting bird. With a start like this he could next hand the kid a BB rifle, to be followed by a shotgun, and end up with an express rifle for big game.

As Tommy and his friends were real boys, their desires for a gun and something to shoot at were to be expected, and Uncle Dick was not surprised to find them all busy making paper targets as he entered the woodshed. First they struck the circles with a lead pencil compass, then the lines were thickened with a brush and black ink.

"You see, Uncle Dick," explained Tommy, "we're going to have a regular shooting match. Eddie Smith's father has fixed up a rifle gallery in their garage for us. Won't you come over and be referee?"

"Sure!" replied Uncle Dick. "I think all of you boys ought to learn how to use a gun without doing the fool things that endanger life. When I was young most every boy had a shotgun by the time he was big enough to manage it. But, of course, we were taught how to handle it properly and the things not to do. And that reminds me of a moving target we rigged up back of the barn. Why, Tommy, we can rig one up along our back fence if you boys will be very careful. First, I'll tell you where we got the idea, then I'll make a diagram of it. It was the season they had the small-pox scare at Cedar Point and the district schools were closed up. Your father, Uncle Bob and I were packed off on a visit to Cousin Abner's. We certainly had the time of our lives on that trip. After leaving the train at Gunners Point we rode twenty miles up the mountain to Cousin Abner's place. There wasn't much doing at that season of the year but hunting, and we had lots of sport. There was all kinds of game—quail, woodcock, rabbits, and even an occasional bear or deer was bagged. The deer, however, had got very scarce, although there was an old guide living about a quarter of a mile from Cousin Abner's who still made a business of conducting parties of deer hunters into the mountains.

"'I can't make out how Sime Applegate does it,' remarked Cousin Abner one night as we were talking about the gradual thinning out of the deer. 'He guarantees his parties a shot at a deer or no pay, and the funny part of it is he always gives them a shot. It's been two years since one of his customers shot a deer, but, of course, that ain't his fault.' A day or so after that we got acquainted with young Sime Applegate. He was about Uncle Bob's age and they soon got to be very chummy. Young Sime was a wizard at woodcraft and showed us tricks in trapping birds and animals that we had never dreamed of. One day, just before we started back home, he asked Uncle Bob to go on a trip up the mountains with him the next day. He made a lot of mystery about it, telling Bob not to say anything to Cousin Abner, but to meet him at daylight at the crossroads. Uncle Bob never tired of telling about that trip. First they travelled about an hour through the underbrush, with Sime in the lead and always finding little openings that made the going easy. Then they came to a stream where there was a real birch bark canoe concealed under a projecting ledge in the bank. The rest of the journey was quickly made on the surface of the mountain stream. Upon landing, and after hiding away the canoe in a clump of reeds, young Sime told Bob what his errand was, first making him promise that he wouldn't tell Cousin Abner, nor even us boys until we got back home. A half mile from the stream there was a valley with a natural lane in the centre, where you could see more than a quarter of a mile through the woods. Sime had explained the whole thing as they walked, so that when they arrived at the scene of operations Bob hunted a safe hiding place behind a big tree and looked on. First the boy rigged up a contrivance like this drawing I'm making, with the string leading across the opening in the forest. Then, after diving into the thick underbrush, he reappeared with a medium sized stuffed deer. It was a young buck with spreading antlers, looking as natural as life. Quickly attaching the deer to the string, he got in position to work the contrivance and waited.

"You see, old Sime Applegate had placed two deer hunters in the runway a good long rifle shot away from the stuffed buck. When he knew that the show was ready to open he gave a peculiar call, ostensibly to the dogs. This was young Sime's cue to start the deer. Even with your Uncle Bob's close-up view the illusion was startling. With a natural bounding motion the noble buck loped across the opening. Bing! bang! barked the rifles as the bullets swished through the underbrush. Of course, it was too bad they missed him, the old guide told the hunters as they followed the dogs trained to lead the party away and give young Sime a chance to hide his bag of tricks. 'We only work it once on each party,' explained Sime, as the boys hiked back to the canoe. 'They might get suspicious 'n', anyway, we only guarantee 'em one peep!' Of course, Bob kept his promise and never did tell Cousin Abner. But when we got home we made a reel and set it up back of the barn, with a rabbit instead of a deer for the target."

Uncle Dick's diagram was so simple that in less than no time the boys had a reel installed in the back yard. After a little practice they could make the wooden bunny hop along the ground like the real thing.

COMMON SENSE in the HOME
EDITED by MARION HARLAND

OUR MANNERS AND TRICKS.

READERS of Dickens will recognize the quotation as Jenny Wren's favorite retort upon those who offended her sense of right and fitness: "O, I know your tricks and your manners!" That was the end of the controversy.

In our familiar talk of today, I alter the sense and the application of the words. Perhaps "mannerisms" would be a more apt rendering of the last word. Each of us cherishes, consciously or unwittingly, certain tricks of speech and peculiarities of manners which belong to ourselves and are referable to no rule of grammar or social usage. Some may be classed as "inoffensive." If we were consulted with regard to all of them, we should unhesitatingly affirm that none of them interferes with the comfort of our associates. Moreover, that since this is true, it is nobody's business how we comport ourselves.

Mrs. Whitney, genial and wise missionary of everyday living, tells of a little girl whose aunt chided her for eating five pieces of sponge cake at a children's party.

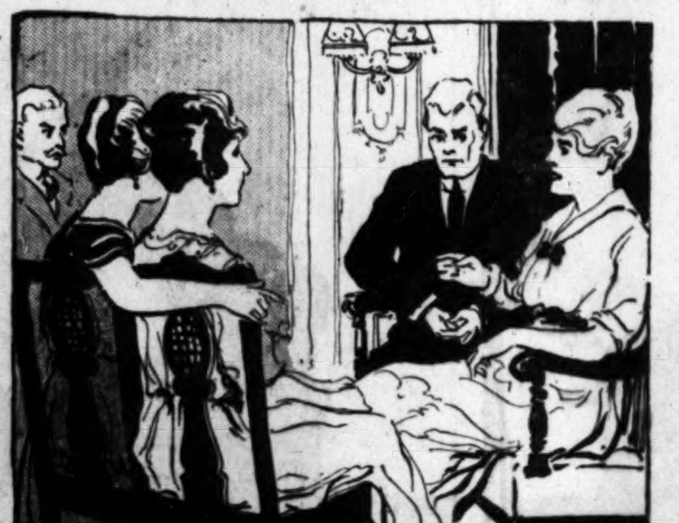
"What difference did that make?" pleaded the offender. "There were a dozen slices left."

The judicious mother interposed to end the dispute: "But suppose everybody else had eaten five slices of sponge cake? There would have been none left. A good rule in such matters is not to do anything which—if everybody else did the like—would inconvenience or annoy one or all of your companions."

The homely rule applies with force to children of a larger growth and presumably more experience in the world's ways.

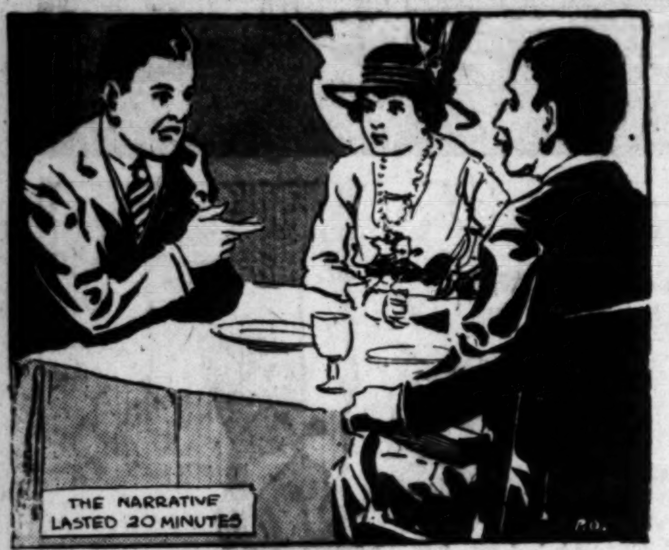
Coming down to direct illustrations—drawn, let me preface the list by saying—from real life:

Mrs. A. drives family, visitors, and neighbors, in church and elsewhere, to the verge of distraction by wagging her foot back and forth incessantly. Talking or listening, the unruly member—well shaped and daintily shod—oscillates like the pendulum of a clock. When tactfully reminded that the trick is remarked upon by observers, she answers smilingly that it is a family trick. Her mother and grandmother had the same.



TALKING OR LISTENING THE UNRULY MEMBER OSCILLATES LIKE THE PENDULUM OF A CLOCK

Miss B. hums softly when she is not talking or listening to others' direct address to herself, or eating or sleeping. I have heard the musical murmer, as monotonous as the buzz of a blue bottle fly against the window, in the vestibule of the church, the lobby of the theater and concert room, in a crowded department store, on the street, and without intermission while housework or sewing engages her hands. Her subconscious self keeps up the accompaniment to thought and action. She was asked once if she hummed in her sleep. "I suppose so. I don't lie awake to listen," was the imperturbable reply.

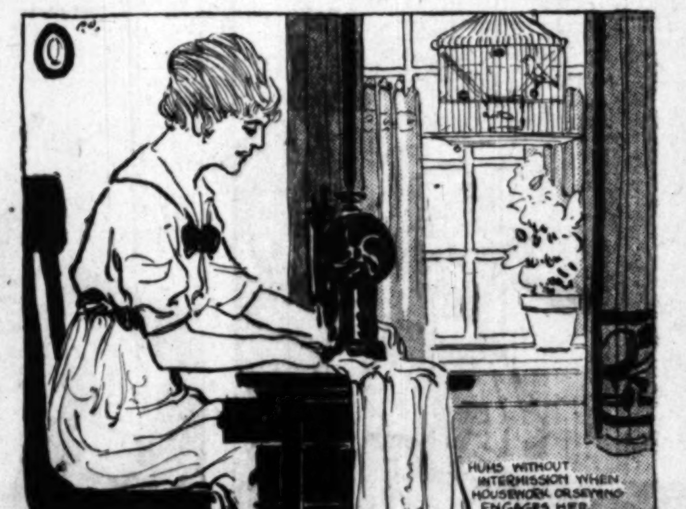


Mr. C. is an intelligent man. He would be astonished and probably angered if I were to tell him that he goaded me out of my wits by the senseless iteration of the provincial, "I want to know." I bethought myself one day to keep account of the number of times he said it in listening to the story of a friend's experience that was not startling or at all exciting. I timed the narrator and his commentator. The narrative lasted twenty minutes. The auditor ejaculated, "I want to know!" twenty times while it went on.

Mr. D. has no English blood in his veins, yet he says, "You know," or "Don't you know" whenever he would dot down a comma if he were writing. I kept "tally" of the expletives one evening when he was in the full swing of a really masterly summing up of the pros and cons of a law suit in which he had borne a part. He said "You know" fifteen times and "Don't you know!" twenty-five before he finished the tale. It had consumed thirty minutes.

Miss E. is a college graduate, and her friend, Miss F., took honors at another college last June. Both are bright girls, refined and lovable. Both would be good talkers if they did not interlard their speech to a ludicrous extent with the adjective which would seem to be in high favor just now. Everything is "wonderful" from a thunderstorm to ice cream soda. A saucy college boy confided to me that one of them exclaimed "Wonderful!" ten times in half an hour's conversation, and the other declared six times that certain mild statements concerning commonplace happenings were "just too wonderful for anything."

Miss G. is a spinster of uncertain years and advanced ideas upon the questions of the day. She chooses her words well and they carry weight. She dresses in excellent taste, is a leal friend, and full of charitable deeds. Her table manners leave so much to be desired that the hostess who would gladly include her name among chosen guests can but hesitate and lay her over for another and more convenient season if there are to be fastidious strangers present. Her neighbors at the hospitable board are disagreeably and inevitably reminded of the man who invited a visitor to the city to go with him to a fashionable hotel "to hear the nouveaux riches eat soup." She cuts up her salad noisily, although she cannot be ignorant of the by-laws forbidding one to touch it with the knife, and one of her tales of travel has to do with a Frenchman who, having watched her mince her meat and vegetables fine before beginning to eat inquired: "Ees it for de poodle zat madame prepares de food?" She tells the anecdote well and her hearers laugh—she thinks with her.



HUMS WITHOUT INTERMISSION WHEN HOUSEWORK OR SEWING ENGAGES HER HANDS

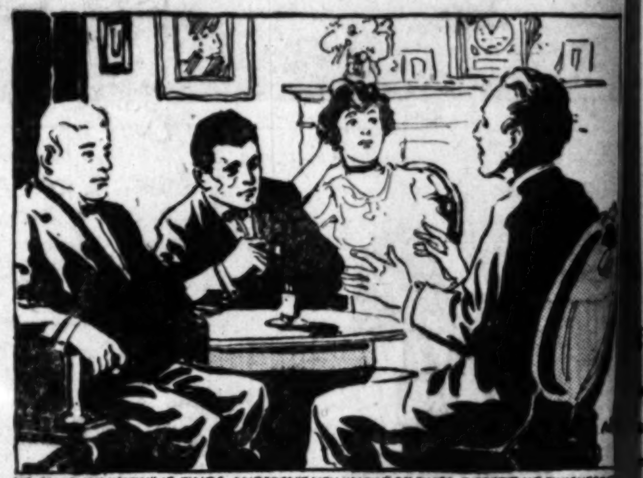
Still more objectionable to beholders in general and his friends in particular is Mr. H.'s practice of working meat, vegetables, and gravy into a mass, using his knife as a spatula, until he falls to work with gusto to demolish the parti-colored mound, not unlike a turtle in shape and sometimes in complexion, raised in the center of his plate.

Mr. I. has traveled far and given the world the benefit of his wanderings in books and lectures which command respect and admiration upon both sides of the ocean. He is a welcome guest in "our best circles."

Yet observers draw unflattering conclusions as to his early breeding when his nervous fingers are constantly "fiddling" with whatever portable articles lie within his reach. He toys with the small silver of the table furniture, his pet trick being to trace the pattern of the damask tablecloth with the tines of his fork and, if the design be intricate, or not conveniently near to him, he draws deep arabesques upon the luckless linen. Upon one occasion, when the subject in hand called forth his finest powers of description and no small article offered itself for manipulation, my fascinated eyes beheld him pick up the galloon tacked upon the arm of the upholstered chair in which he sat, until he had torn away half a yard, leaving it dangling to the floor. He did not apologize. Indeed, his absolu norance of the ruin he had wrought not the least amazing part of the formance.

Some of the tricks and manneris have cited and many more that wi cur to the mind of observant readers be set down by charitable studen character and conduct as "the ecce ties of genius." I long ago learned test the phrases. Your man or wom genius, great or small, has no prescri right to be a nuisance to the every commonplace, common sense folk wh so largely in the majority in every ordered community that their clai consideration may not be despised. the stubborn fact remains that cent of the people whose vagaries of havior offend us cannot plead gifts of any kind in justification of disobedience to the simplest rules of manners. Reverting to the episod the sponge cake, nobody is excusab eccentricities which, if generally ind in, would subvert the laws of dec and comfort which should govern o tercourse with our fellow-beings.

Parents cannot lay too much upon this cardinal truth in training children. An 8 year old boy hit th squarely upon the head when the manners [or rather lack of manner a distinguished guest were comm upon after his departure: "I su his mother didn't teach him any when he was little."



HE SAID "YOU KNOW" 15 TIMES AND "DON'T YOU KNOW" 25 TIMES BEFORE HE FINISHED

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

Suggests a Correspondence Circle.

"I WISH to join your Corner. It seems to be doing so much good and making so many happy. I have been wondering how I might contribute or write to it. Do you suppose we might form a correspondence circle? Ever since I have read of the lonely girl from the mountains and the invalids who are so cheerful I have wished for some way in which we might get in touch with them often. If six or eight of us from the Corner would each write a letter of things that interest us in particular and send the letters to me, I would add my share and send them all together on their journey around the circle. Possibly you can suggest an improvement on this idea. COLLEGE GIRL."

We are delighted to welcome this college girl to our Corner, and I have no doubt she can put through her idea successfully if she is willing to give to it the time and thought it will demand. I foresee letters from many others who will be happy to join her circle and thus to impart an organized form to the many letters which are constantly written to cheer and encourage the sick and lonely. I shall put her name on file and I look for numerous applications for it. One word of warning. No one who does not intend to stick to the work would better attempt it. In the first enthusiasm it is easy to promise letters, but unless there is a real earnestness back of the impulse the most eager are sometimes prone to fall away and to leave all the work upon the persevering contingent.

Plant Slips Wanted.

"I write to ask if some reader of the Corner has an old atlas which is no longer needed and that could be sent to me. I would love so to get one. I also wish to ask some of the readers if they have any slips of the following plants to give to one who loves plants well. Here are those I particularly want: A geranium which has a leaf with a yellow center; wax plant; purple leaf wandering Jew; white and green striped leaf wandering Jew; parrot's feather, for hanging basket, or any other nice vines for a hanging basket; double petunia; rainbow cactus or any other kind of cactus; rex begonia; fuchsia; true Irish shamrock; resurrection plant; bulb of giant gloxinia. I would be so glad to get any or all of these or any other kind of slips which any reader has to give. I have eighteen copies of a woman's magazine to give to some reader who would care to have them; they contain nice patterns of all kinds. I also have a black cushion top with a cross-stitch design on it, and a centerpiece which is about three-quarters of a yard long and half a yard wide of eyelet work which some reader can have to work. I will pay charges on anything that is sent to me. MRS. A. E. S."

While this correspondent makes several requests, she is also generous in her offers, and I hope she may have prompt responses to both. Among all the flower lovers numbered in our Corner there is sure to be some one who can send her a few of the slips she wishes, and if they all get together her garden is likely to be well stocked. The old atlas will also be forthcoming, I trust, and she is sure to receive applications for the articles she offers and for the magazines.

Secret of Contentment.

"Just a few words to give my views on the letter from G. P., 'the old maid.' She certainly has my sympathy, but while I know there are many people who have no natural refinement, they are not in the majority, thank the Lord! I feel that she is oversensitive and broods too much over her unmarried state, overlooking many chances to do good in the world, and thereby take her mind off of herself. There is no surer way to overcome grief and trouble than by helping some one else less fortunate than one's self. Let her look around and see the many poor, neglected wives who think her state a paradise, and help some one, even if it be only with a smile or cheerful word. Above all, she should try to stamp out the sensitiveness which makes it fun to the ill bred to tease her. I have a friend whose hair is white, whose years number fifty-five, and she is unmarried, but no one would ever think of terming her an old maid, because she has kept up with the times. She never speaks of her troubles and disappointments, although I know she has had at least two from the sterner sex. She outlived them and is always cheerful. When she meets a friend or acquaintance she is interested in them and theirs, and always remembers some pleasant occurrence or good time she had with the friend or her dear ones. The result is that she is popular with old and young. She has earned her own living since her early twenties. How would it have been with her had she allowed her disappointments to sour her disposition? MRS. A. E. B."

This correspondent has put her finger on the secret of contentment—to do something for others and stop thinking of one's own worries. I hope G. P. may see this letter and that it may help her. It ought to bring suggestions to other women, both married and single.

Materials for Fancy Work.

"I have often wanted to write to the Corner, but have hesitated, because I feel I have so little to offer in exchange for the many useful things mentioned. I am an invalid and can do little except crocheting, tatting and embroidery, and materials for these lines of work are difficult for me to obtain. I have not been able to leave my home for ten years and would greatly appreciate the electric belt that Ella K. so kindly offers in the Corner, as well as the silk pieces and stamped articles for embroidering. I would be happy to use these and return part of them after doing the work if she wished me to do so, as it would give me something to do not only for myself but for others. I would also give tatting or crochet. I congratulate the Corner on the good work it is doing. "MRS. G. W."

We are glad to hear from this correspondent and I regret very much that the electric belt had been given away before her letter arrived. Has anyone else another such belt to offer? And is there not some one who would like to accept this opportunity of giving materials for fancy work such as Mrs. G. W. desires with the chance of having at least part of it returned in a finished condition? I have her address on file and shall be glad to send it on application.

Banishes the Ants.

"Let me help Mrs. E. R. S. about ants in her home. I have had experience with these pests and I tried innumerable remedies before finding success with the following, which I concocted myself. I use the atomizer, spray, or whatever you call it that is used for spraying vegetables. It holds something less than a quart. Fill this nearly full of kerosene; add one teaspoon of carbolic acid and one tablespoon of creosol and spray everywhere—that is, baseboards, doors, and windows. If you can find the place where the ants enter, so much the better. This mixture leaves no mark on floors or woodwork and I have found it infallible. The ants disappear as if by magic. They hate the stuff. At first I should apply it three times a day and later, once a day will be sufficient. The mixture can be used on plants, too. I shall be glad if my little mite can help a Cornerite. "J. L. S."

This is certainly a simple, cheap, and harmless application and I hope the distressed correspondent who sought aid may see this letter and find as much help from the use of the mixture as is claimed for it by J. L. S. I am personally obliged to her for her suggestion and I am sure my gratitude will be echoed by others.

"I see in the paper that Mrs. E. K. S. is pestered with ants. I had the same experience and was told to try dry powdered borax and cayenne pepper and to put this wherever I saw the ants. I did this and got rid of them, so I write of this in the hope that Mrs. E. K. S. may have the same good luck, for such ants are horrid things to have about the house. If this does any good I wish she would write a line to the Corner and let me know about it. CORNERITE."

Another remedy which may work if the first one given fails. It would be interesting to learn the result of both these applications, always bearing in mind that if the ants are well established in the house there is little hope of getting rid of them quickly and that it may take a long continued fight before they are permanently banished. It is also well to recollect that all the remedies in the world will do no good if the ants are encouraged to remain by food being left where they can get it or by droppings of food on the floor and shelves. I am glad to get this second suggestion as well as the first.

Kindly Deed of No Avail.

"I have noticed that several times lately you have asked for silk pieces. In sorting over some things I found some silk scraps, which I am sending to you. I think the idea of a mutual exchange, as the Corner conducts it, is excellent. "K. K."

The good will of this correspondent is so pleasing that it is a pity her kindly deed will probably be of no avail. Again and again I have begged on this page that no packages be sent to this office, but that those who have gifts to make write to me for the addresses of those who may want what the Cornerites have to give, sending at the same time the initials accompanying the requests. I trust the constituency will try to bear this in mind.

Corn Relish.

"Now, while corn is at its best, will you kindly repeat the recipe for corn relish which you have given in preceding years? I know I ought to have kept it, but the directions have mysteriously disappeared. J. H. G."

Twelve ears of sweet corn, three onions, the heart of a large firm white cabbage, one bunch of crisp celery, three sweet red peppers, seeded, scalded, and cooled; quarter of a cup of salt, three pints of cider vinegar, one and a half pounds of brown sugar, two heaping teaspoons of English mustard dissolved in hot water and stirred in at the last. Shave the corn from the cob and chop celery, peppers, and cabbage fine. Scald the vinegar; stir in the salt and sugar and then the chopped vegetables. Let all come to a boil and cook for twenty minutes after this; add the mustard, stir well, turn into self-sealing cans, and close while boiling hot. This is better after it has ripened a few weeks.

"May I ask Gertrude V. H. through the Helping Hand for the tatting patterns she offers? I would be pleased to exchange patterns with her, and it may be that I have some which are not included in her samples. I will pay the postage. MRS. A. D."

FOR THE INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

BY ADELAIDE BYRD

CORNERS and SCALLOPS for HANDKERCHIEFS

DESIGNED BY ELIZABETH MILLER.

ALTHOUGH Christmas is more than two months away, members of our sewing circle are already clamoring for designs which they can put on handkerchiefs. A handkerchief of any description is always an acceptable gift, but a handkerchief embellished with hand embroidery is a thing to be prized. Busy needleworkers know this and are, therefore, anxious to prepare the dainty gifts for their dainty friends and relatives.

On the page today I am showing five distinctive designs that are especially suitable for the corners of handkerchiefs. The scalloped edge suggested with each corner is sure to appeal because of its delicate lines.

I suggest that you select a fine handkerchief linen on which to stamp the design, or I might say the designs, for you will surely want to embroider more than one. If you are economical, you will buy a yard of yard-wide handkerchief linen and get nine twelve-inch squares from it. Just think what a saving this will mean, and how many gifts one can get from such a piece of linen! If the twelve-inch square is too large; you can make smaller handkerchiefs by omitting several scallops.

Needless to say, the scalloped edge is to be buttonholed. Before buttonholing it, pad the scallops with several strands of darning cotton, holding the cotton in place with the left hand and buttonholing over it with the right. There are some embroiderers who object to working scallops. These sewers can omit them and add to the white linen a tiny separate hem of colored material. Or, if one likes to crochet, a picot edge will prove very effective. Another simple way to finish the edges is to turn a narrow hem in the material and sew narrow valenciennes lace to it.

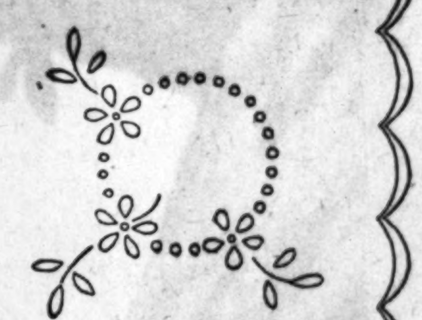
The small wreaths give an opportunity to embroider a tiny initial in each. The designs call for French knots or eyelets to fill in the circles, and solid stitches for the petals. As the designs are so very small and the lines so close together, extremely fine embroidery cotton should be used for working them.

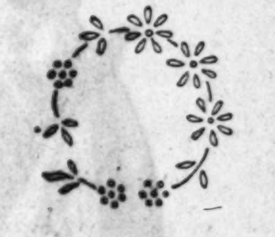
A bowknot design, no matter how large or small it may be, is always sure to find admirers. The bowknot and spray shown call for the solid and outline stitches and French knots.

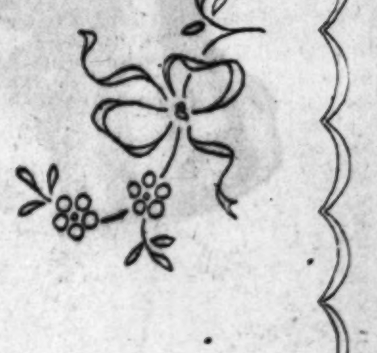
The conventional rose can be very satisfactorily transplanted to four corners of a handkerchief. It requires so few stitches that I do not hesitate to advise its appearance four times on one kerchief. However, if one is pressed for time, the rose will show to good advantage if it appears in one corner only. Tiny solid stitches should be used for the petals and leaves and the stem should be outlined.

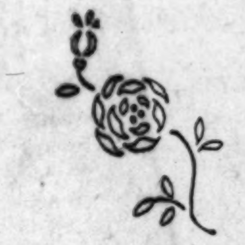
Don't you love the basket so artistically filled with flowers? I think a trifle heavier cotton should be used to form the basket than the cotton used for the flowers. Straight stitches clearly crossing each other are all that are required to bring out the weave of the basket. The stitches suggested for the petals, circles and straight lines of the other designs are suitable for the flowers in and out of the basket.

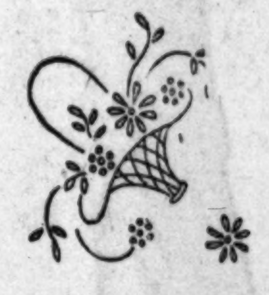
If you aren't in the mood for making holiday gifts now, guard this page safely until a more propitious time, and you will be more than glad to have the designs on hand.











Another Bag

AND here is still another type of bag which the ardent needleworker will pounce upon with avidity. It is a patch bag! Maybe you do not consider your patches worthy of a special bag, but perhaps somebody else does, and the idea is a clever one for gift purposes. It is made from crash or huck toweling in two-pocket effect—that is, like two bags of different depths attached at the top. On the front of the bottom bag the word "Patches" is cross-stitched, but on the upper bag real patches of ginghams, bright linens and other wash materials are cut in odd fantastic shapes and appliqued to the material with colored cottons. Legs, arms and heads are applied to the patches with the embroidery cotton in outline stitch, and the result is a regular procession of animated patches on parade.

Turkish Towel Apron

IF THERE is any compliment in being in great demand, the Turkish towel should feel highly flattered, for there is no other article that is pressed into service in so many roles. It appears very satisfactorily in the character of a traveling apron. By using one very long towel, the bottom can be turned up for nine inches and stitched along the ends. A line of featherstitching can be used to divide the turned-up portion into compartments, or machine stitching can be used for the purpose. Into the various pockets thus formed one can pack comb and brush, toothbrush, powders, soap and all other necessary toilet articles.

Should a small towel be used for the purpose, an extra piece of toweling (a good portion from a wornout towel might be used for the purpose) will have to be joined to it to form the pockets.

An initial or a monogram embroidered in pink or blue will lift the Turkish towel from its lowly state.

Shape the towel at the top so that it will fit around the waist, and add tape or ribbon to form strings by which the apron can be tied in place.

A huck or damask towel can be substituted for the Turkish variety if one prefers.

How to Transfer

PLACE a sheet of impression carbon paper between your fabric and the newspaper design, the latter on top. With a sharp pencil or a glass-pointed pen go over the outline. The design will be transferred to the material and will last until worked.

Crocheted Hat Ornaments

THE newest sailor hats are showing such a multiplicity of simple but, none the less, odd ornaments that the woman who is handy with her needle, either plain sewing needle, embroidery or crochet, may have a stunning trimming with little expense and scarcely no effort. One velvet sailor shows a pink wool rose lying rather flatly against the crown. The edges of the petals are tipped with crystal beads and an occasional crystal bead lies like a dewdrop on the petal itself. To work the beads with the wool it is necessary to string them on your wool or silk before rolling it. Then by slipping the beads along they can be slipped into a stitch whenever necessary, for the pattern.

Ribbon Embroidery

HAND embroidery plays an important part on gowns of velvet and silk this season. With the revival of fashion lines comes a revival of French ribbon wark. This sort of decoration was used on the court costumes near the close of the eighteenth century.

The style of embroidery lends itself to the blending of delicate or of rich colorings and is extremely pleasing. Very frequently the embroidery is done on bands of net. A very pretty strip of the embroidery displays a spray of flowers. The outlines of the largest flowers in the pattern are done in a heavily padded slanting stitch, with French knots for the centers. A single French knot is used in the heart of each tiny ribbon blossom.

Not only on wearing apparel is the ribbon effective. It works up satisfactorily on sofa pillows, pincushions and centerpieces.

One Half of Handkerchief

A Gift in a Jiffy

"I DO declare, it's Lucille's birthday, and I haven't the sign of a gift for her," declared the hostess of a week-end party.

"Why not make her something?" suggested the Clever Girl.

"But I have no time; she'll be here any minute."

"Have you a perfectly new damask towel? Oh, yes, that is lovely," went on the Clever Girl, as her hostess spread out a new damask towel and hustled for her workbasket, "and just the right size. Now, you just turn up one end a little past halfway, so that the turned-up part is [illegible] the width of the remaining towel part. Then you featherstitch the two edges together at each side with navy blue mercerized cotton, and then divide the turned-up pocket into three by featherstitching them at the bottom, and you work a cross-stitch initial here in blue, and run a blue ribbon through the towel hem at the top. Lucille's work apron is complete. She can use the different compartments of her apron as she likes, and when she takes it off, fold the top over, roll the apron up and tie the ribbons exactly like the flannel holders for silver and nothing can fall out when she tucks it in her trunk to take home."

"You're a dear," answered her host-

Napkin Case

THERE are various devices for holding the individual napkin, but a very satisfactory contrivance is a case made of white linen. This is especially useful in a boarding house, where the napkins are necessarily handled a great deal.

The case need not be more than six inches square when finished. Use a strip of linen fifteen inches long and seven inches wide. Turn the material up for six inches, stitch it along the side or, rather, make French seams. Cut the end of the strip to form a point. Trace an initial or a monogram on the flap. Provide the case with a buttonhole and button.

Colored Kerchiefs

NOWADAYS the colored handkerchief fad has been leading women a merry chase for new ideas, and is setting feminine heads a-wagging for new ideas for hand-made handkerchiefs. A set in the hope box of a newly engaged girl may offer suggestions for those who make their own handkerchiefs or shower hand-made ones on their friends. There were a dozen in all, the daintiest of pastel colors, and they were about ten inches square. The edges of each had been rolled and overcast in two directions with either white or black thread. A border of the white or black thread consisted of several rows of plain running stitches rather close together. An initial was placed in the corner of each. The black thread on the lighter colored linen was most effective, while the white toned down the darker blues and pinks.

Pretty Baby's Dress

THE dress for the little one 2 years old can be given a different touch, and one that is entirely appropriate, by lacing it down the back with white cord, at the ends of which there are single tassels. If the dress is of heavy material, such as heavy linen, the little sleeves may be laced at the top. If only laced at the back fastening, a pink or blue cord may be used instead of the white; but if laced on both sleeves, the plain white should be used, the color being too much in the three places for the simplicity required by tasteful baby garments.

Cut Work

YOU must have at least one piece showing a cutwork design if you wish to be up to date in the needlework field. This type of fancy work is being revived very strongly and is used for cushions, runners, scarfs, etc. The work is very simply done, as it calls for nothing more than the buttonhole stitch.

Either side of the portion of material that is to be cut out is first outlined with a running stitch. It is then buttonholed, the purled edge facing inward. When you come to a place where a bar is indicated, stitch over to the other side, and return on the same thread by wrapping it around and around your needle; then proceed with the over-and-over stitch until you come to the next bar, when you repeat. Instead of wrapping the thread around the needle, many embroiderers make buttonhole stitches across each bridge, so that the bridge will be firm.

When doing cut work make the stitches extremely fine and close together, so that the finished piece will have a satiny appearance

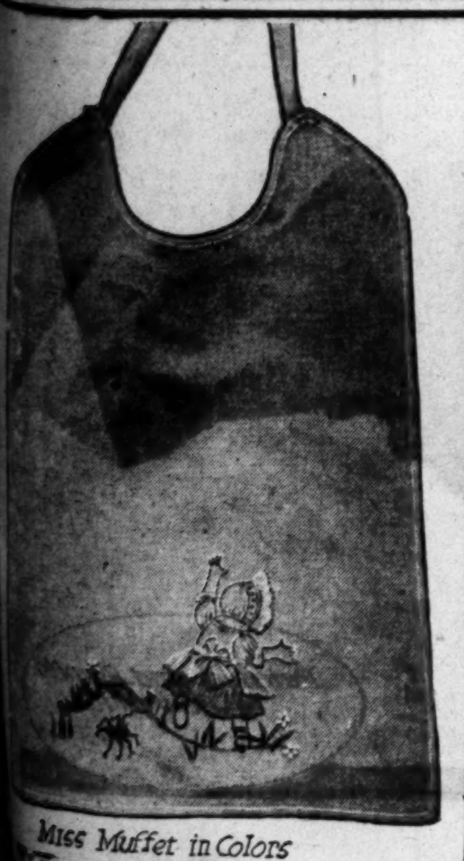
Of Art Linen

QUITE the prettiest among the art linen novelties so dear to the heart of every woman who "makes things" is a new oval bag—at least the bottom is oval—of linen-covered heavy cardboard. A linen-covered oval embroidery hoop covers the joining of a straight piece of the linen to the bottom. The bag is lined with a bright-colored silk to harmonize with the linen. The corners of the back are tucked in envelope fashion and the two straight edges at the top are held close with snap fasteners. Loops of black braid at either side are used to hang the bag on the arm when it is taken out for the sewing club party.

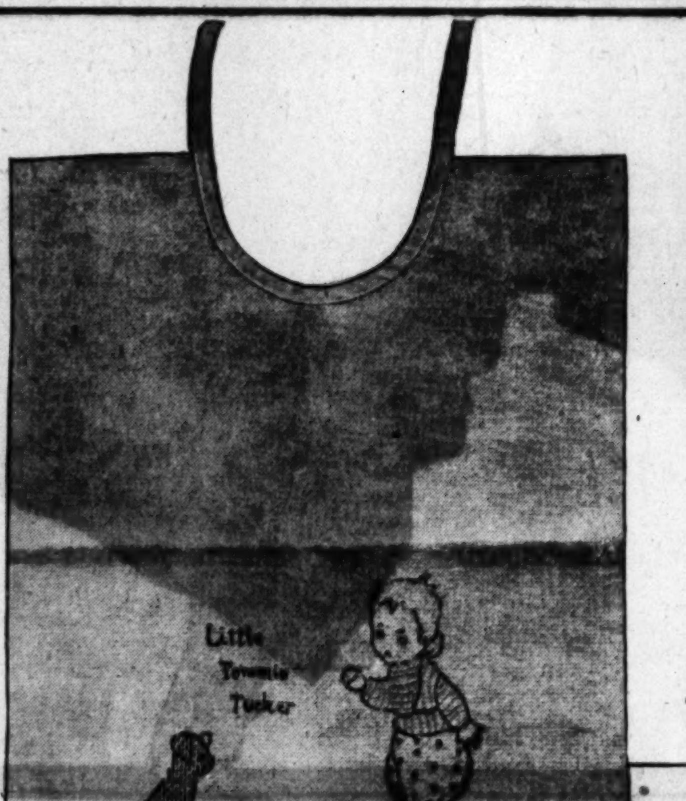
A Creeping Quilt

WHO ever thought of it? And why did not some one think of it sooner? What? Why, the idea of putting those linen Mother Goose books to good use. Some thinking person has conceived the idea of cutting out the Mother Goose characters from those linen books and appliqueing them on pink or blue silkaline or chambray or similar material for a baby's creeping quilt. When the youngster finds his favorite story characters under his very feet, as it were, he will not want to wander far. The idea may also be utilized for a bedquilt and will find warm welcome with the young members of the nursery.

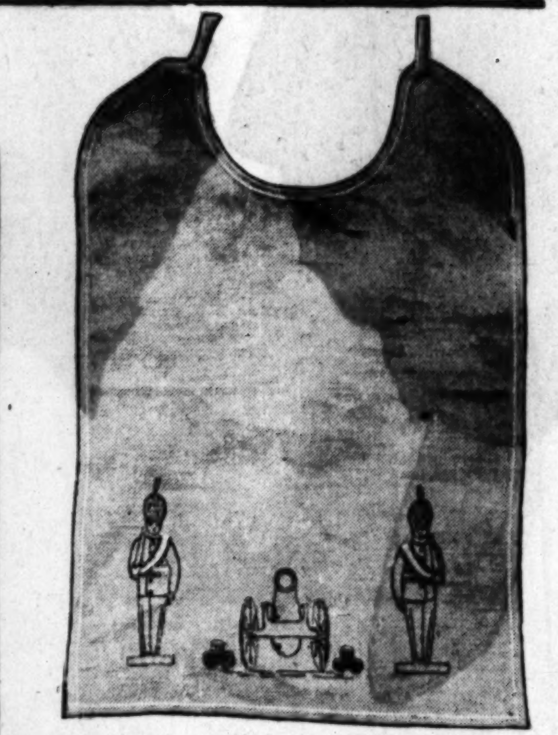
BIBS FOR BABY BUNTING



Miss Muffet in Colors



Baby Will Sing for His Tommy Tucker Bib



A Military Touch

Don't you just love to rummage through the baby bibs in the shops to see the latest designs in which embroidery designers are not chary in giving to this important part of Baby Bunting's wardrobe? Even if there is no baby in the immediate family, you can go out in the highways and byways and adopt one immediately. You can embroider one of these [illegible] little bibs, to keep his [illegible] at meal times especially. It doesn't often happen that there [illegible] among one's friends whose [illegible] will not be the happier for the [illegible] of a new embroidered bib. "[illegible] thing I can never have too many of," says one young mother. "I have had to give away bootees and caps galore, but bibs, never." So you see it is a safe and welcome gift if you have a young baby and his mother in mind.

Nursery rhymes are perhaps the most appropriate designs for the nursery bib, because they suggest a story, and his babykins must be amused even at meal times. You know all about Miss Muffet and the spider who sat down beside her (cleverest of rhymes) and how he frightened Miss Muffet away. Well, the designer has taken the most crucial moment of the tale, and placed it on a bib all ready for you to paint up in colored cottons. There is a very realistic hillside, with wild, very wild, flowers and a big juicy spider to be worked in black. The bib is linen, of generous proportion and bound with white tape, which is also used for the strings.

A cannon that might go off any minute, and two stiff guards that never could have been embroidered on a second linen bib for baby's everlasting amusement. He is so natural that he couldn't possibly question their nationality, beyond the fact that they are strangely like his own tin regiment. You will see that they are worked mostly in outline, with only the blanket rolls and cannon balls filled in. An older child might also be able to embroider either of these bibs and take pleasure in the work.

Huckaback toweling has been used for the third bib. This material is most practical, as it wears forever and absorbs moisture beautifully, which all well-behaved bibs should be prepared to do at a moment's notice. Little Tommy Tucker is singing for his supper on this bib, and his darned dog—yes, he is darned truly, with brown cotton through the weave of the huck—is watching him.

Any nursery rhyme can be applied to a piece of linen or huck for a bib. There is plenty of inspiration in almost any picture book, and if you cannot draw yourself, there is always carbon paper for tracing. Be sure that you use only the best of fast color cottons, as bibs require such constant laundering that poor colored cottons would be a bad investment. If you are inclined to lavish a little more work on these bibs, you might hemstitch them or crochet a colored edge around the whole bib. Some mothers and their friends are setting into baby bibs motifs and borders of filet crochet showing waddly ducklings and square chickens to delight baby eyes.

For the Booklover

HAVE you a book-loving friend? Of course you have, and you always know just what to give her for Christmas and other gift times. But why not vary the gift this time and make her one of those attractive book covers from art linen? You may not be able to get this imported material, but the idea may be developed as effectively in cretonne or brocade. Cut your cover in the ordinary "best seller" size, and make the pockets into which the book is to be slipped quite deep to insure a smooth fit and real protection for the book itself. Now braid three strands of black soutache braid and attach it to the front of the book cover along the side as a handle, allowing it to lie quite flat and almost the width of the book. On the back sew a similar arrangement of the braid, only make this handle quite long, to be slipped under the other braid loop on the front when the book is closed and then over the arm. If the brocade is used, a dull gilt or silver galloon is better than the braid for the loops. A large, dull black bead on a black silk thread is attached to the top of the cover as a bookmark.

Everyday Luncheon Set

THE very thing for an everyday luncheon set, which must stand extra strain at table and washtub, is a finish of serpentine braid—you know, the wriggling kind that you see on aprons! Either linen or a remnant of damask can be put to good use through this treatment. All that is necessary is to cut your centerpiece or larger luncheon cloth and the smaller doilies—the latter may be either round or square—then baste the braid in either white or colors around the various pieces, on which you have already turned a hem. Stitch on the machine and your luncheon set is ready for use.

Tea Towel Tips

WOULD you believe that they are actually embroidering tea towels? They come stamped with tea sets and other appropriate designs for outline embroidery in blue and red to match the check of the towel. To many people this will seem like a waste of time, but as possibilities in the gift line for hope chest or linen shower they are not to be scorned. No girl could quite despise a dozen gayly embroidered towels for her new kitchen. It is well to begin housekeeping with everything just so, even to dish towels, if your friends are kind enough to make them. One girl gave to a shower a very practical gift in the shape of a half dozen checked glass towels and a half dozen crash tea towels, all finished with featherstitched hems and the initials of the engaged girl cross-stitched in the corner.

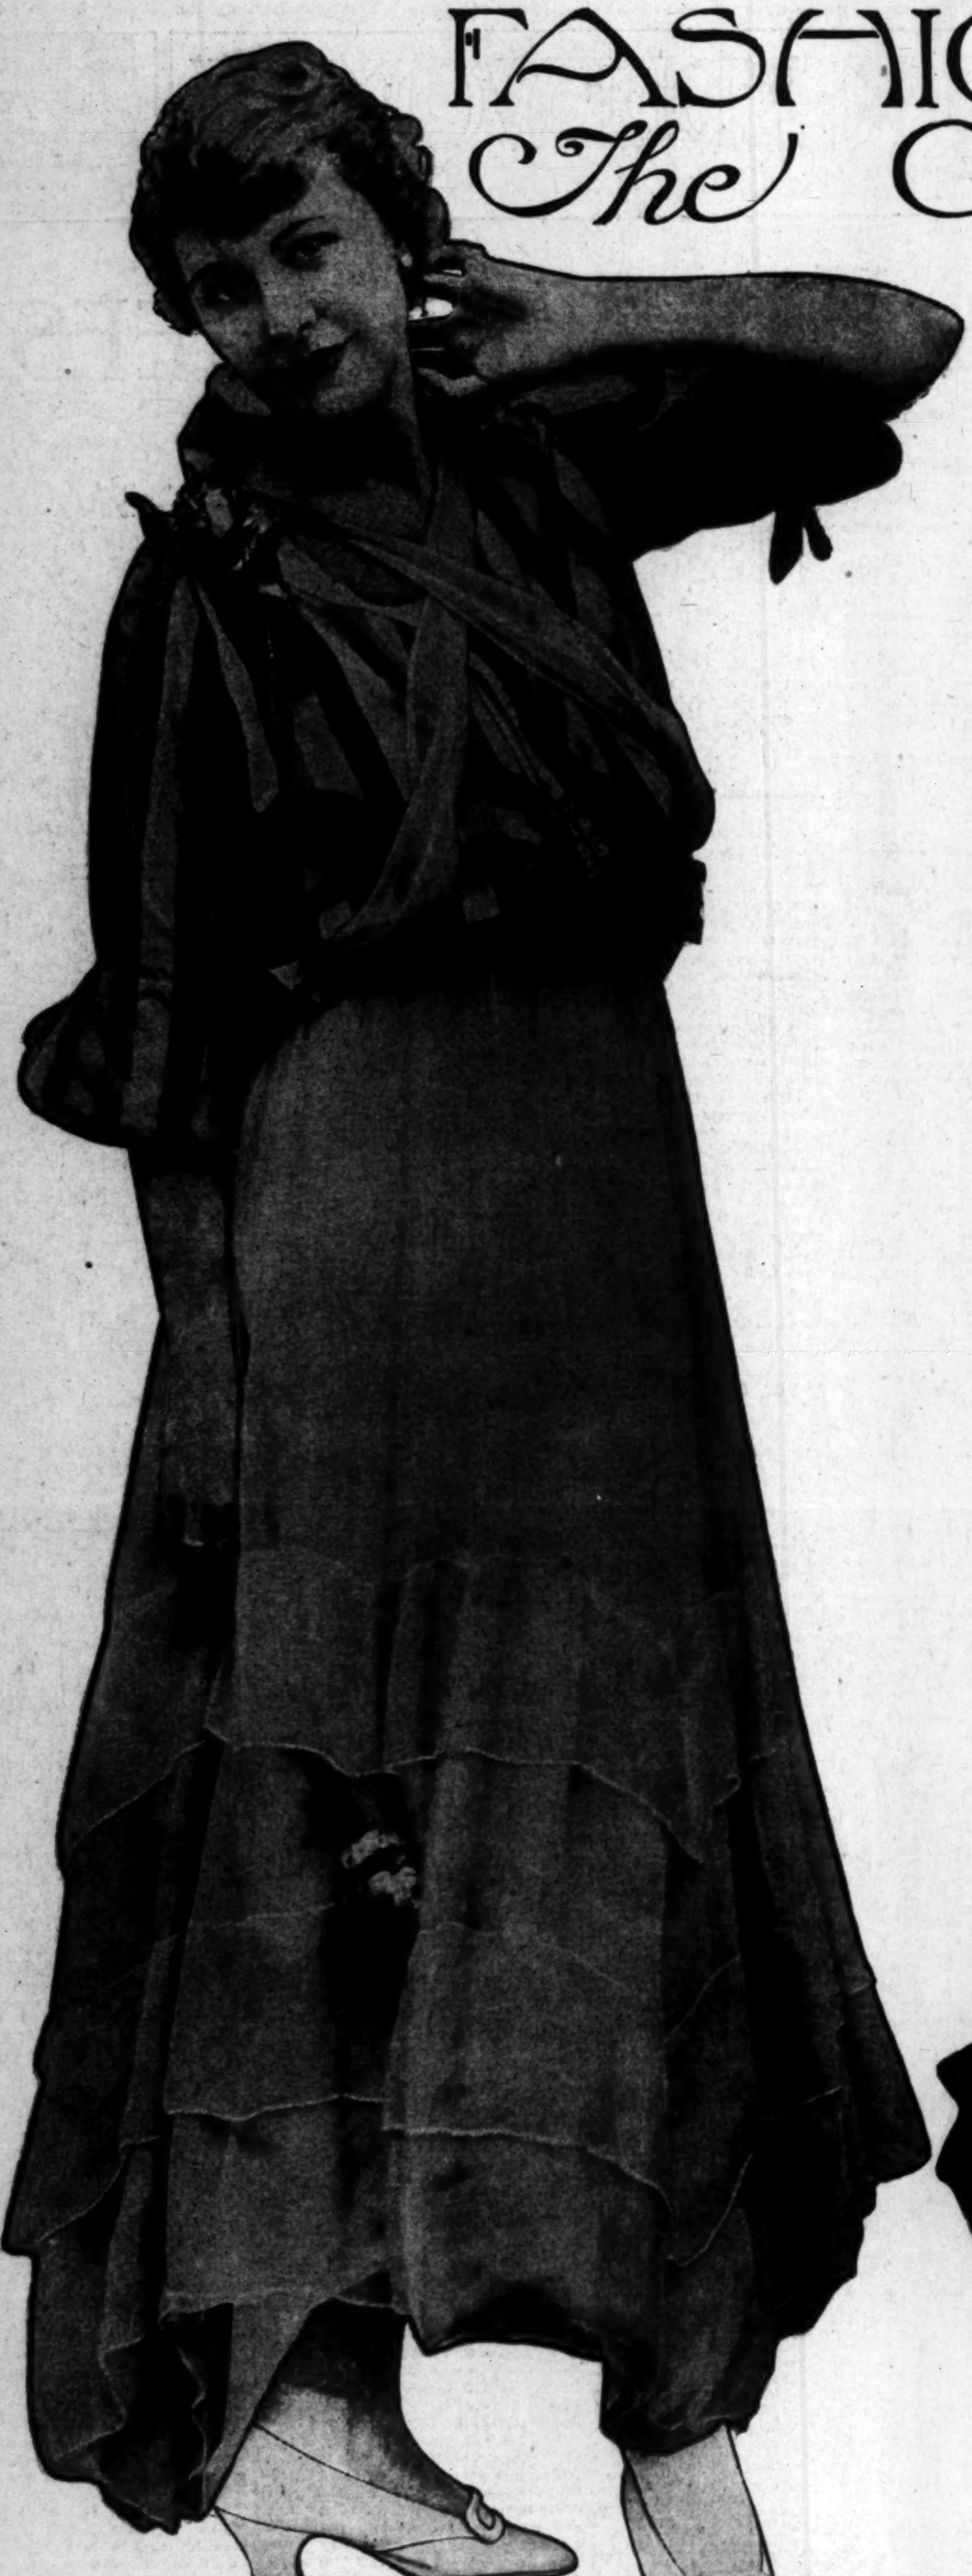
Schoolbag

TO SHOW the little girl who runs your errands that you appreciate her services, make her a bag in which she can carry her books to and from school. Use tan or green linen for the purpose and embroider across the front of the bag the word "Books." In the lower right-hand corner embroider the owner's initial.

Across the back of the bag stitch a strip of linen about two and one-half inches in width to form a pocket into which pencil, pens and a ruler can be stowed away. Use snap fasteners to keep the pocket closed securely.

Sew a casing to the top of the bag and run black or green tape through the same.

FASHION SQUARES The CIRCULAR SKIRT



HAS Dame Fashion succeeded where mathematicians of centuries have failed? Has she out-Platoed Plato, who wasted tons of wax and blunted stylus after stylus in his attempt to square the eternal circle? Has she beaten the wise old Arabians at their own game and solved one of the three famous problems of antiquity? Maybe it was the Sphinx itself who took the fickle lady into his confidence and whispered his famous secret into her willing ears! At any rate, whether Fashion has achieved what modern scientists deem the impossible, or not, she has given to the world by four snips of her magic shears a very pretty style in the circular skirt cut on the square.

Who cares whether an old Q. E. D. has been tacked to a problem or not, when she can wear as charming a frock as the dress of pink-petaled taffeta? A point to the right of her, one to the left of her and one back and one front, is the result of the squared skirt, which is consequently of voluminous width. It is simply shirred beneath a crushed girdle of the pink taffeta, but as a concession to the girl who won't look too large about the hips and waist for any fashion that comes along, darts have been run from the mitered corners to take out some of the fullness. The bodice shows a pretty arrangement of crossed surpliced ruffles on a foundation of soft white net. The ruffles are picot edged, as are also the ruffles on the tiny puff sleeves of net. The treatment of the skirt edge is unique, suggesting almost the appellation of a "rose frock." The petals are formed by two bands of scalloped and picoted silk, one a shade darker taffeta than the other and shirred together along the top of the deep rose-colored band which really makes the skirt. While such a gown is not actually cut on the square, as it would be impossible to procure a silk taffeta as wide as such a cutting would require, the square, four-pointed effect is obtained by wide pointed gores cut from the length of the material.

The squared circular skirt is an unusually happy inspiration this season, when every sort of device is being sought to procure the uneven hem line approved by the high courts of fashiondom. The skirt of the chiffon and taffeta frock has as uneven a skirt line as one could desire because of its square cut. The skirt edge and the edges of the pointed bands are heavily picoted in the same yellow green as that of the chiffon. Quaintness and grace are combined in the odd bodice, which also strikes a new note in the peplum falling from the sides and back. A novelty green-striped silk has been used for the bodice, which shows an unusually graceful three-quarter sleeve. The crossed chiffon tie ends and the dull greenish-silver rose at shoulder and knee are points worthy of particular attention. This fetching frock spells grace in every line, and rightly worn is a thing of beauty indeed; but beware to the girl who attempts the pointed skirt when ankles are thick or feet are flat, for there is nothing which so focuses the popular gaze to the feet as the skirt cut on the square.

THE United States is the only one of the great countries of the world populated exclusively by immigrants or by the immediate descendants of immigrants. In every kingdom in Europe there are villages, the majority of whose inhabitants are directly descended from the inhabitants of that village a thousand years ago. But no American can trace his descent from an ancestor who was within the present confines of the United States three centuries ago; and very few Americans can claim for their families more than three or four generations on this side of the Atlantic. Every year thousands of subjects of one or another of the kings and kaisers of Europe throw off their subjection to their sovereigns and apply for admission to American citizenship and the benefits thereof.

This influx of families from other countries has been going on now for nearly three centuries and it was long discouraged by the monarchs of Europe who were naturally annoyed and aggrieved that so many born in their dominions should seek to escape from under their rule. And it was not until after long years of persistent endeavor that the United States succeeded in persuading foreign nations to recognize the new right of alienable allegiance—the right of every man, no matter where he might be born, to choose the country wherein he desired to live and in defence of which hewas prepared to die.

Even though this generous doctrine has been generally accepted as regards the United States, it does not necessarily govern the action of certain European nations toward other European nations. For example, an Alsatian who has chosen to become a citizen of the French Republic has never been allowed the freedom of travel in Alsace that is granted to the native Frenchman.

It is not a little curious—as it is more than a little comical—that we Americans are accustomed to accept complacently the annual eagerness of many thousands of foreigners to renounce their allegiance to the rulers of their native countries, while at the same time we are frankly surprised, not to say painfully shocked, whenever a man born in the United States decides that he would be happier in some other country.

WE admit, of course, that the native American who surrenders his citizenship to become the subject of a European king, is within his legal rights, and yet we cannot help feeling that his renunciation of birthright is something to be apologized for, almost as though it were an immoral act. This attitude of ours may be illogical to the verge of absurdity; but it has its justification in our profound conviction that a man who gives up the superiority of the citizen to accept the inferiority of the subject is blindly walking backward.

Yet we ourselves are not so blind as to group together and to dismiss into a common obloquy all those who have chosen to expel themselves from the commonwealth to which we are proud to belong. This was proved by the very different temper in which the announcements of the departure of Henry James and that of William Waldorf Astor a score of years ago were received.

While there were many expressions of regret that Mr. James had seen fit to become an Englishman in the final years of his life—after he had attained to three score years and ten—we could understand his reasons and respect his motives. Although an American by birth, Mr. James was educated in Europe and he has there spent most of his life. He was never quite at ease in America, although he made a constant effort to understand and appreciate it. The late Thomas Wentworth Higginson, once denied that Mr. James was a true cosmopolitan, since a true cosmopolitan "is at home even in his own country."

FOR more than thirty years Mr. James has made his home in England; he is a householder there; and there dwell most of his friends. He never sank deep roots into the soil of his nativity; and it is not surprising in this hour of struggle when the British Empire is battling for its life that he should desire to testify to his faith in its cause by becoming an Englishman—just as Victor Cherbuliez, the Swiss novelist and critic, applied for French citizenship in the dark days that followed the fall of Paris forty-four years ago.

The case of Mr. Astor seemed entirely different. He had been born and brought up in America and he was the great-grandson of the shrewd German peddler who had made a fortune in the fur trade and who had invested it in real estate in New York. All Mr. Astor's associates were American; he had run for Congress (at great cost to himself) and he had been honored by appointment as American Minister to Italy. His large wealth was exclusively American; and his sole apparent motive for becoming a subject of the king of England was that he could get more for his money there. It is small wonder that his alienation of his allegiance to the United States was denounced as the deed of a deserter.

The list of expatriated Americans—of those who have formally renounced their citizenship—is very brief. It does not include the two painters, West and Copley, both of whom departed from America before the Revolution and both of whom retained a warm affection for the United States, although they continued to reside in England. Nor does it include John S. Sargent and F. Marion Crawford.

BUT the list does contain the name of Benjamin Thompson, who became Count Rumford, and who was a Tory in the Revolutionary war, accepting office under George the Third and serving with the British and Hessian troops. Perhaps our illogical resentment against the American who expatriates himself is intensified by our inability to forget that the earliest name on the roll is that of Benedict Arnold.

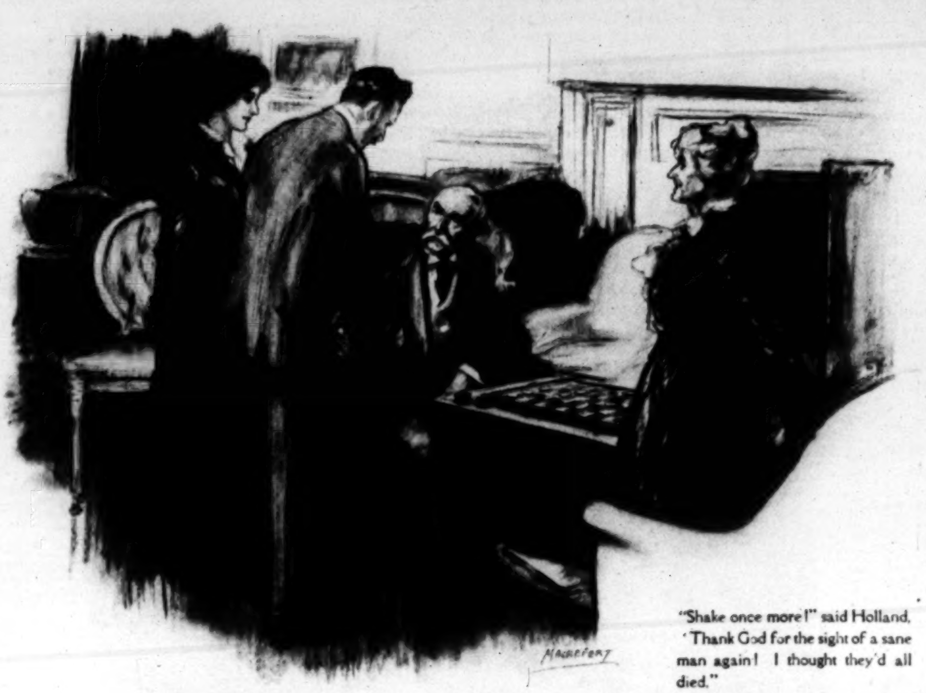
THE FALL OF A NATION

A Story of the Conquest of America

BY THOMAS DIXON

Author of "The Birth of a Nation," "The Clansman," "The One Woman," "The Foolish Virgin," etc.
Illustrations by A. Machefert



"Shake once more!" said Holland, 'Thank God for the sight of a sane man again! I thought they'd all died."

SYNOPSIS—John Vassar, Member of Congress from New York and Chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs, attends a big suffrage rally in Union Square and hears Virginia Holland and her sister champions declare against American preparedness for war. The young Statesman falls in love with Miss Holland on sight and seeks an introduction.

Herewith is the second instalment of this great story which sounds an alarm and warning to the richest and most defenceless nation on earth—U. S. A. Copies of the issue containing the first instalment can be secured from this newspaper or by sending ten cents to The National Sunday Magazine, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York.

CHAPTER III

"AREN'T you glad you came?" Zonia asked eagerly.

"Hurry! Don't let her get away with Waldron——"

The girl darted from his side and pushed her way rapidly to the platform. The crowd had encircled Virginia and a hundred people were trying to grasp her hand at the same time. There was no help for it. He must wait. At least he was glad the jamb made it equally impossible for Waldron to reach her. He saw him wave his hand to her over their heads, bow and leave the platform for his waiting car.

Vassar was glad to be rid of him. That frozen smile poisoned the air. He could breathe deeply now.

It was fully fifteen minutes before he caught the signal Zonia waved from the steps.

His niece was radiant with joy as she proudly introduced them.

"Uncle John, this is my heroine, Miss Holland, and you've got to shake hands and be good friends now——"

"I trust we shall!" Vassar rejoined laughingly.

Virginia smiled seriously.

"It depends on you, Mr. Congressman," she responded quietly. "You know I've tried to be friendly for some time, but you have been elusive. I had to threaten you with death to even bring about an introduction——"

He lifted his hand in protest.

"Don't—please! It's unkind, now that I know you. I've had such a silly idea of your personality. I repent in sackcloth and ashes——"

"Really?"

"Honestly," he went on eagerly. "You know I had an idea that all Suffragettes were ugly, disappointed, soured women whose lives had been beggared by the faults of sinful man——"

"Or Amazons—Uncy!" Zonia broke in with a laugh. "He called you an Amazon, Miss Holland!"

Virginia blushed and, in turn, laughed.

John Vassar shook his head menacingly at his niece.

"That'll do for you now, Miss!"

"Did you call me an Amazon?" Virginia asked still smiling.

"Before I saw you, yes——"

"And now?"

"Now, I've a new grudge against Waldron for using, first an expression on which I could improve——"

"What's that?" she asked puzzled.

"He called you 'our Joan of Arc'——"

"And you could improve on that?"

"Yes—you're Joan of Arc without the cold touch of sainthood. You're warm and real and human, and still the leader——"

She lifted a pair of serious eyes quickly to his and saw that he was in dead earnest. There was no fencing or banter. He meant it. A little smile of triumph played about the corners of her mouth.

She held his gaze in silence and then spoke slowly.

"We're going to be friends?"

"If you'll let me——"

Her eyes still held his steadily.

"There are conditions, of course——"

"All right."

"You wish to know them?"

"At once——"

"My! My! you can come to the point—can't you?" She laughed.

"My political life may depend on it, you know?" he replied lightly.

"Why not walk home with me——"

"With pleasure!"

"And we'll have a chat in the library. I'm free to confess, Mr. Congressman, that we would like very much to come to an understanding with you."

"And I'm going to confess, Miss Holland, that I'm very much ashamed of myself that I haven't made an effort to understand you."

"Well, you know what the old preacher down South always shouted in the revivals?"

"No—what?"

" 'As long as the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return!' "

"Good. We'll hope that my repentance is not too late——"

"My only fear is, to tell the truth—that it's a little sudden——"

"But it's genuine!" he cried. "You'll have to admit that!"

He looked in vain for his father and Marya.

"Zonia may go with us?" he asked.

"Indeed she can! Every body had tried their hand to draw out our young Statesman and she succeeds. She's my little mascot!"

Virginia pressed her arm around the girl who blushed with pride.

"Come, it's only a short walk to Stuyvesant Square——"

"You don't tell me that you live on the Square?" Vassar cried in amazement.

Virginia nodded.

"Our old New York homestead. I was born there in fact. We spend almost all of our time now at our country place at Babylon. We're only in for this week's rallies. We live on the north side of Seventeenth Street—just over the line outside your District, otherwise you would have known the whole household, from what I hear of your political methods——"

"Which you are threatening to copy—" he interrupted.

"Which I'm going to copy," she went on steadily, "with even more perfect system——"

Vassar looked for Zonia and discovered her in deep converse with a smiling blonde youth of eighteen, the sparkle of whose eyes made no secret of their interest.

"Will you tell me who the happy young man is?" he asked of Virginia with sudden concern.

"My infant brother, Billy——"

"Indeed!"

"They're old friends."

"Evidently!" he laughed.

"Come," Virginia said in quick, business-like tones—"the kids will follow. I want you to meet my father and mother before they're off to bed. In spite of modern progress they are the most pig-headed and persistent pair of fossils with whom I have to contend——"

"I've often seen your father at the soldiers' reunions—the youngest and finest looking man of the old Guard I've always thought."

"He is—isn't he?" she said thoughtfully.

"I wonder that the daughter of a soldier should take seriously all this silly talk about universal peace——"

"Perhaps that's the reason——"

"Nonsense!"

"Seriously. I've listened by the hour to his stories of the war. When I was very young I saw only the glamor and the romance and the glory, and then as I grew older I began to think of the blackened chimneys of those Southern homes and feel the misery and the desolation of it all. And we begin to quarrel about war."

"Your father was in Sherman's army I believe?"

"Yes—he ran away from his Western home at fourteen and joined the colors. Think of it! At eighteen he was mustered out in Washington a veteran of twenty-six pitched battles. He's only sixty-eight today with every power alert except a slight deafness—and by the way—" she paused and smiled—"I should tell you that his hobby just now is the Immigration question. Don't mind any thing silly he may say, will you?"

"Certainly not!" Vassar agreed. "I, too, am fighting against the invasion of our

When The Fires Of Life Burn Low

When the red corpuscles grow fewer with the advancing years the depleted life-stream requires re-vitalizing.

Something is needed—something that is more than just "mere nutriment." It must be something that will prepare the digestive organs to properly receive and assimilate the more solid regular fare. It must be something that will permit of the conversion of that food into energy, and life, and force to the fullest degree. It must be something that possesses no "reaction"—no, so-called "back-lash"—it must operate along the line of "building-up" rather than stimulation.

Malt and Hops Possess the Needed Properties

And these characteristics are found in admirable combination in choice hops and rich barley malt, when properly blended. The first creates a healthy desire for nutriment while it tones and soothes the nerves, and this desire created by it is well supplied by the barley malt, which makes possible the complete assimilation of heavier foods. Thus, we see, such a tonic-food is properly balanced and scientifically-natural in its action.

Eminent Physicians Endorse Pabst Extract

Pabst Extract, The "Best" Tonic, is composed of scientifically blended hops and barley malt — both of them are among the greatest conservers of sunshine and oxygen—it is the result of unswerving and unvarying exactness and uniform care. It is no wonder that the most eminent physicians in the land prescribe it and that the best hospitals administer it.

Order a Dozen from Your Druggist Today

It is not just to expect that one bottle of Pabst Extract will repair the accumulated wastes of years—its method of rejuvenation is that of building-up. A conscientious course is necessary. Order a dozen from your druggist. Take a wineglassful before each meal and at bedtime—the results will be most gratifying.

One Dozen Bottles

A free booklet will be sent you upon request. It tells you everything about Pabst Extract, The "Best" Tonic.

A Sacred Moment

By Helen A. Spafford

THE trio came along the corridor of the hotel. They turned in the wide entrance of the conservatory, and stepped behind an alcove screened with palms.

Here Mr. Perley, who was middle-aged, rotund and myopic, stooped, awkwardly toppled to all fours and began to feel about the floor for a silver pencil he had dropped. His wife, of equal rotundity, looked helpfully downward; and Miss Crabtree, the angular and mature lady who accompanied the pair, gazed pensively through the leaves of the palm-trees. Suddenly, Miss Crabtree seized the elder woman by the arm, and pointed to the door.

At the conservatory entrance an attractive young couple had halted on the threshold. The girl was tall and slender, with coppery hair and a remarkably clear complexion, Miss Crabtree noted, that was evidently original. The man had the clean-cut features, and straight, strong shoulders of advertisement pictures.

The couple remained a moment poised on the door-sill facing the emptiness of the conservatory. Then they turned quickly, and looked with undisguised affection into each others eyes. Impulsively, the girl placed her hand on the man's arm, and with a worshiping glance her companion murmured his happiness in being alone with her. Behind the palms, the hidden trio remained glued to the spot.

"Edith," began the young man impulsively, "I love you. Say that you love me and * * * will be * * * * my wife." The girl turned with maiden shyness and answered in a tone of complete surrender, "I love you, my hero," as they moved past the palm-trees.

The women in the enclosure grew visibly excited. They clasped hands with a knowing pressure. Mr. Perley, looking embarrassed, endeavored to rise from his creeping position, but Mrs. Perley put her disengaged hand on his back and held him down. Listening eagerly, Miss Crabtree waved limp and scrawny fingers in a pre-emptory demand for silence. The wrapt young couple moved on as in a cloud.

"O, Edith, I have been a scoffer and mocker of love, and I come to you with a sin-stained past," continued the young man, shaking his head despairingly, and staring at the floor with sad and remorseful eyes.

"Your past is nothing to me," replied the girl with a courageous air. They had reached a rustic seat and sat down.

The man put his arm around the girl.

A mixture of indignation and reproach was in Mrs. Perley's eyes as she looked down on her husband in the alcove. She did not remember that he had ever offered her any past for her condonement. But, the young man was still speaking.

"My past is dead, and buried in the oblivion of all miry things." With a forceful gesture, he threw his past away from him.

"My father!" ejaculated the girl with terror on her features. "I dare not face my father, and tell him of our love." Every shade of fear played across her lovely face, and ended in an anguish pitiful to see, as she shrank huddled in a corner of the seat.

"We will defy your father," declared the youth stoutly, drawing the girl closer to him, and patting her shoulder with tender solicitude. "Your father has his millions, but I have my hands," he went on, and held his well-manicured hands outstretched and shook them. "These hands shall work for you," he promised. The couple remained stationary and silent looking at the man's hands. Then, the girl rose lingeringly, and the young man followed.

"All that I am, all that I shall be, I pledge to you," said the suitor in a mellow, ringing, passionate tone, and opened wide his arms. The girl sank gracefully into them, and, bending, he kissed her reverently. Then, arm in arm, the couple passed out of the conservatory.

The trio came from behind the palms.

"He has proposed," whispered Miss Crabtree tremulously.

"How beautifully he spoke," murmured Mrs. Perley dreamily.

"Such tenderness! Such devotion!" affirmed Miss Crabtree. "I hope the girl may prove worthy of it," she ended forebodingly.

"He endowed her with all his possessions," mused Mrs. Perley enviously.

"Inadvertently, we have overheard that young man's declaration of love, and have been present at the most sacred moment of that woman's life," asserted Miss Crabtree.

"It was indeed a sacred moment," corroborated Mrs. Perley.

Mr. Perley said nothing. The trio walked toward the conservatory entrance. Suddenly, a clicking sound at the side of the room made them pause, and turn.

From the shadow of the palms at the end of the alcove, a moving-picture man came with folded camera, and silently stole away.

Climate Has no Effect on Age

NEITHER hot nor cold climates have any effect on a person's age. In spite of the difference in race, in food, in habits of life, the savage in the South Sea Islands has almost exactly as long a life as the African pigmy or the giant Fuegians. What is more, in spite of all the skill and science of modern civilization, the average duration of human life is not a whit longer in the United States than it is in a tropical jungle or a blizzard-swept tundra.

The Eskimo lives largely on blubber, the Hindoo eats sparingly of rice, the Andaman Islander consumes raw fish, the modern epicure his "hot bird and cold bottle," yet each one of these changes that diverse diet into just exactly the amount of fuel his body needs to keep it going the same average length of time. The occupations of men are as diverse as their food, yet in this also the average remains the same. The Norwegians are largely a race of sailors and fishermen, the Swiss but seldom behold the sea, yet as a nation the one is not more favored than the other with length of life.

What is perhaps still more curious is that races and nations afflicted with special diseases do not live less long in consequence. One of the worst scourges of mankind is prevalent in Spain; the hookworm has for long been a perpetual visitor to the American negro of the Southern States, and Oriental nations are afflicted with various skin troubles which would in a short space of time weaken people of other racial stocks so that a large proportion would die. Yet even this fails to alter the general average. True it is that if people of another racial type visit these several countries they are likely to fall victims to the diseases of which their hosts are practically immune. But, taking the matter by and large, even this question of disease fails to mark a change.

The clock of human life is set at a very definite point, and the tables of mortality, which are made out for one nation or for one period of time, will serve almost universally well. There are certain variations of course. The infant death rate is far higher in savage tribes than among civilized peoples, but more adults reach advanced years. More feeble children grow old enough to give birth to still feebler children in civilized than in savage communities, but the result naturally follows that the stock dies out. The rate at which the wheels go around matters a great deal for the individual case, but it makes practically no difference to the race as a whole.

Wanted Uniformity

COLONEL HENRY WATTERSON, who collects odd, curious, and amusing advertisements of a personal nature, tells of this one, which appeared in a Kansas paper:

"WANTED—To trade a horse for a mule or a mule for a horse; it makes no difference which. The idea is this—I have got a mule and a horse, and want two of a kind."

country by a foreign army——"

"Your's is a dream—my father's grievance quite real you must admit."

"Seeing that a Pole is his Congressman neighbor—" Vassar admitted good-humoredly. "It must get on the nerves of the old boys sometimes who can't see our point of view. The man or woman born in free America inherits it all as a matter of course. He rarely thinks of his priceless birthright. To my old father every day of life is a Fourth of July! To me it is the same. A frail, half-starved little orphan clinging to his hand thirty-one years ago, I stood on the deck of a steamer and saw this wonderful Promised Land. You are American by an accident of birth. You had no choice. We are American because we willed to come. We love this land because it's worth loving. We know why we love it. We lifted up our eyes from a far country—amid tears and ashes and ruins—and saw the light of Liberty shining here across the seas. We came and you received us with open arms. You set no hired spies to watch us. You made our homes and our firesides holy ground. We kiss the soil beneath our feet. It is our country—our flag, our nation, our people as it can't be your's who do not realize its full meaning—can't you see?"

"Yes," she answered softly. "And I never thought of it in that way before."

She glanced at the tall, straight, intense figure with new interest. They walked in silence for a block and he touched her arm with a movement of instinctive chivalrous protection as they crossed Second Avenue.

She broke into a musical laugh, in spite of an effort at self-control, when they had reached the sidewalk.

Vassar looked puzzled.

"Why do you laugh?" he asked in hurt surprise.

"Oh, nothing——"

"You couldn't have laughed at the little heart confession I just made to you——"

She laid her hand on his arm in gentle, quick protest.

"You know I could not. It was too sincere. It was from the depths of your being. And I see you and all your people who have come to our shores in the past generation through new eyes after this revelation you have made—no, I was laughing at something miles removed——"

Again she paused and laughed.

"Tell me"—he pleaded.

"Come in first—we can't stand here on the sidewalk like two spooning children—this is our house——"

CHAPTER IV

WITH light step Virginia mounted the brown stone stoop, fumbled for her keys, unlocked the massive door and ushered John Vassar into the dimly lighted hall.

"Come right into the sitting-room in the rear and meet my father and mother," she insisted, placing her little turban hat on the rack beside his, man fashion.

Vassar smiled at the assumption of equal rights the act implied. She caught the smile and answered with a toss of her pretty head as he followed her through the hall.

The older folks were bending over a table, deeply absorbed in a game of checkers. The picture caught John Vassar's fancy and held him in the doorway, a pleasant smile lighting his dark strong face.

"Mother," Virginia began softly—"it's time for children to quit their games. I want you to meet Mr. John Vassar, whom I'm trying to dragoon into our cause——"

The prim, aristocratic little woman rose with dignity and extended her hand in a gesture that spoke the inheritance of gentle breeding. She was a native of South Carolina. Her stock joke of self-pity was the fact that she had married a Sherman Bummer who had helped to burn her native city. She excused him always with the apology that he was so young he really was not responsible for the bad company in which she found him. As a matter of fact he had driven a gang of drunken marauders from their house and defended them single-handed through a night of terror, until order had been restored. It was ten years later that he succeeded in persuading the fair young rebel to surrender.

"Delighted to meet you, I'm sure," Mrs. Holland said quietly. "You must be a Southerner, with that tall dark look——"

Vassar bowed low over her hand.

"I wish I were, madam—if the fact would win your approval——"

"To look like a Southerner is enough to win mother on sight," Virginia laughed.

The father extended his hand in a cordial greeting, without rising.

"Excuse me, young man, for not getting up," he said. "I'm a bit lame with the gout. You're a Suffragist?"

Vassar looked at Virginia quizzically and promptly answered.

"I'll have to confess that I'm not——"

Holland extended his hand again.

"Shake once more! Thank God for the sight of a sane man again! I thought they'd all died. We never see them here any more——"

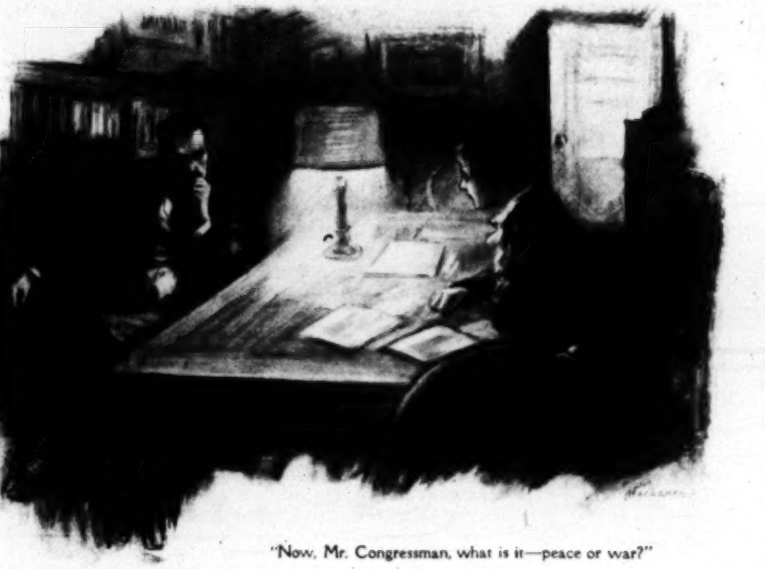
Virginia lifted her finger and her father took the outstretched arm and drew it around his neck.

"I have to put up with the nincompoops for Virginia's sake. But I'm going to explode some day and say things. I can feel it coming on me——"

He stopped abruptly and leaned forward, releasing his daughter's arm.

"Young man, I can talk to you—you're not a Suffragist—you're a real man. Between the women the Jews and the Foreigners this Country is not only going to the dogs—it's gone—hell-bent and hell-bound. It's no use talking any more. I've given up and gone to playing checkers——"

"We may save it yet, sir," Vassar said cheerfully.



"Now, Mr. Congressman, what is it—peace or war?"

"Save it? Great Scott, man, have you been down Broadway lately? Look at the signs—Katzmeyers, Einsteins, Epsteins,—Abrahams, Isaacs and Jacobs! —It would rest your eyes to find a Fogarty or a Casey. By the eternal, an Irishman now seems like a Son of the American Revolution! The Congressman from this District, sir, is a German from Dusseldorf, and the one from the district across the way's a damned Pole from Posen!"

Virginia laughed audibly.

"What's the matter, Miss Troublemaker?" Holland growled.

"You didn't get the name, father dear—this is Mr. John Vassar, the Pole Congressman to whom you have referred——"

Holland frowned, searched his daughter's face for the joke, and looked at Vassar helplessly.

"It's not so!" he snorted. "I never saw a finer specimen of American manhood in my life; strong limbed, clear-cut, clear-eyed, every inch a man and not a Suffragist. It's not so. You're putting up a job on me, Virginia——"

John Vassar smiled and bowed.

"For the high compliment you pay me, Mr. Holland—I forgive the hard words. I understand how the old boys feel who fought to make this country what it is today. And I love you for it. I don't mind what you say—I shall know where to find your kind when the hour of trial comes——"

"You are Congressman Vassar?" the old man gasped.

"Guilty!"

The mother joined in the laugh at his expense.

Holland extended his hand again and grasped Vassar's.

"I have no friends in this house, sir! We make up. I apologise to Poland for your sake. If they've got any more like you, let 'em come on. But mind you—" he lifted his finger in protest—"I stand by every word I said about the other fellows—every word!"

"I understand!" Vassar responded cheerfully.

"That will do now, Frank," Mrs. Holland softly murmured.

"And you come in to see me again, young man—I want to talk to you some time when no women are around. You're in Congress. By geeminy, I want to know why we've got no army while twenty million trained soldiers are fighting for the mastery of the world across the water——"

Vassar bent close.

"You've touched my hobby now. I'm in a life and death fight to get our country ready to defend herself——"

"Who the devil's fighting you on such an issue, I'd like to know?"

"So would I—and I'm going to find out——"

"Just count me in on it will you? By the eternal, I'd like to meet the traitor who'll try to block your bill when it's introduced——"

"I've important business with Mr. Vassar," Virginia broke in. "Excuse us now, children——"

"That's the way a Suffragette talks to her old daddy, Vassar"—Holland cried. "I warn you against their wiles. Don't let her bamboozle you. I'm lame, but I'm going to vote against 'em, if I have to crawl to the polls election day—so help me God!"

MRS. HOLLAND beamed her good night with a gentle inclination of her silver-crowned head.

"He barks very loudly, Mr. Vassar," she averred, "but he never bites——"

Virginia led her guest up stairs into the quiet library in the front of the house.

Zonia and Billy were chattering in the parlor.

She pointed to a heavy arm chair and sat down opposite, the oak table between them.

"Now, Mr. Congressman, what is it—peace or war?"

There was a ring of subtle defiance in her tones that both angered and charmed her opponent. He had met many beautiful women before. For the first time he had met one who commanded both his intellect and his consciousness of sex. The sensation was painful. He resented it. His ideals of life asked of women submission, tenderness, trust. Here sat before him the most charming, the most fascinatingly feminine woman he had ever met, who refused to accept his opinions and had evidently determined to bend his mind and will to hers. To think of yielding was the height of absurdity. And yet he must meet her as his intellectual equal. He could meet her on no other ground. Her whole being said "come let's reason together." He had no desire to reason. He only wished to tell her the truth about the impression she had made on him in Union Square. He smiled to recall it. He had had a perfectly foolish—an almost resistless—impulse to leap on the speakers' stand take her in his arms, kiss her and whisper:

"Dear little mate, this is silly—come away. I've something worth while to tell you—something big, something wonderful, something as old as eternity, but always new——"

He waked from his reverie with a start to find his antagonist holding him with a determined gaze that put sentiment to flight.

"Peace or war?" she firmly repeated.

"If I am to choose," he fenced, "I assure you it will be peace——"

He paused and studied her expression of serious concentration. In spite of every effort to fix his mind on politics he persisted in the silliest, old-fashioned admiration of her wistful, appealing beauty. Confound it! She had no right to use such a power for the propaganda of crackbrained theories! He felt the foundations of the moral world tremble at the shock of this resistless elemental force. The man who desires a woman will sell principle, country, right, God, for his desire. Was he going to be trapped by this ancient snare? Such a woman might play with a victim as a cat a mouse until her purpose was accomplished. Sex attraction is the one force that defies all logic and scoffs at reason. The government of a Democracy was a difficult task under present conditions. What would it become when the (Continued on page 523)

REPRESENTATIVE STEPHENS of California is fond of fishing. He likes it not only for the sport, but for the fish. The average fish seems to the Congressman a thing well worth eating.

A time ago he had a near neighbor, a minister, who also doted on fish, and Stephens invited him to his home one Monday noon for a nice little fish dinner.

The minister passed his plate up for a second and a third helping, and then made bold to inquire:

"Tell me, Mr. Stephens, where did you ever get such a fine mess of fish on Monday in time for dinner?"

"I'll tell you," was the reply, "only on condition that there'll be no chastising and no trouble after you've gone home. Your son went fishing yesterday and caught these fish, but inasmuch as it was Sunday he was afraid to take them home. So he dropped in here and gave them to me. I was glad to have them. Remember, now, you're not to punish the boy."

An hour or so later Stephens overheard the minister talking to his son.

"I can't punish you," he said, "because I promised not to, but let me tell you that if you ever go fishing again on Sunday I'll whip you within an inch of your life. If you should go, though, and catch another mess of fish like that, you bring them home."

Representative William Kettner, of California, made a journey to Mexico a while ago and was greatly impressed with the cheapness of Mexican cab hire.

Kettner is the man who made himself such a nuisance to the people of San Diego by selling them life insurance that his victims sent him to Congress to get rid of him. But that fact has nothing whatever to do with this story, which is laid entirely in Mexico. Kettner found that for twenty cents he could have a carriage at his disposal for about an hour. That made a great hit with him, and he worried because he had occasion to use a cab only part of the time. It seemed a shame that he couldn't spend more money on such a bargain proposition.

The afternoon before Kettner and his friends were to leave Mexico City one of the party noticed a string of seven carriages proceeding down the street like a funeral procession. All were empty except the one in the lead. In it sat Kettner puffing calmly at a big cigar.

He had hired all the carriages he could find in front of his hotel and set out to revel in his bargain grandeur.

Whenever things are not breaking right for Senator Borah and he feels tired and overworked, he rests his brain and jollies himself up by going home and reading various learned works on theology.

When he first set out from home to encounter the great wide world, Marc Smith, the bushy-mustached Senator from Arizona, packed along with him two bits of advice from his father.

One was never to call on the same girl more than once, which would insure him against getting married too soon. And the other was never to carry a small purse, because his father thought that there was nothing in the world that looked quite so silly as a big, strong man opening up a cute little purse every time he wished to spend five or ten cents.

Twain and Stevenson

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON and Mark Twain were exchanging pleasantries one day in New York when the conversation turned to the subject of the gullibility of the great public. "You Americans," said Stevenson, "how could you fall so often for the P. T. Barnum circus poster? I wonder where he got his ideas?" "Probably from old England," replied Mark. "Once I went to a public exhibition of curiosities in London where was displayed the skull of Oliver Cromwell.

" 'But this can not be the skull of the Great Protector,' I said to the exhibitor, 'for this is very small and Oliver's head piece was extraordinarily large.' "

" 'Oh', said the exhibitor, 'but this was his skull when he was a little boy.' "

THE DROUGHT FIGHTER

By ARTHUR HAYWOOD

Illustrations by SIGURD SCHOU

THE BLACK DROUGHT of '93 had burned up the Continent from end to end. For three months the sun had scorched, until the land lay gasping, pulsating with heat throbs, like the inside of a gigantic oven. Not a drop of rain had fallen. River beds were dry as punk. In the fields, half-grown crops stood seared and dead. Up in the timber country, brown leaves clung to branches that never again would send forth shoots. On the ranges, the grass was matted tinder that ground to powder underfoot.

Down in the wool country, in New South Wales, forty million sheep stood swaying on spread legs, heads down, gazing at a livid spot between their fore-feet. In the cattle country, seven million horned skeletons stood with bloodshot eyes, bellowing hoarsely, raising black, swollen tongues heavenward, as if to show them to the Father. From all parts of the stations they dragged themselves, scenting the small supply of water in the wells. Some broke at the knees, and lived for days until the breathing of their nostrils wore deep holes in the ground. Others became maddened, gored the earth in their agony and ran their hearts out until they dropped, chasing the sound of rippling streams, while hell-fire burned them up inside.

OUT of this desolation he came—the Drought Fighter. He had been picked by the Bishop of Melbourne to ride 1,200 miles through the country, to visit the sheep and cattle stations and to hold prayer meetings for rain. He had zigzagged more than 1,100 miles from Murrumburrah to Barcaldine Downs, and what he had seen was enough to make angels weep. He rode into the Danforth Station shortly before sunset. Straight at the watering trough he ran his mare, and she buried her head clear to the eyes, while he himself drank as if parched to the marrow.

He was tall, gaunt, erect as a cavalryman, not more than thirty years old, with eyes deep blue and fearless as an eagle's, and the square-cut jaw of a fighter. He was dressed in a flannel shirt and khaki riding breeches, a six-shooter on one hip and a blue bandana around his neck—this prophet coming to his own people.

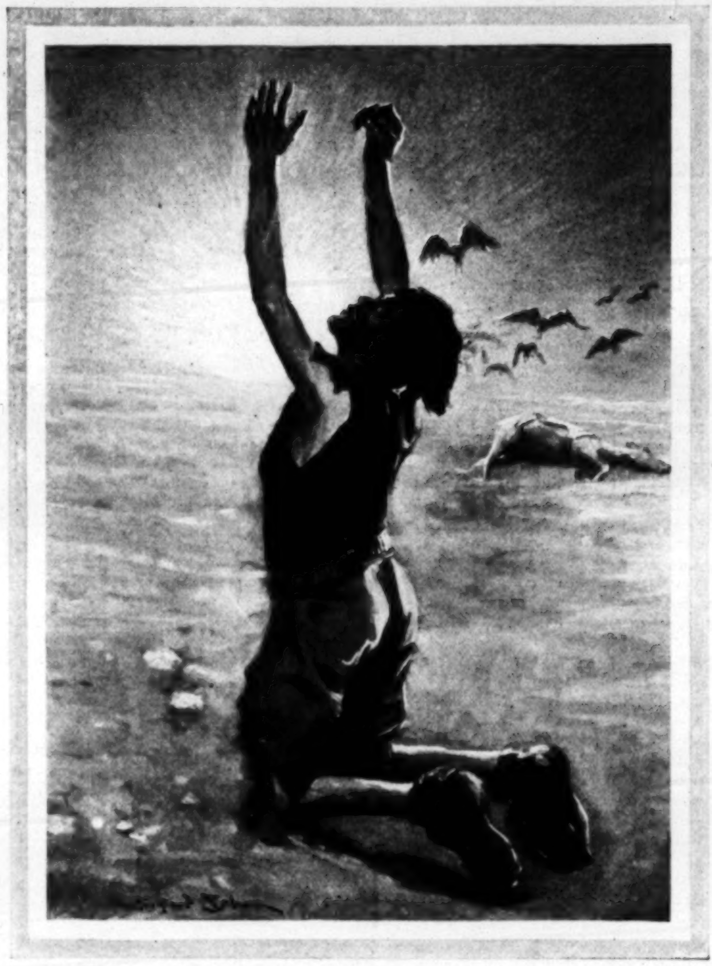
That evening the men of the station assembled in the bunkhouse to hear him. His eyes and lips were as if never again could they kindle to a laugh. With chin lifted and shoulders thrown back, he spoke, simply, quietly, as a strong man speaks to men who know not fear, even of damnation. As he left the bunkhouse, a stockman threw his hat into the air, and from forty throats burst forth a hearty cheer.

The next morning, as he stood by the head of his mare, the men filed by and grasped his hand. Then he swung himself into the saddle, bound for the Crandall Station, the last stop on his route, eighty-two miles north. A mile away, on the top of Three Cow Hill, he reined in and looked back at the lemon-yellow station house, and the red outbuildings of the Danforth Station, nestling at the foot of the slope. He could see a group of men waving hats at him; and long-drawn, faint but clear, came the stockmen's yell. He arose in his stirrups and waved farewell. Then he straightened in his saddle, and headed his horse at the undulating plains.

Before him, seared in a white-yellow glare as if reflected out of a cauldron, lay the dead wilderness; there was not a green blade, not a drop of water. The toads in the ground, the snakes in the tinder, had perished. Only the crows and dingoes lived, to swoop and pounce upon fallen cattle. Despite the early hour, 120 degrees of heat lay upon it, a stifling blanket.

He wiped the perspiration out of his eyes, and urged his horse along a narrow trail that stretched like a delicate thread. The dried grass underfoot was slippery and matted, and the mare labored sorely in it. Sweat poured out of her in rivulets, until her brown neck appeared black. Tinder dust settled on this and baked to a crust.

Farther, he had been warned he would have to look sharp; for in sections, the trail had been obliterated, so that none but a boundary rider could pick it up; but he had no fear of getting lost. He expected to cover at least sixty miles by night, which would leave only twenty-two to be made by noon the next day. At the Ds of his saddle was a waterbag containing two buckets of water for the mare—one for noon, a half bucket for night and another half for the morning.



"Lost! Lost! Lost!" a million devils droned into his ears

Six hours after that, she could bury her nose at the station well, and he would promise her never to leave water again.

By noon he estimated that he had covered thirty miles. He dismounted, unstrapped the waterbag and twice filled his hat for the mare. Then, lips to canteen, he took a ration for himself. The water was flat, and so hot that it almost burned his lips; but he felt like gulping it to the last drop. The mare, too, wanted more. She crooked her neck prettily, and stubbed him with a soft nose. The crust of dust was so thick on her face that she looked at him out of a gray-brown mask. He patted her heaving flanks, and swinging himself into the saddle again, rode up and down monotonous undulations, through the heat devils and dust swirls, along a riverbed cracked with the sun, and for miles through timber country where the briglows stood naked as if dead; and then for miles beyond, where the land lay as flat as the palm of his hand.

Never had the heat so affected him. He wondered why he should feel exhausted, and decided that it would have been wiser to lay off at the station for a day, especially as his horse, even more than himself, was feeling the strain. The abnormal quantity of water the latter had drunk had poured out of her, as if through a sieve, and left her weakened. As the afternoon waned, she began to fag seriously; but there was no choice except to urge her along, for if he failed to cover the scheduled sixty miles, he had not water enough to bring her out of the plains alive. By leaning forward, he could see her tongue hanging out, and he dismounted. Dust had settled on it, and hardened to a crust. He picked this off. Sparingly he poured water on his bandana and swabbed out her mouth with it. She had ceased to perspire, which was bad. A wrinkle sat heavily between his brows as he remounted.

With every mile, the horse continued to fail. She bobbed her head painfully, dragged her feet, and kicked up clouds of dust. Once she went down on her knees. He could feel her heaving sides. He heard her labored breathing. He knew he must be miles short of his sixty; but decided to water her and to halt for the night. As he was about to pull up, however, the ground suddenly rose in front of him. Viciously he was hurled over her head, and landed in a heap.

He arose, dazed and light-headed, and could not imagine what had happened. Then he wiped the blood out of his eyes, while surrounding objects took form as if out of a fog. His heart sank within him as he looked at the mare. She had struggled gamely back to her feet; but she was in a sad state. Panting with exhaustion, she stood on wide-spread forelegs, her nostrils to the ground. Dizzily she swayed, staggered and fell with a thud. He stood gazing drunkenly, as if he expected her to get up. She made an effort; but went down again, rolled over on her side and stretched out as if dead.

IN an instant, his senses came fully back to him, and he was beside her. He held down her head to prevent her struggling; but there was no need. Gently he took off her bridle, and looked helplessly about him. He leaned over to unstrap the waterbag; but leaped back as if he had been stung. On the ground was a huge damp splash. The seam of the waterbag had been rent wide open as the horse went down.

"Empty!" he said, tonelessly. As if he could not believe his eyes, he grasped the bag and shook it again and again. His arms fell limp. With bowed head, he gazed hopelessly, watching the air bubbles as the precious liquid soaked into the ground. The soft whinny of the mare begging for water, aroused him. He tried to talk to her softly, but his throat was so powder-dry that his own voice startled him. She opened her eyes and looked at him. He turned his head to avoid her eyes. A lump was in his throat. For, to save himself, he would have to abandon her; and he loved this beast desperately, as a man grows to love the faithful companion of his solitude.

He was brought out of this torture by a thirst that burned like a smoldering fire within him. Involuntarily, his hand reached for the canteen swung across his shoulder. He unscrewed the stopper, and was about to set the vessel to his lips when he hesitated. His face brightened. A spark of hope leaped to his eyes as he glanced at the mare. He really did not need this water. At worst, he could make the station on foot in a day. He lifted the animal's head, and propped it with one knee while the water gurgled out of the tin into his hat. He held the latter to her mouth. A tablespoonful which she could not suck

He sat up and pressed a hand to his forehead, trying to recall where he had heard this sound. Then into the terrible face leaped the spark of reason. He was listening to the bark of a dog.

As if a spring in him had been touched, he leaped to his feet. Down he went; but again he was up. Madly he ran, with arms outstretched—"Water! Water!"

To the top of the hill he endured. In the depression not 500 yards away, like an oasis in a desert, surrounded by pearl-gray outhouses, lay the snow-white Station house.

On the verandah sat the man who had saved a human life by teasing a toy fox terrier. He was Dugan, the superintendent, and he noticed a strange apparition. Its hat was gone, and its tattered clothes fluttered behind it as it ran wildly, staggering with arms outstretched, throwing itself at full length every ten or fifteen yards, but always bounding to its feet again.

For an instant the superintendent was puzzled. Then the truth flashed on him. He jumped to his feet.

"A man! Help him!" he cried, pointing.

THREE days later, we assembled under the corrugated iron roof of the bunk house—roustabouts, stockmen, boundary riders, Chinese cook and overseers.

The face of the Drought Fighter bore the red scars of his flight, and in his eyes was the familiar knowledge of Death. Swaying now and then, he talked slowly. He spoke of Love and of Mercy, of Loyalty and Faith. Simply, he told of the sufferings of the cattle, of his own adventures and of the horrors of thirsting to death. But high above all ,as a church steeple rears above a hamlet, was his own sublime and splendid faith in the word of the God of the White Man. Then, he begged all to join him in prayer for rain.

On the horizon in the East, I saw through a window a copper tongue no bigger than a man's hand. It lapped upward against the gray-black sky. With alarming rapidity, it grew bigger and darker, until it was black, and resembled a mountain ready to roll down upon us.

As the prayer ended you could have heard the dropping of a pin. A sharp "ping," almost like the impact of a bullet, sounded on the iron roof. "Listen!" cried an old boundary rider: "Listen!"

As he spoke, there came another "ping"; then four or five in succession, then a dozen or a score. A frightful flash of lightning and a crash of thunder shook the building, and the heavens broke wide open. In an instant, the place was in an uproar; men and beasts were frantic.

OUT on the plains, millions of parched tongues turned upward, catching drops that sizzled as they struck upon them. The beasts stampeded, hunting new-born pools and streams. Cows and bullocks too weak to arise, raised their heads and stuck their tongues into the pools formed in the holes made by their breathing. Rain came in sheets, and drove through their hides like pitchforks.

We stood in the deluge with bared heads, until God's water poured down our faces and we were drenched through. For the time, we forgot about the Drought Fighter. When we found him, he was on his knees, his hands crushed to his breast, tears of thanksgiving coursing down his cheeks.

For three days and three nights it rained, alternating between deluge and drizzle until the grass leaped out of the ground, and starved cattle cropped until their barrels bulged.

Then the sun came out and smiled, rich, dark gold on the scene of content.

Weary and pale, the Drought Fighter leaned against a post of the verandah. He was still very weak. A bitter-sweet smile was on his face, as he gazed dreamily over the plains. From the stables came the joyous neigh of a mare. The smile vanished. A look of unutterable pain took its place. Tears came to his eyes. The mare out on the plains had whinnied her last good-bye.

A Sister to the Indians

A WOMAN anthropologist might be expected to savor of the blue stocking type; but there is nothing to indicate the strong-minded woman in the personality or appearance of Miss Zahrah E. Preble, who has elected to devote herself to the study of the human species in general and of the famous Zuni Indians of New Mexico in particular. Anthropologists agree that these Indians show the highest intellectual development of any of the native redmen.

Miss Preble is interpreting the songs and dances that had their origin among the ancestors of the Zunis—the Aztecs of Mexico—hundreds of years ago, and that hitherto have not been translated for the benefit of the white race. Their value from a historical standpoint is very great, and an effort is now being made to preserve the records that came into Miss Preble's possession by a chain of fortuitous circumstances.

Miss Zahrah E. Preble

As a child Miss Preble lived among the Indians. "They literally camped on our door step," she says; and although no native blood flows in her veins, a remarkable degree of sympathy has always existed between her and the Indians. So when she left her Nevada home to finish her education at the University of California, it was not strange she should specialize in anthropology. Quite by chance she became acquainted with that veteran in Indian archeology, Carlos Troyan, of San Francisco, who lived for years among the Zunis. A warm friend of the Chief of the Tehaula tribe, Mr. Troyan was so beloved by them that he was initiated into the priesthood, satisfying the most severe tests.

Miss Preble implored him to teach her the ceremonial songs and dances he had learned; but the adopted son of the Zunis kindly but firmly refused. She did not forsake her purpose, and one day she obtained a grudging assent to try out the "Sunrise Call." As the Zunis are sun worshippers, this was one of their most important ceremonial dances. The girl interpreted it with much of the weird charm and primitive fire of the aborigines to the astonishment and delight of the master.

Miss Preble believes that at such times she becomes an Indian in outward appearance as well as emotionally. She is naturally psychic, and men like Professor Hyslop have repeatedly urged her to commit to paper the curious phenomena that she has experienced. This she has invariably refused to do; for she has a horror of being considered "queer."

It is worthy of note, in this connection, that the Zunis have a knowledge of telepathy, and for generations the chiefs have utilized this means of communicating among themselves at long distances; while Miss Preble's peculiar psychic powers are emphasized in her ability to read the minds of those with whom she is in close sympathy. It is said that she can compel many of her friends to communicate with her, and with her mother and sister there is constant interchange of thought. Can it be that this extraordinary girl is, psychologically, a sister to the desert Indians she loves so well?

remained. He raised the hat to his lips, and drained it.

When at last he tried to sleep, the ground was so hot that he could barely endure it. He lay sweltering staring at the sky. He fell into a feverish half-sleep, and dreamed he was riding through a dying herd that staggered after him, pleading with swollen tongues and bloodshot eyes. He awoke with a start; but there against the blue-black of the night, peaceful and majestic, hung luminous the Southern Cross, surrounded by countless myriads of twinkling stars. He marveled at the Hand that put them there, and a feeling of awe swelled in him.

"Thy faith shall make thee whole," he quoted reverently.

He awoke next morning from a dream that he was on fire. The mare was in a sorry plight. Now and then, she raised her head, and whinnied with pain. She was past recognizing him. Only one thing was left that he could do for her, and he set about this quickly. For the last time he patted her, and bending low, kissed her full on the nose. Drawing his revolver, he pointed it at a spot between her eyes. As the shot crashed, he winced, as if he had himself felt the bullet.

He threw the weapon from him, turned on his heel and hastened away, with a long swinging stride. He figured that he had, at most, thirty-five miles ahead of him. By averaging a trifle more than three miles an hour, he ought to make the station by night. The going was difficult. The ground was so hot that it burned his feet. With every breath, tinder dust went down his throat like hot sand down a flue.

Undauntedly, he plodded onward, but by noon the hardships had worked sad havoc. He was wearied unto death. His eyes were sunken and bloodshot. His face was covered with a gray-brown mud mask, discolored at the forehead with rusty blood and cracked with lines of pain and worry. In his mouth was a fullness, as if his teeth were crowding his tongue. And the Great Fear, that throttles the fortitude of men when thirsting in a wilderness, had come to him—the fear that he might not live long enough to drink water again.

WHEN the afternoon waned, he sat down to shake the sand from his shoes; but noticed how desperately low the sun had fallen, and bounded to his feet like a hunted animal. He realized now that he probably could not make the station by night: for by this time he should have raised the outlines of the buildings. The thought of another eternal night without water, started a panic in him. With eyes glued to the horizon, he ran until his legs were numb from his knees down and his breath came is gasps; ran until the white hot disc of the sun touched the horizon. Then his legs went from under him, and with a groan he gave up.

But with the death of one hope, another sprang to life. Sound on these plains is carried a distance of four or five miles. If only he could catch a sound to guide him, he might yet reach water before morning. He staggered to his feet and listened for the lowing of a herd, the hoof beat of a horse, or the creaking of a wagon. He heard a sound which sent the blood surging hopefully through his veins. It was nothing but the long-drawn wail of a pack of dingoes. But these scavengers must be devouring a carcass, and a carcass would be near the station. New strength came to him, and he walked on until the feasters scented him and fled wailing into the dusk. In the semi-darkness he almost fell over the carcass. He stopped to examine it; then jumped back, as if a viper had stung him. He clutched at his throat, as if to grapple with unseen hands that were throttling the life out of him. The earth lurched under his feet. With a groan, he sank to his knees.

"Lost! Lost! Lost!" a million devils droned into his ears. He had done what all men do when astray in a wilderness—walked in a circle. Before him lay the carcass of his own mare.

Heels drawn up and elbows on spread knees he sat, staring for more than an hour at his crossed wrists, hopeless as if he had just heard his own death sentence. His brain was awhirl; but he realized that even should he be able to find the trail, he had not strength enough to follow it to the end. He saw himself on hand and knees, head down, black tongue out, lapping at the hot ground, falling on his face, groveling like an idiot and whimpering for water to the crows and dingoes, until these should be ready to throw themselves upon him and end his torture.

HE raised his eyes, and looking stupidly about him like one in a dream, he saw the outlines of the mutilated body of the mare. He was past having regrets for her—nothing was burning her up inside. Beside her lay an object that sent forth a ray of reflected starlight. He stared at this till he became conscious of what he was looking at, and picking up the six-shooter, he cocked it with a sudden resolve. Fondly he turned it over and over. He gazed down the barrel. Here was relief from exhaustion. He wondered vaguely how it would feel. He lay down on his back, and pressed the muzzle to his temple. As his finger crooked against the trigger, his eyes strayed upward and—there, still tranquil, peaceful, hung the Southern Cross, surrounded by the same myriads of stars. The same Hand held them there.

His eyes widened. His palm relaxed its clutch on the butt of the weapon. As if a voice were talking to him, he nodded his head. Gradually the swollen lips compressed to a narrower line, and his fists balled until the muscles in his forearm stood out in bumps. With surprising alacrity, he bounded to his feet.

"Hell!" he cried, and contemptuously flung the six-shooter into the tinder. Straight as an arrow, he stood looking upward, and bared his head as if his eyes pierced the darkness to the very Throne.

"Thy faith shall make thee whole!" he cried thickly. Then the fighter in him arose, the spirit of the White Man bent on victory. He threw his shoulders back and breathed quickly. For him, the fight had just begun, himself against—the Wilderness.

He lay down to sleep; but for hours he tossed in the throes of the Fear. That night he awoke twice to find himself on his feet, the neck of the empty waterbag to his lips. He looked about him by the light of dawn, to see which of his belongings he had best take with him. He grasped the burst waterbag, for like all men thirsting to death he chose the most useless thing he could find.

He started with the rising sun. He had no hope of reaching water by night; he would be satisfied if he reached it next day; but his dread was that he might stray from the trail, and walk the big circle all over again.

Toward the latter part of the afternoon, the fear of straying from the trail was so intense that he stopped every few hundred yards, to listen for the wailing of dingoes that would warn him. Suddenly he saw that which sent a barbed hand clutching at his heart. His legs refused him. He rubbed his eyes. Two hundred yards ahead in the tinder, black specks bobbed upward and downward. Even as he gazed, the crows scented him, and he heard the caw of a startled flock.

"No! No!—!" he gagged, madly and sank to the ground.

For many minutes he lay there, sapped of courage. Then the reaction of despair set in. What if, after all, this should prove not to be the carcass of his mare, but that of a bullock? He scrambled to his feet. The scavengers fled as he approached.

Before him, face upturned, mangled beyond description, lay neither horse nor bullock, but—a Thing. Slung over one of its arms was a torn bridle, and clutched in one of its hands was a spade. Evidently it had been a boundary rider located in an out station, who had ridden forth to dig water for himself, and in some manner had lost his horse. Every emotion in the Drought Fighter, save one, had been crushed; but this now stirred within him, despite his own suffering. A vast pity filled him, as he stood with chin on chest and bared head before what was left of a human creature, mutely pleading. He could remember no prayer; but he saw the spade, handle turned toward him as if the dead man were offering it to him. He grasped the tool and began to dig. The ground was loose and sandy; but the exertion was almost too much for him. At intervals he halted. When he had scraped a hole two feet deep, he felt he could go no farther, and rolled the body into the excavation. By the last rays of the sinking sun he filled the grave. Then he thrust the spade into the ground for a headstone and collapsed.

That night, as he lay with wide open eyes, the myriads of stars turned into fiery tongues. Gigantic, hollowed-eyed cattle with hip bones protruding, charged out of the blazing skies, and thundered by him.

HE awoke as the black of night was taking on the first leaden tints of daylight, and found himself gazing at an enormous dingo that sat at a safe distance regarding him. There was a fish skeleton beside it; and he remembered that water can always be found in a riverbed, if one digs deep enough. He thought of the spade that the dead man had handed him. He would run to the ends of the earth to get it; but did not know where to turn, or how far away it might be. He went to clawing the gravel frantically with his hands; but by the time it began to feel cooler his fingernails were gone and his fingertips worn raw. With a gasp of despair, he gave up.

His eyes lighted on the dingo. A grewsome thought came to him, and he gazed so intently that the beast arose uneasily and slunk to a safer distance. Instinctively, his hand reached toward the holster at his hip. It struck him as grotesque that he should have thrown his revolver away to save his life, and that now he must die for want of it; and he laughed, terribly. Man and beast glared, each bent upon devouring the other.

Half a mile away was a hill. The Drought Fighter felt his last hour had come; but he grasped the torn waterbag. He would make the top of the hill, for one last look ahead. He tried to struggle to his feet; but could not. On hands and knees he crawled, head down, like a spent dog, always dragging the waterbag. Half way up the hill, he collapsed.

He heard the triumphant wail of the dingo; but he cared not, remembering only that he must die face down to protect his eyes from the crows.

"Thy—Thy—Thy faith——"

He lay listening to the wail of the dingo, wondering at the strange fascination the sound had for him. He struggled up on an elbow, the better to hear it; and the effort helped to bring him back to his senses. The wail seemed strange to him—in fact, it did not resemble the wail of a dingo.

decision on which the mightiest issues hung could be decided by the smile of a woman's lips or the dimple in her cheek?

He felt the pull of this fascination with a sense of inward panic. What the devil was she laughing at a while ago as they crossed the street? He had forgotten it for the moment, and she hadn't explained. He would fence a little for time before joining the issue. He touched the tip of his mustache thoughtfully.

"Anyhow, suppose we shake hands before we begin the fight. It's one of the rules of the game, you know——"

She leaned across the table with a puzzled expression.

"Shake hands?"

"Yes—spiritually, so to speak. I'd like to get on as friendly footing as possible to appeal to your mercy if I'm defeated. Would you mind telling me at what you were laughing when we crossed the Avenue?"

A disarming smile illumined her face and a twinkle of mischief played about the corners of her mouth.

"Shall I be perfectly frank?" she asked.

"Please——"

"I laughed at the silly contradiction of allowing you to touch my arm in token of your superior strength as you drew about me the sheltering protection of Chivalry. There were no plunging horses near—not even a push cart in sight. The nearest street car was five blocks away. Why did you think that I needed help in walking ten yards?"

HE held her gaze steadily. She was charming—there was no doubt about it. He had to bite his lips to keep back a foolish compliment that might anger her. How should he bear himself toward such a woman? Her whole being breathed tenderness and femininity, yet there was a dangerous challenge of intellect about her that upset him.

"Why did you think I needed help?" she softly repeated.

"To tell you the truth," he answered gravely, "I didn't think at all. The act was instinctive—the inheritance of centuries——"

"Exactly! Centuries of man's patronage, of man's tyranny, of his boasted superiority. As long as woman submits to be treated as a doll, a weakling, an incompetent, the supposed superior being must try to do the proper thing in an emergency——"

"You resented it?" he broke in.

"No. I, too, am suffering from the inheritance of centuries—of dependence and of the hypocrisy inbred by generations of Chivalry. It was at my own sneaking joy in your protection that I laughed——"

Vassar moved uneasily, drew his straight brows low and looked at her through their veil for an instant. He was making a desperate effort to keep his brain clear. It would be ridiculous to surrender to such a charming little siren at the first encounter.

"Well sir," she cried briskly, "now that we've shaken hands, the first round is on. Shall I lead?"

Vassar bowed. "By all means—ladies first!"

"Why do you refuse to give me the ballot?"

"I never knew until tonight that women like you wished it. If I had——"

"You would have agreed?"

"My dear Miss Holland, I not only would have agreed but I would have gone out after it and brought it to you. And all against my better judgment. If women are allowed to vote, there must be a law against your kind entering politics——"

"Yes?"

"Decidedly."

"And may I ask why?" she demanded.

He smiled and hesitated.

"If you ever get into Congress—I can see the finish of that aggregation as a deliberative body. You would be a majority from the moment you entered the Chamber——"

"Please, Mr. Vassar—" she protested. "We have no time for chaff——"

He rose abruptly from the depths of the arm chair, seized a light one, moved it nearer to the corner of the table, sat down and bent close to his charming opponent.

"I'm not chaffing," he began eagerly. "I'm very much in earnest. Your personality has upset all my preconceived ideas of the leaders of this woman's movement. I am more than ever alarmed at its sinister significance. You take my judgment by storm because you're charming. You stop the process of reasoning by merely lifting your eyes to mine. Such a power can not be used to further the ends of justice or perfect the organization of society. The power you wield defies all law——"

Virginia laughed in spite of an effort at self-control.

"Are you making love to me, Mr. Vassar?" she cried.

He blushed and stammered.

"Well,—not—deliberately——"

"Unconsciously?"

He mopped the perspiration from his brow in confusion.

"Perhaps."

Virginia rose, and her lips closed firmly.

"I think our interview had better end. We are wasting each other's time——"

"Please, Miss Holland," he begged with deep humility, "forgive me. I was never more sincere in my life. I should have been more considerate. But there's something about your frank manner that disarmed me. You seemed so charmingly friendly. I forgot that we were enemies—forgive me——"

"There's nothing to forgive. You are the type of man who can not understand my position—and for that reason can not meet me as an intellectual equal. I resent it——"

"But I'm not the type of man who can not understand. I will meet you as an intellectual equal. I'll do more. I concede your superiority. You have baffled and defeated me at every turn tonight—I go puzzled and humiliated. I refuse to accept such a defeat. You can not dismiss me in this absurd fashion. I'll camp on your doorstep until we have this thing out."

"You'll not call without an appointment, I hope?"

"Oh, yes I will. I'm going to cultivate your father. I'll accept his invitation. I'll make your house my equivocal home until we, at least, come to an intelligent understanding of our differences——"

"Tomorrow then?" she said. "I'm tired tonight. Tomorrow at eleven o'clock——"

VASSAR smiled at the business-like hour.

"I've an important engagement at eleven that will keep me an hour. It's flag day at my schools—the kiddies expect me——"

"Flag day?"

"A little device of mine to teach our boys and girls to love their country—won't you join us tomorrow at the old Tenth Armory and inspect my forces?"

Virginia hesitated.

"All right. I will. I'll ask Mr. Waldron to pick me up there at noon."

"I'll expect you at eleven."

He pressed her hand with a new sense of uneasiness, defeat and anger which Waldron's name had aroused.

A Viceregal Jester

BISHOP SIDNEY C. PARTRIDGE, of Missouri, recounts an amusing incident that occurred when he was an Episcopal missionary at Canton, China. Invited to visit the palace of the Viceroy, the churchman was shown into the reception hall and requested to wait patiently while an almond-eyed attendant went to tell another attendant to instruct still another to inform the Viceroy of his presence.

"I looked around the hall and finally discovered a beautiful modern piano over in one corner Now, I can't play, but I like to try when nobody is near. So I sat down on the stool and began picking out Home, Sweet Home with one finger. While thus engaged I heard the rustle of silk behind me, and turned in confusion to confront his Excellency smiling in the doorway. The Viceroy made a low bow and with grave native politeness said:

" 'Oh, great American, that does with one hand what it takes a poor Chinese gentleman's both hands to do!' "

When you move to a new home

BE careful what shade rollers are put up on your windows. More window shades are pulled out of shape, cracked, and torn by poor shade rollers than ever wear out. If you insist upon having your shades fitted with Hartshorn's Improved Shade Rollers your shades will not soon be torn, cracked, and crumpled. No tacks are necessary. Free: Send for valuable book, "How to Get the Best Service from your Shade Rollers." When you buy, insist on getting Hartshorn's; always look for this signature.
